AWARD

By order No. 1512-I.R./IR/10L-64/64, dated the 19th April 1966, the Government of West Bengal, in the Labour Department, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Sree Engineering Products Ltd., P.O. Rishra, district Hooghly, and their workmen represented by Sree Engineering Karmachari Union, Gandhi Sarak, Rishra, Hooghly, regarding the matters specified in the Schedule, to the Third Industrial Tribunal, constituted under section 7A of the Industrial Disputes Act, by notification No. 808-I.R./IR/3A-2/57, dated the 11th March 1957, for adjudication.

Issue

Is the dismissal of Shri Dhora Shaw justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

On receipt of the order of reference, usual notices were served on the parties and they appeared and filed their written statements.

It is not disputed that by their letter, dated 30th November 1965, the management of Messrs. Sree Engineering Products Ltd., hereinafter referred to in this award as the company, have summarily dismissed the concerned worker Shri Dhora Shaw with effect from 25th November 1965, for assault on its Factory Manager Shri M.S. Subbarao on 29th November 1965. Over the dismissal of Dhora Shaw the union raised an industrial dispute and the same was referred to this Tribunal for adjudication. The union contends that the dismissal of Shri Dhora Shaw was illegal and unjustified and prays for his reinstatement with full wages during the period of forced unemployment. In its written statement filed in the case the union has denied the company's charge of assault on its Factory Manager Shri Subbarao by Shri Dhora Shaw and contended that for his connection with the union the company has dismissed him on a false charge of assault by way of victimisation.

The company has denied this charge of victimisation and has averred in its written statement filed in the case that it had summarily dismissed Shri Dhora Shaw from service as he had assaulted Shri M. S. Subbarao on the 29th November 1965 at about 6-45 p.m., while he was going on a rickshaw to Rishra Railway Station.

In view of the pleadings of the parties the main question for determination in this case is :—Has Dhora Shaw assaulted Shri M. S. Subbarao at about 6-45 p.m. on 29th November 1965 as alleged by the company?

On the point for determination as framed above, both sides led evidence in this case. On behalf of the company two witnesses were examined and they were Shri M. S. Subbarao, the Factory Manager and Shri Ram Sakal Kahar said to be the driver of the rickshaw in which Shri Subbarao was travelling at the time of the alleged assault. Before this Tribunal Shri Subbarao has narrated the incident of that night in the following terms :—

> "On 29th November 1965 at about 6-30 p.m. left the factory as usual after the working hours. I left in a rickshaw. After I had travelled about 100 yards from the factory gate on the rickshaw I was beaten by somebody around my left shoulder. I was taken a back and turned my head to see who was my assailant. But I was beaten twice or thr ce again by the same person. Immediately I asked the rickshawalla to stop and saw my assailant running back. I asked the rickshaw puller to catch the assailant but he managed to escape through the railway station. Then says, a durwan came on hearing the assault on me. Through him I informed our Office Superintendent Shri Bhattacharji to inform the Police. I sent written complaint to the Police Station and this was a true copy of the complaint. Complaint marked Ext. B. I also went to the thana and there my oral complaint was recorded. I definitely recognised my assailant as Dhora Shaw."

The rickshaw puller referred to by Shri Subbarao was examined as D.W.2 and he has in his evidence-in-chief practically corroborated Shri H.S. Subbarao's evidence. regarding the assault on him by Shri Dhora Shaw. As against the evidence of these two witnesses we have Dhora Shaws complete denial of the charge of assault, and he has led evidence to show that at the material time he was nowhere near the place of alleged assault but was in his own house. He examined his land-lady P.W.2 to establish his case that in the night of 29th November 1965 he was in his own house. Even if it be assumed that the plea of alibi as taken by Shri Dhora Shaw, has not been established, still he cannot be found guilty of the charge of assault as there are very strong circumstances indicating that the statement of the two D.Ws. that Dhora Shaw had assaulted Shri Subbarao on 29th November 1965 was not true or correct.

Both according to Shri Subbarao and the Rickshaw. puller, Shri Subbarao was assaulted first from behind when he was going in the rickshaw driven by D.W.2. Then, certainly it was not possible for Shri Subbarao or the rickshaw puller to notice who the assailant was. As according to D.W.2, the night was dark and there was no light near or in the vicinity of the place of alleged assault, it was not also possible for any of the two company's witnesses to recognise the assailant even if they had turned back their faces after the first assault on Shri Subbarao, to see the assailant. The assault took place on a public road leading to the railway station from the factory and on both sides of the road are houses and compound walls. None of the residents of any of those houses is a witness in the case and as the rickshaw puller has deposed it can also be said that none of them had also gone to the place of occurrence. In the written complaint given by Shri Subbarao himself to the Officer-in-charge, Serampore Police Station, on 30th November 1965 marked Ext. B, were mentioned the names of Shyamal Sarkar and Ram Prasad, both of Guru Garden Road, Rishra, as witnesses to the incident but they were not called in this case and as the rickshaw puller has deposed, it can also be very easily said that none of them had not only not seen the assault but had not even come to the scene of assault. In this view of the matter it can be definitely held that Shri Shyamal Sarkar and Shri Ram Prasad were not witnesses to the incident; but still their names were mentioned in Ext. B as witnesses to the incident by Shri Subbarao himself. Stated in other words, it may be said that knowing fully well Shri Shyamal Sarkar and Shri Ram Prasad were not witnesses to the assault, Shri Subbarao has still mentioned their names as witnesses to the incident, and I hold that this he has done with the idea of giving a colour of truth to his written complaint. Non-examination of Shri Shyamal Sarkar and Shri Ram Prasad and absence of any evidence indicating that the company has tried to produce them as witnesses in this case but could not, for reasons beyond its control, also lends support to this conclusion. At the material time Shri Ram Sakal Kahar the rickshaw puller, the third witness mentioned in Ext. B, was in employment of the company as a rickshaw puller, he was as such, an interested witness. In all fairness the company should have therefore produced either Ram Prasad or Shyamal Sarkar to substantiate its charge of assault against Shri Dhora Shaw. But it took no steps to examine any of them and from this intentional non-examination of Ram Prosad or Shyamal Sarkar by the company to support Shri Subbarao's allegation against Dhora Shaw, presumption case easily be drawn that the company has not examined any of them as it knew that they were not witnesses to the incident. Mention of Ram Prasad and Shyamal Sarkar in Ext.B as witnesses to the assault, though it is proved by the evidence of rickshaw puller that none of them was nowhere near the place of assault at the time of the incident, greatly shakes the credibility of Shri Subbarao's complaint of assault, Ext. B, against Dhora Shaw, and if we consider his and rickshaw puller's evidence that at the time of the assault there was no light sufficient for their recognition of the assailant, Shri Subbarao's complaint that Dhora Shaw had assaulted him in the night of 29th November 1965, cannot be sustained. In his evidence before this Tribunal Shri Subbarao has himself admitted that there was no little light in that place and the rickshaw puller has said that the light of the rickshaw was also not clear. The rickshaw puller also stated that at about 6 or 6-30 p.m. of that day when he had left the factory with Shri Subbarao in his rickshaw, it was dark, and this evidence of rickshaw puller proves that the assault, if any, committed on Shri Subbarao at or about the time suggested by him in his evidence before this Tribunal, was committed in darkness. How then it was possible for him or the rickshaw puller to recognise the assailant as Dhora Shaw, when admittedly there was no light sufficient for their recognition of the assailant, I fail to understand. Shri Subbarao has no doubt said that as the atmosphere was dusky and not dark, when he was assaulted, not withstanding the night in or near the place, still he had recognised his assailant, but on this statement of Shri Subbarao I cannot place much reliance as the rickshaw puller was positive that the night was dark when he was assaulted. For all these reasons I cannot rely on the evidence of recognition of Shri Subbarao and the rickshaw puller and hold on their evidence that at about 6-30 p.m. on 29th November 1965, when Shri Subbarao was proceeding in the rickshaw driven by D.W.2, Dhora Shaw had assaulted him. Even if for argument's sake it be conceded that both the company's witnesses had spoken the truth when they said that in the material night Shri Subbarao was assaulted when proceeding towards the Rishra Railway Station in the company's rickshaw driven by D.W.2, still Dhora Shaw cannot be found guilty on the charge of assault as there is no satisfactory evidence to connect him with the assault. If, however, evidence of Shri Subbarao and the rickshaw puller regarding the assault be scrutinised it will be very difficult to hold that Shri Subbarao was actually assaulted on the night of 29th November 1965. If his evidence was true, he had been assaulted only 100 yards off from the factory, but in stead of going to the factory or to the thana for reporting the incident or to a doctor for first aid, which he could have easily done as the rickshaw was at his disposal, he decided to proceed on his journey to the Station and this conduct on the part of Shri Subbarao greatly shakes the credibility of his allegation of assault. Shri Subbarao no doubt said that immediately after the incident he had reported to their Office Superintendent Shri Bhattacharji through a durwan, who had come there on hearing the assault on him, for reporting the incident to the thana but neither the said durwan nor Shri Bhattacharji was called to corroborate this statement of Shri Subbarao. As a matter of fact, no information over the incident was also reported to the thana by the Office Superintendent in course of that night or the next day. Accordingly it is very difficult for me to accept as correct Shri Subbarao's evidence that through a durwan he had reported the incident to their Office Superintendent immediately after the incident, and I am of opinion that he had made this incorrect statement as he had found no other explanation for his not reporting the incident to the factory or to the Office Superintendent immediately after the incident. For this as also for his intentionally mentioning in his written complaint to the thana, Ext. A, persons as witnesses to the incident knowing fully well that they had not seen the incident, I can place no reliance on Shri Subbarao's evidence before me. Reading the entire evidence on record and considering the facts and circumstances of the case, I am of opinion that not only the company has failed to establish the charge of assault on Shri Subbarao by Shri Dhora Shaw but also failed to convince me that he had been assaulted on 29th November 1965 night when he was proceeding towards Rishra Railway Station in the cycle rickshaw of the company driven by D.W.2. The dismissal of Shri Dhora Shaw on the charge of assault on Shri Subbarao cannot, therefore, be upheld by me.

Against this Shri Dora Shaw a charge-sheet of misconduct was issued on 24th November 1965 asking him to show cause why disciplinary action should not be taken against him for the said misdemeanours. Pending enquiring into the charge of misconduct he was also placed under suspension. On 27th November 1965 Shri Dhora Shaw submitted the explanation marked Ext. A. But the management did not consider the explanation satisfactory and directed an enquiry and informed Dhora Shaw by letter, dated 29th November 1965, marked Ext. 2 that the enquiry into the charge-sheet would be held on 4th December 1965. It was argued on behalf of the company that infuriated by the order of suspension Shri Dhora Shaw had assaulted Shri Subbarao on 29th November 1965. For the suspension Shri Dhora Shaw might have some grudge against the Factory Manager Shri Subbarao' but this alone cannot be any ground to find him guilty of the charge of assault on Subbarao when there is no reliable evidence in support of the charge. Accordingly I hold and conclude that Dhora Shaw's dismissal on the charge of assault on Shri Subbarao on the night of 29th November 1965 was illegal, unlawful and unjustified.

In view of the findings above made, an award directing the company to reinstate Shri Dhora Shaw with full wages and other allowances, if any, during the period of his forced unemployment is passed.

This is my award which is to be implemented within 15 days of its publication in the "Calcutta Gazette".

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Jyoti Weaving Factory Private Ltd., S. K. No. 2139-I.R., dated 30th May 1966). (Case No. VIII-183/66.)

BEFORE THE FOURTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL, CALCUTTA.

Present :

Shri R. BHATTACHARYYA, M.A., LL.B., Judge, Fourth Industrial Tribunal.

For the Company : Shri N. Mukherjee, Advocate.

For the Union : Shri N. Roy, Advocate.

The present reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act arises out of Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2139-I.R./IR/8L-7(A)/66, dated 30th May 1966. The parties are Messrs Jyoti Weaving Factory Private Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as the company), S. K. Dev Road, Patipukur, Dum Dum, Calcutta-48, and their workmen represented by Jyoti Weaving Factory Workers' Union, 182 S. K. Dev Road, Patipukur, Calcutta-48 (hereinafter described as the Union). The issue for determination has been framed in the following language.

> Whether the dismissal of Shri Mahendra Nath Biswas and Shri Ramadhar Harijan is justified ? What relief, if any, are they entitled to ?

The parties appeared in this case and submitted their written statements. In short, the case of the union is that Mahendra Nath Biswas and Ramadhar Harijan were active members of the union. The company had a grudge against them on that account. The company served a charge-sheet on Mahendra Biswas making some baseless allegations. He replied to the charge-sheet and ultimately a pretended enquiry was held. Similarly Ramadhar Harijan was also charge-sheeted on the ground of misconduct on false allegation. He also denied the allegations in the charge-sheet. In case of Ramadhar Harijan an enquiry was held It has been alleged by the Union that in both the cases the charge-sheeted persons were not given reasonable opportunity for self-defence. They were not allowed to examine their witnesses, and the enquiring officer did not follow the principles of natural justice while holding the enquiry. The union has further stated that the charge-sheeted persons were not allowed to cross-examine the witnesses produced in support of the charge-sheets. Ultimately, however, these two persons were dismissed The orders of dismissal passed against them have been characterised as unjust, unfair, mala fide and illegal.

The company has denied the material allegations of the union. It has been first stated that the present dispute is not an industrial dispute. The company has submitted that it never interfered with the formation of the union or membership of the workmen or with their trade union activities. The company had no knowledge of the efforts of the wokrmen in forming any union. According to the company Mahendra Biswas was a weaver and that on 11th July 1965 and 13th July 1965 he wilfully damaged art silk fabrics and exhibited disorderly and violent temper to his superior officers, when he was confronted with the damage. He was, therefore, charge-sheeted and after due and proper enquiry offiering all opportunities for self-defence to the charge-sheeted person, it was found that he was guilty of the charges. Mahendra Biswas attended the enquiry. He was asked to cross-examine the company's witnesses. He however declined to produce any witness on his behalf though he was asked to do so. The records of the enquiry were explained to him. Regarding Ramadhar Harijan it has been stated that he was found absent from the place of his duty on 20th July 1965 from 6-55 p.m. to 7-20 p.m. and when he was confronted by the durwan at the factory gate, and also by the shed assistant and the security officer, he misbehaved with them and acted in disobedience to their orders and exhibited insubordination. He was therefore charge-sheeted and at the domestic enquiry held against him he declined to cross-examine the company's witness but he made his own statement and examined two witnesses on his side. Mahendra Biswas gave his signature on the records of the proceedings but Ramadhar Harijan signed only under his own statement and the statements of his witnesses. The enquiring officer found Ramadhar Harijan guilty of the charges and the management ultimately dismissed both the charge-sheeted persons. It has been stated by the company that this is not a case of victimisation or unfair labour practice.

On the side of the union only two charge-sheeted persons have been examined. The company, however, examined two witnesses. Several documents have been exhibited in this case on the side of the company.

I will first take up the case of Ramadhar Harijan. He has been examined as P.W. 2. His evidence is that there was an enquiry against him which he attended. He has stated that the company's witnesses were not examined at the enquiry and that no evidence was taken. He has then said that he and his witnesses gave evidence. He admits that he had two witnesses on his side and that the enquiring officer recorded their evidence but he cannot say what was written by the enquiring officer. He wants to say that the evidence were not explained to him. In the written statement of the union it was stated that the charge-sheeted persons were not allowed to examine their witnesses. Ramadhar Harijan does not say before me that he was not allowed to examine his witness. Rather, his evidence, is that, in fact, he examined his own witnesses. In the written statement of the union it has been stated that the charge-sheeted persons were not allowed to cross-examine the witnesses produced in support of the charge-sheet. This shows that the case of the union was that the company's witnesses produced at the enquiry in support of the charge-sheet but they were not allowed to cross-examine by the charge-sheeted persons. Ramadhar Harijan has stated however that the company's witnesses were not examined at the enquiry at all. He has further stated that the statements of the witnesses were explained to Ramadhar Harijan. He asked Ramadhar Harijan to cross-examine the witnesses but the latter declined to cross-examine. From the evidence of O. P. W 1, I find that he called witnesses of the company one after another. We also find that two observers were present at the enquiry. The records of the enquiry in respect of Ramadhar Harijan have been marked Ext. A/2. I have gone through the documents and I have no doubt to accept the evidence of O.P.W. 1 as correct. The statement of Ramadhar Harijan is unreliable. I find that the enquiry was held according to the principles of natural justice giving all reasonable opportunities to Ramadhar Harijan for his self-defence. Practically Ramadhar Harijan examined two witnesses and he himself made statement. The records of the enquiry were read over and explained to him. I hold that the enquiry against Ramadhar Harijan was bona fide and proper.

The next question is whether the finding of the enquiring officer was perverse or there was any basic error of fact. The report of the enquiring officer is Ext. A/3. I find that with reference to the evidence collected at the enquiry, the report, Ext. A/3, is reasonable and not at all perverse. The standing orders of the company have been marked Ext. C. The order of the management will appear on the body of Ext. A/3, and the copy of the letter of dismissal served on Ramadhar Harijan is Ext. A/4, dated 4th August 1965. In the circumstances and according to the evidence, I find that the order of dismissal was proper and justified. It was bona fide and according to the Standing Orders of the company.

With regard to the case of Mahendra Biswas we should first of all, consider his evidence. He has been examined as P.W.1 before me. He says that there was an enquiry against him. He admits that he attended the enquiry. He has also stated that at the enquiry the company's witnesses were examined, and that he put some questions to the company's witnesses by way of cross-examination. He has further stated his statements were recorded. His grievance, as I find from his evidence, is that his witnesses were not called or examined although his witnesses were the employees of the company. Mahendra Biswas has set up a story during evidence which will not be found in the written statement of the union. The witness has said that he was told by the enquiring officer that if necessary, his witnesses would be called. He has also stated that the statements made by the witnesses were not read over and explained to him. During cross-examination P.W.1 has admitted that he did not inform the company that he was one of the office-bearers of the union. He has also admitted that the evidence of the witnesses were taken in Bengali and he understood them. Some of the witnesses gave evidence in Hindi but that evidence was explained to him. In fact, he cross-examined the witnesses knowing their statements. At the enquiry Mahendra Biswas did not raise any objection but simply he gave his signature whenever directed. He did not inform the company even that his witnesses were not examined. I have no doubt that this witness has given incorrect statement and that he has suppressed the material fact. O.P.W.1, the enquiring officer' has stated that three witnesses of the company were cross-examined by Mahendra Biswas, that he recorded the proceedings of the enquiry, and that he read over the statements of the witnesses and explained them to the charge-sheeted persons. He asked Mahendra Biswas to give his evidence. In fact, Mahendra Biswas made statement at the enquiry which will appear in the records of the proceedings marked ExtB/2. O. P.W.1 enquired of Mahendra Biswas whether he wanted to examine any defence witness but Mahendra Biswas said that he had no witness. I have gone through the records of the proceedings and I find that the yare dependable. In view of the the evidence and the circumstances I find that the enquiry against Mahendra Biswas was properly held according to the principles of natural justice and that Mahendra Biswas was given all facilities to defend himself. The enquiry was no doubt a bona fide one.

Now I shall see whether the report of the enquiring officer is perverse. I have gone through the records of the proceedings as well as the reports, Ext. B/3. There were two charges under clauses 14(c)(iii) and (viii). The first charge relates to wilful damage to or loss of the employer's goods or property. The second charge relates to drunkeness, intoxication, riotous or disorderly behaviour during working hours at the establishment or any act subversive of discipline. On the question of the second charge I am satisfied that the finding of the enquiring officer is reasonable and based upon legal evidence. But relating to the first charge, namely, wilful damage to the company's goods as has been mentioned in the charge-sheet, I must say that the finding of guilt in respect of this charge is perverse because there is no legal evidence or circumstances appearing in the records of the proceedings to suggest even that Mahendra Biswas caused any damage to the silk production wilfully or intentionally. Several witnesses were examined at the enquiry but nobody stated that Mahendra Biswas caused damage to the production deliberately. Going through the evidence recorded by the enquiring officer I find that at best it may be held that the damage to the silk production was caused in course of production or at the time of opening of the cloth from the roller. It may very well be argued that even if the evidence is accepted, then the cause of the damage may be attributed to inefficiency or a bit negligence, if at all, on the part of Mahendra Biswas while handling cloth. In no case can it be found that Mahendra Biswas deliberately or wilfully or intentionally caused any damage to the production. I should say that the finding of the enquiring officer in respect of clause 14(c)(iii) was perverse and without evidence. I cannot accept the finding of guilt under this head of the charge. The finding of the guilt by the management also fails on this ground.

By finding in the last paragraph naturally raises the question whether the dismissal of Mahendra Biswas will be justified when, as a matter of fact, he was guilty of only one of the two charges although the management dismised him from service finding him guilty of both the charges. I am satisfied that in the present case there is no mala fides in the action of the management to dismiss Mahendra Biswas. This is not a case of victimisation. It may be argued that the present order of dismissal should not stand because the management found that charge-sheeted person guilty of two charges, and meted out punishment which was cumulative effect of finding of guilt on two heads of charges. In this connection I have considered the recommendation of the enquiring officer appearing in Ext. B/3, the order of dismisssal passed thereon appearing on the same exhibit and also in the letter of dismissal,Ext. B/4. The enquiring officer has stated in Ext. B/3 as follows:

> "The charges coming under the purview of misconduct under Rule 14(c) sub-clauses (i) and (viii) of the standing orders of the company are of serious nature and subversive to law, order and discipline of the factory."

This statement was made no doubt by the enquiring officer to impress about the seriousness of the misconduct under clause 14(c) (viii) of the Standing Orders. The management accepted the view. In Ext. B/4 the company while dismissing Mahendra Biswas stated ". . . the charges being of serious nature and subversive to law, order and discipline of the factory cannot be condoned . . ." It is therefore clear in the present case that the management of the company took serious view particularly of misconduct mentioned in 14(c)(viii) which relates to riotous or disorderly behaviour during the working hours at the establishment or any act subversive of discipline. The management was not going to tolerate any misconduct relating to discipline of the establishment. The intention of the management has become apparent. The circumstances and the evidence appearing in this case indicate what could have been the fat of the opposite party had he been found guilty of only one charge under clause 14(c)(viii) of the Standing Orders. It is clear that the management had the intention to dismiss Mahendra Biswas on the finding of guilt relating to the charge under clause 14(c) (viii) alone. The standing order provides that the employee may be dismissed on ground of misconduct as defined in clause 14(c)(viii). Although the punishment meted out to Mahendra Biswas was on the basis of the finding of guilt in respect of two charges, yet in the present case when he has been found guilty in respect of one charge on the basis of proper evidence for whch he may be dismissed, I do not like to interfere with the order of dismissal passed against him. I hold that the order of dismissal passed against Mahendra Biswas is justified and proper.

In view of my findings above, the issue is decided against the workmen and in favour of the company. The workmen are not entitled to any relief.

AWARD

By order No. 6707-I.R./IR/11L-9/65, dated the 21st December 1965, the Government of West Bengal in the Labour Department referred for adjudication to this Tribunal the industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Albert David Ltd., Head Office and Factory at 5/11 D. Gupta Lane, Calcutta-50, and their Sales Office at 15 Chittaranjan Avenue, Calcutta-13, and their workmen represented by Albert David Employees' Union, 22/1 Kalicharan Ghosh Road, Calcutta-50, relating to issues which are as follows. This industrial dispute was first referred to the First Industrial Tribunal under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 989-I.R./IR/11L-9/65, dated the 8th March 1965, for adjudication. But as the Presiding Officer of the said First Industrial Tribunal had retired, the proceedings of industrial dispute were withdrawn from the First Industrial Tribunal and transferred to this Tribunal for disposal.

The issues under reference are as follows:—

Issues

(1) Grades and scales of pay.
(2) Dearness allowance.
(3) Tiffin allowance.
(4) Bonus for the year 1962-63.
(5) Whether the management is justified in withdrawing the conveyance allowance of Shri Ramendra Chandra Moulik? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?
(6) Whether the management is justified in refusing employment to Sarbasree Sew Bachan Kurmi and Abdul Jabbar? To what relief, if any, are they entitled?

In the written statement filed by the Union on behalf of the workmen, it has been stated that the Company, viz., Messrs. Albert David Ltd., is one of the biggest pharmaceutical organisations in Eastern India and is a highly prosperous concern, having the average monthly production of about 8 lakhs of rupees. The Company has employed nearly 1,000 workers in its factory and head office and the workmen of the Company were getting minimum wages at Rs. 55 per month or Rs. 2.12 paise per day, including the dearness allowance. The service condition of the workmen regarding their pay scale, D.A., tiffin allowance and bonus, etc., are much lower than other similar pharmaceutical concerns, though the Company has higher paying capacity. The wages of the employees of the Company were never fixed on any scientific basis and there is no classification of pay scale according to the employees' skill and nature of duties. The present wage structure is much less than what is fixed by similar organisations like Bengal Immunity, Bengal Chemical, East India Pharmaceutical and Standard Pharmaceutical. The dearness allowance prevalent has nothing to do with the cost of living index and the amount is much less than what is granted in similar industries. For price index 160 points taking 1939 as base, Rs. 40 was found to be the irredicible minimum. For price index up to 100, the basic pay should be Rs. 28 and for every point beyond 100, it should be three annas. The Management of the Company has withheld the regular annual increments to all categories of workmen for the last four years without any cogent reason or justification and for the same the workmen have suffered Rs. 96 to Rs. 288 from their legal dues. The present piece-rate should be abolished and the piece-rated workers should be covered either in the daily group or monthly-rated workers and their scales of pay should be fixed according to their nature of work and category. The dearness allowance should be increased keeping an eye to the present price index. It is further stated in the written statement by the Union that the tiffin allowance which is being given at the rate of .25 paise per head per day by the Company was fixed nearly 15 years ago and is quite insufficient and so considering the high price of food, the present tiffin allowance should be increased to Re. 1 per head per day.

The financial position of the Company is sound and according to the service condition, there is a system of one month's customary pujah bonus payable to all workmen. The Union submitted a demand of bonus equivalent to two months' total salary as profit-sharing bonus for the year 1962-63. The Management wrongly manipulated the profit and loss account in order to minimise the actual profit earned by the Company during that financial year So far as 1962-63 is concerned, two months' wages as profit bonus are payable to the workmen. The Union has further put forward the case that withdrawal of conveyance allowance of Ramendra Chandra Mullick was unjustified. Shri Mullick received the conveyance allowance till May 1964, according to his service condition, but it was stopped by the Management without any justification. The Union raised the dispute before the Assistant Labour Commissioner, Government of West Bengal, but the efforts of the Conciliation Officer failed. Since the order of reference was made, the Management started the payment of conveyance allowance of Rs. 40 per month to Shri Mullick, with effect from 1st October 1965, but the Management did not pay his arrear conveyance allowance, which amounts to Rs. 640 and which is still to be paid. It has further been stated in the same written statement that Sew Bachan Kurmi, who was a workman of the Company, was chargesheeted on the 25th February 1963, but the allegations were all denied by Sew Bachan Kurmi. Thereafter, the Management fixed the date of enquiry on 18th March 1966 and an eye-wash enquiry was started, but Sew Bachan Kurmi could not attend the enquiry due to some unavoidable reasons. The worker, Sew Bachan, prayed for postponement of the enquiry for the period of one month, but his prayer was not allowed. On the other hand, Sew Bachan's suspension continued for an indefinite period. The Union thereafter referred the matter to the Conciliation Officer, Shri A. C. Roy Chowdhury, but due to the non-compromising attitude of the Management, the Conciliation Officer referred the matter to the State Government for adjudication. Sew Bachan had been victimised for his active association with Albert David Employees' Union. Sew Bachan Kurmi should, therefore, be reinstated with full wages for the period of forced unemployment till the date of reinstatement. The next case put forward by the Union is that Abdul Jabbar, who was a permanent workman and working as Boiler Attendant, was charge-sheeted with some baseless allegations and Abdul Jabbar submitted his explanation denying all charges. Thereafter, the Management held an enquiry without giving any reasonable opportunity of defence and on 3rd October 1962, the Management issued a warning notice against Abdul Jabbar asking him to report for duty, and informing him that he would not be paid any wages for the period of suspension. So, Abdul Jabbar sent a letter on 10th October 1962, demanding the wages for the period of suspension but with no effect. The Union thereafter referred the matter to the Labour Commissioner and in the Joint Conference before the Conciliation Officer, the Management's representative, Shri Mullick, agreed to allow Abdul Jabbar to work on and from 1st August 1963. Accordingly, Abdul Jabbar went to the factory on 1st August 1963, but the Management did not allow him to join. The Management issued a letter to Abdul Jabbar on 2nd August 1963, asking him to join his work with some objections, to which Abdul Jabbar protested. Abdul Jabbar again went to the factory on 3rd August 1963 and started his duty as usual, but within a short time, the Management removed him from the factory. The Conciliation Officer again requested the Management to allow Abdul Jabbar to resume his duties without imposing any condition, but the Management did not agree. Abdul Jabbar should, therefore, be reinstated with full compensation and forced unemployment.

In the written statement filed by the Company, it is stated that the Company's financial position is not at all sound and since 1954, various troubles are going on in this Company and the Company's Founder Director, Mr. A. J. Judah, was forcibly removed by some other Directors. Thereupon, litigations started and a proceeding was started in the Hon'ble High Court which went in favour of Mr. Judah and Mr. Judah along with Mr. D. N. Bhattacharjee started running the Company. Trouble again started between Mr. Judah and Mr.

D. N. Bhattacharjee and Mr. D. N. Bhattacharjee was made to quit the Company on receipt of several lakhs of rupees. Thereafter, one S. Biswas was appointed as Managing Director. Mr. Biswas could not bring about any improvement in the affairs of the Company and the financial position of the Company continued to deteriorate day by day. The present Management purchased the shares offered for sale by Mr. Judah and took control of the Company. The present Management took up the administration of the Company which was suffering heavy losses since 1958-59. By an award of 1950, the wages of the employees had been fixed, taking into consideration the wages fixed by an agreement between the Company and its workmen. In 1952-53 the then Union, the Workers' Union raised a dispute for raising the basic pay and D.A. The Tribunal rejected the claim of the Union for increase of wages. In 1959 also, Albert David Workers' Union raised an industrial dispute for increasing the D.A. and the Tribunal made an award increasing the D.A. from Rs. 19 to Rs. 25 per month. Thereafter, on the approach of the workers, the Management voluntarily increased the D.A. by Rs. 10 to all regular workmen. In 1965 the present Management granted an increase in wages to all workmen by increasing by Rs. 5 with effect from 1st September 1965. Besides the above wages, the Company has been paying to factory workmen tiffin allowance which is equivalent to about Rs. 6 per month. The Company has no paying capacity, but anyhow carrying on business. The wages of the workmen of the Company had been fixed by awards of Tribunals on scientific basis. Comparison of wages with other similar industries, like Bengal Immunity Co., Bengal Chemical, East India Pharmaceutical and Standard Pharmaceutical, etc., is quite irrelevant, inasmuch as, those companies are highly prosperous and have got much more high paying capacity. Considering the precarious financial condition of the Company, no further increase in wages in the shape of basic pay and/or D.A. should be awarded by this Tribunal. Dearness allowance should not be linked with cost of living index. The annual increments which existed have been stopped long ago due to financial difficulties for the interest and survival of the Company and the workmen were given flat increase of Rs. 10 under the head D.A. Bonus, as and when paid, was paid in consideration of profit and/or under threat or coercion keeping the personnel of the Management confined day and night. For the year 1962-63, the Company paid bonus equivalent to one month's basic wages under coercion, though the Company was not obliged to pay any amount as bonus on the trading result of that year. The claim for two months' wages as bonus is not justified. Shew Bachan Kurmi was charge-sheeted for gross misconduct. A date of enquiry was fixed with notice to Shew Bachan Kurmi, but the latter did not attend the enquiry. At the intervention of the Union, the Conciliation Officer called for a joint conference when the Management agreed to take Shew Bachan back in employment, but he did not report for work as advised by the Management at the intervention of the Conciliation Officer. On the other hand, he made false allegations that he was not allowed to enter the factory. The offer of the Company still stands. Abdul Jabbar was charge-sheeted for commission of gross misconduct and after proper enquiry, a warning notice was given to him, treating the period of suspension pending enquiry as absence without pay. Though he was asked to report for work, he did not do so and continued to remain absene. It is also reported that he was working elsewhere. The offer of the Company's representative still stands and he is at liberty to report for duty even now. Hence, it is stated by the Company that these two workmen are not entitled to any relief. Ramendra Chandra Mullick was granted an allowance of Rs. 40 per month for his additional work, viz., collection of bills outside office hours. It was observed that he always engaged himself in outside work and did not do any office work, though he was required to do the same because he was being paid his regular wages and D.A. His outside work was subsequently withdrawn and he was given a work in the office. Accordingly, his outside allowance by way of travelling allowance was also withdrawn. Since September 1965, he was again asked to work outside and offered the same amount of travelling allowance. The claim for arrears of travelling allowance of Shri Ramendra Chandra Mullick cannot be the subject-matter of adjudication by this Tribunal.

Evidence has been adduced on behalf of the Union to the effect that certain sister pharmaceutical concerns, viz., Smith, Stanistreet & Co. Ltd., Bengal Chemical & Pharmaceutical Works, Standard Pharmaceuticals Ltd., are paying higher amount on account of wages and dearness allowance to all classes of employees in their concerns. On behalf of the Union, it has been alleged that the basic pay and the scale and also the rate of dearness allowance which the present Company is paying to the employees is inadequate and falls far below the standard adopted by industries in the locality. P.W. 2 Shri Sibdas Bhattacharjee who is an employee of East India Pharmaceutical Works Ltd., has stated that the minimum basic pay of the workers of monthly-rated is Rs. 36 and that of the clerk is Rs. 81. He has also stated that the minimum basic pay of the Chemist is about Rs. 150 and that the minimum flat system of dearness allowance is Rs. 87.20 up to the basic pay of Rs. 49. There are about 800 workers in the factory and the head office of East India Pharmaceutical Works Ltd. P.W. 2 has also stated that there are daily-rated workers whose minimum basic pay is Rs. 1.25 and D.A. Rs. 2.98 minimum. Ext. 2 is the chart of the Company given by P.W 2. Ext. 2 shows that there are only two systems of payment in East India Pharmaceutical Works and these are on monthly basis and daily basis. The rate of dearness allowance is Rs. 87.20 up to the basic salary of Rs. 49. House allowance to the employees of monthly basis and also daily basis is given. There are certain other amenities which the present Company has not been able to afford to the workmen concerned. But P.W. 2 has admitted that East India Pharmaceutical Works is a flourishing Company. There is nothing to show that this Company is undergoing any loss. P.W. 4 is an employee of the Dolphin Laboratories. He has said that the minimum salary of an unskilled worker is Rs. 105 per month and he himself draws Rs. 187.50 including dearness allowance. But P.W. 4 has failed to produce any paper to show that the minimum wages of an unskilled worker is Rs. 105. He has not produced the balance-sheet of the Company. Hence, his evidence regarding the minimum basic salary of an unskilled worker cannot be accepted. P.W. 5 Sasanka Deb is serving in the Bengal Immunity as a Packer in the Chemical Department. He has said that the lowest pay in their firm is Rs. 115 per month and D.A. is paid at the flat rate of Rs. 77 per month. According to him, daily-rated workers get Rs. 1.50 basic pay and Rs. 2.50 as D.A., but he has no papers to show the minimum wages spoken of by him. He has also not got the balance-sheet of the Company. His evidence cannot, therefore, be given any great weight. Ext. B. is the balance-sheet of 1963-64 of the Bengal Chemical & Pharmaceutical Works Ltd. It will appear from Ext. B that the Company earned a net profit for the year ending 31st March 1964, to the extent of Rs. 18,50,789.09. This is certainly a very rich and flourishing Company who can well-afford higher grades of pay and dearness allowance and other amenities to their workers. Ext. B(1) is the balance-sheet of Smith, Stanistreet & Co. Ltd. of the year 1966. It will appear from Ext. B(1) that in 1966 the Company earned net profit to the extent of more than 23 lakhs of rupees. This is the amount as it stood before taxation. Smith, Stanistreet & Co. Ltd. is, therefore, a very flourishing Company. Ext. B(2) is the annual report of Standard Pharmaceuticals Ltd. for the year 1965-66. It also shows that the Company is a profitable concern and earned enormous profits in 1966. They paid Rs. 70,400 as remuneration to Directors and Rs. 33,41,282 on account of salaries, wages and bonus to the employees. These are the figures as they stood on 31st March 1966. All these companies referred to above, are flourishing concerns and are not sustaining any loss.

The present Company, viz. Albert David Ltd. is at present a losing concern. It is admitted by the learned representative on behalf of the workmen that the Company has suffered loss for two years, though the learned representative has challenged the Directors' report as many vouchers of expenses could not be produced to the Auditors. But the fact remains that in 1964-65 the Company sustained loss. O.P.W. 1 Sudhir Chandra Bhattacharjee, the Accountant of the Company, has shown from the balance-sheets that in 1965-66 there was a loss. It will appear from the chart, Ext. F, that total liabilities of the Company in 1964-65 were Rs. 57,32,316. Ext. A(4) is the balance-sheet for the year 1964-65 of Albert David Ltd. The Auditors have reported in the Ext. A(4) that the balance-sheet and the profit and loss account dealt with by the report are in agreement with the books of accounts. Ext. A(4) will show that the balance being net loss carried down in the year ending 31st October 1965 is Rs. 7,80,044.34. It is in evidence of O.P.W. 1 that the financial year of the Company is from November to October. Ext. A(3) is the balance-sheet showing profit and loss account for the year ending 31st October 1964. It shows net loss for the year as Rs. 11,42,223.98. Net profit for the year as shown is nil. In Note 1 of the Profit and Loss Account, it has been stated by the Auditors that miscellaneous expense of Rs. 67,513.32 and Rs. 12,850.00 spent by Gauhati Branch had not been supported by proper documents. The learned representative of the Union has argued that as these expenses are not supported by proper documents, this balance-sheet is not worthy to be relied upon. I am unable to agree with this contention of the learned representative. It is true that the Auditors have noted that the vouchers are not supported by proper documents. But, the fact remains that these amounts were actually spent by the Gauhati Branch for meeting certain expenses. The amount referred to is not in hand and has been spent up. Hence, there is no reason to disbelieve the balance-sheet. It is, therefore, proved beyond reasonable doubt that the Company is sustaining heavy loss for the last two years. If extra burden is imposed permanently by way of enhancement of the basic pay and the scale of pay, the Company would be unable to bear it and would collapse. The learned representative for the Union has referred me to an award by the Seventh Industrial Tribunal, Shri S. K. Ray, in the industrial disputes relating to engineering establishments, published in the "Calcutta Gazette", dated 30th January 1967, and has argued that the minimum grades and scales of pay as recommended by the learned Tribunal should be followed in the case of the present Company. If the scales and grades of pay as recommended by the learned Seventh Tribunal are introduced in Albert David Ltd., the Company will be compelled to close down, resulting in loss of employment of so many workers. It has been held in the case reported in LLJ 1966, Vol. I, page 1 (Ahmedabad Millowners' Association and others versus Textile Labour Association, Ahmedabad) that in trying to recognise and give effect to the demands for a fair wage, industrial adjudication must always take into account the problem of the additional burden which such wage-structure would impose upon the employer and ask itself whether the employer can reasonably be called upon to bear such burden. The problem of constructing a wage-structure must be tackled on the basis that such wage-structure should not be changed from time to time. In dealing with this problem, the financial position of the employer must be carefully examined. What has been the progress of the Industry in question; what are the prospects of the Industry in future; has the industry been making profits; and if yes, what is the extent of profits; what is the nature of demand which the Industry expects to secure; what would be the extent of the burden and its gradual increase which the employer may have to face? These and similar other considerations to be carefully weighed before a proper wage-structure can be reasonably constructed by industrial adjudication. A broad view of the financial position of the employees must be taken into account and attempt should always be made to reconcile the natural and just claims of the employees for a fair and higher wage with the capacity, of the employer to pay it; and in delivering such capacity, allowance must be made for a legitimate desire of the employer to make a reasonable profit.

In the present case before us, the wage-structure was once fixed by an award of an Industrial Tribunal based on a settlement between the employer and the employees in 1950. Subsequently, there has been some increase in the form of dearness allowance and basic pay. It cannot be said that the wages paid by the Company is below the fair minimum wage. Admittedly, the workers of monthly-rated in each department of Albert David Ltd. are getting Rs. 38 as minimum basic pay and Rs. 40 as minimum dearness allowance. There are of course daily-rated and piece-rated workers. The daily-rated workers are getting Rs. 2.12 per day including D.A. I will come to the question of dearness allowance when I shall take up that issue. For the present, suffice it to say that the present pay-structure of the employees of Albert David Ltd. is not below fair minimum wages. As minimum wages are being paid by the Company, I hold that considering the present financial position of the Company and the inability of the Company to bear additional burden in the shape of enhanced wage structure there should be no enhancement of grades and scales of pay of the employees of the factory and head office of Albert David Ltd. at present. It may be noted in this connection that the present reference relates to the grades and scales of pay and dearness allowance of the employees of both the Factory and the head office. The order of reference shows this. This demand of the workmen is, therefore, rejected.

This issue is thus disposed of.

Issue No. 2:

Dearness allowance

The whole purpose of dearness allowance is to neutralise a portion of the increase in the cost of living. The workers have prayed for enhanced D.A. to provide for adequate neutralisation against the ever-increasing rise in the cost of living. It will appear from the evidence of OPW 1 that D.A. was enhanced by Rs. 6 by the award, dated 26th February 1959. This fact is admitted.

Thereafter, Rs. 10 was added with effect from 1st February 1962. There has been further increase of Rs. 5 from 1st June 1963 by general notice, dated 7th June 1962. The admitted chart of D.A., Ext. D, will show that from 1st September 1965 there was an increment of D.A. of Rs. 5 in the factory and from 1st September 1965 an increment of Rs. 3 to Rs. 10 in the head office. There was a further increment of Rs. 3 to Rs. 40 from 1st November 1966 in the factory. If we take 1959 to be the base year for the calculation of D.A., it will appear that the minimum D.A. which was being paid in 1959 was Rs. 25. Ext. 1 is the consumer price index number for working class in Calcutta. It will appear from Ext. 1 that in 1959, the consumer price index was 392 points. In 1966, it rose up to 597 points. If we allow Re. 1 for every 5 points increase since 1959, the workmen can claim Rs. 41 on account of the increased D.A. over that of the base year, viz. Rs. 25. Admittedly, the minimum D.A. which is being paid to the workers now is Rs. 40. Equitably, a sum of Rs. 26 should be added to the D.A. paid to the workers. But, if the D.A. is enhanced at this stage by Rs. 26 in each case, the Company in its present financial condition will be unable to bear the burden and will have to close down. Of course the Company is liable to pay some enhanced D.A. to the workers because of the increase in the price. It cannot be said that the Company is totally unable to pay the enhanced D.A. Ext. 3 will show that Shri U. R. Chatterjee, an officer appointed on 12th February 1965, was given a salary of Rs. 740 and an increment of Rs. 150 making a total of Rs. 890. Shri K. K. Chatterjee is an officer appointed on 16th February 1965 on a salary of Rs. 1,250. Shri N. Chatterjee, an officer appointed on 17th February 1966, on a salary of Rs. 1,040 was given an increment of Rs. 250. Shri G. P. Jalan and Shri G. K. Chandak were appointed as clerks on 20th December 1965 and 22nd December 1965 on a salary of Rs. 125 respectively per month. Of course, it is in evidence that these clerks are Commerce Graduates and hence they are entitled to enhanced starting salary. But the fact remains that the Company can manage to give some enhanced D.A. to the employees without being compelled to close down. I, therefore, hold that the revision of dearness allowance is called for and is highly justified at the present stage, because there was no scientific revision since 1959, though there was some enhancements from time to time. The Company must, therefore, pay total dearness allowance at the rate of Rs. 50 per month to manual workers and staff whose basic wage is up to Rs. 100 for monthly rated workers or Rs. 2.25 per day including D.A. for daily-rated and piece-rated workers. The Company shall also pay total dearness allowance of Rs. 55 per month to those manual workers and staff whose basic pay is above Rs. 100 per month.

The question as to when this new rate should come into force deserves some consideration. The learned representative of the Union has claimed that the award of dearness allowance should be given retrospective operation, at least from the date of reference. The date of first reference is 21st December 1965. No doubt, there has been constant rise in the cost of living over the last few years. Ordinarily, an award becomes enforceable on the expiry of 30 days from the date of its publication under section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act. But the Tribunal has the discretion as to the date from which the award shall become effective. If the Company is compelled to pay the increased dearness allowance from the date of reference, the burden will be too heavy. I am of the view that the award regarding dearness allowance shall be given effect from the beginning of this year, i.e. 1st January 1967. The Company shall, therefore, pay the dearness allowance at the enhanced rates with effect from 1st January 1967, to its employees.

This issue is thus disposed of.

Issue No. 3:

Tiffin Allowance

By an award of the Industrial Tribunal, dated 24th July 1950, in an industrial dispute between Messrs. Albert David Ltd. and their workmen, as represented by Albert David Workers' Union, it was decided under issue No. 9 that a canteen was to be opened at Dum Dum factory and the establishment cost of the canteen was to be paid by the Company and every workmen was to get a tiffin allowance of -/4/- as. daily. This arrangement was given effect to in terms of the award. This award was passed on a settlement arrived at between the Company and their workmen and the tiffin allowance of -/4/- as. was fixed on agreement by the terms in Appendix A of the award. In 1950 the Union demanded an increase in the tiffin allowance from -/4/- as. to -/6/- as. but by the terms of the settlement between the Union and the Company, this tiffin allowance was fixed at -/4/- as. sixteen years have passed since then and it is well-known that there has been a steep rise in the cost of living each year since then. The learned lawyer for the Company has argued that tiffin allowance cannot be an industrial dispute. In my opinion, there is no substance in this contention of the learned lawyer. Tiffin allowance is certainly a dispute between the employers and the workmen and in the order of reference, the State Government has decided that it is an industrial dispute and framed an issue to that effect. I accordingly hold that tiffin allowance is an industrial dispute. It will certainly be unjust and improper to maintain the rate of tiffin allowance of -/4/- as. of the factory workers as fixed in 1950 even now. P.W. 2, who is an employee of the East India Pharmaceutical Works Ltd., has stated that the Company gives 30 paise per meal as tiffin allowance to each workers of the East India Pharmaceutical Works. Ext. 2 which is a chart of the emoluments of the workers of the East India Pharmaceutical Works, shows that the Company pays 30 paise per meal and the workers pay 24 paise and the Company pays all the establishment charge of the canteen. East India Pharmaceutical Works is a sister concern and the work of the workers of the factory of Albert David Ltd. is not alleged to be less heavy than that of the workers of the East India Pharmaceutical Works. P.W. 4 Shri Monomohan Nath is an employee of the Dolphin Laboratories and is working there as a Packer. He says that the Company pays tiffin allowance at the rate of -/8/- as. per day to all the workers. I find no reason to disbelieve P.W. 2 or P.W. 4. P.W. 5 Sasanka Deb is an employee of the Bengal Immunity and is a Packer there. He says that they get -/10/- as. as tiffin from the Company per day. He has also stated that the Company purchases tiffin for them and provides them with egg and other things. There is no evidence on the side of the Company to challenge the statement of P.W. 5. It is, therefore, apparent that the workers of similar Industries in the neighbourhood get higher amount as tiffin allowance than the workers of Albert David. It may be argued that Bengal Immunity has got greater financial stamina. But the East India Pharmaceutical Works pays 30 paise as tiffin allowance to the workers. This is the minimum amount paid by similar industries as tiffin allowance which has been proved before us. There is no reason why the factory workers of Albert David should get less than 30 paise per day as tiffin allowance. In my opinion, even 30 paisa per day is not sufficient for tiffin for manual workers. But considering the financial position of the Company, I hold that the Company must pay tiffin allowance to the factory workers at the rate of 30 paise per head per day. As there is no evidence to justify any revision of tiffin allowance of the head office, I hold that the amount of Rs. 45 which is being paid by the Company for tiffin of the employees of the head office should remain unchanged for the present. The Company is, therefore, directed to pay tiffin allowance at the rate of 30 paise per day for five full working days in the week to each of the factory workers. The award under this issue will take effect from 1st January 1967, for reasons mentioned under issue No. 2.

Issue No. 4:

Bonus for the year 1962-63

It is admitted that there is a system of one month's customary puja bonus payable to all workmen of this Company. It is not disputed that for 1962-63 the workmen received one month's customary puja bonus as usual. The Union has demanded two months' wages for the year 1962-63.

It is in evidence that the Company had to stop the annual increment of the workmen on the basis of the award of the Tribunal due to financial stringency. P.W. 3 who is an employee of Albert David Ltd. has not said anything regarding the bonus of 1962-63. P.W. 6 has said that they got bonus only for one month and that bonus at the rate of one month's wages is being given all along. He has not spoken anything about the excess profits of that the Company is alleged to have made in 1962-63. He has not made any demand for two months' wages as bonus for 1962-63. Neither P.W. 9 has stated anything regarding the Union's demand for puja bonus for 1962-63. Ext. E is the bonus calculation under the L.A.T. Formula for the year 1962-63. Ext. E shows that there was nett profit to the extent of Rs. 1,88,022.80 in 1962-63. It will further appear from Ext. E that there was available surplus to the extent of Rs. 39,718.91. Ext. E will further show that bonus was paid for the year 1962-63 to the tune of Rs. 92,327.00. There is practically no evidence to show that the Company had the means to pay two months' wages to each workman as bouns for the year 1962-63. The profit and loss account of the Company for the year does not justify payment of any further bonus. The demand of the workmen under this issue is unjustifiable and hence it is rejected.

This issue is adjudicated accordingly.

Issue No. 5:

Whether the management is justified in withdrawing the conveyance allowance of Shri Ramendra Chandra Moulik? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

Shri Ramendra Chandra Moulik, PW 3, has stated that he is an outdoor assistant of Albert David Ltd., and is entrusted with the charge of making collection of outstanding bills. He was appointed on 27th July 1950, and was given Rs. 40 as conveyance allowance, which is one of the conditions of his service. The Company stopped this conveyance allowance in June 1964. This fact is also admitted. PW 8 has stated on oath that his duty remained as usual and that he was making collections even now. In cross-examination, he has admitted that he is again getting Rs. 40 since September 1965. He has claimed an amount of Rs. 600 for the period from June 1964 to August 1965, during which his conveyance allowance of Rs. 40 was stopped. Ext. 7 is the chart which shows that during this period from June 1964 up to August 1965, he all along made outdoor collections of bills. Ext. 5(a) is the letter written by the Managing Director, Mr. A. J. Judah, appointing Shri Ramendra Chandra Moulik and giving him power of collection from the Calcutta Customers on 27th July 1950. Ext. 5(b) is a letter, dated 17th November 1962, showing that Ramendra Chandra Moulik was given fixed conveyance allowance of Rs. 40 per month from 1st November 1952, for collection of money of outstanding bills. He was also granted a commission of 5 per cent. on the total money collected for bills of 1949-50 and 2½ per cent. for the bills of 1950-51. Ext. 5(c) will show that Shri Ramendra Chandra Moulik was placed by the authorities in Grade B and granted four advance increments, bringing his basic salary from Rs. 120 to Rs. 140 per month, plus Rs. 25 as Dearness Allowance plus Rs. 40 as conveyance allowance per month with effect from 1st December 1959. This document will clearly show that Shri Ramendra Chandra Moulik was given Rs. 40 as conveyance allowance for collecting bills from Calcutta Customers in June 1964. This money was stopped, but he was not exempted from his duty of collecting outstanding bills from the Calcutta Customers. He had to collect bills during the period in which his conveyance allowance was stopped. The Company felt that injustice was being done to him and restored his conveyance allowance in September 1965, but there is no reason why Shri Ramendra Chandra Moulik should be deprived of his conveyance allowance for the period from June 1964 to August 1965. He had to spend money for his conveyance during this period for collecting the outstanding bills of the Company. I, therefore, hold that a sum of Rs. 600 on account of conveyance allowance for 15 months at the rate of Rs. 40 per month remains due to Shri Ramendra Chandra Moulik. This amount has not been paid. I must, therefore, hold that the Company shall pay Rs. 600 on account of arrears conveyance allowance for the period from June to August 1965 to Shri Ramendra Chandra Moulik.

This issue is thus adjudicated.

Issue No. 6:

Whether the Management is justified in refusing employment to Sarbasree Sew Bachan Kurmi and Abdul Jabbar? To what relief, if any, are they entitled?

Sew Bachan Kurmi, PW. 10 is an employee of Albert David. The Company gave him charge-sheet in 1963. Ext. 11 is the charge-sheet. It shows that Sew Bachan Kurmi was charged for acting in the manner of insubordination at 2 p.m on 23rd February 1963, when he refused to work in connection with loading andunloading and behaved rudely with his superior. PW. 10 says that he replied to the charge-sheet. Ext. 12 is his reply. He has denied all the allegations of the charge-sheet. In Ext. 12 he stated that on 23rd February 1963, while he was starting for home, Nandeo Jha directed him to load and unload some heavy boxes and that he told him that he felt feverish and tried and it was Nandeo who abused him and assaulted him. In Ext. 12 it is further stated that he went to the panel doctor and got a medical certificate from him. PW 10 has stated that he was called for an enquiry, but there was no enquiry by the Company. He has further stated that thereafter the Company asked him to join his work and after giving the letter, Ext. 15, he went to join his work. Ext. 15 shows that Sew Bachan Kurmi informed the Company that he would join his duty from 21st July 1966. In that letter, he claimed his back pay during the period of suspension. Before me also, Sew Bachan Kurmi claimed for full back pay. It is of course admitted that he has been reinstated, but the Company has denied his back pay, i.e., his pay during the period of forced unemployment. There was no enquiry by the Company and hence evidently the allegations in the charge-sheet, Ext. 11, have not been proved against Sew Bachan Kurmi, PW 10. There is no justification in law and equity to deprive Sew Bachan Kurmi of his back pay during the period of suspension. I accordingly direct the Company to pay his full back pay during the period of forced unemployment.

As regards the other worker, Abdul Jabbar, the learned lawyer for the Company submits before me that the Company is willing to reinstate Abdul Jabbar, PW 9, as a boiler attendant. He says that on 5th September 1962, the Company gave him a charge-sheet and he replied to it and there was an enquiry. He has, however, stated that after the enquiry the Company gave him a letter and warned him and he replied to this letter. He has stated that when after the meeting in the Labour Commissioner's office, he went to join his work, the Company refused to give him any work. He has further stated that thereafter he got a letter from the Company. He wants full payment of wages since he was unemployed. As the Company is willing to reinstate this workman, he is quite at liberty to join at once. It has been suggested by the learned advocate on behalf of the Company that Abdul Jabbar is working as a boiler attendant in another firm and that he never went to join his work. There is no evidence to support Abdul Jabbar's statement that he went to resume his duty and that the Company refused to give him work. On the other hand, Abdul Jabbar remanied silent before me when he was asked as to whether he was willing to work in the Company. On behalf of the Company, a post card, Ext. 10(a) has been filed and it has been marked an exhibit on admission. It shows the designation of Abdul Jabbar as boiler attendant, Golden Rubber Industries, 3 Paymental Garden Lane, Calcutta-15. This letter is written to one Sk. Wajid Ali of village Lokhanpur, Dist. Bhagalpur. This letter supports the contention of the learned Advocate that Abdul Jabbar is working in another factory. Abdul Jabbar did not express his willingness to go and join his duties of the Company when he was asked to do so by the learned Advocate before me. Abdul Jabbar is entitled to be reinstated, but I must hold that he is not entitled to get full back pay during the period of unemployment. His attitude before me clearly shows that he was not very much anxious to go and join his duties in the Company. Furthermore, there is no evidence to show that he went to join his duties in the Company and the Company refused to give him work. Abdul Jabbar is not entitled in equity to get full back pay. In this matter, I am making discrimination between Abdul Jabbar and Sew Bachan Kurmi on legal and equitable grounds. There was no enquiry against Sew Bachan Kurmi. Sew Bachan Kurmi joined his duty as soon as he was asked to do so by the Company. No allegation in the charge-sheet was proved against Sew Bachan Kurmi. On the other hand, it is apparent from the medical certificate produced by him that he was assaulted when he refused to load and unload some heavy boxes on 22nd February 1963, on the ground of indisposition. The case of Abdul Jabbar is different. There is nothing to show that Abdul Jabbar was refused work when he went to join his duty in the Company. There was full enquiry regarding Abdul Jabbar's affairs in his presence. Ext. 9 will show that the Factory Manager recorded a severe warning against Abdul Jabbar, treating the period of his suspension pending enquiry as absence without pay. Abdul Jabbar is working in another factory. While he was in the witness box, he did not express his willingness to join his work in the Company. There is, therefore, enough ground for discrimination between Sew Bachan Kurmi and Abdul Jabbar. Sew Bachan is equitably entitled to get full back pay during the period of his forced unemployment, but Abdul Jabbar is not entitled to get full back pay during the period of his unemployment from the Company. Abdul Jabbar shall be reinstated by the Company if he is willing to work there.

This issue is accordingly answered.

This award will take effect within one month from the date of its publication in the "Calcutta Gazette", except in respect of those issues under which specific dates from which individual items of the award under those issues will take effect have been mentioned.

Issue

Whether termination of employment of Shri Arjun Sahi is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled ?

On receipt of the order of reference, usual notices were served on the parties and they appeared and filed their written statements.

The union's case in short is that the concerned worker Shri Arjun Sahi, was appointed on 20th March 1964 by the company as a Maintenance Fitter at the rate of Rs. 5 per day by an appointment letter, dated 18th March 1964, on probation for three months. He completed the probationary period to the satisfaction of the management and according to the terms and conditions of appointment letter his services were to be treated permanent after the expiry of the aforesaid probationary period. Shortly after he had joined the company, Shri Sahi tried to consolidate the ranks of the workmen for collective bargaining with the company. The company did not like the activities of Shri Sahi and for unscrupulously removing him from service, handed him over to the Police on 18th September 1964 on a false, malicious and got up theft case. On 20th September 1964 Shri Arjun Sahi came out from the Police custody and immediately thereafter he approached the company to allow him to resume his duties but was refused work by the company. On 1st November 1965 he was acquitted unconditionally in the Criminal case started in the theft case at the instance of the company and thereafter he again approached the company through letter as also personally, for resuming his duties with all back wages for the period of unemployment. Again he was refused employment by the company. Union took up his cause and approached the Labour Officer, Government of West Bengal, for intervention. At the instance of the Labour Officer, several tripartite conferences were held but without any result. There after the matter was referred to this Tribunal for adjudication. The union contends that the company's termination of employment of Shri Arjun Sahi was illegal and unjustified and prays for his reinstatement with full benefits for the period of his forced unemployment.

In its written statement filed on 15th November 1966 in reply to the union's written statement, company denied that it had terminated the service of Shri Sahi by way of victimisation and submitted that as Shri Sahi was appointed purely on a temporary basis and his employment under it had ipso facto terminated by his voluntary absence from duties for a long continuous period with effect from 19th September 1964, he is not entitled to any relief whatsoever in this proceeding. The company also denied having given Shri Sahi any letter of appointment at the time he was taken in.

The issue for adjudication has already been set forth above.

It is not disputed that Shri Arjun Sahi was taken in by the company as a Mechanical and Maintenance Fitter with effect from 18th March 1964. In course of his evidence before this Tribunal Shri Sahi said that at the time of his appointment he was given an appointment letter, dated 18th March 1964 marked Ext.3, in the case. Company denied having given this letter or any other letter of appointment to Shri Arjun Sahi at the time of his appointment and in support of this denial it rested on the oral testimony of D.W.1, Shri Basudeo Shroff, its Chief Officer at the time. At page 1 of his evidence before this Tribunal, Shri Shroff said that on Arjun Sahi's application, marked Ext. A, in the case, he verbally gave appointment order to the time office but had given no appointment letter to Arjun Sahi. Proceeding further in his evidence Shri Shroff said that one day Mr. Parek of the time office had brought to him the letter marked Ext. B in the case and he had thereon made in his own hand the endorsement on the letter. By this letter, dated 27th October 1966, the Manager of the Calcutta Factory of the company had enquiried of Mr. Shroff whether he had issued to Arjun Sahi the appointment letter marked Ext. 3. In his endorsement on the letter Shri Shroff answered the query in the negative. But it is quite apparent from his evidence before this Tribunal that he had given this reply without going through the records of the company. In support of this observation I may refer to the following lines of his evidence in cross-examination : "We gave appointment letters to all workers but those letters were on printed forms of the company and were temporary appointment letters. This was the practice of the company. Shri Arjun Sahi was given a similar temporary appointment letter. Copy of the letter was provided by the company". This evidence of Shri Shroff not only contradicts the company's case that no letter of appointment was given to Shri Arjun Sahi at the time he was taken in but also indicates that had the company so chosen, it could have proved by document, viz., the copy of the appointment letter to Arjun Sahi referred to by Shri Shroff in his evidence, the mala fides of Ext.3. The copy, however, was not produced and no explanation for its non-production was also given on behalf of the company. The copy was the best evidence in company's possession to prove that for the purpose of the case Shri Sahi has fabricated the appointment letter marked Ext.3. When no explanation for its non-production has been given on behalf of the company, it can be said that the copy has been intentionally suppressed by the company. From this intentional withholding of the best evidence to prove the mala fides of Ext.3, it can be safely presumed that the company has intentionally withheld the copy from this Tribunal as it knew that if produced before the Tribunal, it would have only proved the bona fides of Ext.3. This Ext.3 was, according to Shri Sahi was signed by D. W. 1 Shri Shroff himself and from the similarities in between his alleged signature on the copy and his admitted signature under his endorsement in Ext.B it can also be concluded that the two signatures were of the same hand, namely of Shri Shroff.' Companys not taking out an expert to prove that the impugned signature in Ext.3 was not of Shri Shroff, is also another circumstance indicating the bona fides of worker's case that Ext.3 was signed by Shri Shroff himself. It is true that the original appointment letter was not filed before the date the case was taken up for hearing but a copy of the same was annexed to the union's written statement filed on 11th October 1966 and by petition, dated 8th December 1966, Union had informed the Tribunal that amongst other documents, it would rely on this letter of appointment in support of its case on behalf of the worker. It is thus evident that from before the filing of its written statement the company was aware that the concerned worker will rely on the copy of the appointment letter annexed to the union's written statement in support of the case for reinstatement, but not before 14th March 1967 the company had thought it fit to move the Court for a direction on the worker to produce the original letter of appointment. On 17th March 1967 the original letter of appointment was for the first time produced in Court. But even on that date or on any date in between that date and the date fixed for hearing of the work argument in the case company had not moved the Tribunal for an expert's opinion regarding the signature in Ext.3. Instead of taking steps for an expert opinion to prove its case that Ext.3 was a mala fide document, company obtained from Shri Shroff the endorsement in Ext.B. to prove its contention against Ext.3 but for reasons already stated the endorsement cannot be believed to be true. It was by Shri Shroff himself and his own evidence in cross-examination that on the records of the company there was a copy of the appointment letter given to Shri Sahi proves the falsity of this endorsement that no letter of appointment was ever issued to Shri Sahi. In this endorsement Shri Shroff had further commented that the terms and conditions contained in the appointment letter were absolutely against the system of recruitment which was followed in the company while he was in the position of Chief Officer, but strange to note, no attempt to prove that the terms and conditions as contained in Ext. 3 were dissimilar to the terms and conditions under which appointments were usually given during the regime of Shri Shroff as Chief Officer of the company, was made on behalf of the company. The company has challeged the bona fides of Ext-3 on two grounds :—(1) It was not signed by Shri Shroff and (2) that the terms and conditions of appointment as mentioned in Ext.3 were completely at variance with the terms and conditions under which appointments were then being given. No reliable material in support of any of these grounds being available bona fides of Ext 3 cannot for a moment be doubted. If the company had succeded to establish the second ground that would have gone a long way to prove its contention that Ext 3 was a forged document but as the company has made no attempt, not to speak of any serious attempt, to prove this point also it can be said without hesitation that this ground taken up by the company to prove the mala fides of Ext 3, has no basis. Even Shri Shroff has not in his evidence said that in his regime as Chief Officer, appointments were never given on terms mentioned in Ext. 3. As a logical corollary from this circumstance follows the conclusion that this ground of attack against Ext. 3 was to company's own knowledge, a flimsy ground. For this as also for the similarities in the impugned signature and admitted signature of Shri Shroff under the endorsement in Ext. B and the company's intentional witholding of the copy of the letter of appointment given to Shri Sahi, it is held that Ext 3 was a genuine letter of appointment give to Shri Sahi at the time of his appointment in the company. It is further held that the company is now challenging the bona fides of Ext.3 as it strikes at the root of its case that as Shri Sahi was taken in purely as a temporary staff and had absented himself from service without any permission from the company his service has suo moto terminated.

The background of the case also proves the mala fides of the company's contention against the worker's case for reinstatement given in the written statement. This Arjun Sahi was admittedly working as a maintenance fitter in the company since 20th March 1964 and it is not disputed that under the direction of Shri Shroff he was taken to the thana in the night of 18th September 1964, on a charge of theft. It is also not disputed that in the thana he was taken in custody and thereafter a criminal case of theft under section 381 I.P.C. was started against him in the Court of the Police Magistrate at Sealdah. The case, however, ended in acquittal of Shri Arjun Sahi on 1st January 1965 and it is proved both by the evidence of Shri Arjun Sahi as also by the evidence of Shri Shroff that in between his arrest on the charge of theft and his acquittal by the Criminal Court he had approached Shri Shroff for works but had been refused employment on the ground that a criminal case against him was pending. The two, however, differ regarding the exact time Shri Shri Arjun Sahi had approached for works. Shri Arjun Sahi had said that it was on the 20th September 1964 but Shri Shroff stated that it was 3 or 4 months after his arrest. Even if it be assumed that Arjun Sahi had approached Shri Shroff for works 3 or 4 months after his arrest as has been stated by Shri Shroff,still it must be said that company had no justification to refuse him work after his acquittal in the Criminal Case. Shri Arjun Sahi was arrested in night on 18th September 1964 on a charge of theft and got himself enlarged in bail from the Court. While on bail he approached the Chief Officer for work but work was refused to him not on the ground taken by the company viz., that he was voluntarily absenting himself from duties but on the ground that he was accused in the pending criminal case at the instance of the management. Stated in other words, according to the Chief Officer Shri Sahi bing accused in the pending criminal case, was a disqualification to his continuance of work under the company. As soon as this disqualification was removed by his acquittal in the criminal case, company had no justification to refuse him work. In these circumstances, company's contention that prolonged and continuous absence of Shri Sahi from duty onwards from 19th September 1964, justified its refusal of work to Shri Sahi after his acquittal in the criminal case, cannot be upheld by me. It is true that excepting on one occasion Shri Arjun Sahi had not gone to the company for work in between his arrest and his acquittal but as on that particular occasion he was undisputedly refused work on the ground that he was accused in the pending criminal case he could not have any valid reason again to approach the company for work before his acquittal. His absence from duty during the period in between the date he had seen the Chief Officer for work after his release on bail in the criminal case and before his acquittal, could not, therefore, be any valid excuse for refusing him work after his acquittal. As regards the date when he had actually seen the Chief Officer for work after his arrest, there are undoubtedly discrepancies in between his arrest and Shri Shroff's evidence. The discrepancies have already been pointed out but as the Chief Officer he has made himself unworthy of credit by his contradictory statements regarding issue of letter of appointment to Arjun Sahi at the time he was taken in by the company and I find no reason why Shri Arjun Sahi should wait for 3 or 4 months and not approach the Chief Officer for work immediately after his release on bail, Arjun Sahi's statement and not Shri Shroff's regarding the date he had seen him for work after arrest, must be accepted. It must accordingly be held that immediately after his release on bail, Arjun Sahi had approached the company for works but was refused employment on the ground that he was an accused in the pending theft case and no question of giving further employment to him would arise till the case against him was over. As soon as Shri Arjun Sahi was acquitted, this ground became non est and company had no valid ground to refuse him employment after his acquittal. The company has no doubt taken the plea that as Shri Arjun Sahi had voluntarily himself absented from work since 19th September 1964 and was only a temporary hand, his services under it had terminated suo moto but from the evidence on record and the facts and circumstances of the case, this case of the company cannot be accepted. It is no doubt admitted that in between his arrest and acquittal, excepting on the occasion already referred to and discussed in details, Arjun Sahi had never presented himself from duty, but this prolonged absence was not intentional on his part but was forced on him by Shri Shroff by refusal to give him work till the criminal case against him was over. Accordingly Shri Sahi's prolonged absence from duty can be no ground for refusing him employment, and I hold that his services under the company had been terminated not for the reason suggested by the company in its written statement filed but for the fact that he was closely associated with his union; or in other words, his service has been terminated by way of victimisation In support of this observation I may refer to the criminal case started against him by the management. In his evidence before this Tribunal Shri Sahi has said that in the night of 18th September 1964 Shri Shroff himself had taken him to the thana accompanied by the Security Officer of the company, handed him over there and started a false case of theft against him. Shri Shroff denied having taken Shri Sahi to the thana but admitted that the Security Officer had taken him to the thana under his direction and there had made a report against him. On that report, a report of theft, Shri Sahi was arrested and subsequently prosecuted in criminal case which ultimately ended in his acquittal [Vide criminal court's order, dated 1st November 1965, Ext. 2(b)]. The order of acquittal as passed by the learned Magistrate, speaks volume in the case and corroborates Shri Sahi's allegations that for the interest taken by him in the works of his union, the Chief Officer had prosecuted him on a false charge of theft. On the allegation that he was caught redhanded with a spray. gun of the company in his unlawful possession, the charge of theft was brought against him. A criminal case was started by the Police on this complaint. In that case Shri Sahi was discharged by the Court on 3rd February 1965 as the Police had on that date submitted a report to the effect that there was no sufficient evidence against Shri Sahi. Few days after his discharge, to be more precise, on 27th February 1965, Prem Sagar Mishra, the Security Officer of the company, filed before the Police Magistrate at Seldah a petition of complaint under section 381, I.P.C. against Shri Arjun Sahi on the self-same allegation of theft as in the Police case against him. [Vide Ext. 2(a)]. In this petition of complaint the Security Officer made certain allegations against the Police as well and prayed for process against Shri Sahi and his trial under section 381, I.P.C. This complaint case at the instance of the Security Officer was also dismissed under section 203 Cr. P. C. by the learned Magistrate dealing with the case on 1st November 1965 for complainant's non-appearance as also from the report submitted by the Police in connection with the theft case. This order of discharge as passed on 1st November 1965, speaks volume in the case, as it tends to corrobarate Shri Arjun Shahi's allegation that company had prosecuted him on a false charge of theft for his taking interest in the works of his union. On the self-same allegation of theft the company tried twice to get a conviction of Shri Sahi, once through Police and once by filing a petition of complaint through its Security Officer under section 381, I.P.C., before the Police Magistrate, Sealdah, but on both the occasions Shri Sahi was discharged, on the first occasion for Police report and on the second mainly for the complainants absence. As the complainant could not have defaulted to appear before the Court to press its allegation of theft against Shri Sahi as contained in its petition of complaint Ext. 2(a). If the allegation was true, the dismissal of the petition of complaint under section 203 Cr. P.C. for non appearance of the company greatly corroborates, in my opinion, Shri Sahi's plea that to harass him for his union activities the company had prosecuted him in the Criminal Court on false charge of theft. So long the charge of theft as brought against him by the company was under investigation in the Criminal Court, Shri Arjun Sahi could not lawfully insist on the company to allow him to continue his service under it and in view of the petition of complaint by the company it must be said that the charge was under investigation till 2nd November 1965 when the petition of complaint was dismissed under section 203, Cr. P.C., for non-appearance of the complainant. Only after his discharge in the Criminal Case i.e. only after 2nd November 1965 could he approach the company for continuing his job and actually he did, but employment was refused on the ground of his intentional prolonged absence, a ground already held flimsy and frivolous.

Refusal of employment to Shri Sahi must accordingly be held illegal and unjustified. Even it it be conceded that Shri Arjun Sahi was taken in purely as a temporary hand, the same conclusion will also follow. It is now well-settled that the services of even a temporary worker cannot be terminated during the contract period of his service without any notice terminating his service or any dismissal order on a charge of gross misconduct. But in the instant case, no such notice or no such order of dismissal was passed, nor has it been proved by the company for what period Shri Sahi was taken in D.W.1 Shri Shroff gave him the appointment but in his evidence he has not said that Shri Sahi was appointed for a particular specified period ; nor has he made any statement indicating that he was taken in only for a short period. In these circumstances, it can be presumed that even though appointed on a temporary basis, his service was to continue till termination by notice or order of dismissal by the company. Accordingly even if he was intentionally absent from duty from 19th September 1964, company could not have suo moto terminated his service without a charge-sheet for absence from duty without permission, but no such charge-sheet or no order of dismissal was ever given by the company. It must accordingly be held that the company's contention that Shri Sahi's services had automatically terminated for his prolonged intentional absence from duty, has no force at all. Of course, as evidence has come, it must be held that he was appointed on the appointment letter exhibited on his behalf and that Company had no legal justification to refuse him employment for his absence from duty since 19th September 1964. It must further be held that he has been victimised by the management for his connection with the union as has been alleged by him before this Tribunal.

In view of the foregoing discussions and findings it must be held that company's refusal of employment to Shri Arjun Sahi, which refusal practically amounted to termination of his service under it, was absolutely illegal and unjustified. The union's prayer for his reinstatement with all back wage is, therefore, allowed and award directing the company to reinstate Shri Arjun Sahi with all his arrear wages and allowances, if any, during the period of his forced unemployment under the company, is passed.

This is my award which is to be implemented within 15 days of it publication in the "Calcutta Gazette".

AWARD

This is a reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act by the Labour Department, Government of West Bengal, by its order No. 4459-I.R./IR/8L-2(A)/60, dated 1st October 1962, relating to an industrial dispute between Messrs. Kesoram Cotton Mills Ltd., 42 Garden Reach Road, Calcutta 24, and their workmen repesented by the Garden Reach Textile Workers' Union. After service of statutory notices, both the Union and the Company filed written statement. After a number of adjournments parties filed a petition on 8th March 1963 for holding the trial of the case at Delhi, which was allowed by my learned predecessor by his order No. 37, dated 18th May 1966.

The case was fixed for hearing at Delhi on 6th April 1967 and after the case was opened by both the parties Factory Manager, Shri V. B. Singh, appearing for the Company, sought to urge certain preliminiary points as to the maintainability of the reference. A previous petition, dated 27th March 1967, was filed by the Company for deciding such preliminary points first. 10th April 1 67 was fixed for hearing the preliminary points. On that date, the parties filed a joint petition stating that there was a talk of compromise.

13th April 1967 was fixed for compromis in default, for hearing On that date, parties filed a jo nt petition for compromise under the signature of Shri V. B. Singh and the General Secretary of the Union, Shri Arun Sen. On a perusal of the terms of settlement contained in the joint petition of compromise, I find the terms of settlement to be lawful, reasonable and fair. It also appears that the entire dispute between the parties covered by the present reference has been settled between the company and the union. So I make a 'no-dispute' award, the petition of compromise containing the terms of settlement being made a part of this award.

This my award.

AWARD

By Order No. 2969-IR/IR/11L-92/66, dated the 27th July 1966, the Government of West Bengal, in the Department of Labour, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Das Gupta & Co. Private Ltd., 54/3 College Street, Calcutta-12, and their workmen represented by Paschim Banga Pustak Byabasayee Karmachari Samity, 9/7B Ramanath Mazumder Street, Calcutta-9, regarding the matters specified in the schedule to the Third Industrial Tribunal, constituted under section 7A of the Industrial Disputes Act, by Notification No. 808-IR/IR/3A-2/57, dated 11th March 1957, for adjudication.

Issue

Whether termination of service of Shri Agnu Ram is justified?

What relief, if any, is he entitled to?

On receipt of the order of reference usual notices were served on the parties and they appeared and filed their respective written statements.

It is not disputed that the concerned worker Shri Agnu Ram was retired from service with effect from 1st October 1965 by his employer Messrs. Das Gupta & Company Private Ltd., publisher and book-seller in Calcutta, hereinafter referred to in this award as the company. The union challenged this action of the company as illegal and mala fide and raised an industrial dispute over the termination of service of Shri Agnu Ram, before the Labour Commissioner, Government of West Bengal. Conciliation proceedings were started but without any result. Thereafter the matter was referred to this Tribunal for adjudication by Government order referred to at the beginning of this award. In its written statement filed in the case the union has alleged that the company has victimised Shri Agnu Ram for his union activities and prayed for his reinstatement with all wages during the period of his forced unemployment. The union further alleged that in the company there is no fixed age of retirement and that accordingly company had no ground or justification to retire him from service with effect from 1st October 1965.

In reply to the union's written statement company filed its own on 20th September 1966 and therein it has not only denied the allegation of victimisation but has also stated that as Shri Agnu Ram had completed 62 years of age and grown old and infirm owing to old age and none of its employee had in normal course ever worked after attaining 60 years of age, it was wholly justified in superannuating Shri Agnu Ram.

It is not disputed that on 1st September 1965 the company gave Shri Agnu Ram a letter superannuating him with effect from 1st October 1965. The said letter is Ext. 1 in the case. By the said letter Shri Agnu Ram was also directed to collect all his dues on 30th September 1965 or on any other subsequent working day. In reply to that letter Shri Agnu Ram sent the letter marked Ext. 1(a) and in this letter he has challenged the superannuation mainly on the ground that in the company there is no fixed age of superannuation and every workman is permitted to continue his service till not physically or mentally disabled. That the company has no fixed age of retirement is not disputed. Company did not dispute that it has no fixed age of retirement for its employees, but it contended that as on the date Ext. 1 was issued, Shri Agnu Ram had already completed 62 years of age and none of its employees had ever in normal course been allowed to work after the age of 60 years, it had every justification to retire from service with effect from 1st October 1965. In his evidence before the Tribunal Shri Agnu Ram did not deny that he was above 62 years of age on 1st October 1965, and this admitted age of Shri Agnu Ram on 1st October 1965 debars him from getting any relief in the instant case even though the company has no fixed age of retirement. In the case of Imperial Chemical Industries (India) (Pvt.) Ltd., Bombay vs. its workmen reported in 1961-62

S.C.R. 349, it was held that "even in an all-India concern, the age of compulsory retirement should be fixed on the industry-cum-region basis and that for employees in industrial concerns the proper age of retirement is at 60 years, except where pension schemes are in force". It was further observed that in concerns in which such pension schemes are in force, 55 years would be the proper limit. In the company with which we are concerned in this case, pension schemes are also in force, and if there was any reference for fixing the age of retirement in the company, it could have on the decision of the Imperial Chemical Industries (India) Private Ltd., case referred to above easily urged for fixing the age of superannuation at 55 years. The company, however, has not taken the stand that it had always retired its employees at the age of 55 years of age but to the contrary averred in its objection filed that in normal course all its workers retired on the completion of 60 years. For sometime past there has been a progressive tendency to fix the retirement age at 60 years and in Talang, G. M. vs. Shaw Wallace & Co. Ltd., reported in 1964 II L. L. J. 644 the age of clerical and subordinate staff in the region was fixed at 60 years. In Hindusthan Times vs. their workmen reported in 1963 I L. L. J. 108 and Workmen of Jessop & Co. Ltd. vs. Jessop & Co. Ltd., reported in 1964 I L.L. J. 451, the age of retirement for clerical and subordinate staff in industrial establishments was, however, fixed at 58 years.

On the basis of the decision of the cases just referred to it can be said that in the absence of any contract to the contrary no worker can as of right claim for continuing his service after the age of 60 years, and that whether a worker completing this age will or will not be allowed to continue lies entirely at the discretion of the management. This discretion must, however, be properly exercised and should not be used as a whip to victimise the employee. In the instant case the evidence led by the worker cannot establish the charge of victimisation against the company, and there is also no material to show that the company had retired him from service not for his old age but for his connection with the union. Under the scheme of Provident Fund in force in the company, the concerned worker could have been retired at the age of 55 years but the company did not retire him at the age but allowed him to continue till he completed 62 years. This shows also that the charge of victimisation has no basis whatsoever.

In view of the facts and circumstances discussed above I am of opinion that the company was perfectly justified to retire the concerned worker Shri Agnu Ram from service on his completing the age of 62 years and that the union has no case for his reinstatement. Union's prayer for reinstatement of Shri Agnu Ram with all back wages since October 1965 is accordingly dismissed.

This is my award.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. A. T. Gooyee Metal Works Private Ltd., 1 Mall Road, Calcutta-28, and their workmen represented by A. T. Gooyee Metal Works Employees' Union, 1 N. C. Mitra Road, Dum Dum, Calcutta-28 (Case No. 12 of 1967).

BEFORE THE FIFTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri L. C. BANERJEE, Judge.
Fifth Industrial Tribunal.

This industrial dispute between Messrs. A. T. Gooyee Metal Works Private Ltd., and their workmen has been referred to the Fifth Industrial Tribunal under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act by the Government of West Bengal.

Labour Department, Order No. 41/I.R./IR/10L-86/66, dated the 4th January 1967, for adjudication. The issues for adjudication are as follows:

Issues

1. Whether retrenchment of the following workmen is justified? What relief, if any, are they entitled to—(i) Shri Tarapada Karmakar, (ii) Shri Narayan Mullick, (iii) Shri Sankar Chakravorty, and (iv) Shri Ramratan Mistry?
2. Whether the lock-out declared with effect from 17th August 1966 is justified? To what relief, if any, are the workmen entitled?

Usual notices were issued to both parties. The company appeared on 8th February 1967 and filed a petition stating that the dispute has been amicably settled between the union and the company. The notice issued to the union was returned back from the post office with the remark "not claimed". Subsequently on 25th April 1967 both the parties filed a joint petition stating that the parties had entered into an agreement (bi-partite) on 1st February 1967 and that there is no dispute in existence between the parties at the present moment. The terms of agreement have also been filed along with the joint petition of the parties in which they prayed for a "no dispute" award in the case. I have gone through the terms of settlement which appear to be fair, reasonable and lawful. I, therefore, pass a "no dispute" award in the case, as prayed for by the parties. The terms of the tri-partite agreement are made part of the award and annexed hereto.

In the matter of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Nabadwip Textile Industrial Co-operative Society Ltd., Nandipara, P.O. Nabadwip, district Nadia, and their workmen represented by Tant Mazdoor Union, Ranakalitala, P.O. Nabadwip, district Nadia. (Case No. 97 of 1966.)

Present for the Union: Shri Matish Roy, an officer of the Union.

This industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Nabadwip Textile Industrial Co-operative Society Ltd. and their workmen represented by Tant Mazdoor Union, was referred to this Tribunal under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act by Government of West Bengal, Labour Department Order No. 1339-I.R./IR/8L-14/66, dated 4th April 1966, for adjudication on the following issue:—

Issue

Whether the refusal of employment to the following workmen is justified? To what relief, if any, they are entitled?

Sarbashri (1) Sushanta Saha, (2) Rabindra Ch. Nath, (3) Jagabandhu Sarkar, (4) Chitta Debnath, (5) Nemai Biswas, (6) Khagen Bhowmick, (7) Satyen Das, (8) Purnendu Ghosh, (9) Sailen Das, (10) Rabindra Saha, (11) Nemai Ghosh, (12) Bhagawati Debnath, and (13) Jogesh Debnath.

On receipt of the reference, notices were served by the Tribunal on both parties for appearance and filing their respective written statement. The case was ultimately taken up for hearing on 28th April 1967. The Society examined O.P.W. 1 Shri Basudeb Mukherji, the Secretary of the Nabadwip Textile Industrial Co-operative Society Ltd. He was cross-examined by the Union. The Union next examined P.W. 1 Shri Satyen Das, and he was cross-examined by the Society.

The present dispute has arisen on the allegation of the Union that 13 workmen named in the order of reference were refused employment by the Society. The Secretary of the Society in his evidence states that the Society is willing to reinstate all these 13 persons in course of two months, as the services of workmen who are now working temporarily in places of these 13 persons have to be dispensed with for reinstating these persons.

The Society is not agreeable to pay any compensation to the workmen concerned in view of its willingness to take back these persons by giving up the contention of the Society that these workmen themselves failed to resume their work in spite of notice issued by the Society asking them to join their posts of duty within 10 days from the date of notice. The learned representative of the Union wants that some compensation should be paid to these workmen who had remained unemployed for a long time. Then it was submitted by the representatives of both parties that this matter of compensation should be left to the discretion of the Tribunal. I think that, as a gesture of good will, the Society should pay some compensation to these workmen. Of course the Society is running at a loss, and the financial position is not good, and it is already indebted to Government, as stated by the Secretary of the Society in his evidence. Hence the quantum of compensation should be such as will not entail a heavy burden on the Society. So I direct that the Society shall pay Rs. 75 to each of these workmen as compensation, and they will be reinstated in their posts by the Society in course of one month from the date of publication of this Award in the "Calcutta Gazette".

AWARD

By Government order of reference No. 5143-I.R./IR/11L-276/65, dated 22nd November 1965, an industrial dispute between Messrs. Desai Agencies of 58/3 Canning Street, Calcutta-1, and their workers including the present applicants, was referred to this Tribunal for adjudication.

During the pendency of the aforesaid reference case, Shri Gopal Roy, Shri Rabi Bose, Shri Haran Paul, Shri Md. Ukil, Shri Ashim Nandan, and Shri Babu Lal Patel filed the instant application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, complaining of certain violation of section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, by Messrs. Desai Agencies, referred to hereinafter in this award as the company.

In the application under section 33A the workers have alleged that on and from 25th day of August 1966 company have without any cause, justification and/or charges refused employment to them and prayed for such reliefs as the Tribunal would deem fit and proper to give them considering the facts and circumstances of the case. The workers have also alleged that under threat of physical violence and fear of life, the proprietor of the company had on 24th August 1966 obtained from the petitioner Babulal his resignation from the services under it.

The petition was opposed by the company and it has, in its written objection filed on 2nd November 1966, submitted that none of the applicant-workers is entitled to any relief whatsoever as on 24th August 1966 petitioner Babulal Patel had voluntarily resigned from the services of the company after taking full payment of all his dues from the company and that the other applicants had to be laid off with effect from 25th August 1966 for want of raw materials.

In view of the pleadings of the parties the main question for determination in this case is—

> Has the petitioner Babulal Patel tendered his resignation on 24th August 1966 as alleged by the company? Was the company justified in refusing employment to the petitioners on and from 25th August 1966?

It is not disputed that since 25th August 1966 company was not giving any work to any of the petitioners. The company wants to justify its action on two grounds—

(1) Petitioner Babulal Patel has voluntarily resigned from service on 25th August 1966 after taking full payment of all his dues from the company; and

(2) The other workers were laid off with effect from 25th August 1966 for want of raw materials.

As all the petitioners will be entitled to relief in the instant case if company's plea of lay-off is not substantiated and its allegation of voluntary resignation by Shri Babulal Patel on 25th August 1966 is not found true, the question of lay-off, I will first take up for consideration.

It is now well-settled that a "lay-off" is justified only when it is covered by the definition of the term "lay-off" in section 2(kkk) of the Act and by the relevant standing orders, if any. The employer has no common right to declare the lay-off for reasons other than those specified in section 2(kkk) of the Standing Orders. Under section 2(kkk) "lay-off" (with its grammatical variations and cognate expressions) means the failure, refusal or inability of an employer on account of shortage of coal, power or raw materials or the accumulation of stocks or the breakdown of machinery or for any other reason to give employment to a workman whose name is borne on the muster rolls of his industrial establishment and who has not been retrenched. The words "for any other reason" in section 2(kkk) means "for some reason analogous to the reasons specified in the section", and not "for any other reasons of whatsoever character". In the instant cases insufficient supply of raw materials has been adduced by the company as the reason for the alleged lay-off of the applicants other than Shri Patel with effect from 25th August 1966. In support of this case company relied on the evidence of Shri Mansuklal Desai, its proprietor. He has, at page 2 in his evidence-in-chief, said that "on 24th August 1966 I asked the applicants not to come to work from 25th August 1966 as there was no material". Shri Gopal Chandra Roy one of the applicants, has in course of his evidence in cross-examination denied the suggestion that on 24th August 1966 the proprietor of the company had told them that for shortage of raw materials he would not be able to give them work and the company has not produced any document, not even its stock register to prove its contention that all the applicants other than Babulal had to be laid off with effect from 25th August 1966 for shortage of raw materials for work. Whether the company had or had not sufficient raw materials for work by the applicants, on 25th August 1966 was within the special knowledge of the company and in this view of the matter it should have produced the best evidence in its possession to substantiate its plea of non-availability of the raw materials. The best evidence was certainly the stock register or other similar register showing the stock of raw materials in the hand of the company at the close of work on 24th August 1966, but the said evidence was not produced and no explanation for its non-production was also given by the company. It can accordingly be said that the company has intentionally withheld the best evidence in its possession to justify the lay-off with effect from 25th August 1966 and from this intentional withholding of the best evidence, presumption can be drawn that the company has intentionally withheld the document, showing the stock of raw materials in hand on 25th August 1966 as it knew, if produced, it would have falsified the reason adduced by it for the lay-off of the applicants other than Shri Patel with effect from 25th August 1966. Company's plea that with effect from 25th August 1966 it had laid off workers other than Shri Patel for want of raw material, cannot in these circumstances, be upheld. It is no doubt true that some of the applicants have, in course of their cross-examination, admitted that for insufficient raw materials company could not sometimes give them work but they have also at the same time added that company had regular supply of raw materials but as most of them were diverted to the black-market, company could not give them sufficient works. These raw materials were celluloid sheets necessary for frames and for contradicting this suggestion of black-marketing in the sheets, company should have produced records indicating the sheets actually received by it and how they were utilised. No such record having been produced it is not possible for me to throw the workers' suggestion of black-marketing of sheets as given by the company and I am of opinion that the solitary oral testimony of Shri Desai was too insufficient and meagre to justify the lay-off with effect from 25th August 1966. Accordingly even if on the ground of lay-off, the management had refused work to its employees with effect from 25th August 1966, the refusal was quite unjustified and illegal.

It has already been indicated that company resisted the workers' application under section 33A on ground of lay-off and also on the ground of voluntary resignation by Shri Babulal Patel. Regarding the plea of lay-off, I have already made my comments. It remains to be seen, whether Babu Lal Patel had actually resigned from service in the afternoon of 24th August 1966 as has been alleged by the company.

It is not disputed that after close of the duty hours on 24th August 1966 Shri Babulal Patel had endorsed on the Register of Wages for August 1966 full satisfaction of his dues as also his resigning from the company. In the workers' application under section 33A, it has been alleged that the aforesaid endorsement had been obtained from Shri Babulal by the proprietor by force and threat and in his evidence before the Tribunal, Babulal has said:

> "In the afternoon of 24th August 1966 I came down after closing of the factory. This was about 6 p.m. When I came down I saw Shri Mansukhlal Desai showing a typed paper to the other employees and asking them to sign. I also heard them refusing to sign the paper on the plea that they did not know the contents of the paper. Thereafter Desai Sahib took me by hand to his chamber, forced me to sit in his chamber and then asked me to resign. I refused but he abused and also threatened with violence. Two or three others who are Shri Desai's men were standing by me. Out of fear and for personal safety I wrote my resignation and also signed full satisfaction of my dues on the attendance register. Both these I did under threat of Desai Sahib and the men standing by my side. After signing, Desai Sahib told me to come next day and to take the dues, but on the next day we were not allowed to enter the shop or given the work. After obtaining my resignation and signature on the attendance register, Desai Sahib forced me to come out of the chamber. Next day we went to the thana and loged a diary. In the thana I gave written complaint in Hindi and this is the English translation of the said complaint. This English translation was given to me from the thana. Translation with the application in Hindi marked Ext. 1."

In cross-examination he stated:

> "I got nothing from Shri Desai in his chamber on 24th August 1966. I was forced to sign full satisfaction on the attendance register that afternoon by Shri Desai."

As against this evidence of Shri Patel, we have the following evidence of Shri Desai on Patel's resignation:—

> "The applicant Babulal Patel was a dice maker in the factory at a daily wages of Rs. 5 and not Rs. 10. This register of wages will bear out this fact that every month Babulal Patel used to take his wages from the company at the rate of Rs. 5 per diem after putting his signature on the revenue stamp in the attendance register, Ext. A. It is not a fact that in the evening of 24th August 1965, I had abused the applicant. It is not a fact that in that evening I had asked any of the applicants to sign a typed paper. I did not force Babulal Patel to give his resignation. He voluntarily resigned after taking full payment of his dues from the company. In token thereof, he made this endorsement and put his signature on the Attendance Register. The endorsement with signature marked Ext. A(1). It is false to say that in that evening I had forcibly taken Babulal to my chamber and by force obtained his signature with the help of my son and others."

As admittedly in Wage Register Babulal Patel had on 24th August 1966 endorsed his resignation with effect from that date and also his receipt of all his dues from the company, the onus lay heavily on him to substantiate his allegation that by force and threat Shri Desai had obtained the endorsement from him without paying him a single pice. In support of this case Shri Patel greatly relied on the Wage Register and it was contended on his behalf that ever since his appointment under the company he was getting Rs. 10 per diem, as will be evident from the Register of Wages itself. In his evidence before this Tribunal Babulal said that since 1963 he was working in the factory at the daily rate of Rs. 10, but there is nothing indicating that he had joined the company after August 1963, and the 1963 Wage Register of the company was not also produced to disprove his statement that since August 1963 he was working. In this view of the matter it is not possible for me to hold that Babulal was working in the company not from August 1963 but from December 1964, the first month in the Attendance Register marked Ext. A. But even this Attendance Register for December 1964 shows that Babulal then was getting his remuneration at the rate of Rs. 10 per diem. This Wage Register is company's own document and Shri Desai has not in his evidence said or even suggested no statement that the daily rate as noted against Babulal in the Wages Register of December 1964 was incorrect. It must accordingly be held that this Register of Wages for 1964 substantiates Babulal's case that he was taken in by the company at the daily rate of Rs. 10 and as evidence has come it can further be held that the rate at which Babulal was first appointed was continuing till 24th August 1966, the date of his alleged resignation. It is nobody's case that in between his appointment under the company and 24th August 1966 there was any change in the daily rate of Babulal Patel. When, therefore, the Wage Register for December 1964 indicates his appointment at the rate of Rs. 10 per diem, conclusion must be drawn that on 24th August 1966 he was getting his remuneration exactly at this rate and not at the rate of Rs. 5 as mentioned by Shri Desai in course of his evidence before the Tribunal. It is true that in the wage sheets from July 1965 onwards, his remuneration has been shown as Rs. 5 per day, and the sheets also indicate that the net amount paid to him was calculated at this rate, but still I cannot change my opinion based on wage sheet for December 1964 that he was appointed at the daily rate of Rs. 10 and was all through his service career under the company getting remuneration at this rate, reason being the wage sheet for April 1966. This wage sheet for April 1966 indicating payment of Rs. 112.50 to Shri Patel does not mention the rate or any other details under the several columns of the wage sheet and from this wage sheet I conclude that in the wage sheets entries relating to the daily rate, State Insurance Contribution and actual amount paid were all made after the actual payment on taking the signature of the recipient on revenue stamp. Stated in other words, my conclusion based on wage sheet for April 1966 is that at the time the workers had to put their signatures on the revenue stamps in token of their receipt of monthly remuneration, all the other columns in the sheets excepting column for "Names" were blank and they were filled up subsequently behind the back and without the knowledge of the workers. Accordingly the wage sheets from July 1965 onwards are no proof of company's contention that Babulal was appointed at the daily rate of Rs. 5 and was getting the rate in August 1966. When, therefore, it is established by company's own document that Babulal was getting Rs. 10 per diem, company's assertion that on 24th August 1966 he had voluntarily resigned after receiving full satisfaction of all his dues from the company, cannot be upheld by me. According to O.P.W. 1 Shri Monsuklal Desai this full and final settlement was made on the basis of remuneration at the rate of Rs. 5, but when this rate is falsified by wage sheet for December 1964, company's plea that on 24th August 1966 Babulal had resigned after receiving full satisfaction of all his dues from the Company, cannot be upheld and it must be held that he had made the endorsement under the circumstances mentioned by him in the lines of his evidence already quoted above.

In view of the finding and discussions made above, I must hold that the company had no just or sufficient reason to refuse employment to any of the applicants with effect from 25th August 1966. In its written statement filed company was justified its refusal of work to the applicants other than Babulal on the plea that they had been laid off with effect from 25th August 1966 but even if they were laid off the same was quite illegal and unjustified. It refused work to Babulal on the ground that he had resigned with effect from 25th August 1966 but this plea has not also been unsubstantiated. Refusal of work to all the applicants with effect from 25th August 1966 was in these circumstances quite unlawful and unjustified. Accordingly an award directing the company to pay to all the applicants compensation at their daily rate of remuneration for the period of their forced unemployment with effect from 25th August 1966 is passed.

This is my award which is to be implemented within a month of its publication in the "Calcutta Gazette".

LABOUR DEPARTMENT

ORDERS

No. 2127-I.R./IR/10L-180/66.—22nd May 1967.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2267-I.R./IR/10L-182/64, dated the 4th June 1966, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Indian Standard Wagon Co. Ltd., P.O. Burnpur, district Burdwan, and their workmen represented by United Iron and Steel Workers' Union, Bari Smriti Bhavan, Subhaspally, P.O. Burnpur, district Burdwan, regarding the issue mentioned in the said order being a matter specified in the Second Schedule to the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), was referred for adjudication to the Second Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas the said Second Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Indian Standard Wagon Co., Ltd., P.O. Burnpur, district Burdwan, and their workmen represented by United Iron and Steel Workers' Union, Bari Smriti Bhavan, Subhaspally, P.O. Burnpur, district Burdwan. (Case No. VIII-207/66.)

BEFORE THE SECOND INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri S. K. Bhattacharyya, Judge, Second Industrial Tribunal.

By order No. 2267-I.R./IR/10L-182/64, dated Calcutta, the 4th June 1966, Government of West Bengal, in the Labour Department, referred an industrial dispute between Messrs. Indian Standard Wagon Co., Ltd., and their workmen represented by United Iron and Steel Workers' Union for adjudication on the following issue:—

Issue

Whether the dismissal of Shri Syed Ainuddin is justified? What relief, if any, is he entitled to?

After receipt of the reference notices were served on both the parties who entered appearances and filed separate written statements. The matter was thereafter set down for hearing when both parties filed a petition of compromise interalia stating that the dispute between the parties have amicably settled in accordance with the terms of a memorandum of settlement annexed with the petition of compromise. In the said memorandum of settlement it was agreed that the workmen will be reinstated with effect from a certain date and the company agreed to pay the workmen half of the wages and dearness allowance during the period of unemployment and Rs. 250 towards the cost of the proceedings and the service of the workmen should be deemed to be continuous. The agreement was signed by Shri B. K. Bhattacharjee,

Labour and Welfare Officer, on behalf of the company and by Shri Bamapada Mukherjee, on behalf of the United Iron and Steel Workers' Union as also by workmen himself. The terms of settlement appear to be fair and responsible and there is no reason why it should not be accepted. The Tribunal accordingly accepts the said memorandum of settlement and finds in accordance with the petition of compromise that the industrial dispute under consideration no longer exists. Hence a "no dispute" award is passed in this case.
Taken at my dictation and corrected by me.

Judge.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of industrial disputes between Shri Hari Prasad Upadhaya, 16 Mangoe Lane, Calcutta, and 30 other Lorry Owners represented by West Bengal Lorry Owners' Association Ltd., Kidderpore Branch, 22 Paddopukur Square, Calcutta-33, and their workmen represented by Motor Transport Workers' Union, 10 Mohan Chand Road, Calcutta-23. (C. O. No. 6834-I.R., dated the 24th December 1965.)

BEFORE THE FOURTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri R. Bhattacharya, M.A., LL.B., Arbitrator, Judge, Fourth Industrial Tribunal.

For the Association: Shri C. L. Ganguly, Advocate.

For the Union: Shri P. Ganguly.

The instant proceedings under section 10A of the Industrial Disputes Act arise out of some industrial disputes between Hari Prasad Upadhaya of 16 Mango Lane, Calcutta, and thirty other Lorry Owners named in the list attached to the Government order No. 6834-I.R./IR/41-60/65, dated the 24th December 1965, and represented by West Bengal Lorry Owners' Assiciation Limited (hereinafter described as the Lorry Owners' Association) and their workmen represented by Motor Transport Workers' Union, 10 Mohan Chand Road, Calcutta (hereinafter referred to as the Union). The disputes for arbitration are as follows:—

(1) Whether the Central Wage Board for Port and Dock Workers Recommendation regarding interim relief and dearness allowance has any application in the case of the workmen employed by Lorry Owners.

(2) Whether the lorry owners are following leave with wage to their workmen in accordance with the Motor Transport Workers Act, 1961

(3) Whether the payment of Bonus Act, 1965, has any application to the workmen of Lorry Owners; under what circumstances and conditions the workmen can claim Bonus from the lorry owners?

(4) Whether the workmen concerned were justified in launching the strike under the prevailing corcumstances and whether the said workmen who had indulged in the said strike since 24th November 1965 are entitled to any relief for the period of strike.

In short the case of the Union in the written statement is that the employers concerned are mainly engaged in the movement of tea-chests from ware-houses and godowns situated in or around the Port of Calcutta to the transit ware-houses or to the spots of transhipment to foreign land. The workmen of the employers mentioned in the list are "dock workers", according to their occupations and definition of Indian Dock Workers (Regulation of Employment) Act, 1948. The Central Wage Board for Port and Dock workers in their resolution No. WB-21(4/64), dated the 13th November 1964, made recommendation for grant of interim relief and dearness allowance. The said Board included in their recommendations workmen who were employees engaged in loading and unloading all cargoes including tea-chests in Dock areas from river crafts, vessels, boats, trucks, etc., and also employee who came within the definition of Dock Workers under the Dock Workers (Regulation of Employment) Act, 1948. The Motor Transport Workers Act basically regulates the employment of the workmen, employed in the motor transport industries. The employers of the present case seldom honour their obligations towards their workmen under section 27 of the Motor Transport Workers Act with respect to annual leave with wages. The workmen are entitled to get bonus from the employers according to Payment of Bonus Act, 1965. In spite of repeated representations the employers did not meet the grievances of the workers by implementing the recommendations of the Central Wage Board for Port and Dock workers, by allowing annual leave with wages and by payment of bonus. The workmen, as a last resort, went on strike after due notice from 24th November 1965. Lastly the parties agreed to settle the matter through arbitration and as a result thereof, the strike was called off. The Union claims that the workmen are entitled to the benefits of interim relief and dearness allowance according to the recommendation of Central Wage Board for Port and Dock workers, that settlement of accounts be made and a Leave Register be opened for annual leave with wages, that bonus be paid to the workmen according to the Payment of Bonus Act and that the workmen were justified in launching the strike on and from 24th November 1965 to 3rd December 1965 for which period the workmen should be paid wages.

To be brief, the case of the Lorry Owners Association on behalf of the employers is that the workmen in this case were governed under the Motor Transport Workers Act, 1961, that they cannot come within the meaning of "Dock Workers" as defined under the Dock Workers (Regulation of Employment) Act, 1948, and that the motor transport employees cannot claim bonus according to the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965, as the strength of the evployee of each of the employers falls below twenty. It has been alleged that the lorry owners in question undertake transport business in respect of various materials, namely, wheat, sugar, machinary goods, iron rods, cement, etc., and not tea-chests only. The lorry owners have no work inside the Port of Calcutta except the movement of lorries while bringing the materials inside the Port area. The employers have no concern with the export of tea to foreign lands. The lorries are but public carriers which can be hired or engaged by anybody. The employers have, besides, supervisors, three types of employees, namely, the lorry driver, the lorry cleaners and the lorry mechanics. The drivers drive the lorries, cleaners clean the lorries and accompany the loaded lorries to watch them on behalf of the employers and mechanics attend the engine and other parts of the lorry when necessary. According to the employers their employees are not Dock Workers and therefore they cannot claim any interim relief or dearness allowance as recommended by Central Wage Board for the Port and the Dock Workers. The employers have stated in written statement that no loading and unloading works are done by their employees. The employers have relied upon the Motor Transport Workers Act, and the rules framed thereunder and their case is that all benefits including annual leave with wages according to the said Act are given to the employees. The employers have, however, denied that the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965, can be applicable to the motor transport employees. According to the employers the workers struck illegally and without justification for which the employers have suffered financial loss and their good will was impaired.

In this case the Union examined eight witnesses on its behalf and got several exhibits. The employers examined four witnesses and brought several documents in evidence. It is curious to note, however, that after closing its evidence the Union did not further appear in this case to contest when the employers started examining their witnesses. Sufficient opportunity was given to the Union for contest by allowing adjournment uncalled for. No reason has been assigned for non-appearance of the Union at the later stage of the hearing.

First of all, I shall deal with Issue No. 2. In this respect the grievance of the Union will appear in paragraphs 19 and 20 of the Union's written statement. It is alleged that the employers in this case do not allow annual leave with wages, according to section 27 of the Motor Transport Workers Act. The reply of the employers will appear in paragraphs 13 and 14 of their written statement. They state that they rely on the said Act and that the benefits including annual leave with wages under the Act are given. Of the Union's witnesses, P.W. 1 has said that he got leave but without wages. At first he says that he is a driver of the lorry of Shri Balaram Tewari. Next he says that he drives lorries of different maliks. During cross-examination this witness reveals that he has been serving under Sarvasri Balaram Tewari and Meta Prosad Tewari who are joint owners of the lorry he drives. He admits that his employers are not party to this dispute. I reject his evidence as irrelevant and unreliable. P.W. 6 examined on the side of the Union describes himself as the supervisor of Teawri Transport Company. He does not know the owners of the company. He gives an address of the company which is different from the one given in the order of reference. His evidence is that some of the employees do not get any leave with wages. The allegation is very wide and vague. He however says that he cannot name any person who has not received any wage with leave. There is nobody to support this witness. The evidence is worthless. The next witness is P.W. 7. At first he says that he works in Harihar Singh Transport Company but during cross-examination his evidence is that he has been driving the lorry of Gildhari Singh for the last three years. Gildhari Singh is not a party before me. I cannot rely on this witness. P.W. 8 is the last witness for the Union. He starts his evidence by saying that he has been working under Hari Prasad Upadhaya and M. P. Transport but later on he admits that the lorry he drives stands in the name of Sardar Prosad Upadhaya and that he receives his wages by giving signature on the khata of Sardar Prosad who is not an employer connected with this case. There is no reliable evidence or circumstances supporting the stories of the Union. I reject their evidence. There is no acceptable evidence on the side of the Union in support of its contention on Issue No. 2. No specific instance has been cited before me which I can accept. Even if it is accepted that all the employers in this case come under the purview of the Motor Transport Workers' Act, 1961, I do not find that there has been any violation of the said Act in respect of the Issue No. 2. The issue is therefore decided against the Union.

With regard to Issue No. 3 Shri C. L. Ganguly for the employers unhesitatingly admits that the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965, is applicable. I I answer the first part of the issue in the affirmative and hold that the workmen can claim bonus in the circumstances and conditions indicated in the provisions of the Act itself.

With regard to Issue No. 1, the case of the Union is that the employers in this case are mainly engaged in movement of tea-chests from warehouses and godowns situated in or around the Port of Calcutta to transit warehouses or to the spots of transhipment to foreign lands that the employees are dock workers according to Indian Dock Workers (Regulation of Employment) Act, 1948, and the classification made in the recommendation of the Central Wage Board for Port and Dock Workers, vide the Resolution No. WB-21(4)/64, dated the 13th November 1964.

Section 2(b) of the Dock Workers (Regulation of Employment) Act, 1948, difines "Dock Worker" as follows:

> "Dock Worker" means a person employed or to be employed in, or in the vicinity of, any Port on work in connection with the loading, unloading, movement or storage of cargoes, or work in connection with the preparation of ships or other vessels for the receipt or discharge of cargoes or leaving Port.
> "Cargo" according to section 2(aa) includes anything carried or to be carried in a ship or other vessel.

Wage Board recommendations relied upon by the Union have been marked Ext. 6. The categories of employees for whom the recommendations were made are mentioned in paragraph I starting from the page 68 of the Appendix. The Union wanted to rely on items 4 and 5 of paragraph 1E of the said Appendix which run as follows:—

> (4) "Employees engaged in loading and unloading all cargoes (including tea-chest) in the dock areas from river crafts, vessels, boats, trucks, etc."
> (5) "Employees who come within the definition of 'dock worker' under the Dock Workers (Regulation of Employment) Act, 1948."

I shall now consider the evidence on record regarding the nature of works done by the employees of the Motor Transport Industries before me. The Union has examined some persons of different organisations who say in effect that they hired lorries for taking their tea-chests from different godowns to Port area and the Motor Transport Industries were paid for the use of the lorry. P.W. 3 for the Union has stated that at the dock area the consignments are handled by the Port Commissioner's labourers. His Babu does the administrative matter in the dock area in connexion with the loading and releasing of the consignments. P.W. 6 on the side of the Union has said that the labourers of the transport companies unload the tea-chests from the lorries inside the Port area and keep them in the godown. He has named two persons, Thalu Pandey and Sovnath Pandey, who handled the chests. Those two persons have not been examined before me. The Union has not examined any competent person to speak about the duties of the employees of the Motor Transport Industries. The employers, on the other hand, have examined O.P.W. 1, the "Supercargo" in the Traffic Department of the Commissioners for Calcutta Port. He has stated that Port and Dock are prohibited areas. After the goods brought from outside are thrown on the floor inside the prohibited area, they are handled by the labourers of the Port and not by outsiders. The Secretary of the Lorry Owner's Association, O.P.W. 2, has stated that they carry different commodities of different persons to different places including dock area. The transport companies do not supply any cooly for loading or unloading the goods. Within the dock area the dock labourers handled the commodities. O.P.W. 3, a driver, has stated that his duty is only to drive the lorry and nothing else.

On consideration of the evidence on record I am satisfied that the Motor Transport Industries before me had nothing to do the loading or unloading business in the dock and Port areas. Their lorries are hired by the customers, some of whom occassionally take their goods to Port and dock areas where the goods are handled by Dock labourers specially oppointed for the purpose. The employers of the Motor Transport business do not employ any workman for carrying or loading or unloading any goods carried in lorries. The persons who hire lorries are responsible for the handling of the goods for loading upon or unloading from the lorries. The drivers are employed only to drive lorries. There is no reliable witness on the side of the Union to support its case. The Lorry Owners' Association has examined reliable and competent witnesses. I find that none of the workmen employed by the lorry owners are Port or Dock workers as defined in the Dock Workers (Regulation of Employment) Act, 1948, or in the Central Wage Board recommendations referred to by the Union. The workmen employed by the lorry owners are not entitled to any relief in Issue No. 1, as the Central Wage Board for Port and Dock Workers' recommendations have no application to them.

Coming to Issue No. 4, I find that the workmen resorted to strike on the allegations that the employers refused to implement the recommendations of the Central Wage Board for Port and Dock workers, or to allow leave according to the Motor Transport Workers' Act or to make Payment of Bonus. In the present case, in view of my findings above, the action taken by the workmen in launching a strike was unreasonable, unwise and unjustified and the same caused not only dislocation of business activities of the public but also loss to the employers of the workmen. The workmen are not entitled to any relief for the period of strike.

CHAPTER VI

APPEALS TO SUPREME COURT

Civil Appeals

1. The provisions of Chapter IV shall apply, so far as may be, to all applications made to this Court in connection with appeals to the Supreme Court.

2. Matters connected with appeals to the Supreme Court, other than those for the grant of a Certificate under Article 132(1) or 133(1) of the Constitution or those with which the Registrar is authorised to deal, shall ordinarily be heard at such time as the Division Bench appointed to deal with such matters shall fix.

2A. (a) An application for a certificate under clause (1) of Article 132 of the Constitution shall be heard by the Bench, from whose judgment, decree or order, it is intended to prefer an appeal to the Supreme Court.

(b) An application for a certificate under clause (1) of Article 133 of the Constitution shall be heard by the Bench, from whose judgment, decree or order, it is intended to prefer an appeal to the Supreme Court:

Provided however, that if a Judge or Judges, constituting such a Bench be not available, then such application shall be heard by a Bench, to be constituted by the Chief Justice, which shall ordinarily be a Division Bench.

2B. Notwithstanding anything contained in these rules, the Bench competent to grant a certificate under clause (1) of Article 132 of the Constitution, may grant a certificate at the time of pronouncing any judgment, decree or final order, without a written application being made for that purpose.

3. Matters relating to (1) service of notices or other processes; (2) substitution of parties and appointment or discharge of next friends or guardian-ad-litem of minors or persons of unsound mind, before the grant of a certificate; (3) preparation of paperbooks and transcript in English of the record proper; (4) return of documents and (5) matters not expressly required by these rules to be dealt with by a Bench, competent to grant a certificate under Article 132 or 133(1) of the Constitution, or to be laid before the Division Bench for orders, shall be dealt with and disposed of by the Registrar.

4. Applications for an order (1) to transmit Orders of the Supreme Court for execution to the lower courts, where no special directions are required; and (2) for refunds of surplus deposits made for the purpose of preparing translation, manuscripts, etc., may, in ordinary circumstances, be made to, and disposed of, by the Registrar without notice to the opposite parties other than inclusion in the Daily cause list.

5. In all other applications, regarding matters, connected with appeals to the Supreme Court including petitions for the grant of a certificate under Article 132 or 133(1) of the Constitution, notice under rule 6 of this Chapter is necessary in addition to any other notice, herein prescribed.

6. Notice of an application under the preceding rule shall be given by the applicant or his Advocate by delivering to the proper person (ordinarily the Advocate for the appearing opposite party) a copy of the petition, together with a notice, in the following form:—

> "Take notice that this application will be filed with the proper officer of the Court, and that you are required to attend and show cause against the application at the hearing, if you desire to do so."

7. All applications which have been duly filed will be set down in a list in the order in which they are received. The cases in the list will be called on peremptorily in their turn; and if, by the fault of the applicant, the application cannot be proceeded with, it will be liable to be dismissed.

8. Every petition for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court and for the grant of a certificate under Article 132(1) or 133(1) of the Constitution shall be presented to the Stamp Reporter. Such petition shall be accompanied by—

(1) a court-fee of Rs. 16 for drawing up an estimate of the expense of preparing and forwarding to the Registrar of the Supreme Court the record of the case;

(2) the fee for the issue of the notice (of the application for leave to appeal) to all the respondents who did not enter appearance in the High Court at the hearing of the appeal;

(3) forms of notices to all respondents duly filled up in the manner prescribed in rule 21; and

(4) certified copies of the judgment and decree complained of.

Note.—A petition presented without a copy of the decree appealed from shall forthwith be returned to the Advocate or party presenting it, who shall refile it with the copy wanted within the period of limitation and in case it is refiled after the period of limitation it shall not be accepted without an order of the Division Bench.

9. If the Stamp Reporter finds that the petition is barred by limitation, he shall forthwith lay the same before the Court for orders. If it is filed within the prescribed period of limitation he shall lay it before the Registrar with a report whether it has been filed in accordance with rules of the High Court and whether the stamps filed therewith are sufficient.

10. Upon receipt of such petition with the Stamp Reporter's report, the Registrar shall, in case the petition is not in proper form or is not accompanied by the requisite court-fee stamps, fix a period within which the additional fees may be paid or within which the petition may be amended, or lay the same before the Court for orders. If such petition is sufficiently stamped and complies with the provisions of the rules, he shall, upon receipt of such petition, direct notice to be served on the opposite party to show cause why the certificate would not be granted.

11. Where more than one such application is made by the same party at the same time relating to decrees or final orders made in pursuance of the same judgment and only one record is required to be printed, the Registrar may order that only one court-fee of Rs. 16 be paid, or that one certified copy of the judgment be accepted, or may refer the matter to the Court for orders.

12. When a certificate has been obtained by the party at the time of the disposal of an appeal or any proceeding he shall file an application containing the grounds of his appeal for an order for the registration of the appeal and preparation of the record together with a court-fee stamp of Rs. 16 for drawing up an estimate for the preparation of the record.

Note.—The requisite fee for issue of notice on the respondents, written up forms of notices, and certified copies of the judgment and decree complained of need not be filed.

13. On receipt of an order from the Supreme Court granting special leave to appeal the Officer-in-Charge shall cause the petition of appeal to be registered in this Court and shall, if there is any direction for preparation of the record in this Court, lay before the Division Bench for necessary orders.

14. In any appeal, whether on certificate granted by this Court or by special Leave from the Supreme Court, where the record has been directed to be printed under the supervision of this Court or the transcript in English of the record proper is to be prepared in this Court, the Registrar shall, if the appellant fails to take necessary steps to have the record printed or the transcript prepared, as the case may be, and to have the same transmitted to the Supreme Court with due diligence, forthwith report the matter to the Registrar of the Supreme Court.

15. The rules in this chapter shall apply, so far as they may be applicable, to all appeals registered under the foregoing rules 12 and 13.

16. As soon as the Registrar has directed notice to be served under rule 10 of this chapter, the Officer-in-Charge shall forthwith proceed to issue notice of the application for leave to appeal to all the respondents who did not appear at the hearing of the appeal before the High Court. He shall also serve notices of the application for leave to appeal on the Advocates for the respondents who appeared at the hearing before the High Court, but in case such Advocates refuse to accept service, the notices shall be served directly on the respondents concerned.

17. A notice which it is necessary to serve under the rules (other than notices under rule 6 of this chapter) or under Order XLV, rule 3, Civil Procedure Code, may be served in the manner provided by the Code for the service of notices, or, unless the Court or the Registrar otherwise directs, upon any Advocate who appeared for the party to whom notice is to be given in the appeal to this Court, unless the Vakalatnama of such Advocate has been cancelled with the sanction of the Court. If there is no Advocate upon whom notice can be served then, unless the Registrar otherwise directs, the notice must be served upon the party in Calcutta through the Registrar, Court of Small Causes, Calcutta, or in the mufassal through the proper court in the district in which such notice is to be served, on paying the usual fee. The fee for the issue of the notice must be paid into Court at the time of filing the application. Such payment is to be made by stamp affixed to the notice intended to be served.

18. Nothing in these rules requiring any notice to be served on, or given to, an opposite party or respondent shall be deemed to require any notice to be served on, or given to, the legal representative of any deceased opposite party or deceased respondent in a case when such opposite party or respondent did not appear either at the hearing in the High Court or at any proceedings subsequent to the decree of the High Court:

Provided that notices under sub-rule (2) of rule 3 of Order XLV, Civil Procedure Code, shall be given by affixing the same in some conspicuous place in the court house of the Judge of the district in which the original suit was brought and by publication in such newspapers as the Court may direct.

Notice under the proviso to this rule may be issued in the manner prescribed to the legal representatives of the deceased respondent or opposite party in question without specifying such legal representative by name.

19. (1) With the fee for the issue of the notice the applicant shall also file printed forms of such notice duly filled up in the prescribed form [see Form No. 6 (Civil)] the date of appearance and the date of the notice being left blank.

(2) The information entered in the form must be filled up in the vernacular (or in English if the party to be served is a European or a resident of Calcutta) in a bold, clear and easily legible handwriting.

(3) The date fixed for the hearing of an application will be inserted in the form and the notice will be dated before it is signed by the Assistant Registrar.

(4) The necessary number of printed forms of notice in the prescribed form will be supplied to applicants or their Advocates, free of cost, on application to the Forms Clerk.

(5) The Registrar may, in his discretion, direct in any particular case that the forms of notice be entirely filled up in the office of the Court.

20. The date fixed for the hearing of the application for leave to appeal shall be regulated by the time-table prescribed in rules 44 to 46, Chapter V.

21. As soon as it shall appear that the notices of the application for leave to appeal have been duly served on all the respondents, the Officer in-Charge shall lay the application for leave to appeal before the Division Bench for orders under Order XLV, rule 3(1), Civil Procedure Code.

22. On the receipt of a report from the Court of first instance under Order XLV, rule 5, Civil Procedure Code, as to the amount or value of the subject-matter of the suit and of the proposed appeal, notice shall forthwith be given to the applicant and to the appearing respondents, and any party objecting to the report shall, within seven days from the date of the notice, file his objections, if any, and also serve a copy thereof on the other side. The case shall thereupon be laid before the Court for orders without delay.

23. Immediately after the receipt of the copy of the petition of appeal from the Supreme Court the Registrar of this Court shall—

(1) cause notice of the lodgment of the petition of appeal to be served on the respondent in the manner as specified in the foregoing rules and sent to the Supreme Court a certificate as to the date or dates on which the said notice was served;

Criminal Appeals

34. In all applications for leave to appeal under Article 134(1)(c) of the Constitution and all applications for a certificate under Article 132(1), when such certificate is not verbally asked for at the time of the delivery of the judgment, notice under rule 6 of this Chapter shall be given by the applicant or his Advocate to the proper person (ordinarily the Advocate for the appearing opposite party):

Provided that, in the case of applications under Article 134(1)(c), submitted from jail, notice thereof, if any, shall be given as provided for in rule 40, hereinafter following.

35. An application under Article 132(1) or Article 134(1)(c) of the Constitution, other than an application submitted from Jail, shall be presented before the Bench, from whose judgment, final order or sentence, it is intended to prefer an appeal to the Supreme Court. Such an application shall be accompanied by a certified copy of the judgment or order, sought to be appealed from, and copies of such application and judgment or order for the use of other judge or judges, where the Bench consists of more than one Judge:

Provided, however, that if a Judge or Judges, constituting such a Bench be not available, then such application shall be made to a Bench to be constituted by the Chief Justice, which shall ordinarily be a Division Bench.

35A. Notwithstanding anything contained in these rules the Bench, competent to grant a certificate under clause (1) of Article 132 of the Constitution, may grant a certificate at the time of pronouncing any judgment or final order without a written application being made for that purpose.

36. Until other provision is made by Parliament, in this behalf, all applications for leave to appeal under Article 134(1)(c) of the Constitution shall be filed within 15 days in cases involving a sentence of death, and 30 days in other cases, from the date of the order sought to be appealed from:

Provided that the Court may in fit cases extend the time for good and sufficient cause shown.

37. It shall be a condition precedent to the entertainment of an application under Article 134(1)(c) of the Constitution that the petitioner must submit to the order sought to be appealed from, by surrendering himself in the case of a sentence of imprisonment, and|or by paying the fine in the case of a sentence of fine, before such an application is heard. No such condition is, however, necessary if the petitioner is not the accused.

38. Where a convicted person is in jail, he may present his petition for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court under Article 134(1)(c) of the Constitution or for a certificate under Article 132(1) of the Constitution to the Officer-in-Charge of the Jail, who shall forthwith forward the same to the Registrar. Delivery of the petition to such officer, which need not be accompanied by any other paper, shall be deemed to be presentation of the petition to the proper officer of the Court for the purposes of limitation, if any.

39. The Registrar shall place the petition, together with the order, sought to be appealed from, before the appropriate Bench, which may, upon perusal of the aforesaid papers and other papers, as it thinks necessary, in Chambers, reject the petition summarily without hearing the petitioner in person, if it considers that there is no sufficient ground for granting leave to appeal:

Provided that, when, before the consideration of the petition in Chambers, appearance is entered on behalf of the petitioner by an Advocate, or an Advocate, assigned to him by the Bench, or by the Government, the petition shall not be dismissed without hearing the Advocate, engaged by him or assigned to him as aforesaid.

40. Where the Bench does not think fit to reject the petition summarily in Chambers, it shall direct notice thereof to be given to the State and in the case of a private prosecution or where the complainant has been awarded compensation, also to the complainant ordinarily by service on the Advocate on record for him and shall fix a date of hearing. The petitioner shall be informed of such date. On such date or such other date to which the hearing may be adjourned, the Court shall, after hearing the State and|or the complainant as the case may be, as also the petitioner, if they appear, make such order on the petition as to it may seem fit and proper.

41. On receipt of the copy of the petition of appeal under rule 15, Or. XXI of the Supreme Court Rules, 1966, the Registrar shall proceed, if so directed by the Supreme Court, for preparation of 25 copies of the record.

42. (1) In the preparation of the record of Criminal Appeals, the procedure laid down in these rules for Civil Appeals shall be followed with necessary modifications and adaptations. When the printed record shall be made ready, it will be despatched to the Supreme Court within a period of sixty days after the receipt of the intimation from the Registrar of the Supreme Court of the filing of the petition of appeal, or of the order granting special leave to appeal.

(2) The records shall be printed at the expense of the appellant, unless otherwise ordered by the Supreme Court, but in appeals involving sentence of death, the record shall be printed at the expense of Government.

43. On receipt of the order of the Supreme Court granting special leave, the Registrar of this Court shall give notice of the said order to the respondent and take all necessary steps to have the record of the case transmitted to the Supreme Court in accordance with the directions contained therein. The Registrar of this Court shall also certify to the Registrar of the Supreme Court that the respondent has received notice of the order aforesaid.

44. Where the record is prepared under the supervision of the Registrar of this Court, the Registrar shall, as soon as the record is ready, give notice thereof to the parties to the appeal and, after service of such notice, send to the Registrar of the Supreme Court a certificate as to the date or dates, on which the notice has been served.

Note.—Extracts from the Supreme Court Rules, 1966, relating to Criminal Appeals, are set out in Appendix II.

Part II shall be arranged in the most convenient way for the use of the Supreme Court, as the circumstances of the case require. The documents shall be printed, as far as suitable in chronological order, mixing plaintiff's and defendant's documents together when necessary. Each document shall show its exhibit mark, and whether it is a Plaintiff's or Defendant's document (unless this is clear from the exhibit mark) and in all cases documents relating to the same matter such as—

(a) a series of correspondence, or

(b) proceedings in a suit other than the one under appeal;

shall be kept together. The order in the Record of the documents in Part II will probably be different from the order of the Index, and the proper page number of each document shall be inserted in the printed Index.

The parties will be responsible for arranging the record in proper order for the Supreme Court, and in difficult cases counsel may be asked to settle it.

(b) The heading of the document shall then appear consisting of the number and the description of the documents in the Index, with the date, except in the case of oral evidence.

(c) In the case of the oral evidence, "plaintiff's evidence" or Defendant's evidence" shall appear next to the name of the court, and then the number in the Index and the witness's name, with "examination", "cross-examination" or "re-examination", as the case may be.

PART II

The word "Exhibit" shall first appear and next to it the Exhibit mark and the description of the document in the Index with the date.

Sufficient space shall be left after the heading to distinguish it from the rest of the matter printed on the page.

10. The parties shall agree to the omission of formal and irrelevant documents, but the description of the document may appear (both in the Index and in the Record), if desired, with the words "not printed" against it.

A long series of documents, such as accounts, rent rolls, inventories, etc., shall not be printed in full, unless counsel so advises, but the parties shall agree to short extracts being printed as specimens.

11. In cases where maps are of an inconvenient size or unsuitable in character, the Appellant shall, in agreement with the Respondent prepare maps drawn properly to scale and of reasonable size, showing as far as possible, the claims of the respective parties in different colours.

Hamilton and Co. Pvt. Ltd., 8 Old Court House Street, Calcutta-1 and their workmen represented by Hamilton Jewellery Workers' Union, 19-2A Pitambar Ghatak Lane, Calcutta-27, regarding the issues mentioned in the said order being a matter specified in the third schedule to the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (Act 14 of 1947), was referred for adjudication to the Fourth Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas the said Fourth Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute,

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (Act 14 of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Hamilton and Co. Pvt. Ltd., 8 Old Court House Street, Calcutta-1 and their workmen represented by Hamilton Jewellery Workers' Union, 19-2A Pitambar Ghattak Lane, Calcutta-27. (G.O. No. 3852-IR, dated 21st September 1966.) (VIII 367 (66.)

BEFORE THE FOURTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL, CALCUTTA

Present :

Shri R. BHATTACHARYA, M.A., LL.B. Judge,

Fourth Industrial Tribunal.

For the Union: Shri S. Banerjee, Advocate.

For the Company: Shri F.J. Coelho, Labour Adviser.

The instant reference arises out of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Hamilton and Co. Pvt. Ltd. (hereinafter described as the Company, 8 Old Court House Street, Calcutta-1, and their workmen represented by Hamilton Jewellery Workers' Union (hereinafter called the Union), 19/2/A Pitambar Ghatak Lane, Calcutta-27. The issue for determination relates to the rate of compensation payable to the workmen mentioned in the order of reference for the period they were laid off as stated.

Briefly stated the case of the union is that the company did not pay compensation to the workmen for the period of "lay off" according to the award of the Industrial Tribunal, dated 3rd March 1950. The workmen want compensation according to the rate prescribed in the said award. The compensation assessed by the company is less than what is payable according to the service rule in this respect fixed by the Tribunal.

In short, the case of the company is that in the award referred to by the union no service rule has been prescribed by the Industrial Tribunal fixing any rate for the period of lay off but that the Tribunal made some suggestions for amendment of certain service rules including one for lay off for consideration of the management of the company. The company after the said award published a set of rules of service in May 1950 without accepting the suggestion of the Tribunal with respect to the rate of compensation for lay off. The workmen did not raise objection to the company's action in this behalf. The main contention of the company is that the suggestions made in the award of 1950 are recommendatory in nature and not strictly speaking award which can bind the company. The company has stated in the written statement that the workmen in question have already been paid compensation according to the 25C of the Industrial Disputes Act and that the said compensation is proper and legal.

In this case the parties have not adduced any oral evidence. The union has filed a compilation of awards marked Ext. 1, and on the side of the company two documents, a book of its service rules published in May 1950, and a statement showing the names of the laid off workmen, actual days laid off and total wages paid to them for lay off, have been marked Exts. A and B, respectively.

The grievance of the union has given rise to the question as to whether or not the company should pay compensation according to the rate fixed by the Tribunal in 1950 while considering the issue regarding the service rules of the company. Hereinbefore I have already indicated the stand taken by the company on this question. The claim of Mr. Banerjee, the learned Advocate for the union, is that the compensation is payable at a flat rate which would be about 75 per cent. of the average of lower range of wages rates in the undertaking. Ext. 1 is the book of awards by the Industrial Tribunal. The particular award relied on by the union begins at page 7 of Ext. 1, and ends at page 19. The award is dated 3rd March 1950. In that case there were in all 12 issues to be decided. One of them related to 'Service Rules', it was issue No. 4. The learned Judge of the Tribunal after a short discussion left the issue No. 1 outside adjudication. While dealing with the issue No. 2 on the question of Provident Fund Rules the learned Judge recommended certain modifications and he hoped that the company would adopt the said modifications regarding the issue No 3 directions were given by the Tribunal. For issue No. 5 in connecion with bonus, the Tribunal made certain recommendations and hoped that the company would increase the rate of bonus in case of substantial progress. Regarding free medical treatment in issue No. 6, the Tribunal simply hoped that the company would not only maintain the existing arrangement but would try to improve upon that. In issue No. 7, certain directions were given for compliance. In issue No. 8, the learned Judge approved of the existing system and directed that the same should continue. Regarding issue No. 9, he however could not give any relief to the workmen but simply hoped that the company would see that the durwans be not made to live in unhealthy condition. Certain directions were given in the decisions of on issue Nos. 10 and 11. Issue No 12 was in respect of reinstatement of two workmen but the Tribunal gave relief in one case and supported the action of the company in the other. On consideration of the above facts, it is clear that the Tribunal in that case gave certain directions on some issues and on some the learned Judge simply made certain recommendations and hoped that they might be considered by the company. In the first category of cases the directions were mendatory while in the latter, mere recommendations and nor authoritative commands were made by the Tribunal.

I shall now see what the finding of the Tribunal was in respect of issue No. 4 relating to service rules of the company. In the very first paragraph under issue No. 4 the learned Judge has stated :

> "Thus it is not imperative upon the present Company to frame any rules under the Industrial Employment Act, 1946, and to have them certified under the said Act. Even if the company had any such obligation the Certifying Officer or the Appellate Authority under the said Act would have no jurisdiction to adjudicate upon the fairness or reasonableness of the provisions of the Standing Orders. However, I suggest the following amendments in the rules framed by the company".

The learned Judge thereafter suggested certain amendments including those of Rules 10(3) of the Company in the matter of lay off. I quote below the relevant portion of the benefit suggested in case of lay off :

> "(1) Benefits to be given.
> (a) Benefit which should be on a scale lower than the ordinary rate of pay may be fixed in either of two ways :—
> (i) Seventy-five per cent. of the ordinary rate of pay for first fortnight of unemployment and 50 per cent. of the ordinary rate of pay for the second fortnight of unemployment with possibly a flat rate of benefit for persons drawing lower levels of income.
> (ii) A flat rate which would be about 75 per cent. of the average of lower range of wages rates in the undertaking."

In the present case the workmen before me want compensation at the rate mentioned in Rule 10(3)(1) (a)(ii) above. In the last paragraph of the award it is stated : "Other rules shall be amended in the light of the direction in the award on different points."

On reading the decision of the Tribunal on issue or point No. 4, it is quite clear that the learned Judge of the Tribunal did not intend to interfere with the general conditions of service embodied in the Service Rules framed by the company except those which have been directly affected by the directions made in respect of other issues. It was however directed that rules about procedure for disciplinary action for misconduct shall be made in the light of the directions given for the purpose.

In the first paragraph under point No. 4 the Tribunal made some suggestions for amendments of the Service Rules in the form of recommendations left at the discretion of the company to accept them, whereas, in the last paragraph the Tribunal gave directions for amendment of some rules indicated therein which are mandatory. The authoritative direction for compliance is evident by the use of the word 'shall' in this paragraph. The first paragraph suggesting some amendments relates to Rule 10(3) of the Company's Service Rules for lay off. I hold that the suggestion of the Tribunal for lay off compensation in the form of amendment of Rule 10(3) of the Service Rules is a simple recommendation and not a direction upon the company and that the company is not bound to pay compensation in the light of that suggestion.

That the suggestion of the Tribunal for lay off compensation was not held to be menuatory will be further supported by the conduct of the employer and the workmen. Admittedly Ext. A containing the Rules of Service of the company was published in May 1950 after the publication of the award. In Ext. A the suggestion made in the award for lay off compensation was not incorportated but the workmen did not raise objection on ground of non-compliance of the award.

Ext. B, as I have already stated is the statement showing the names of the workmen with the period of lay off and the total wages paid for the lay off. The company says that compensations were paid in this case according to section 25C of the Industrial Disputes Act. There is no dispute from the side of the union about the correctness of the amounts paid if calculated as per section 25C which was introduced in 1953 by amendment. In the circumstances the company was justified to pay lay off compensation according to section 25C of the Industrial Disputes Act.

My finding, therefore, is that the workmen in question, for the period they were laid off, are entitled to compensation at the rate and in the manner stipulated in section 25C of the Industrial Disputes Act.

Dictated and corrected by me.

AWARD

The present reference was originally sent to the Second Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, for decision. The parties are Shri B. N. Prasad, Bus Owner, C/o. Shaw Engineering Workshop, G.T. Road (East), post office Asansol, district Burdwan, and his workmen represented by Asansol Subdivisional Bus Workers' Association (hereinafter described as the Union), Bejoy Bhavan, G.T.Road, post office Asansol, district Burdwan. The issue was as follows:—

Issue

Whether the refusal of employment to Shri Mahadev Tanti is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

Subsequently however, the reference was transferred to the Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal Labour Department, order No. 3073-IR/I.R./4L-36/65, dated 4th August 1966. The Union submitted its written statement before the Second Industrial Tribunal. Shri B.N. Prasad filed his written statement before this Tribunal after the transfer of the case.

The case of the Union is short is that Shri Mahadev Tanti was a bus driver employed by Shri B.N. Prasad. Shri Tanti was not granted any leave or any other facilities according to the provisions of the Motor Transport Workers' Act and when he made persistent demand for the facilities, the employer got annoyed with him. As a result, on 1st December 1964, Shri Tanti was refused employment without any reason whatsoever. No letter of dismissal, discharge or termination of service was given. Shri Tanti was refused employment arbitrarily and in a high-handed manner. It has been alleged by the Union that the employer acted illegally, arbitrarily and in a bad faith. The prayer of the Union is that Shri Tanti be reinstated and be allowed full back wages during the period of non-employment.

According to the written statement of Shri B. N. Prasad, Shri Mahadev Tanti was never in his employment. The allegation of refusal of employment as stated by the Union, has been totally denied by Shri B. N. Prasad.

Today was fixed for hearing of the case. The Union is present with witnesses but Shri B. N. Prosad is absent. No step has been taken on his behalf today for obtaining adjournment or otherwise. In these circumstances, the case is taken up for ex-parte hearing.

The Union has examined Shri Mahadev Tanti and its Secretary. As I have already stated the definite case in the written statement of the Union is that Shri Mahadev Tanti was refused employment on 1st December 1964, Shri Tanti during his evidence before me has stated that he used to drive the bus of Shri B. N. Prosad in Barakar-Gourandi line via Asansol. He has stated clearly that he was refused employment on 29th or 30th December 1964. On that day he went to attend his duties but he was driven away by the employer. Thereafter he went to Shri Sukumar Banerjee, the Secretary of the Union. He has however stated that no charge-sheet was issued against him. The Secretary of the Union has been examined as P.W. 2 and his evidence is that Shri Tanti was a bus driver of Shri B. N. Prosad. Shri Tanti saw him towards the end of December 1964 and told him that he had been refused employment by Shri B.N. Prosad on the first of December 1964. The aggrieved party himself has given the story before me which goes against the story set up in the written statement. In the written statement the date of refusal of employment is 1st December 1964 but Shri Mahadev Tanti says without ambiguity that on the 29th or 30th of December 1964 he was refused employment. In these circumstances, it is very difficult to accept the story of the Union given in the written statement. It has been argued from the side of the Union by the learned lawyer that Shri Tanti might have forgotten the date when he was actually refused employment and that is why he has given the wrong date. I cannot accept this argument. I personally asked Shri Tanti several times as to when he was actually refused employment and without the least hesitation Shri Tanti has stated that it was on the 29th or 30th of December 1964. He does not say that he was not accurate as to actual date rather he is assertive that he must have been refused employment on the 29th or 30th of December 1964. I find from the evidence of the Secretary of the Union that Shri Tanti informed him that he had been dismissed on 1st December 1964. The question, therefore, arises which of the versions is correct. Did Shri Tanti make a correct statement to the Union Secretary when he stated that he had been dismissed on 1st December 1964 or should I accept the statement of Shri Tanti when he says before me that he had been refused employment on 29th or 30th of December 1964. The definite and original case of the Union will appear in the written statement. Shri Tanti has given a different story before me. The evidence of Shri Tanti is therefore, most unreliable and on this evidence I cannot give any relief to him in this case which has been heard ex-parte. The case of the Union has not been proved.

In the result, the issue is decided against the Union and Shri Mahadev Tanti cannot get any relief in this case.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act by Shri Mihir Kumar Sen of 6 Madan Dutta Lane, Calcutta, against the his employer Messrs. Karam Chand Thapar & Bros. (Private) Ltd., 25 Brabourne Road, Calcutta-1. (Case No. 126/65.)

BEFORE THE FOURTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL, CALCUTTA

Present :

Shri R. BHATTACHRYA, M.A. LL B., Judge,
Fourth Industrial Tribunal.

For the Company: Shri K. K. Moitra, Advocate.

For the Union : Shri S. Banerjee, Advocate.

The present proceedings were started upon an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act filed by Mihir Kumar Sen of 6 Madan Dutta Lane, Calcutta, against its employer Karam Chand Thapar & Bros. (Private) Ltd. (hereinafter described as the company), for the termination of his service.

In short, the case of the applicant Mr. Mihir Sen is that he was a permanent worker under the opposite party company. He had been suffering from blood dysentry since 7th March 1965. He applied for leave with a medical certificate from 8th March, 1965 to the 15th of March following. Again he applied for leave from 16th March 1965 to 30th March 1965. He also supplied a medical certificate. The petitioner was sick and he again prayed for leave from 31st March 1965 to 2nd April 1965. Under the advice of the doctor Mr. Mihir Sen again prayed for leave from 31st March 1965 to 30th April 1965. This time also he sent a medical certificate along with the application. The company, however, directed the petitioner to appear before its doctor on 13th April 1965. There were certain allegations in the company's letter but the petitioner denied them all. On 13th April 1965 the petitioner went to the office as directed but he found that a holiday was declared and the office was closed. The petitioner then requested the company to send its doctor at his residence. On several occasions, the same request was made but the company paid no need. As Mr. Mihir Sen did not come round, he again asked for 3 days' leave from 30th April 1965. The applicant again requested the company to allow further leave for one month from 1st of May 1965. The company wanted to say that the petitioner, on some occasions, was found absent at his house but the allegations were denied by the petitioner. The applicant became very weak because of prolonged suffering from blood dysentry and again he prayed for leave for another month by a letter, dated 1st June 1965. Thereafter the company without any valid reason or enquiry terminated the service of Mr. Mihir Sen violating the principles of natural justice. It has been alleged that the said termination was arbitrary and cruel. During the relevant period the petitioner had sufficient leave to his credit. By the present application Mr. Mihir Sen wants to set aside the order of termination of his service and demands reinstatement with all back wages.

The company in its written statement has denied the material allegations made by Mr. Mihir Sen. It has been stated that the application under section 33A is not maintainable in law as there has been no contravention of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. The case of the company is that the petitioner was neither discharged nor dismissed on the ground of misconduct. It is a case of bona fide exercise of powers by the company in accordance with the clause 24L of the Company's Service Rules according to which the services of the petitioner have automatically terminated as the petitioner absented himself from duty without previous leave and overstayed after the expiry of the sanctioned leave without explaining his absence satisfactorily.

It is a case where Mr. Mihir Sen himself wrongfully terminated his service in view of the Service Rules. As against the facts of illness stated by the petitioner, the company's story is that Mr. Mihir Sen was transferred from Secretarial Department to the Establishment Department of the company and as he was not willing to abide by the transfer order, Mr. Sen started absenting himself from duties. He was absent on the 4th and the 5th of March 1965 on the ground of illness. He again absented himself from 8th March to 15th March 1965 on the ground of dysentry. He was however sanctioned leave as per rules. On the 16th March Mr. Mihir Sen did not resume his duties but he applied for further leave up to 31st March 1965. Thereafter Mr. Mihir Sen did not join his duties but further requested for leave on the ground of dysentry up to 30th April 1965. As the management of the company had doubts about the alleged illness, Mr. O.P. Arora was deputed to see him at his house and Mr. Arora went to the resident of Mihir Sen at 5-30 p.m. but he could not see Mihir Sen at his residence. The company thereafter on account of doubt directed Mihir Sen to come to the office on 13th April 1965 for medical check-up by the company's doctor. Again the company requested Mr. Mihir Sen to come to the office for medical examination on 21st April 1965. Mr. Mihir Sen informed the company that he was unable to move and wanted the company's doctor at his residence. Mr. Arora again went to the house of Mr. Sen on 19th April 1965 and 25th April 1965 to see Mr. Sen at his house but on both the occasion Mr. Sen was not available at his house. The company again informed Mr. Mihir Sen to come to the office for medical examination. Mr. Sen did not comply with the request but wanted further leave. The company again informed the petitioner that he was not available at his residence and he was therefore requested to report himself at the office for medical examination but still Mr. Sen failed to turn up. Since Mr. Mihir Sen was absenting himself without proper leave, he was deemed to have wrongfully terminated his service according to the Service Rules, and the office order to this effect was issued on 3rd June 1965. The company wants to say that as Mr. Mihir Sen himself was responsible for terminating his service according to the Service Rules, there can be no question of violation of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

In this case several documents have been exhibited on both the sides. Besides examining himself the petitioner has examined two other witnesses on his side while the company has examined only one witness.

The petitioner in his written statement has stated in paragraph 18 as follows :

> "The Opposite Party, without any valid reason, without any enquiry, without any cause, reason or justification and violating the principles of natural justice, terminated the services of the applicant on 3rd June 1965."

The office order relating to the termination of employment was sent to the applicant by registered post. The office order, dated 3rd June 1965, runs as follows :

> "Since Shri Mihir Kumar Sen, a Clerk in the Establishment Department of our office at Calcutta, is absenting himself from duties with effect from 16th March 1965 (forenoon) without proper leave or permission and has not resumed his duties so far in spite of our Registered A/d letters No. Sec. Est/3308/196, dated 15th April 1965, No. Sec./Est/3308/385, dated 28th Apri 1965 and No. Sec./Est/3308/690, dated 22/24th May 1965, he is deemed to have wrongfully terminated his services with effect from 15th March 1965 (afternoon) and the Company will be entitled to recover from him the salary for the full notice period apart from any liquidated damages or other remedies, if any, to which the company is entitled to according to clause No. 24(1) of our Service Rules for such wrongful termination of his services".

The copy of the order will appear in Ext. Q. I have already stated that the case of the company is that it was not a case of dismissal by the company for any misconduct but it is a case of termination of service due to the acts of the petitioner according to the Service Rules of the Company. The relevant service rule is quoted below :

Clause 24(1) —

> "In case an employee absents himself from duty without previous leave, or overstays after expiry of sanctioned leave, and does not explain his absence stisfactorily within one week from the commencement of such absence or overstay, or where an employee fails to give and/or complete the requisite notice, he will be deemed to have wrongfully terminated his service and the Company will be entitled to recover from such employee the salary for the full notice period or the balance thereof, apart from any liquidated damages or other remedies to which the Company may be entitled according to these Service Rules, or under the terms of his contract of service, or otherwise, for such wrongful termination of service."

The exhibit shows that Mr. Sen was not dismissed from service by the Company for any misconduct. The Company has relied upon the clause 24(1) of the Service Rules and its case is that Mr. Sen had been absenting himself from duties from 16th March 1965 without proper leave and without explaining his absence satisfactorily, and for his absence and overstay, he was deemed to have been wrongfully terminated his service.

It has been argued from the side of the petitioner that it was a colourable exercise of powers by the company according to the Service Rules to victimise the petitioner by way of penalty for his absence without any justification. There is no dispute that the petitioner was granted leave up to 15th March 1965. There is no dispute also that the company did not grant any further leave to the petitioner inspite of his applying for the same. Rule 24(c) of Ext. T, the Service Rules, says that leave cannot be claimed as of right and leave will only be allowed if the services of the applicant in the office can be conveniently spared. It is not a case of the petitioner that he had the right to claim leave whenever he asked for. The contention of the petitioner is that in this particular case he was, if fact, sick and unable to attend office, and the company refused to grant leave with an ulterior purpose to victimise him and remove him from the service knowing fully well that he was bed-ridden. The conduct of the company has been described as mala fide.

I will now consider clause 24(1) of the Service Rules. According to this provision the petitioner should have obtained previous leave for his absence from 16th March 1965 or in case of his overstay after the expiry of the sanctioned leave up to the afternoon of 15th March 1965, he should have explained his absence satisfactorily within one week from the overstay otherwise, he would be deemed to have wrongfully terminated his service. In the present case, according to the company, the petitioner did not explain his absence satisfactorily to it. The petitioner, on the other hand, says that he sent medical certificate on several occasions along with the application for leave and that under the advice of the medical-man he was lying on his bed at his residence. The petitioner during his evidence has stated that on 6th April 1965 for the last time he went to the house of the doctor and thereafter he did not get out of his house due to his illness. His statement further is that on account of dysentry he became very ill and could not rise and that after 13th April 1965 he was unable to see the company's doctor at the office. O.P.W.1 Mr. Arora was in charge of the Establishment Section of the company. His evidence is that in connection with the application of the petitioner, he went to his house for the first time on 6th April 1965 but he could not meet him as he was out. The witness has further stated that on 19th April 1965 and 25th April 1965 he again went to the residence of Mr. Sen. On enquiry he learnt that Mr. Sen was not there. He went to the residence of Mr. Sen as the company had doubt as to the genuineness of the application for leave sent by Mr. Sen. O.P.W.1 went to the residence of Mr. Sen to verify the allegation about the illness. I cannot disbelieve O.P.W.1 when he says that he went to the house of Mr. Sen on three occasions. The company entertained doubt about the alleged illness of Mr. Sen after his transfer to another department where the petitioner was not willing to go. The company sent one responsible officer to the house of Mr. Sen to see his condition. This again on the part of the company does not appear to be unreasonable. Rather, the company took the trouble of sending the officer in order to verify the statement about illness. This very well shows that the conduct of the company was bona fide. Moreover, the company gave several opportunities, more than once, for Mr. Sen to come to the office to be examined by the company's doctor. The company waited for a long time and ultimately at the beginning of June 1965, fell upon clause 24(1) of the Service Rules. It does not appear, however, to me that the company took any hasty decision regarding the case of Mr. Sen. In this connection we should note the evidence of P.W. 3, brother of the petitioner, who has stated that he cannot say for how many days he had been treated by the Allopathic doctor. His evidence shows that the petitioner went to the Allopathic doctor who also came once or twice. I cannot hold that P.W.3 remained at his residence throughout the day and could have seen Mr. Arora, O.P.W.1, if had he come to the house of Mr. Sen. However, on the fact of the evidence on record and in the facts and circumstances appearing in this case, I hold that the company or any of its officer had no malice against the petitioner and that the company resorted to clause 24(1) of the Service Rules without any ulterior or vindictive motive. In the present case when the company say that the explanation given by the petitioner in the form of leave application for his absence was not to the satisfaction of the management, I cannot hold that the company's stand is unreasonable or mala fide. The present case, therefore, does not come under the purview of section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act for any violation of the provisions of section 33 of the said Act. The petitioner himself has terminated his own service by overstaying his leave according to the Service Rules of the company. In this connection the decision of the case between Sajahan and A. Firpo Company Ltd., decided by the Labour Appellate Tribunal of India at Calcutta and reported at page 686 of 1953, L.L.J. II, may be referred to. For my decision I also rely upon the principles enunciated by the Labour Appellate Tribunal at Bombay in the case between Chandri Bai Uma and The Elephant Oil Mills Ltd., Bombay, reported in 1951, L.L.J., I, p. 370.

It has been contended from the side of the petitioner that according to the Service Rules of the company absence from duty without taking leave from the company would be misconduct according to the clause 12(iv) of the Service Rules, and therefore the company acted mala fide by not charge-sheeting Mr. Sen and holding enquiry against him. If there are two provisions in the Service Rules for any particular action of the employee, the employer has got discretion to adopt any one of them. Dismissal for misconduct may have different and more serious result for the termination of service. The company may not take any step which may in the long run affect the future career of an employee. A similar contention was raised before the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Buckingham and Carnatic Co. Ltd., vis Venkatayya and another reported in 1963 L.L.J., II, page 638. I quote below the relevant portion appearing at page 642 :

> "The fact that the same conduct is dealt with in two different standing orders cannot affect the applicability of standing order 8(ii) to the present case. It is not as if the appellant is bound to treat Venkatyya's absence as constituting misconduct to hold an enquiry against him before terminating his services."

Following the above propostion of law, I hold that the company was not bound to proceed against Mr. Sen for any misconduct for absenting himself from duty but it was at liberty to rely upon clause 24(1) of the Service Rules. I cannot hold that this is a mala fide case to victimise Mr. Sen for his absence.

In the present case the company is not responsible for terminating the employment of Mr. Sen. He himself is responsible for tominating his service according to the clause 24(1) of the Service Rules on account of his own act. This is not a case of dismissal of the petitioner by the company for any misconduct or for inflicting penalty on him. Admittedly, at the time of termination of Mr. Sen's employment there was an industrial dispute pending before this Tribunal but in the instant case there has been no violation of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act and, therefore, no question of filing complaint under section 33A of the said Act arises. The present application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act filed by Mr. Sen is therefore misconceived and not maintainable in law. He is not entitled to any relief.

AWARD

This is a reference under section 10 Industrial Disputes Act, by the Labour Department, Government of West Bengal, by its order No. 1884-I.R./IR/8L-2(A)/60 dated 26th April 1960,relating to an industrial dispute between Messrs. Kesoram Cotton Mills Ltd., 42 Garden Reach Road, Calcutta-24, and their workmen represented by the Garden Reach Textile Workers' Union, Calcutta-24, relating to issues specified stated in the order of reference itself. The lists 'A' and 'B' of the order of reference were corrected subsequently by corrigendum of the Labour Department Government of West Bengal, by its order No. 2901-I.R./IR/8L-2(A)/60, dated 9th June 1960.

After service of statutory notices both the Union and the Company filed the written statements. A preliminary objection was taken by the company as to the maintainability of the, reference after the abovesaid corrigendum, dated 9th June 1960. The matter was heard before my learned predecessor and by his order No. 12, dated 24th November 1960, my learned predecessor found the reference to be maintainable after correction in accordance with the corrigendum, dated 9th June 1960. The company preferred a civil rule against that order before the Hon'ble High Court and a rule was issued accordingly by Hon'ble High Court being C. R. No. 285/60. The order passed in the abovesaid C. R. 285/60 is not with the record, but the second corrigendum of the Labour Department, Government of West Bengal, by its order No. 4458-I.R./IR/8L-2(A)/60, dated 1 t October 1962, was received thereafter.

A fresh notice was issued and the Union filed its written statement on 19th February 1964. The Company also filed its written statement on 4th July 1964.

The case was to be heard at Delhi on the prayer of the parties before my learned predecessor, which was allowed by his order No. 47, dated 18th May 1966.

The case was fixed for hearing at Delhi on 6th April 1967. After the case was opened, it was urged on behalf of the Company that certain preliminary points are to be decided first. A petition for hearing preliminary issues was filed beforehand on 27th March 1967. On 10th April 1967 parties wanted time on the ground that there was a talk of compromise and the case was adjourned til 13th April 1967 for compromise, in default, for hearing. On 13th April 1967 parties filed a joint petition for compromise stating the various terms of settlement under the signature of the Factory Manager, Shri V. B. Singh, and the General Secretary of the Union, Shri Arun Sen. On a perusal of the compromise petition, I find the terms of settlement to be lawful, reasonable and fair and also that the entire dispute between the Company and the Union covered by the present reference has been settled. So I find that there is no existing dispute between the Company and the Union as the Company and the Union have already settled the industrial dispute between themselves and so I pass a 'no dispute' award, the compromise petition containing the terms of settlement being made a part of this award.

This is my award.

AWARD

This award will dispose of Case No. 189 of 1966 under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act by Shri Kesho Singh, a durwan of the company and Case No. 535 of 1966 under section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act by the company against the aforesaid Kesho Singh for approval of the action taken by it against Kesho Singh by way of dismissal.

By Government Order No. 4368-I.R /IR/11L-229/63, dated 15th October 1963, an industrial dispute between Messrs. Paharpur Timber Private Ltd., and their workmen including the petitioner Kesho Singh, was referred to this Tribunal for adjudication.

During the pendency of the aforesaid reference case Shri Kesho Singh filed the instant application under section 33A alleging certain contravention of section 33 of the Act by the management.

It is not disputed that the appliant Kesho Singh, a durwan in the company's factory at 5B Oil Installation Road, Kidderpore, Calcutta-43, was dismissed from service with effect from 27th November 1966 by Shri D. Bhattacharji, the Factory Manager, by his order, dated 26th November 1966, marked Ext. 7 in the case. Few days after this order, to be more precise, on 5th September 1966 the company filed the application under section 33(2)(b) for approval of its dismissal of Kesho Singh. Notice of the application was duly served on Kesho Singh and he appeared and filed the written objection on 6th January 1967. In the meantime, however, he has also filed the application under section 33A of the Act and he has, in the said petition, challenged his dismissal as unlawful and unjustified and submitted that he has been victimised by the Company as he had not listened to the Company's Director Shri M. Swarup's direction to disuade his relatives from taking part in union's activities. In the said petition he has also complained that the company has violated the provisions of section 33 of the Act inasmuch as it has dismissed him from service not for any misconduct under its standing orders but in colourable exercise of the right to dismiss an employee given by clause 12(1) of the Standing Orders. In view of the pleadings of the parties the main question for determination in both the cases is: Whether the company was justified to terminate the service of Kesho Singh in exercise of the right given by clause 12(1) of the Standing Orders ?

Shri Pandey for the worker did not dispute that under clause 12(1) of the Standing Order, the company has the right to terminate the service of even a permanent hand by one month's notice but submitted that as in the instant case the action taken by the company under this clause was male fide it should be set aside. In support of his contention he referred to the charge-sheet marked Ext. 1 in the case and the proceedings and findings of the enquiry into the said charge-sheet respectively marked Exts. 5 and 6. It is not disputed that on the information of Kesho Singh a charge-sheet was issued to another durwan named Singh Bahadur. The said durwan was exonerated of the charge after a domestic enquiry. Shortly after that enquiry charge-sheet, dated 7th March 1966, Ext. 1 in the case was issued to Kesho Singh. By this charge-sheet he was asked to explain within 48 hours of the receipt thereof, why disciplinary action should not be taken against him for his making a false charge of theft against Singh Bahadur Durwan out of grudge and malice, (2) for taking out material from the factory without proper gate pass and authority, and (3) for his doing illegal money lending business with the employees of the concern. In his explanation to the charge-sheet Ext. 1(a) Kesho Singh denied all the charges. The management, however, was not satisfied with his explanation and ordered a departmental enquiry into the charges. Shri Ramesh Chandra Agarwal, Assistant Factory Manager of the Company and examined in the case as P.W 1, for the company held the enquiry and submitted a report of guilty of all the charges against Kesho Singh, to the Factory Manager Shri Dhruba Bhattacharji, P W. 2 in the case. After perusing the proceedings of the enquiry and the findings of the enquiry officer Shri Bhattacharji passed the order Ext. 7 in the case dismissing Kesho Singh from service and it is quite evident from this order that he had dismissed Kesho Singh not for the charge of misconducts mentioned in the charge-sheet Ext. 1 but under clause 12(1) of the Standing Orders of the company for loss of confidence. The propriety of this action of Shri Bhattacharji has been severely criticised by Shri Pandey appearing on behalf of Shri Kesho Singh and he has, in his argument before me, submitted that as Shri Bhattacharji was bent on dismissing Kesho Singh from service for his not persuading his relatives from dissociating with the union but could not take any action against him on the findings of the enquiry officer for reasons stated by himself in his order of dismissal, he has terminated the service in colourable exercise of the right of termination of service of a permanent hand, given by clause 12(1) of the Standing Orders, on the false plea of loss of confidence. If this argument of Shri Pandey is borne out by the evidence on record and the facts and circumstances of the case the dismissal of Kesho Singh was certainly unlawful and unjustified.

As evidence has come it can be said that the departmental proceedings intiated against Kesho Singh on the charge-sheet marked Ext 1 had culminated in his order of dismissal Ext. 7. In the departmental enquiry he was prosecuted on charges of (1) bringing se charge of theft against another durwan of the company Shri Singh Bahadur, (2) taking out material out of the factory without proper gate pass or authority and (3) doing illegal money-lending business with the employees of the concern.

Enquiry on these charges was held by P.W.1 Shri Agarwal and in the concluding portion of his findings (Ext. 6) he has observed as follows:

> "In consideration to above points it is concluded that Kesho Singh, Durwan, brought a false charge of theft against Singh Bahadur Durwan out of grudge and malice, for which he took out the material outside factory without proper authority and gate pass which is a misconduct as per approved Standing Orders of the Company which is very improper for a Durwan of the company to whom the security of the property of the Company is entrusted by the employer. For this Kesho Singh, Durwan should be punished for loss of confidence of the employer.
> Regarding another charge of doing illegal money-lending business with employees of the concern It is also proved that he was doing money-lending business with employees of this concern without any permission from the Factory Manager and inside the factory premises.
> A Durwan who is doing such illegal money-lending amongst workers and other Durwans, is again a improper act for which strongest disciplinary action should be taken against him."

Though none of these findings of the enquiry officer could be accepted by Shri Bhattacharji he has still on the evidence at the enquiry endorsed Shri Agarwal's comment that Kesho Singh should be punished for loss of confidence and actually terminated his service under clause 12(1) of the Standing Orders for loss of confidence. Shri Bhattacharji has not, however, in his evidence before this Tribunal given any particular reason to justify his loss of confidence in Kesho Singh and as he has deposed it can be easily said that he has taken the drastic action against Kesho Singh for loss of confidence because the enquiry officer has recommended action against him for loss of confidence. This order of dismissal on ground of loss of confidence as passed by Shri Bhattacharji was, in my opinion, inconsistent with his withdrawing the charge-sheet issued to Kesho Singh on 7th October 1966 and also dropping the proceedings initiated on that charge-sheet and I hold that this very inconsistency proves the mala fides of the action taken by Shri Bhattacharji under clause 12(1) of the Standing Orders. In course of his evidence in cross-examination Shri Bhattacharji said:

> "From the same evidence on which the enquiry officer found the durwan guilty of all the charges, I have concluded that there was no sufficient evidence to establish the charges. Excepting this enquiry proceedings there was no other material to warrant my conclusion of loss of confidence."

I have gone through the evidence recorded at the enquiry but I do not find therein any justification for Shri Bhattacharji's dismissing Kesho Singh for loss of confidence. In the said enquiry three charges were under consideration and as they were framed in the charge-sheet, it can be said that not any two of them were inter-linked. Of the three charges, one was for taking out of company's properties outside the factory gate without permission or gate pass. This charge, practically a charge of theft, was extremely vague and indefinite as it did not mention the date of the offence; nor the subject-matter of the offence. In this view of the matter the enquiry officer had no justification to recommend any sort of disciplinary action for this charge. It seems from his findings that he has considered this charge along with the first namely, a charge of bringing false complaint against anothre durwan of the factory but the charges as framed in the charge-sheet did not permit the inter-linking of the two charges. The enquiry officer's findings on this charge and his recommending punishment for Kesho Singh for loss of confidence, were both perverse. Perversity of this recommendation for punishment would also be apparent from the absence of any recommendation for dismissal for the charge of theft, undisputedly a gross misconduct sufficient for dismissal under the Standing Orders of the Company. But even if the enquiry officer had recommended dismissal for the charge No. 2, viz., the charge of theft and the company had taken any action on that recommendation, I would have certainly set aside that action as the charge was vague and indefinite. His recommendation for punishment on the other charges was also perverse being opposed to the Standing Orders of the Company. First of these two other charges was—bringing false complaint against another durwan but under the Standing Orders of the Company this is not a misconduct—minor or major. Clause 12 of the Standing Orders deals with termination of employment and clause 13 with disciplinary action for misconduct. Clause 13(3) enumerates what acts and omissions of the workers shall be treated as misconduct. But neithter false complaint against a co-worker nor money-lending business within the factory premises is offence under clause 13. Enquiry Officer's recommendations for punishments were thus all perverse, and this proves that the enquiry was not fair and proper.

The same conclusion regarding the enquiry can also be drawn from the Factory Manager's himself withdrawing the charges after the enquiry and dropping the proceedings on the ground of insufficient evidence. Not only the findings of the enquiry officer was perverse, the charge-sheet issued to the worker also savoured of victimisation inasmuch as at least two of the charges, viz., charges Nos. 1 and 3 were not misconduct under the Standing Orders of the Company, and charge No. 2 as framed, was too vague and indefinite for the worker, to meet. A charge-sheet like charge-sheet Ext. 1 for disciplinary action against a worker under the Standing Order is unthinkable, but still the charge-sheet Ext. 1 was issued as the management was, in my opinion, keen to get rid of Kesho Singh for reasons disclosed by him in his petition under section 33A. Better sense prevailed with Shri Bhattacharji when he refused to take action on the enquiry officer's findings and recommendations on the charge-sheet and thought it wise to take action in accordance with clause 12(1) of the Standing Orders for loss of confidence. If really loss of confidence was the ground which had weighed with Shri Bhattacharji when he had taken action against Kesho Singh under clause 12(1) of the Standing Orders he would have taken action against him under this clause immediately after the enquiry into the charge-sheet against Singh Bahadur and would not have waited till the completion of the enquiry into the charge-sheet against Kesho Singh and the fact no action under this clause of the Standing Orders was taken against Kesho, Singh immediately after the enquiry against Singh Bahadur but was taken after the enquiry into the charge-sheet against him only indicates that not loss of confidence but some other factor had weighed with Shri Bhattacharji when he had terminated the service of Kesho Singh in accordance with the provisions of clause 12(1) of the Standing Orders and this other fact was, in my opinion, Kesho Singh's non-compliance with the management's direction to persuade his relations to sever connection with the union. Shri Bhattacharji himself deposed before the enquiry officer as a witness for the company and it appears from this evidence before the enquiry officer that he had himself held the enquiry into the charges against Singh Bahadur on the complaint of Kesho Singh and had found the complaint false. When, therefore falsity of Kesho Singh's complaint against Singh Bahadur was to the knowledge of Shri Bhattacharji before the charge-sheet was even issued to Kesho Singh, if falsity of the complaint was the reason for Shri Bhattacharji's losing confidence against Kesho Singh, he would have dismissed him immediately after the enquiry on the ground of loss of confidence and would not have waited till the findings of Shri Agarwal on the charge-sheet to Kesho Singh, to terminate his service on this ground. Kesho Singh's bringing the case against Singh Bahadur was not in those circumstances certainly any the reason for his dismissal on ground of loss of confidence, nor was his alleged money-lending business. It must accordingly be held that Shri Bhattacharji has no justifiable reason to dismiss him for loss of confidence, and I hold that he had taken action under clause 12(1) of the Standing Orders not for the reason stated by him in the order of dismissal but by way of victimisation.

As in view of the facts and circumstances discussed above I am satisfied that Shri Bhattacharji has dismissed Shri Kesho Singh in colourable exercise of the right given by clause 12(1) of the Standing Orders, dismissal must be held unlawful and unjustified. Accordingly Kesho Singh's prayer for his reinstatement with all back wages must be allowed. An award directing the reinstatement of Shri Kesho Singh with all his wages and other allowances, if any, during the period of forced unemployment is therefore passed. Company's petition under section 33(2)(b) do stand dismissed.

This is my award which is to be implemented within 15 days of its publication in the "Calcutta Gazette".

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. The Gramophone Co. of India (P) Ltd., 33 Jessore Road, Dum Dum, Calcutta-20, and their workmen of the Head Office represented by the Gramophone Head Office Staff Association (India Branch), 462 Jessore Road, Dum Dum, Calcutta-28. (Case No. 98 of 1965.)

BEFORE THE FIFTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present :

Shri L. C. BANERJEE, Judge,
Fifth Industrial Tribunal.

Present for the Gramophone Head Office Staff Association: Shri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate.

Present for the Gramophone Workers' Welfare Union: Shri Patit Paban Pathak, a Trade-unionist.

Present for the Company: Shri K. B. Bose, Counsel, assisted by Shri D. K. Das Gupta, Advocate.

The present dispute arose at first between Messrs. The Gramophone Company Ltd., and their workmen of the Head Office represented by the Gramophone Head Office Staff Association (India Branch), and this dispute was referred at this Tribunal under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 1574-I.R./IR/11L-89/65, dated 30th April 1965, for adjudication upon 11 issues as mentioned therein. Subsequently the Gramophone Company Ltd. was substituted by "The Gramophone Company of India (P) Ltd.,", by an order of the Government under the corrigendum No. 1676-I.R./IR/11L-89/65, dated the 28th April 1966.

The issues for adjudication as mentioned in the order of reference are as follows :

Issues

(1) Revision of grades and scales of pay.
(2) Tiffin Allowance/Free Tiffin.
(3) Medical facilities.
(4) Officiating allowance.
(5) Permanency.
(6) Gratuity.
(7) Rules of recruitment.
(8) Revision of Provident Fund Rules.
(9) Revision of working hours.
(10) Revision of privilege leave rules.

Notices of the reference were served on the parties, and the Head Office Staff Association appeared and filed its written statement on 23rd June 1965. The Gramophone Company of India (P) Ltd., filed its written statement on 25th August 1965. Thereafter another Union of the workmen, namely, Gramophone Workers' Welfare Union, appeared and prayed for being added as a party in this case, and this prayer was allowed by my predecessor-in-office on 26th May 1966. This Union filed written statement on 9th June 1966. The Company filed a supplementary statement on 8th July 1966 in reply to the statement of the Welfare Union. The case was ultimately taken up for hearing on 9th February 1967 and continued onwards. The Gramophone Head Office Staff Association examined 7 witnesses and produced a large number of documents which were marked exhibits on their side. The Welfare Union adopted the evidence adduced by the Staff Association. The Company in its turn examined the Personnel Manager, the materials, and Purchase Manager, the Export Manager and the Group Accountant; and also got a number of documents exhibited.

The case of the Head Office Staff Association, in brief is that the Company is a highly prosperous and stable concern and is a part of a big world-wide organisation, and enjoys a monopoly position in the manufacture of records besides other production. The Company employs about 1,350 workmen at the Dum Dum Factory out of which 172 are clerical staff, 20 sub-staff, 28 Durwans and 12 Drivers. In the Head Office at 33 Jessore Road, Dum Dum, there are employed about 300 clerical staff and 66 sub-staff including peons, drivers and sweepers. The sale figure of the Company has enormously increased in course of last four years.

In 1947 the Company entered into an agreement regarding pay scales of different categories of workmen. But the fixation of wages was not made on any scientific basis, and the entire thing was an ad hoc one. The workmen were very much dissatisfied with this agreement and they raised protest against the same. But the management did nothing. After prolonged agitation some of the issues were referred to the Fifth Industrial Tribunal for adjudication and the said Tribunal gave its award which was published in the "Calcutta Gazette", dated 19th January 1956. The then financial position of the Company weighed much with the Tribunal and on that ground the Tribunal did not grant any relief to the workmen in that award. Thereafter, on 25th April 1960 the Company entered into an agreement with the Gramophone Workers' Welfare Union of which the Staff of the Head Office were originally members; but this Union betrayed the cause of the workmen and only acted in the interest of the Company. Accordingly, the workmen of the Head Office formed a trade union of their own styled as "Gramophone Head Office Staff Association" in October 1963 and got it registered in March 1964. This Association submitted fresh demands and gave notice as required under section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act terminating all subsisting awards and agreements It is alleged by this Association that though the Company's financial position has very much improved in course of last few years, and the prices of necessary essential commodities have gone up, and also the wages and other benefits of the Head Office Staff in other industries have been increased, the present Company is not paying any heed to the demands made by this Union. The Association further contends that the workmen of the Bombay Branch of the Company raised an industrial dispute which was adjudicated upon by the Maharastra Tribunal and the award of which was published in the "Maharastra Government Gazette", dated 30th August 1962. That Tribunal found that the financial position of the Company was prosperous and stable and there was no likelihood of any deterioration of the financial position of the Company in near future, and accordingly, it granted gratuity and increased pay to the workmen. I shall refer to other points raised by this Association while dealing with the issues separately.

The Gramophone Workers' Welfare Union has annexed its own charts along with the written statement showing the demands made by it and these appear to be somewhat different from the demands made by the Head Office Staff Association as appearing in the written statement of this Association.

The case of the Company in the written statement inter alia is that this Company was incorporated on 13th August 1946 but it did not commence any business until July 1964 when the Company took over the plant and buildings, and business of the Indian Branch of the Gramophone Company Ltd., of the United Kingdom. In terms of the said agreement the business of the Gramophone Comapny Ltd., India Branch, was transferred with retrospective effect from 1st July 1964 though the sale deeds were executed on 18th June 1965. During the period from 1st July 1964 to 18th June 1965 the Gramophone Company Ltd., India Branch, conducted business on behalf of the Company, i.e., Gramophone Company of India (P) Ltd. As an interim measure the staff of the said Indian Branch were taken over by the present Company with their existing service conditions in March 1965. The Company denies that it is highly prosperous and stable concern. It asserts that the products manufactured by this Company are luxury goods and are not items of daily necessities. The Company denied that it holds monopoly business. The prices of raw materials required for production of gramophone records are on the increase. The present Company's predecessor started manufacture of microgroove records in 1959 with a view to counteract decrease in sale of 78 R.P.M. records in export markets. But these records have to compete with similar types of records manufactured by powerful organisations from Europe, America and Japan, and so their prices had to be fixed at competitive rates. Powerful and rich competitors have the privilege of a massive home market resulting in lower production costs which enables them to export it at very low prices. Moreover, there are several private Record Companies in India which are dealing in similar business, and that this Company will have very shortly to compete with 4 new companies who have obtained licenses from the Government for setting up radio factories at Bombay and other centres. Besides the records business, this Company produces and deals in radios, radiograms, etc. which are highly competitive but yielding little profit.

The Company contends that the existing scales of wages and dearness allowance given to its workmen are fair. The predecessor of the present Company was a party to the Third Major Engineering Tribunal along with a large number of engineering industries in West Bengal who had been employing more than 250 workmen. The said Tribunal fixed grades and scales of pay for all workmen in such industries. The existing grades and scale of pay of the workmen of the predecessor Company were covered by the earlier award which was in force, and the said Tribunal decided that such grades and scales of pay were fair. Thereafter the said grades and scales of pay were revised by an agreement which provided further better wage structure to the workmen than that awarded by the Third Major Engineering Tribunal. Next, the Fifth Industrial Tribunal, in another dispute found that the existing wages were adequate and compared favourably with those in other engineering concerns, and did not call for any interference by the Tribunal. Then, the scales of pay were further revised by the then employer by an agreement, dated 24th April 1960, with the Gramophone Workers' Welfare Union. The Company maintains that the existing scales of pay based on the Third Major Engineering Tribunal Award have been partly increased by the agreement, of 1960, and they are fair, and that there has not been any material change in the circumstances for any further upward revision. The Company has been paying Dear Allowance to the monthly paid staff according to the B.C.C.I scales of dearness allowance.

As regards the daily-rated workers, the scale of dearness allowance has been fixed by a Tribunal award and to which a further ad hoc increase of Rs. 10 has been ordered by the Government of India with effect from September 1964. The other points taken by the Company will be discussed when I will deal with the issues separately.

Revision of Grades and Scales of Pay

Admittedly, the grades and scales of pay were fixed in terms of an agreement between the management and the workmen in 1947. After a few years the workmen became dissatisfied and raised a dispute which was referred to this Tribunal and in that the Tribunal gave an award in January 1956 without granting any substantial relief to the workman (vide paragraph 10 of the written statement of the Union). Next, another agreement was arrived at between the management and the Welfare Union in 1960 when the scales of pay were revised. The Head Office Staff Association which was formed in October 1963 terminated all the subsisting awards and agreements by serving notice under section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act, as claimed in their written statement and which has not been denied by the Company. Now, the question for decision is whether the increase in the prices of necessary and essential commodities since 1947 and 1960 justifies revision of the scales of pay and, if so, whether the Company has the financial ability and stability to meet enhanced wages. If these two points are found in favour of the Union, the next question for consideration would be what should be the enhanced scales of pay. It cannot be gainsaid that the prices of essential commodities have greatly increased since 1947 and also since 1960. These changed circumstances demand that the pay scales which were introduced in 1947 should be revised and some increments should be given to the employees provided, of course, the Company is in a position to afford the same. Regarding the financial condition of the Company, it is admittedly earning profits for the last few years. The old Company which was an English concern, was taken over by the present Indian concern in 1964. O.P.W.1 Shri P. K. Mukherjee, the Personnel Manager of the Company, admits that the Controller of Capital Issue confirmed the issue of Rs. 44 lacs and 65 thousand in share of Rs. 10 each allotted to the Gramophone Company Ltd., i.e., the old U.K. Company (Ext. L). By two agreements, Exts. M and M(1) the present Company took over a portion of the fixed assets, stocks, book debts, etc., of the old company, and also purchased a portion of plants and machineries of the old Company, and the remaining portion of the machineries are in possession of the present Company on hire (vide evidence of the Head Group Accountant O.P.W.4). The Group Accountant Shri Moitra admits that the Company has earned a net profit of about Rs. 7½ lacs in last two years, and this is in reserve. He further says that the profit before taxation in 1964-65 was a little over Rs. 15 lacs, and in 1965-66 it was more than Rs. 20 lacs. O.P.W.2 Shri P. K. Bose, the Export Manager of the Company, testifies that the Company exports its products to 36 countries. Gramophone records of the Company are exported by and sold to Singapore, Malayasia, Hong Kong, West Asia, Africa, West Indies, etc., as stated by this witness. These records are mainly Hindusthani Film records. The Company also exports Western music and non-Indian Asiatic music. The Union has produced some issues of the "Voice", a journal published by this Company (vide Ext. 16), and it will appear from this journal that in the last 4 years the record industry has made greater progress than was made in previous half century, and in technical and artistic merit the products of this Company take second place to none in the markets of the world. It is further said that the discs are already accepted as amongst the best manufactured in the record industry. So, according to the management's own statement, the Company is carrying on a very good business since last few years, so far as the gramophone records are concerned. I may also refer to the extract of the speech of the Chairman, E.M.I. Group of Companies, as published in the "Eminews" of November-December 1964, which has been produced by the Union in this case (vide Ext. 12).

Of course, according to the Group Accountant O.P.W.4, manufactured goods worth Rs. 30 or 40 lacs are remaining unsold, and more than 50 per cent. of this unsold stock in radio sets. This is because the Company finds difficulty to compete in the market in respect of radio sets manufactured by it. The management has also expressed an apprehension that 3 other companies have been given licenses by the Government of India for manufacture of gramophone records and so the business of the Company may suffer in future when the other companies would begin sale of their products. But that is a future contingency and it cannot be said definitely at the present moment if the other companies would be capable of manufacturing gramophone records and would be able to compete with the present Company. It is also alleged by the Management that piracy of records is going on in the Middle East in respect of products of this Company. But it appears from the letters, Ext. Q series, produced by the mangement, that the Company has complained of it to the Government of India and asked for necessary steps for stopping such piracy, i.e., illegal copying of records by foreign firms and it is expected that the Government would take necessary steps for stopping such piracy. I may also point out to the statement of Shri Moitra, O.P.W.4, that the Company has necessity of further capital as they have to purchase within 1970 the machineries of the old Company which the present Company is holding on hire, and also because many old and worn-out plants and machineries have got to be replaced.

On a careful consideration of the overall financial position of the Company, I find that the Company is able to meet some increased liability by way of increase in wages and other emoluments of the employees. But the increase will not be to the extent as claimed by the Staff Association.

The Staff Association examined withensses from several different companies with a view to show a comparison of pay scales and other amenities existing in those companies with those of the present Company. The witnesses examined are P.W.1 Shri Bisvanath Ghosh of G.E.C, P.W.2 Shri Madhu Sinha of Shaw Wallace & Co., P.W.3 Shri S. B. Chatterjee of I.C.I., P.W.4 Shri S. K. Sundaram of Dunlop Rubber Company, P.W.5 Shri Kamalesh Banerji of Indian Cable Company and P.W.6 Shri Dilip Kumar Mustafi of Philips Company. All these witnesses have produced respective memorandum of settlement between the Company and the workmen, and these are Exts. 1, 1(a), 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6. The existing pay scales of the Gramophone Company and all other companies have been shown in the chart Ext. 10. I cannot accept the pay scales of the other companies as comparable units with the pay scales of the Gramophone Company. In none of these companies pay scales were fixed by any award of Tribunal. There might have had various factors which promoted different managements and different Unions of workmen to come to an agreement between themselves in fixing certain scales of pay to their mutual advantage. Moreover the nature of business carried on by those companies are different from the nature of business in this Company. P.W.1 Shri Bisvanath Ghosh says that G.E.C. Company produces generators, transformers and refrigerators. We get from P.W.2 Shri Madhu Sinha that Shaw Wallace Company has got manufacturing any agency business and it has one distillery for wine and one Yeast Factory besides 70 or 80 tea gardens. This Company also imports fertilisers, and the Company is the Managing Agents of Tin Plates Co. and coal mines. Then, I.C.I. manufactures chemical paints, explosives etc. It is also the Selling Agent of Indian Explosives Ltd., Chemical & Fibres Ltd. and Alkali & Chemical Corporation of India Ltd. (vide P.W.3). The Dunlop Rubber Company produces rubbers goods, and the Indian Cable Company produces cables. These products are quite different from the products of the present Company. P.W.6 Shri Dilip Mustafi testifies that Philips Company manufactures mainly radios and lamps. Of course the Gramophone Company also manufactures radios besides gramophone records. But the principal product of the present Company is gramophone record. So it is seen that except Philips Company which to some extent produces common goods, none of the other companies cited by the Staff Association does similar business like the Gramophone Company of India (P) Ltd. Moreover, the Association did not produce balance-sheets or other documents of those companies to show their position and capacity. P.W.1 Shri Bisvanath Ghosh cannot say what are the profits made by G.E.C. or what dividend are being paid by this Company. P.W.2 Shri Madhu Sinha cannot say what is the capital and reserve fund of Shaw Wallace & Co.. P.W.3 Shri Saroj Chatterjee does not know the profits earned by I.C.I. P.W.4 Shri S. K. Sundaram also cannot say anything about the capital of Dunlop Rubber Company and what dividend is being paid by it, and also what profits are earned by the Company. So also P.W.5 Shri Kamalesh Banerji cannot speak anything about the capital of Indian Cable Company. P.W.6 Shri Dilip Mustafi does not know what are the reserves of Philips Company. He says that in one year the Company earned a profit of Rs. 1 crore and 20 lacs. This profit is much greater than the profits earned by the Gramophone Company of India (P) Ltd. This witness also says that G.E.C. is bigger than Philips Company. So, none of these companies can be taken as a comparable unit with the Gramophone Company. The management of the Gramophone Company has produced a copy of the award by the Fourth Industrial Tribunal, published in the "Calcutta Gazette" dated 25th February 1960, in respect of Jessop & Co. Ltd. which is an engineering concern and the factory of which is situated just by the side of the Gramophone Company of India (P) Ltd. It may be noted that the grades and scales of pay as existing in Jessop & Co. by virtue of the above award are almost similar to those existing in the Gramophone Company.

If we turn to the existing grades and scales of pay of the Gramophone Company in the Head Office, as shown in Anexures A and B to the written statement of the Head Office Staff Association, it will appear that there is one special grade for Senior Assistant or Junior Officer which starts from Rs. 260 and is fixed there without any scale of increase in it.

Next, there are 4 grades—A, B, C, and D—for the clerks, and the scales of pay are as follows :

Grade A=Rs. 160—10—260
Grade B=Rs. 110—7—180 (on point system)
Grade C=Rs. 70—6—134—EB (on point system)
Grade C=Rs. 60—2—70—3—115—EB.

The Union wants introduction of two selection grades, viz., Grade I Rs. 250—25—550—30—700—50—750 and Grade II Rs. 260—20—360—25—610 in place of the existing special grade.

For the clerks of grades A and B the Union demands a general grade (I) of Rs. 175—15—250—20—350—25—450, and in respect of clerks of grades C and D the Union claims a general grade (II) of Rs. 100—10—150—15—225—20—305. No reason has been assigned by the Union for their claim for the introduction of two amalgamated grades as mentioned above. Even in the companies cited by the Staff Association as comparable units there do not exist any such grades and scales of pay as demanded by the workmen of the Gramophone Company. As the existing grades were framed according to the Company's requirement in the interest of its business by an agreement with the then Union, as far back as 1947, I do not see any necessity for reducing the number of grades which are in existence for the clerks. It may be noted that the Maharashtra Tribunal has also fixed 4 grades for the clerical staff who work in the Bombay office of this Company.

In the absence of any comparable unit, I think it prudent to depend on the award of the Maharashtra Tribunal which has already fixed grades and scales of pay for the clerical staff of the same Company in a different branch. The Fifth Industrial Tribunal of West Bengal also fixed the grades and scales of pay for the clerical staff of the Dum Dum Factory of the Company in similar lines as done by the Maharashtra Tribunal. In the fitness of things it is desirable that the employees of different branches of the same company carrying on similar types of jobs should enjoy similar pay scales and other amenities so as to prevent dissatisfaction among different groups of workmen in the same company.

Of course, in the Maharashtra Award we do not get special grade for the clerical staff as existing in the Head Office. This grade starts with Rs. 260 and is stagnant there without there being any scales of increment. This is improper. Unless an employee does have the definite assurance of systematic and periodical increments in his pay, he may not have any impetus to carry on his work with a sense of full responsibility and energy. It is for the interest of both the employers and the employees that there should be a scale of pay attached to this special grade. Increments in pay should not be left solely at the discretion of the management. I should therefore fix a scale of pay for this special grade. The Association demands two selection grades for this special grade but, in a my opinion, one grade will be sufficient. The Union has claimed for this grade a scale of pay, viz., Rs. 260—20—360—25—610. This claim seems to be excessive. I fix the scale of this special grade as follows: Rs. 260—15—335—EB 20—535.

At present increments in the grades B and C depend on point system. From the evidence of witnesses I find that 10 points in each month, i.e., 120 points in a year are given to test the merit of employees while allowing increments. The assessment of points are done as below:—

1. Efficiency—4 points.
2. Intelligent performance of duties—3 points.
3. Good conduct—1 point.
4. Attendance —2 points.

(vide P.W.7)

P.W.7 Shri Santosh Banerji alleges that the employees are not intimated beforehand about the actual point allotted to each of them. O.P.W.1 Shri P. K. Mukherji does not know if the points gained by a workman are communicated to him every month, and he says that the Heads of Departments might know of this. This witness personally communicates the points to the employees concerned at the end of each year. If the idea behind the assessment of points is to raise the efficiency of employees, they should be made known how much points they gained in each month so that they can try to improve their deficiency, if any, in course of one year. No useful purpose will be served by intimation of the points gained at the end of the year. So, theoretically, the point system will be helpful to the employees, but in practical fact the employees are denied of the benefit of this, and their increments are now resting solely on the discretion of the management. Allocation of points may have the result of inducing the workers to be efficient and careful if the the authorities allotting points are impartial and conscientious, otherwise it is liable to be misused. If is, therefore, desirable for the interest of the employers and the employees that this 'point system' should be abolished. Instead of that efficiency-bar should be introduced in the pay scales as existing in many concerns. The hardle of efficiency bar which an employee has to face after getting some increments in pay compels to carry on his duties properly and with efficiency so that he can cross the efficiency-bar and get further increments in the way to reach the maximum of the grade.

If may be noted that the Group Accountant of the Company Shri Moitra, in his evidence before my predecessor in the case of Company's Dum Dum Factory, admitted that the work done by office clerks is much more intricate than the work done by factory clerks. Hence, admittedly, the clerical staff of the Head Office deserve some consideration in respect of their pay. Accordingly, I should raise their scales of pay to some extent from what has been fixed by my predecessor in office in the award in respect of the factory staff, on the basis of the Maharashtra Tribunal Award.

I, therefore, fix the scales of pay of the clerical staff as follows:

Grade-A: Rs. 175-13-240-EB-15-315.

Grade-B: Rs. 125-10-175-EB-12-235-EB-15-265.

Grade-C: Rs. 80-6-110-EB-8-150-EB-10-170.

Regarding grade D, admittedly, this is meant for Filing Clerks and Duftries. O.P.W.1, Shri P. K. Mukherji says that at present there are no duftries in the employment of the Company, and all the 16 persons in the D grade are filing clerks whose duty is to sort out letters and to keep them in files. He says that non-matric standard qualification is sufficient for this job. In the Bombay office the pay of D grade clerks is much less than that existing in the Head Office. So I cannot follow the Maharashtra Tribunal Award in respect of this category of workmen. The existing minimum of this grade is Rs. 60 and the existing maximum is Rs. 115, and the rate of increment is Rs. 2 for some years, and then Rs. 3. I should increase both the minimum and the maximum of the grade and also the rates of annual increments. Accordingly, I fix the scale of pay of this grade as follows: Rs. 65-3-80-4-100-5-120. Considering the nature of work of the employees in this grade, I do not like to introduce efficiency-bar in the pay scale.

At present the sub-staff of the Head Office consists of drivers, peons, bearers, Khansamas, sweepers, etc. The existing scale of pay of the drivers is Rs. 60-2-90-EB-3-126. The Association demands a pay scale of Rs. 75-5-100-6-160-8-200. In the award given by my predecessor in office regarding the Dum Dum Factory, 2 scales of pay have been introduced, one for car drivers, viz., Rs. 70-2-100 and another for lorry drivers, viz., Rs. 100-3-145. As all the drivers of the Head Office get the same scale of pay, I should fix their pay in one scale of pay, and it is fixed at Rs. 70-2-100-EB-3-145.

Regarding Peons, Bearers,etc., there are two scales of pay now existing,—one for Postal Peon, Khansamas, Rehearsal Room Peons and Cooks, which is Rs. 35-1-50-2-70, and another for office peons and bearers which is Rs. 30-1-40-EB-1-50. The Association wants one grade for all these people, viz., Rs. 50-3-65-4-85-5-110-6-140. It is desirable to fix one scale of pay for these categories of workman. Considering the nature of jobs required to be performed by the above workmen, I fix their pay in the scale of Rs. 40-1-60-2-70.

There is another scale of pay for the Head Cook and the Head Khansama. Their existing scale of pay is Rs. 40-1.25-50-2-80. I fix their scale of pay as follows: Rs. 45-1-50-2-80.

As regards Sweepers, their present scale of pay is Rs. 30-1-40-EB-1-50. The Union demands a scale of pay of Rs. 40-2-50-3-80-100. I fix the pay scale for the sweepers as follows: Rs. 35-1-40-2-60. Considering the nature of work of these categories of workmen I do not put any efficiency-bar in their pay scales.

The following are the revised grades and scales of pay awarded by the Tribunal under issue No.1 :—

Special Grade — Rs.260-15-335-EB-20-535.

Grade 'A' — Rs.175-13-240-EB-15-315.

Grade 'B' — Rs.125-10-175-EB-12-235-EB-15-265.

Grade 'C' — Rs. 80-6-110-EB-8-150-EB-10-170.

Grade 'D' — Rs. 65-3-80-4-100-5-120.

Subordinate Staff:

Drivers —Rs. 70-2-100-EB-3-145.

Peons, Bearers and Cooks - Rs. 40-1-50-2-70.

Head Cook and Head Khansama—Rs. 45-1-50-2-80.

Sweepers—Rs 35-1-40-2-60.

The employees will be fitted in the new scales of pay after giving them one increment in the existing scales, In fitting in of the employees in the revised scales if the present pay (after giving one increment as said above) be less than the minimum of a grade on a particular slab in the grade, that should be pulled up to the next higher pay point. Increments within a grade, excepting where there is efficiency bar, shall be automatic and annual. Promotion from one grade to the higher grade will depend on merit and seniority to be judged by the management. The management may promote any employee from any grade to the next higher grade without making his pass through all the slabs of that grade if he be considered to be specially efficient.

Issue No.2.

Tiffin Allowance

The Staff Association contends in paragraph 18 of their written statement that the Company has introduced a system of granting tiffin allowance at the rate of 50 p. per day for the workmen working on Sundays and holidays. It is prayed that this facility should be extended to all the workmen of the Head Office on all the working days, and that amount should be increased. The Company in paragraph 15 of its written statement admits that an amount of 50 p. is being paid as an ex-gratia payment. It appears from the evidence of the Personnel Manager, O.P.W.1 that the employees of the Head Office are allowed free tea twice a day, but no free tiffin is given to them. There is a canteen and the staff of the Head Office are entitled to take advantage of this canteen. The cost of the food sold in the canteen is lower than the cost price, and the difference is made good by the Company. In case of fish-meal the Company is to meet the deficit by subsidising 40 paise per meal, and in respect of meat-meal the amount of subsidy is 50 p. per meal. P.W.7 Shri Santosh Banerji could not deny that the employees take tiffin in the office canteen. He expressed his ignorance on this point. It seems that only a small number of employees enjoy the benefit of getting food at lower price in the canteen of the Company. The Tribunal directs that the Company should extend the canteen facility to all the employees of the Head Office so that all of them can get food in the canteen at cheap rate, as some of them are now getting. If this is not possible, then employees not provided with canteen facility should be given 50 p. per day as 'tiffin allowance' on each working day excepting Saturday.

Issue No. 3

Medical Facilities

Regarding medical facilities, the case of the Staff Association in paragraph 19 of the written statement is that some of the Head Office Staff are covered by the Employees State Insurance Act, but other members of the staff do not get any medical leave either from the E S.I. or from the Company. The Company denies this allegation and asserts that there is a fully equipped ambulance room in the premises of the Company in charge of a qualified physician who renders medical aid to the workmen as and when necessary (vide paragraph 16 of the Company's written statement). Though the workmen examined some witnesses from other companies to show the medical facilities existing in their companies, nothing was said in evidence by P.W.7 Shri S.K.Banerjee, who alone deposed on behalf of the workmen of the Head Office about medical facilities demanded by them. The statement of the Company in its written statement that there is at present a qualified physician who renders medical aid to the workmen, as and when necessary, has not been denied in evidence by the workmen. Under the circumstances, I do not like to interfere with the existing medical facilities available in the Company.

Officiating Allowance

The Staff Association alleges in its pleading that the Company used to give officiating allowance as stipulated in the agreement, dated 17th December 1947, till the srike in 1954 whencefrom it has ceased to give that allowance. The Company states that officiating allowance is sanctioned only where a workman is appointed temporarily both in a higher grade and higher post. The Tribunal directs that the Company should give officiating allowance as per the agreement of 1947 which it had been previously giving and which fact has not been denied in the written statement of the Company.

Issue No. 5

Permanency

The Staff Association alleges in its written statement that the Company has no rule of permanency, and that it usually confirms a workman at the present days on completion of 240 days' work, and that prior to the strike of 1954 two months' probation was the condition of permanency under the terms of agreement of 1947. The Company pleads that in a permanent vacancy a recruit is placed on probation for 6 months, and after that, if found satisfactory, he is made permanent, or if otherwise, he is allowed another term of probation, if necessary. The period of probation for 6 months appears to be quite reasonable and justified because suitability and efficiency of a workman may not be judged in a shorter period. Hence the Tribunal does not propose to change the existing rule of permanency.

Issue No. 6

Gratuity

At present there is no gratuity system for the Head Office Staff. The Staff Association has claimed one month's salary for each year of service as gratuity. I have already shown above that the Company is doing very good business and is earning good profits for the last few years. The financial position of the Company is sound enough to justify introduction of gratuity system for its workmen. I, therefore, direct the Company to introduce the following gratuity scheme for the Head Office Staff as has been given in the Maharastra Tribunal Award, published in the Maharashatra Government Gazette, dated 30th August 1962 :

On the death or disability to continue further in the service of the Company, or termination of service by the Company, or retirement owing to superannuation.	..Half month's basic wages or salary for each completed year of service subject to a maximum of 15 months' basic wage or salary to be paid to the disabled employee or in the event of death, to the heirs, executors, assigns or nominees of the deceased employee.
In the event of voluntary retirement or resignation after 10 years service.	..Half month' basic wages for each completed year of service subject to a maximum of 10 months.

In case of a worker who is dismissed on account of misconduct causing a loss to the Company, the Company will be entitled a deduct the loss from the gratuity and gratuity payable will be half months' basic wage for each completed years' services subject to a maximum of 10 months' basic wage.

Basic wage for the purposes of this scheme will be the last basic wage drawn by the worker concerned.

Issue No. 7

Rules of Recruitment

The Staff Association wants that preference should be given to the employees' sons and relations in cases of new appointments (vide Annexure B to the written statement of the Association). Of course, it will not be proper to keep all the vacancies reserved for the relatives of the existing employees. The Tribunal directs that in case of recruitment in a post, if better qualified candidate is not forthcoming or available, a son or a close relative of the existing staff should be taken in that post.

Issue No.8

Revision of the Provident Fund Rules

The Staff Association alleges that there is a provident fund scheme for the workmen, but there is no representative of the workers in the Board of Trustees, and that there is no provision for granting loan or withdrawal from the provident fund account. The case of the Company in paragraph 21 of the written statement is that some employees have obtained exemption under paragraph 27 of the Employees' Provident Fund Scheme, 1952, and these employees cannot raise any dispute as to the change of the existing provident fund rules. Further quite a large number of employees are members of the Government Provident Fund Institution under the Employees' Provident Fund Act of 1952. It is contended by the company that unless the Trustees are made parties to the order of reference, this issue cannot be decided by the Tribunal. The learned Counsel for the Company also contends that the employees are already getting loan from the Co-operative Society, and there is no necessity for taking further loan from the Provident Fund. He also suggests that if the Commissioner, Provident Fund, wants he may take an employees' representative in the Board of Trustees. These contentions of the Company appear to be sound and I, accordingly, do not interfere and give any decision in this respect.

Issue No. 9

Revision of Working Hours

At present the Head Office Staff work 37½ hours a week, viz., Monday to Friday from 9-30 a.m. to 4-45 p.m. with half-an-hour recess; and on Saturday from 9-30 a.m. to 1-15 p.m. (vide paragraph 26 of the written statement of the Association). The Association wants working hours from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. with one hour recess on weekdays and on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. (vide Annexure B to the written statement). Change of working hours according to the Union's claim will mean reduction of total working hours in a week to 33 hours from the existing 37½ hours. One hour's recess seems to be too much. The Company has fixed the working hours to suit its requirement. So I do not like to make any change in the existing working hours and the recess time. Half-an-hour's recess time seems to be quite sufficient.

Issue No. 10

Revision of Privilege Leave Rules

The existing rule is that the Company grants 15 days' privilege leave to a workman per year, cumulative up to 30 days. The Union has demanded 30 days' privilege leave per year of service, cumulative up to 90 days (vide Annexure B to the written statement). The existing privilege leave seems to be insufficient. I increase the number of privilege leave to 20 days in a year cumulative up to 40 days.

Issue No. 11

Service Books

At present service books are not maintained by the Company in the Head Office. Both for the interest of the employers and employees service books should be maintained. I direct the Company for introducing service books for the employees.

The provisions of this award will come into operation with effect from the Ist of April 1967.

This is my award.

Fixation of Pay

(2) (a) For persons already in permanent Government service: If a permanent Government servant is permitted to apply and is selected for a post in open competition with outsiders, the initial pay will be fixed under rule 42 or 55 of the West Bengal Service Rules, Part I, as the case may be. If, however, such a recruit is prepared to resign his appointment under Government, before applying, he will be eligible to the grant of higher initial pay on the same basis as an outsider.

(b) For a temporary Government servant having no lien on any post under the West Bengal Government when appointed to a post carrying higher scale of pay: Such an officer shall be eligible to draw as initial pay at the stage of the time-scale in the higher post which is equal to his pay in the lower post, or if there is no such stage, the stage next below that pay plus personal pay equal to the difference, to be absorbed in future increments in the higher scale provided that he has already rendered at least three years' continuous and satisfactory service in the lower post. The aforesaid benefit of fixation of pay will not, however, be available in the following cases:

(i) when the Commission has made a specific recommendation regarding the pay to be allowed to the Officer;

(ii) when under any specific rule such an officer is allowed a higher initial pay.

(c) For Outsiders: Unless otherwise specified in a particular advertisement, higher initial pay on the basis of age, qualifications and experience (including experience outside Government service) may be allowed to a person not already in Government service, if the relevant advertisement contains a provision to that effect.

Instructions regarding submission of application

(3) Applications are to be made on the prescribed form which will be available from the office of the Public Service Commission, West Bengal, Anderson House (ground floor), Alipore, Calcutta-27, personally or on sending a large self-addressed envelope with stamps sufficient to cover the postage affixed to it. Candidates who are unable to obtain copies of the prescribed form may apply on any similar typed (not handwritten) form showing exactly the wording and spacing of the sample form published in the "Calcutta Gazette" of the 1st September 1955, provided the blanks are filled up in the candidates' own handwriting.

Particulars and certificates required

(4) Candidates should furnish evidence of their age, qualifications and previous experience together with certificates written not more than one year prior to the date of their applications, from responsible persons, testifying to their private character.

The Commission accepts only the age of a candidate as recorded in the Marticulation or the Secondary School Final/Leaving Certificate. In the case of a female candidate whose age is not recorded in the Matriculation or School Final Certificate, any of the following evidence of age is accepted by the Commission:

(1) A certificate from the Headmistress of the School, which she last attended, showing her exact age as recorded in the school register.

(2) An affidavit regarding her age sworn by her father or mother or some other person in a position to know by having been present or heard of her birth at the time of occurrence.

(3) A certificate regarding her age, from a Member of the Legislature or a gazetted officer, who must have known the candidate and her family, indicating clearly the evidence on the basis of which he/she satisfied himself/herself on the point.

Fee

(5) Candidates must enclose with their applications a fee of Rs. 5 in the form of a receipted chalan from a Government Treasury or the Reserve Bank of India under the head "XXI—Miscellaneous—Receipts of the Public Service Commission, West Bengal". Money orders, cheques, etc., in lieu of treasury chalans are not accepted. Postal Order, however, may be accepted from candidates. They should be crossed and made payable to "The Deputy Secretary, Public Service Commission, West Bengal". No application will be considered unless accompanied with the requisite application fee, except as provided below.

Candidates abroad may deposit their application fees with the High Commission of India or the Embassy, as the case may be, and obtain receipts for the same, which will have to be attached to their applications to be submitted to the Commission.

Candidates in Government service should make sure before depositing fee that their applications will be forwarded by their superior officers.

In no case will the fee paid with the application be refunded, except as provided below.

The Commission may remit application fee in respect of genuinely indigent displaced persons from East Pakistan who have migrated to India on or after January 1, 1964. This concession in fee shall remain in force up to December 31, 1967

A candidate claiming such exemption must furnish besides evidence required under para. (1)(c) above, a certificate (in original) from a District Magistrate or a Gazetted Officer or a Member of Parliament or State Legislature to show that he is not in a position to pay the prescribed fee.

For a gazetted post, an indigent displaced person shall, in the first instance, pay the prescribed application fee, but if he/she is selected for and appears at the interview, the fee paid by him/her will be refunded afterwards. For a non-gazetted post, such candidates will not be required to pay the application fee.

Note: A member of the Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe claiming age concession must furnish with his application a certificate in original from a Gazetted Officer or a Member of Parliament or State Legislature belonging to the Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe, specifying the particular caste or tribe to which he claims to belong.

Address

(6) Candidates should give their present address and should communicate at once any subsequent change of address.

Canvassing

(7) Any attempt on the part of candidates to enlist support of their applications through persons of influence or officials of Government will disqualify them for appointment. Spontaneous recommendations from person interested in the candidates or otherwise known to them will be disregarded.

Forwarding of applications and submission of advance copies

(8) Applications from candidates who are in permanent or temporary employment under any Government, a Local or Statutory Body (e.g., Damodar Valley Corporation), in India will be rejected unless they are submitted through the appointing authority of their posts or service.

Candidates serving under Government or a Local or Statutory Body should submit an advance copy in the prescribed form. The application fee should in such cases be attached to the advance copy and not to the original. The candidature of such applicants may not however be considered if the original applications do not reach the Commission's office within a fortnight from the closing date. Unless applications in original or advance copies with application fees are received within the closing date, late applications may be rejected.

As a result of the constitution of the Howrah Municipal Corporation under the Howrah Municipal Act, 1965, the area of operation of the Howrah Improvement Trust will necessarily cover a wider area. It is therefore proposed to widen also the financial and other powers of the Board of Trustees for the Improvement of Howrah and the Chairman of the Board, on the lines of the provisions of the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911, so that their functions may be efficiently discharged.

The amendments proposed in the Bill are, apart from certain conversions to metric measures and decimal coinage, mainly for the purpose of giving effect to the above objects.

GOVERNMENT OF WEST BENGAL

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT

RESOLUTION

No. 5362J.—2nd June 1967.—The following report submitted by Shri Justice S. N. Guha Roy, Judge, High Court, Calcutta, on 9th January 1952, on the police firing, which took place at Cooch Behar on the 21st of April 1951, is hereby published for general information.

REPORT

I. Preliminary.

By West Bengal Government, Home Department, Resolution No. 2144 Pl., dated the 29th of May 1951, published in an extraordinary issue of the "Calcutta Gazette", dated the 30th of May 1951, I was appointed to hold an enquiry into the circumstances relating to the police firing which took place at Cooch Behar on the 21st of April 1951. The terms of reference are as follows:—

(1) What were the steps taken by the District Authorities to meet the food situation in Cooch Behar before and after the 21st of April 1951?

(2) What was the general situation of the town and district of Cooch Behar on the 18th, 19th and 20th April which led the Deputy Commissioner to promulgate orders under section 144, Cr.P.C., on the 20th April?

(3) What were the circumstances under which the police firing took place on the 21st of April?

(4) To what extent was the firing justified?

By West Bengal Ordinance No. IV of 1951, I was vested with the powers of a Civil Court. On the expiry of this Ordinance the same powers were conferred upon me by the Cooch Behar Disturbances Enquiry Act of 1951, i.e., West Bengal Act. No. XXIII of 1951.

2. The enquiry began at Cooch Behar on the 11th of June 1951. The parties separately represented before me were the State of West Bengal, the Council of Action, the Cooch Behar People's Association, the local Congress Committee, H. N. Ray, the then D.C., and J. Mukherjee, the then S.P. Each of these except J. Mukherjee filed a separate written statement. The procedure outlined in the orders Nos. 1 and 3, dated the 11th and 13th of June last respectively, was followed with the consent of the parties, and I am glad to say that there was no hitch over it at any time. As many as 50 witnesses for the State, four witnesses for the Council of Action and one court witness were examined at Cooch Behar. At this stage the inquiry had to be abruptly adjourned on the ground that Mr. Gupta Bhaya was unwilling to examine any further witnesses for the Council of Action unless it was made clear if K. C. Basak, Food Commissioner, was going to be examined and if he would be allowed to lead more evidence after his examination. K. C. Basak was then in hospital in Calcutta and his evidence was considered necessary for the clarification of certain matters on which S. Maitra, the only other witness of the Food Department could not throw much light (vide order No. 43, dated 1st August 1951). The enquiry was resumed in Calcutta with effect from 31st August 1951. At that time it was stated on behalf of the State by Mr. B. C. Sen that he did not consider the evidence of K. C. Basak essential and that in view of Sudarsan Maitra's evidence, he was no longer in a position to say that H. N. Ray was responsible for the mishandling of the food situation. I was also informed that K. C. Basak was still lying ill. The Council of Action thereafter examined 12 more witnesses. Three witnesses were examined on behalf of the People's Association, and two on behalf of the local Congress Committee. At this stage, the question of examining K. C. Basak cropped up over again and it was not considered desirable to dispense with his evidence. As he was still ailing, he had to be examined in his house. After him, H. N. Ray was examined. The evidence concluded on the 22nd of September last. Arguments were heard from the 23rd of November to the 15th of December last.

II. The scope of the inquiry.

3. In items Nos. 1 and 2 of the terms of reference the food situation in Cooch Behar and the general situation of the town and the district of Cooch Behar have been mentioned. In other words, literally interpreted, the terms of reference require me to deal with the food situation and the general situation not merely in the town of Cooch Behar but also in the rest of the district. It is, however, agreed on all hands that the firing out of which the enquiry arose had nothing to do with the food situation or the general situation in the rest of the district, and that the order under section 144, Cr.P.C., promulgated in a part of the town of Cooch Behar could not possibly have had any connection with the general situation anywhere in the district except in the town of Cooch Behar. All we are concerned with is the food situation and the general situation in the town of Cooch Behar, and the food situation elsewhere in the district is relevant only in so far as it influenced that in the town of Cooch Behar. The evidence led before me confines itself mainly to the food situation and the general situation in the town of Cooch Behar, and if at times, the food situation elsewhere in the district has been referred to, that came in more or less incidentally, and there is no reference at all in the evidence to the general situation elsewhere in the district. It was, therefore, agreed amongst the parties that in answering the first two items, I should confine myself to the food situation and the general situation in the town of Cooch Behar.

The expression 'before and after the 21st April 1951' in item No. 1 of the terms of reference is rather vague and indefinite. It was agreed on all hands that the really relevant period lies between the 7th of January 1951, when the price of rice first began to rise that year in Cooch Behar and the 11th of June 1951, when this enquiry commenced, and that in answering this issue I should confine myself to this period, though the available evidence of matters whether earlier or later than this may be considered in so far as they may have any bearing on any of the points in controversy.

It is clear that as far as the first three items of the terms of reference are concerned, all I am called upon to do is to find out the facts, and with regard to the firing my duty first is to find out what the facts were and then to say whether, in the state of facts found by me, the firing was justified.

III. The background.

4. The district of Cooch Behar is practically an island bounded on the north and a part of the west by the district of Jalpaiguri in West Bengal, on the south and a part of the east by Rangpur in East Pakistan, and on another part of the east by Goalpara in the State of Assam. Against a certain amount of local opposition the State of Cooch Behar acceded to the Dominion of India in September 1949, and with effect from the 1st of January 1950, it merged in West Bengal. From the date of accession till the 1st of January 1951, when the Cooch Behar Assimmilation of Laws Act and the Cooch Behar Assimmilation of State Laws Act brought into force there the laws in force in the Indian Republic and in the State of West Bengal, Cooch Behar was governed according to its own State laws which were mostly on the lines of the Indian laws. But even then the West Bengal Village Self-Government Act was not brought into operat on with the result that there were no Union Boards in the district. The change from a more or less personal rule under which the headquarters of the administration were at Cooch Behar itself to one of a more popular character with its headquarters in Calcutta inevitably led to certain organisational changes which were not yet completed by the 21st of April 1951, and correspondence over the sanction of increased staff in different departments and the absorption of the old staff of the State was still going on. As a result of these changes, a number of officials from other parts of the State of West Bengal had to be imported into Cooch Behar to supplement the large majority of the Cooch Behar old State employees retained by the West Bengal Government. It is more than probable that the relations between these two sections of public servants in Cooch Behar were not exactly what they should have been and if in the evidence of H. N. Ray and L. M. Baxi, there is just a hint of this, the Cooch Behar People's Association in its written statement roundly accuses the new-comers, specially those of the higher ranks, of having behaved like conquerers in Cooch Behar.

5. Two facts of importance likely to have influenced the psychology of the local people deserve to be mentioned here. The first is that with the transfer of the administrative headquarters, as a result of the political changes, from Cooch Behar to Calcutta, it was no longer possible for the people of Cooch Behar to maintain with those who initiated policy and who could without orders from others give relief in case of real need, a direct personal contact such as they were accustomed to in the Darbar days and such as makes even undiluted autocracy look more human than a system of Government under which, whatever its form and structure, files acumulate and men decay, with the result that the explosive forces of resentment and bitterness grow up. The other is the formation of branches of important political parties in Cooch Behar after the accession, there being practically no such parties there before except a branch of the Forward Bloc at Dinhata and the Hita Sadhini Sabha which also came into existence only in 1947. If side by side with these facts are considered the feelings of large numbers of homeless people, torn away by circumstances from their roots and unable yet to rehabilitate themselves physically and mentally in their new environment so as to feel a genuine stake in the State of their adoption, we have the stage set for the unspeakable tragedy, for, to my mind, it is nothing less.

6. With the communal disturbances in Eastern Pakistan in the early part of the year 1950, refugees began to pour into the district from there and there was also a corresponding movement of parts of the Muslim population of Cooch Behar into East Pakistan. This emigrant Muslim population contained a large percentage of peasants. Most of the Muslim emigrants took away with them large quantities of paddy and also as many heads of cattle as they could. On the conclusion of the Nehru-Liaquat Pact in the first part of April 1950, a part of the Muslim emigrants returned. Partly because of this and partly for a variety of other reasons the land of the Muslim emigrants could not be settled with the refugees and the result was that the major part of this land lay fallow. On top of this, as it appears from the rainfall figures in Ex. 18/6(R), there was a shortage of a little more than three inches in the first half of July 1950, and in the second half there was almost a drought. Then again although there was a small excess in the rainfall in the first half of August 1950, in the second half of the month the excess was considerable. In July 1950, the price of rice had already risen to Rs. 35 per maund for the coarsest variety and to Rs. 40 per maund for the medium variety. H. N. Ray joined as Deputy Commissioner, Cooch Behar, on the 29th July 1950. L. M. Baxi who was Development Commissioner and Revenue Secretary at the time of the accession of the State and Chief Secretary between the accession and the merger, was the Additional Deputy Commissioner during the relevant period in April 1951. As the price of rice was already high, modified rationing was introduced with effect from the 15th of June 1950, in the town of Cooch Behar for C Class people who are now called A Class people. Towards the end of August 1950, modified rationing for B Class people in the town of Cooch Behar was introduced. Marketing operations also in areas where the prices were very high, were undertaken from time to time, the basis of such operations being the sale at controlled price to those under the scheme of modified rationing, of one seer of rice per head, subject to a maximum of 5 seers to each family irrespective of the number of its members. In anticipation, however, of a drop in prices with the coming in of the new harvest, rationing in all its forms was discontinued with effect from the 31st of December 1950. Far from there being a drop in the price, it began to rise with effect from the 7th of January 1951. By Ex. 15/2(R), dated 7th January 1951, modified rationing for A Class had to be reintroduced at Cooch Behar, Dinhata and Tufanganj. The price went on rising till on the 16th April 1951, it reached Rs. 48-10 per maund at Cooch Behar. As a matter of fact, Ex. 15/1(R), the chart of prices of rice at Cooch Behar and Dinhata from the beginning of September 1950, to the end of April 1951, clearly shows that even during the period when modified rationing for A and B Classes in the town of Cooch Behar was in force, the prices were high, except during the first three weeks of December 1950, when new rice was selling at a lower figure. But if from the end of August 1950, to the end of the year, A and B Classes were having some relief against such high prices of rice in the shape of modified rationing in the town of Cooch Behar, the discontinuance of this relief to B Class people, even though the price of rice went on rising, naturally made this class suffer and quite naturally too, they looked forward to the same kind of relief which had been extended to them from the end of August 1950, in exactly similar circumstances, and started an agitation for full-scale rationing as in Calcutta, though it is now admitted that what was really necessary was modified rationing for B Class and they pitched their demands higher under the belief that unless they did so, they would not get what they really wanted. It is against this background of rising prices and of the withdrawal of modified rationing to B Class from the end of the year 1950, that the situation at Cooch Behar from the very commencement of 1951 up to the fateful twenty-first of April has got to be viewed.

IV. The food situation at Cooch Behar from 7th January 1951 to 11th June 1951 and its handling by the District Authorities.

7. In appreciating the effectiveness or otherwise of the steps taken by the District Authorities to meet the food situation at Cooch Behar from the 7th of January to the 11th of June 1951, one has, first of all, to grasp fully the precise nature of that food situation, the important elements of which are the requirements of the district, the internal supply position, that is the actual production of 1950-51, together with the carry-over, if any, from the preceding year, the stocks in the hands of the authorities from internal procurement or otherwise, the actual distribution of these stocks in the district and the available facilities for internal movements of foodgrains.

(a) Requirements of the district

A. The elements of the food situation.

8. According to L. M. Baxi (S.W. 2), Additional D.C., the population of Cooch Behar according to the census of 1941, was 6,40,000. According to the last census the total population of the district is 6,66,524 [vide Ex. 98(S)] and not, as Baxi stated, 6,72,000. According to the provisional figures of the last census the total refugee population of the district is 99,225. The net increase in the population of the district being 26,524 the number of Muslim emigrants from the district must be 72,701. These figures also, therefore, go to indicate what has already been stated, namely that if a large number of refugees came into the district from Eastern Pakistan, a large number of Muslim inhabitants also left the district. Assuming that the total population of the district was 6,66,524 from the very beginning of the year, the requirements of the district in rice can easily be calculated. Sudarsan Maitra, Director of Procurement and Supply, has stated that the Indian Statistical Institute found that the average consumption per dult per year varied between four maunds and four maunds and a half, and the Procurement Department calculates the basic ration allowed to a heavy manual worker on the basis of the mean between these two figures, i.e., at 4.25 maunds of rice. On this basis the total requirements of the district for the whole year 1951, would be 28,32,727 maunds of rice.

Of course, the actual requirements will be somewhat less than this, because in the total population there must be percentage of children who do not take rice at all or who do not take as much rice as adults do, but partly as the exact proportion of the children to the total population is not known and partly also as an allowance of ten per cent. in terms of paddy or one-fifteenth in terms of rice has to be made for wastage and seeds, the actual requirements of the district for the whole year may be put down at 28,32,727 maunds of rice.

(b) Was the district surplus or deficit in food in 1951?

(i) The question is not purely academic.

9. It has now to be seen whether the district had this required quantity of rice at its disposal from its own production in the year 1950-51 and from the paddy, if any, carried over from the preceding year. In this connection it is necessary first of all to dispose of Mr. B. C. Sen's contention, namely that the question whether the district was deficit or surplus in 1951, is at this stage, of no more than academical interest, because admittedly external supplies to the extent of 1,02,750 maunds of rice and 1,19,000 maunds of wheat products up to 12th November 1951 [vide Ex. 97(S)] were necessary to feed the district. The stand now taken up by Mr. Sen is substantially different from his stand at the commencement of the inquiry and I must say that Mr. Sen very rightly and fairly refrained from the impossible task of trying to show that the district was really surplus in food in 1951 and admitted that he had failed to prove that the figures of the Indian Statistical Institute were reasonably accurate. In view of this change in his stand on this point, it may look like flogging a dead horse to go into this question. But while the Food Department even in the statement of facts submitted by it as part of the written statement filed on behalf of the Government of West Bengal tried to make out that Cooch Behar had a surplus of as much as 3,000 tons from its winter rice crop of 1950-51 alone, H. N. Ray from the very beginning was trying to impress upon the Food Department that the district, far from being surplus in food that year, was heavily deficit. It is true that in November 1950, when the Food Budget for the Republic as a whole was discussed, the final estimates of the Indian Statistical Institute were not available and that probably they were available for the first time in the middle of April 1951 [Ex. 10(4)R]. Yet as early as 3rd February 1951 [Ex. 18(1)R] the Director of Agriculture informed H. N. Ray that the provisional figures of the Indian Statistical Institute were even more optimistic than its final figures and in November 1950, the Food Department partly from the fact that Cooch Behar was normally surplus and partly also from information they might have had at its disposal, is likely to have thought exactly what it did at the commencement of the inquiry. Such an impression must have largely influenced its attitude in the allocation of external supplies to Cooch Behar. The question, therefore, whether Cooch Behar was surplus or deficit in 1951 acquires sufficient importance to justify a brief scrutiny in spite of Mr. B. C. Sen's frank admission.

(ii) District normally surplus but the figures of the Superintendent of Agriculture make it deficit for 1951.

10. That the district in a normal year produces enough rice for the requirements of its normal population is a fact beyond dispute. In the Supplement to the Final Report on the Survey and Settlement Operations in the Cooch Behar State between 1913 and 1927 (page 9) it is stated that the produce of the two main varieties of paddy grown there, namely bitri and haimanti can feed the people of the State for about 17 months and a half, if of course, no portion of it is exported. It may be said here that the normal requirements of the district every year are met from the bitri rice of that year and the winter rice of the year preceding. Thus, to be self-sufficient if not surplus, the produce of aman paddy during the season 1950-51 and the produce of bitri paddy during 1951, in the district must be in the neghbourhood of 28,32,727 maunds of rice. What the produce of 1949 in Cooch Behar was like and whether any stocks of paddy could be carried over from that year to 1950 the evidence before me does not indicate. This much, however, one is entitled to conclude from a steady rise in the price of rice from July 1950 onwards that in all probability 1949 did not leave any appreciable surplus for 1950. Then on top of this, as already stated, 1950, was anything but a normal year for Cooch Behar and the parties including the State are now all at one on this point. Amongst the circumstances that adversely effected the food situation in the district I have already referred to the influx of refugees, the emigration of a large number of Muslim cultivators as a result of which large tracts of land were left uncultivated, the insufficient rainfall in the second half of July amounting almost to a drought and an excess of rainfall in the second half of August and the pressure on the available food stock in the district from not only the incoming refugees but also from the Muslim emigrants returning on the conclusion of the Nehru-Liaquat Pact. In addition to these there was also the fact that the price of rice was steadily going up from July 1950, onwards. One has to bear these things in mind when proceeding to examine the question whether Cooch Behar in 1950-51 produced enough aman paddy and in 1951 enough bitri paddy to be able without outside help to feed its own population. The estimated outturn of bitri paddy for 1951 was not available, but the outturn for 1950, is 6,11,041 maunds [vide Ex. 38(S)]. In the absence of the figures for the current year, one has to be satisfied with those for the year proceeding. According to Ex. 38(S) prepared by the Superintendent of Agriculture, Cooch Behar, the produce of aman paddy in the year 1950-51, was 24,44,284 maunds. The total of both the varieties, therefore, goes up to 30,55,325 maunds. As in estimating the requirements of the district, the allowance of 10 per cent. for seeds and wastage was set off against the decreased consumption by the children, there should be no deduction of this 10 per cent. here also. If roughly 30 seers of paddy yield 20 seers of rice, 30,55,325 maunds of paddy would mean in terms of rice 20,36,884 maunds, as against 28,32,727 maunds required by the district. There is thus a shortage of nearly 8 lakhs of maunds according to those figures. In other words, these figures justify H. N. Ray's contention that the district was heavily deficit in 1951.

(iii) The figures of the Indian Statistical Institute make it surplus for 1951.

11. As against this there is another set of figures for only the aman paddy of the year 1950-51. These are the figures prepared by the Indian Statistical Institute on the basis of data collected by its field staff as the result of a sample survey and published on 17th May 1951, in a supplement to the "Calcutta Gazette." These figures give the acreage under aman rice at 3,44,400 acres and the estimated outturn per acre in terms of clean rice at 9.39 maunds. The yield of aman rice, therefore, according to these figures would be 32,33,916 maunds, against 28,32,727 maunds which represent the total requirements of the district for the whole year. Thus, if these figures are correct, the district would undoubtedly be surplus, even without the produce of bitri paddy for the year 1951 being counted, to the extent of 4,02,189 maunds.

(iv) The figure of the Institute examined and found to be hopelessly inaccurate.

12. In view of the wide discrepancy between these two sets of figures, one of which makes the district out to be heavily deficit in food in 1951 and the other of which makes it out to be a little more than self-sufficient, the question arises how far the figures of the Indian Statistical Institute based upon a sample survey can be relied on as reasonably accurate. That a sample survey or a survey of samples selected out of an aggregate of material to represent the whole aggregate yields, if properly carried out, reasonably accurate results good enough for administrative purposes and is a cheaper substitute for a complete enumeration may be readily assumed. The theoretical soundness of statistical principles and methods no one questions, but what is in controversy before me is the manner of the application of some of these principles in this particular survey. The whole question before us is whether the way in which, and the men by whom, this survey in the district of Cooch Behar was carried out could possibly have yielded reasonably correct results. It appears from the evidence of S. Sen (S.W. 50), the Statistician of the Indian Statistical Institute, Calcutta (pages 582-83) that in Cooch Behar they wanted to see that the standard error of the estimate should not exceed 2 per cent., that the expected proportion of the acreage under the particular crop, for which the survey was being undertaken, if it is known, is considered in designing the survey, and that in preparing their design they proceeded on the assumption that the acreage under aman is somewhere between .4 and .5 as in the district of Jalpaiguri which adjoins Cooch Behar. On this basis they calculated the number of grids to be surveyed from the furmula

$$\frac{CV}{N} = \text{S. E. per cent.}$$

CV standing for the co-officient of variability, N for the number of grids to be surveyed and S.E. for the standard error. The co-efficient of variability was taken to be as in the district of Jalpaiguri and the standard error was 2 per cent. On this computation the number of grids to be surveyed was fixed at 2,380. Out of these grids, however, only 2,092 grids was actually surveyed. Out of the unsurveyed 288 grids, 100 grids were scattered all over the district and 188 (and not 156 as stated by S. Sen) were near the Pakistan border. It appears further from S. Sen's evidence that the investigators went to those villages near the Pakistan border but were not allowed to survey those areas. Even then they were satisfied that the villagers were living there and cultivating them. S. Sen admits that the surveyors came back without any actual inspection of the plots. How in spite of this S. Sen assumes to be current the report of the investigators that the villagers were cultivating the plots it is difficult to understand. This in itself gives rise to the suspicion that there was not the least attempt on the part of the Institute to check up the work of the field staff. The device of interpenetrating samples which under proper safeguards can be a reasonable check, must have been more or less useless when the possibility of collusion amongst the different workers entrusted with the survey of the half-samples cannot be ruled out by anyone with any experience of such workers in our country, particularly when according to N. C. Chakravarty, the Officer-in-charge of the field work who never visited Cooch Behar during the progress of the work, the Institute had such implicit faith in the honesty and reliability of its field staff that no arrangements for surprise inspection where considered essential, so that there was practically 'nothing to prevent a concerted fudging. With regard to the unsurveyed grids near the Pakistan border what the Institute did was to take the general average for the whole district and calculate the grids on the basis of the district average. The Statistical Institute assumed from the reports of the investigators that people were living in those areas, that these grids had the same general characteristics as the rest and S. Sen wants one to believe that although as many as 288 grids were not surveyed the results arrived at on an actual survey of 2,092 grids are about as correct as they would have been if all the 2,380 grids had been surveyed. Obviously this is not so, for, as pointed out by Mr. Mukherjee during his arguments, the co-efficient of variability at which 2,380 grids were arrived at is 48.7. If one calculates the standard error on the same formula on the basis of this co-efficient of variability and on the basis of 2,092 grids that were actually surveyed it would come to 2·13 and not 2. In other words, the omission to survey the total number of grids that were selected on the co-efficient of variability of Jalpaiguri results in the standard error being raised from 2 per cent. and 2.13 per cent. This justfies the comment of H. N. Ray that this is likely to have introduced a very large systematic error into the calculations of the Institute.

13. This, however, is not all. It is doubtful at best whether the Institute was right in its assumption that the co-efficient of variability in Cooch Behar would be about the same as in Jalpaiguri, as the two districts though contiguous do not exhibit the same general agricultural characteristics. An exploratory survey of Cooch Behar would probably have placed the Institute in a better position to judge how many grids should be surveyed. Even if, however, the number of grids fixed for survey be assumed to be all right, the question arises whether the distribution of the grids over the district at random without any proper stratification could possibly have given the desired results. It is an admitted fact that in the northern areas there is an intensive cultivation of winter paddy whereas in the southern areas winter paddy is grown on a much smaller scale. Ex. 77 (S), a map of the district, coloured in blue to indicate the areas where such paddy is grown intensively, the white spaces indicating areas where either it is not grown at all or grown on a very small scale, shows the exact position. Now, the very essence of a sample survey being to deduce from certain selected parts of an aggregate the characteristics of the aggregate, the parts must be selected in such a way that they may reflect the characteristics of the aggregate and when the aggregate to be sampled consists of units which are dissimilar amongst themselves and which are not well mixed, as in this case, a stratification of the aggregate or its division into blocks of units in such a manner that the units in each stratum or block are as similar as possible becomes essential. Each of the strata has then to be sampled at random and "if the same proportion is taken from each stratum, it is clear that each stratum will be represented in the correct proportion in the sample and consequently differences between different strata are eliminated". (Yates: Sampling Methods for Censuses and Surveys, pp. 17-18). S Sen, the Statistician of the Indian Statistical Institute examined before me rejoined the Institute in February last after the field-work of the Cooch Behar survey was over and had nothing to do with the preparation of the design. The defects in the design, therefore, if any, cannot possibly be attributed to him. It is also plain from his evidence that he knows his work pretty well, and if such a witness does not come out with straightforward answers to perfectly straightforward questions, the only reasonable explanation of this attitude of his is his anxiety to establish even at the cost of truth the soundness of what he calls 'geographical stratification' i.e., division of the district into thana units. That this is no stratification at all is obvious and must have been equally obvious to him. The only explanation he offers for this very important omission is that the Institute had no additional material at its disposal. When it was pointed out to him that the Settlement Report of 1923-27 and the Cooch Behar State and its Land Revenue Settlement published in 1903 would have given them valuable information, and that it was surprising that they made no inquiries about them, he replied with a crude mixture of bluff and lack of scruple that when they wanted to be within 2 per cent. error, they did not need these things and that stratification was no important part of their work, yet finally he was constrained to admit that it was desirable to divide the whole area into a number of homogeneous zones as far as possible. If the information available in the Settlement Report were utilised, such a division would have been far from difficult, and if after a division of the whole district into homogeneous zones according to the intensity of cultivation of winter paddy, each zone were sampled, as already pointed out, and if the valuable supplementary information available from the two publications about Cooch Behar referred to were made use of in the way suggested by Yates at page 98 of his Sampling Methods for Censuses and Surveys, a much higher standard of accuracy could have been expected. That the Indian Statistical Institute did not look for the Settlement Report at any rate even though they made use of the Settlement maps which should have suggested to N. C. Chakravarty, the part-time adviser of the Indian Statistical Institute with experience of settlement work, the existence of this report, seems to me to indicate that all that the Institute was anxious for was to produce some figures without troubling itself very much about the methods likely to ensure a reasonable standard of accuracy in its results.

14. What is next to be examined is whether the type of men employed for the field work and for the supervision of the field work and the nature of the supervision exercised could possibly ensure the accuracy of the data collected by them. One of these men, an Inspector, happened to appear before me not as a witness but for obtaining information as to when there would be a check of their work in the field as proposed by Mr. Mukherjee on behalf of H. N. Ray. I made use of his presence in court to test how far his eye-estimating was correct and the results are noted in Order No. 40, dated 28th July 1951. If this gentleman, as Inspector, and presumably more competent than those who do the spade work fared like this, one can easily imagine what his inferiors who actually collect the data are like. As far as I remember, this Inspector is a non-matriculate and before he was employed by the Indian Statistical Institute about 7 or 8 years ago he was employed in a Zemindar's office not in connection with land-surveying but in connection with the collection of rents. The evidence of S. Sen makes it quite clear that if previously the Institute employed men with better academic qualifications, they have been for some years recruiting only matriculates and non-matriculates, attaching greater importance to the honesty and reliability of the recruits, and their ability to pick up the instructions and to tour constantly in rural areas. The total monthly emoluments of each of these men are about Rs. 110 or Rs. 130. If one reads between the lines of this part of S. Sen's evidence, one can at once see that the assumption underlying it is that matriculates and non-matriculates are generally more reliable and honest, more suitable for touring in rural areas and for picking up instructions than men with higher academic qualifications. This proposition is evidently untenable, for a judicious selection from amongst men with higher academic qualifications is bound to produce some at least who are as honest and reliable as the matriculate or non-matriculate employees of the Institute. It is certainly true that such men are not likely to be satisfied with a scale of remuneration as low as Rs. 110 or Rs. 130 per head per month inclusive of allowances and if it is for the sake of economy that matriculates or non-matriculates have been preferred by the Indian Statistical Institute, as seems to be more than probable,

I may say at once that the Institute has achieved economy at the cost of a reasonable standard of efficiency. This together with the somewhat suggestive admission of N. C. Chakravarty (p. 536 and p. 552) that the Indian Statistical Institute received from the Government from time to time for collecting data grants varying from about Rs. 6½ lakhs to about Rs. 9 lakhs and they had not to give any detailed account of the money to the authorities concerned may very well leave one wondering how far the beneficiary of any such economy was only an impersonal body like the Indian Statistical Institute.

15. Then it is admitted by N. C. Chakravarty that a surprise inspection of an investigator's work while he is actually engaged in surveying a grid is not considered essential and has never been attempted. It is well known that in settlement operations there is provision for constant checking of the field work by surprise inspections and if in spite of these surprise inspections a certain amount of fudging can be detected, it is easy to imagine what happens when there is no provision at all for any such surprise inspection. In the absence of such arrangements there is really no guarantee that the men who are supposed to check them do not prepare these data in concert or collusion and there is no guarantee that any of these field workers always goes to the field or can spot out the grids correctly. It appears from Ex. 18/3R, a letter written by H. N. Ray to Dr. Nandy, the Director of Agriculture, on the 27th of March 1951, that although he was touring the district quite extensively he did not find much activity on the part of the Indian Statistical Institute field staff and from this he suspected that the number of random samples taken by them was insufficient with the result that a very large percentage of error was introduced. Having regard to the undisputed facts which, as I have already said, must have adversely affected the production of aman paddy in the district of Cooch Behar in the year 1950-51, I am inclined to think that the figures prepared by the Indian Statistical Institute on the basis of the data collected in the course of a sample survey, designed without anything like a proper stratification of the district, by a set of men who, as far as I could judge on the materials before me, can hardly be relied on for such work and whose emoluments are not likely to give them a sufficient incentive to take the trouble of actually visiting the grids they were called upon to survey, specially when they knew that there was no possibility of their being caught napping as a result of surprise inspections, could not possibly have been correct within the permissible limits of error. That the district's own produce of paddy both bitri and aman fell short of its own requirements in 1951 is amply proved by the fact that as much as 2,21,750 maunds had to be imported from outside up to the 12th November 1951 in rice and wheat products to feed the district. The Indian Statistical Institute's figures are thus clearly wrong when instead of showing a shortage, they show a surplus of 4,01,189 maunds which represent the requirements of the district for about a month and a half. The approximate extent of the shortage may be easily measured by the extent of the imports and the percentage of error in the figures of the Indian Statistical Institute may also be calculated on this basis. Deducting the total imports from the total requirements, we have the total produce of bitri in 1951 and aman rice in 1950-51 and this comes to 26,10,977 maunds. Deducting from this the produce of bitri in 1951 estimated at the same figures as the preceding year's, the approximate outturn of aman rice in 1950 becomes 22,03,617 maunds in place of 32,33,916 maunds. The percentage of error on this basis comes to very nearly 32. Even if the bitri produce for 1951 be left out of account altogether, the error would be a little over 19 per cent. It is thus clear beyond a shadow of doubt that while the Institute aimed at a standard error of 2 per cent. on either side, its unique achievement was a little more than 19 per cent. only on the most liberal computation, namely by ignoring the bitri outturn for 1951 altogether and very nearly 32 per cent. if the bitri outtern for 1951 be estimated at the preceding year's figure. This gap between aim and achievement is at once a commentary on the Institute's methods and the manner of its application of statistical principles in practice and a measure of the value of the claims made on its behalf by two of its stalwarts, N. C. Chakravarty and S. Sen.

16. The Indian Statistical Institute has been carrying out a number of very important surveys and the statistics of crop production in different districts or States constitute very important material on which the food policy of the Republic is based. If, therefore, these figures are not within the permissible limits of error and are sometimes as in this case, not within a measurable distance of accuracy, the calculations on which our food policy is based are bound to go wrong. For the situation in Cooch Behar, the inaccuracy of the figures of the Indian Statistical Institute must, in the last analysis, be held largely, if somewhat indirectly, responsible, for if H. N. Ray was not very seriously taken by K. C. Basak, at least at the initial stages, one of the reasons for it must have been K. C. Basak's faith in these figures, behind which after all, there was all the prestige of the Institute's association with Prof. Mahalanabis. I am fully alive to the fact that the contributions of Prof. Mahalanabis in this field have received a measure of well-deserved recognition here and abroad and that his reputation as a statistician is such that any work with which his name is associated, whether directly or indirectly, is apt to be viewed with the same uncritical admiration even in knowledgeable quarters. A reputation like a trade-mark may either continue to be a guarantee of quality or it may deteriorate into just a cover for shoddiness. Whether in any particular case it is the one or the other can be found out only on a close examination of the goods covered by the mark. When the mark has demonstrably failed, as in this case, as a guarantee of quality, it seems to me to be imperative as much in public interest as for the sake of the Institute itself that there should be a thorough inquiry by competent experts into the way in which such surveys were and are being carried out by the Institute and into the use to which the lump grants made by the State Governments or the Central Government were and are being put. The reason why I suggest an inquiry into the use to which the Institute put the grants made to it from public funds is that in the administration of public funds, as in the administration of justice, it is not enough that things are done properly but it must be made to appear that they are done properly and when no accounts are either demanded or given of grants made from public revenues to an institution for specific work to be done, even the appearances are against the smug assumption of a proper use of such funds.

(c) Procurement in the district in 1951; why it was unsatisfactory

(i) Procurement in 1950.

17. The next element of the food situation which calls for attention is the quantity which the District Procurement could collect in 1951. Throughout 1950, the old State laws were still in force and the old practice of final assessments by S.D.O's after hearing objections to their preliminary assessments was continued. Towards the end of the year, however, the new procurement staff, set up that year, began to lift the paddy on the basis of the assessments made by the S.D.O's. According to N. Sen Gupta, S.W. 3, the paddy procured in 1950 was 2,01,687 maunds including 33,000 maunds of old stocks of State paddy, so that the actual quantity procured during the year was, according to him, 1,68,687 maunds. According to Sukhamoy Ganguly, A.R.C.P., S.W. 45, the stock procured in 1949 was 1,56,000 maunds out of which 19,000 maunds could not be recovered and out of the paddy procured in 1949 which was lifted in 1950, 8,000 maunds were found to be new paddy, that is paddy of the year 1950. According to the A.R.C.P., procurement in 1950 was 1,76,000 maunds, the whole of which was lifted. If, out of this 8,000 maunds, which, according to the A.R.C.P., really represent paddy for which directives had been issued in 1949 be deducted, the quantity procured in 1950 comes up to 1,68,000 maunds which is in the neighbourhood of the figures given by N. Sen Gupta.

(ii) Procurement in 1951: the methods followed.

18. The quantity of paddy procured in 1951 up to the 16th of July 1951, as appears from Ex. 80(S) was 1,10,846 maunds of paddy converting 1,408 maunds of rice into paddy. The target fixed by the Procurement Department for Cooch Behar for the year 1951 was 9,000 tons or 2,44,800 maunds of paddy—vide Ex. 95(S), page 14. Evidently, the actual procurement up to the middle of July 1951, which virtually represents the end of the procurement season, was not even 50 per cent. of the target and it was over 50,000 maunds less than the quantity procured during 1950. The procurement for 1951 started from the 11th of January and the directives actually issued covered 2 lac and 54 thousand maunds of paddy, which is about 10,000 maunds more than the target. The quantity actually lifted was only 1 lac and 10 thousand maunds, the remissions granted being about 65 thousand maunds. The assessments were made on the basis of lists prepared by the Procurement Department, partly as a result of a survey by the procurement staff and partly also on the basis of lists furnished by village Panchayets and Union Agricultural Assistants and of the lists of the previous year. The entire district was divided into 40 centres and an Inspector or a Sub-Inspector was placed in charge of each centre.

(iii) Ex. 2(CA) likely to have been misunderstood-agitation against procurement; attempts to secure to co-operation and vacillating policy of the Government.

19 On the 16th of October 1950, H. N. Ray, at the suggestion of the A.R.C.P. issued Ex. 2(CA) under the provision of the West Bengal Security Act calling upon those who cultivated over 30 bighas of paddy lands to submit returns. In this order there is expressly nothing which can be construed even remotely as exempting the cultivators with less than 30 bighas of lands under paddy cultivation from procurement. It is, however, just possible for one to read into it a meaning that those who were not called upon to submit returns were meant to be excluded from procurement. It did not strike either H. N. Ray or the A.R.C.P. that Ex. 2(CA) might create such a misunderstanding. On the 19th of October 1950, a statement, dated 16th October 1950, issued by Shri Durgesh Neogi as Secretary to the Cooch Behar Forward Bloc, appeared in a Calcutta vernacular daily, viz., Satyajuga, making all kinds of allegations against the procurement staff of Cooch Behar. Ex. 26(CA)—an appeal by the Forward Bloc to the villagers of Cooch Behar—was circulated by the first week of December 1950 It called upon the people to try to redress their grievances against the extortionate demands made by the procurement machinery of the district by setting up Village Panchayets. When this appeal was circulated, the new procurement staff had not issued any directives themselves but were merely lifting the paddy assessed by the S.D.O's. Ex. 3(R) is a record of the proceedings of a meeting held on the 1st of February 1951, in the D.C.'s office attended, amongst others, by Shri N. C Bose. One of the resolutions in that conference is that the A.R.C.P. should arrange for immediate circulation of an appeal drafted in the meeting for helping procurement. This joint appeal is Ex. 71/16 (S), under the signatures of the non-official members of the District Food Committee. This appeal is undoubtedly on the right lines, as it calls upon the people to come forward to save their poorer brethren and for that purpose to co-operate with the procurement staff so as to ensure satisfactory procurement. The procurement staff held meetings from time to time to explain the real object of procurement to the people. Yet, the Forward Bloc, as will be evident from certain exhibits, still attempted to hamper procurement. Ex. 16/13(R), dated the 9th of March 1951, is a letter from the R.C.P., Jalpaiguri, telling the A.R.C.P., Cooch Behar, of the Government decision to discontinue procurement in Cooch Behar with effect from the 15th of March. Ex. 16/15— a copy of the radiogram on the same point—clarifies the point further by saying that while no fresh directives were to be issued, the stocks against pending directives were to be lifted. Naturally, the A.R.C.P. and the D.C. protested against this [vide 16/16 (R), 16/17(R) and 16/18(R)] with the result that towards the end of the month of March 1951, that order to stop further procurement in Cooch Behar was revised and further procurement was ordered to be continued [vide 16/26(R)—copy of the radiogram, dated the 29th of March 1951]. The Forward Bloc, when it issued Ex. 1(CA) by the third week of March 1951, took full advantage of the order of the Government to stop fresh procurement in the district and represented to the people that it was as a result of the concerted efforts of the Forward Bloc and the peasantry that the Government had to change its policy of procurement and to stop further procurement. Shri N. C. Bose has sought to explain the issue of this circular by saying that the reason why he issued this was that although procurement had been stopped, the agents of the Procurement Department might still go on procuring paddy. He was evidently oblivious of the fact that procurement had not been altogether stopped and it was only the issue of fresh directives that had been stopped and yet he, as a responsible man, issued the circular without making any enquiries from the authorities as to what actually had been ordered by the Government. He admits that Ex. 1(CA) was issued rather hastily and Ex. 31(CA), which he issued for correcting the impression given by Ex. 1(CA), is to the effect that the District Authorities were interpreting the orders of the Government as a direction to stop the issue of further directives and then follows how the Forward Bloc itself took the Government order, viz., that there were three stages of procurement, the first being the issue of a preliminary notice and the hearing of objections filed by the peasant concerned; the second, the directive to the peasant for delivering the quantity of paddy assessed after hearing his objections by a particular date to a particular agent; and the third that the procurement staff would lift the paddy in the event of the failure of the peasant to deliver it. Then, it goes on to say that the information of the Forward Bloc was that paddy was being procured by the procurement staff without issuing the second notice. Then it gives the Forward Bloc's own impression of the actual position in law, which was that where the first notice had not been issued on the day when the order of the stoppage of further procurement was issued, no such notice should be issued and where the first notice had been served but not the second, the second notice should not be issued and where both the notices had been served but the peasant had not delivered the paddy, the authorities would not be entitled to lift paddy against the will of the peasant. Shri N. C. Bose who appears to have been responsible for the issue of this leaflet Ex. 31(CA) admits in his cross-examination that he was still under the impression that the laws of the old Darbar days were in force and although he sought clarification from some of his friends and although he asked for a copy of the laws and orders in force regarding procurement, he could not collect any information and still even as a lawyer, he did not hesitate to lend himself to the issue of a circular like this, which obviously mis-stated the legal position. When I asked him whether he as a responsible lawyer would put into black and white a proposition of law without actually knowing it to be correct, he had to reply in the negative. Yet, this is precisely what he did, and still he would have one believe that this was responsible politics. He further admits that he nowhere expressly told the peasants that it was their duty to deliver paddy to the Procurement Authorities and although he says that it was implied but not expressly stated, I do not find in it anything which could even remotely be construed as an implied request to the peasants to deliver to the Procurement Authorities the paddy they were called upon to give. He further admits that he did not take the trouble of explaining in this pamphlet the duty of the peasants while he took some pains to explain to them their rights and he would not take it to be responsible politics to explain to the peasants only their rights without pointing out their duties at the same time.

(iv) Only over assessments but no under assessment pointed out by Union Panchayat Committees.

20. An examination of Ex. 75(S)—the list submitted by the Union Panchayet Committees—goes to show that the whole object of these Panchayet Committees was to secure, as far as possible, remissions and there is not a single case in which any of these committees suggested that there was an under-assessment of some of the cultivators and that they should be properly assessed.

(v) The causes of unsatisfactory procurement.

21. Procurement in its very nature is bound to be unpopular. It compels the grower to sell to the Government much below the market price. It is apt to give rise to an apprehension, wherever it is undertaken, that stocks would be going out of the district to feed other areas, leaving the district itself to starve. A substantial measure of public co-operation, therefore, is a sine qua non to the success of procurement.

(1) Lack of public support and positive opposition from the Forward Bloc.

22. From what has been already stated, it is clear that not merely was there no appreciable measure of public support behind the procurement drive in the district of Cooch Behar, there were positive attempts by some members of the Forward Bloc, at any rate, to hamper procurement. This, to my mind, is one of the most important causes of unsatisfactory procurement.

(2) Unsatisfactory work of the local procurement department.

23. The next most important cause is the unsatisfactory nature of the work of the procurement staff itself. Ex. 92(S) reveals several unexplained instances of under-assessments, the most noticeable of which are items Nos. 1 and 26, item No. 7 at p. 6 and item No. 6 at p. 17. In Ex. 38/1 (CA), item No. 3 is a case of no assessment at all. Apart from under-assessments, there was a general complaint of over-assessment of small cultivators. In view of the general tendency to try to scale down the assessments, it is difficult to say how far it is generally true, though there are bound to be some cases at least where there were over-assessments, either intentional or unintentional. In the matter of granting remissions no uniform scale appears to have been followed. It appears from the cross-examination of the A R C P that before the receipt of the Government order on the subject 9 maunds of paddy per head were allowed for consumption and when towards the end of February 1951, the Government order was received, it was reduced to seven maunds per head. But it appears from Ex. 73/1/S—the preliminary survey register for Maghpala—that exemptions were sometimes allowed at the rate of 12 maunds per adult and 9 maunds per minor. The evidence does not explain this liberality on the part of the Procurement Officer concerned in the matter of exemption. H. N. Ray's note of inspection to the A.R.C.P's. office on 27th November 1950, Ex. 23(R), goes to show, in the first place, that the district's total stock book, the other stock registers for the procurement godowns and the transit registers were not written up to date. Some of these registers were in arrears for over one month and a half, some for two months, and some for even six months. The A.R.C.P. sought to explain this to H. N. Ray by saying that the registers of the procurement godowns were always kept up to date. That this is so there is no evidence to show. When certain books of the A.R.C.P.'s office were produced before me during the inquiry, they had not been written up to date. On the other hand, from the facts that the Regional Inspector did not make a thorough inspection of any of the godowns and the registers thereof and that the only action taken by the Procurement Department at headquarters on H. N. Ray's note of inspection was to send it to the Regional Inspector asking him to visit Cooch Behar and to pull up the office of the A.R.C.P., and it was not even known at headquarters, as I found out on inquiry during the hearing of argument, what the actual results of the R.C.P's visit to the godown, etc. were, I am inclined to think that practically there was little or no effective supervision of the work of the Procurement staff in the district. It further appears from the evidence of S. Maitra, the Director of Procurement, that although on receipt of the letter of H. N. Ray (Ex. 16/19R), dated the 13th March 1951, he suspected that there might be something more than mere underassessment in the irregularities referred to by him, and although he spoke to the anti-corruption officer about this on his return to Calcutta, he did not take any further action. When he visited Cooch Behar after the firing, he could not inspect the A.R.C.P's office himself on account of the hartal going on in the town and he asked the Regional Controller to inspect that office, and he did not know even when he deposed on the 20th of July last, whether the Regional Controller had done so. Of course to be fair to S. Maitra he became the Director of Procurement only with effect from the 1st of April 1951, but when I have already stated indicates beyond doubt that the control and supervision of the supervising staff and even of headquarters were almost non-existent, so that the officers of the Procurement Department in Cooch Behar worked in their own way without any appreciable fear of being pulled up for their sins of omission and commission. It is really surprising that even the unsatisfactory progress of procurement in 1951 and the knowledge of the authorities at headquarters that there was a certain amount of local opposition did not induce either the Director of Procurement or someone else to visit Cooch Behar, inspect the office of the A.R.C.P. and the procurement godowns thoroughly and try to contact at least some of the local leaders in an attempt to find out what was really wrong with the working of the procurement machinery there and why there was this local opposition. On the other hand, as K. C. Basak states, the authorities at headquarters decided on a complete stoppage of the issue of fresh directives—a measure of which Shri N. C. Bose and some of his colleagues of the Forward Bloc took full advantage in working up a popular feeling against procurement. This policy, however, had to be revised towards the end of March last but then this state of indecision at headquarters must have to some extent reacted unfavourably on procurement in Cooch Behar.

(3) Low procurement price.

24. In this connection, it is also necessary to examine how far the procurement price of paddy at Rs. 7/14 per maund affected procurement. K. C. Basak says the Hon'ble Food Minister had some experiments carried out in a Government farm and from the information collected from there and from certain other farms, he established that it was an economic price. There are before me no materials on which I can express any opinion on it either way. But even if it be taken to be an economic price, when the prevailing market prices are much higher, it is only human nature that the cultivators, who may be called upon to deliver a proportion of their paddy at a much lower price, should be anxious to dispose of the same to others inside or outside the district at a price which may be lower than the prevailing market price but which is higher than the price at which they have to sell to the procurement officers. This suggests that, as pointed out by L. M. Buxi, the cultivators must have disposed of the major parts of their stocks not outside the district as the prices outside were lower and the risks of trans-border movements of grains much greater, but within the district, and as a result there were no big hoards of paddy in the district and whatever hoards were there, lay scattered all over the district. I do not suggest for a moment that this conduct of the peasants is proper or even patriotic, for obviously it is not, but then, when all other commodities are being sold at a high price and those who deal in such commodities are not called upon to sell a certain proportion of their goods at a lower rate, it is certainly flying against human nature to expect our peasantry to develop that broad patriotic outlook which would readily induce them to part with a certain proportion of their stocks in favour of the procurement authorities for Rs. 7/14 only per maund. The practical administrator has always to steer his course in the light of the realities around him and one of these realities is that very human instinct of self-preservation which has been treated as the first law of nature. We cannot afford to ignore it except at our own risk but we should certainly try to mould it in such a way that it can sub-serve larger interests. The way to do it is to take very serious notice of it and to try to produce conditions favourable to the growth of a sense of solidarity amongst all sections of the community, so that the sufferings of one or more sections may be gladly shared by the rest. Such a development can be brought about only by a conscious effort and until and unless the sections more fortunately circumstanced than our peasantry with the weight of centuries pressing heavily on them, have led the way by substantial sacrifices for the larger cause of the country as a whole, the process is hardly likely even to begin, with the result that the chaos of warring interest all about us today may go on · darkening our history for a few more generations yet.

25. Before I conclude this part, it is necessary to examine K. C. Basak's contention that the procurement price has to be pegged at a low figure in order to arrest the inflationary spiral. It is certainly true that the most suitable commodities for being tackled first of all for this purpose are the food-stuffs. But the procurement target is admittedly 14 per cent. of the whole produce and this target is hardly ever reached. It seems to me incomprehensible how the authorities could expect to peg the price of paddy at a low figure by controlling the price of only 14 per cent. of the total output and it is not at all surprising that prices have not been pegged anywhere near the procurement figure. It will not be out of place to add here that one of the factors in regulating prices is purely psychological. If the seller as well as the buyers know beforehand that there is going to be a shortage not merely locally but in the country taken as a whole, sellers develop a very natural tendency to hold out in expectation of higher prices, so that the grains do not flow into the market as readily as they would normally do. Similarly, buyers also develop a tendency to get in as much as possible before the prices soar higher. There is thus the pressure of an increased demand on a reduced supply in the market. The broadcasting of shortages thus has a tendency to push up prices and probably it will be wise to stop such broadcasting. At Cooch Behar of course, the seller could see even in the middle of 1950, that there would be a shortage in 1951 and that probably was one of the facts that kept the price at a very high level from that time onwards. Thus the causes of unsatisfactory procurement in the district of Cooch Behar were, first, a lack of public support and a certain amount of local opposition; secondly, an inadequate supervision of the procurement staff in Cooch Behar by the Supervising Officers and the unsatisfactory work of the procurement department in the district together with the vacillating policy of the Government and thirdly, the low procurement price in comparison with the prevailing market price.

(d) The stock position

26. The stock position, that is, the stock of paddy and rice at the disposal of the district authorities between the 14th of April 1951, and the 21st of April 1951, is contained in page 7 of Ex. 23(R) and in Exs. 23/1(R) and 23/2(R). The first and the second show the distribution of the stock on the 14th and the 21st in different subdivisions and the last shows the distribution of the stock on the 17th April 1951, in different centres. To take the stock position on the 21st April 1951, the authorities had at their disposal on that date 48,583 maunds and 17 seers of paddy and 11,033 maunds and 16 seers of rice. This will not be equivalent to 48,000 maunds of rice as stated by S. Maitra in his evidence, but will be about 5,000 maunds of rice less, that is, about 43,422 maunds of [illegible]e. Of this stock only 8,955 maunds 26 seers of paddy and 1,258 maunds 20 seers of rice were at Sadar where there are as many as 7 centres, as appears from Ex. 23/2(R). The largest quantity was at Mathabhanga where there are as many as 15 centres.

27. In addition to this stock built up by local procurement, 5,000 maunds of rice were directed to be sent to Cooch Behar from Calcutta in a food special on the 17th April and as it was likely to take about three weeks to reach Cooch Behar, another 2,000 maunds of rice were allotted to Cooch Behar from Siliguri G.F.D. [Exs. 12/1(S) and 13(S)]. The first of these consignments could not possibly have reached Cooch Behar by the 21st April 1951, nor was the second consignment likely to have reached Cooch Behar by then, but then H. N. Ray knew that he was going to have a supply of 7,000 maunds of rice altogether, from outside to supplement his own stocks.

(e) Storage arrangements

28. Side by side with the stock position have got to be considered the storage arrangements also, for on a proper storage of the procured paddy very largely depends the actual stock available for distribution, whatever the stock according to the books. It appears from Ex. 21/4(R) and the evidence of H. N. Ray and S. Ganguly, that on receipt of a complaint regarding the mixing of sand in paddy from Dinhata he visited in September 1950, a godown and found the storage arrangements deplorable. A number of jute godowns had been requisitioned and the grains had been dumped there without practically any stacking and, what was still worse, one side of the godown was entirely open so as to facilitate the removal of bags. There was also the risk of the grains getting wet. H. N. Ray further says that the northern areas of Cooch Behar which are more or less self-sufficient or surplus require less attention than the southern areas which are more or less deficit and before the rains set in, grains had to be moved from the surplus areas to the deficit areas, and if the communications were bad normally, after the floods of 1950, they were practically non-existent. He, therefore, suggested to the authorities towards the end of August 1950, very soon after he joined, that proper storage arrangements should be provided at key points and although a reminder was sent on the subject no godowns were actually sanctioned. What H. N. Ray did next was to suggest to K. C. Basak and the Joint Secretary of the Supply Department that certain private merchants should be given a special allotment of C.I. Sheets [Exs. 21/6(R) and 21/5(R)]. By Ex. 21/7(R), dated the 29th of December 1950, the Directorate of Consumer Goods told H. N. Ray that although the special allotment of 30 tons asked for could not be given, as the Government had not the necessary stock at its disposal he should try to meet his requirements from the 40 tons received by a local dealer against the total allotment of 124 tons. In Ex. 21/8(R), dated 17th March 1951, the Food Department informs H. N. Ray that the construction of procurement godowns was not necessary, as the Government had decided to stop procurement there. But when this decision was revised and procurement was allowed to go on, this question does not appear to have been raised again. Sukhomoy Ganguly, S.W. 45, says (p. 523) that in January 1951, he got an allotment of C.I. Sheets for the construction of godowns and although he does not say whether any godowns were actually constructed thereafter, and if so, how many, presumably some godowns were constructed with the C.I. Sheets received. Whether these newly constructed godowns together with those already existing were sufficient for a proper storage of the procured paddy, it is impossible for me to say on the evidence.

(f) Internal transport facilities

29. As regards the transport facilities at the disposal of the district authorities, there is H. N. Ray's evidence that there was only one district pool jeep which was made available for the A.R.C.P. and there was a time when the District Controller, the A.R.C.P. and the D.C. himself were using one jeep. He also says that sometimes he tried to solve that difficulty by using some of the State Transport lorries but those lorries were rather old and off the road very frequently and he asked for a small pool of two trucks and one jeep or a motor cycle, but the Government did not take any ser[illegible] notice of his suggestion and it was only when he visited Cooch Behar during this enquiry that he found that some vehicles had been given to the A.R.C.P. But it appears from the evidence of the A.R.C.P. himself (p. 523) that K. K. Hajara provided him with a jeep when he was Administrator there and H. N. Ray did not take away that jeep from him after he joined there and that in February last two vehicles were allotted to his department and the Food Department. It is, therefore, clear from his evidence that the A.R.C.P. had a jeep more or less at his disposal, but a jeep is hardly sufficient for the movement of foodgrains. The facilities, therefore, for the movement of foodgrains were hardly adequate till two vehicles were allotted in February last. By April 1951, therefore, the A.R.C.P. and the Food Department were in possession of two vehicles and a jeep so as to be able to move foodgrains within the district.

A brief recapitulation of the main features of the food situation from the 7th January to the 31st April 1951.

30. The food situation then in the district of Cooch Behar from January 1951, up to the 21st April 1951, may be summed up by saying that the produce in the district was not enough to feed the population for the whole year, that as far as one can judge from the evidence there was no appreciable carry-over from the preceding year, that the progress of procurement work was unsatisfactory, the available facilities for storage were probably not inadequate though it is difficult to say anything with certainty on the evidence before me, that after February 1951, the available facilities for internal movements of foodgrains were also not inadequate, that the food situation after the firing improved to some extent as a result of external supplies being sent to Cooch Behar so as to enable the authorities to give modified rations to B Class people in the town of Cooch Behar, and finally that the price of rice was very high.

(g) The food position between 21st April and 11th June 1951

31. The food situation improved considerably after the firing mainly as a result of supplies from outside. Ex. 82(S) shows 18,709 maunds of paddy to have been procured between the 20th April and the 15th June 1951. Ex. 97(S) shows 52,000 maunds of rice, including of course 7,000 maunds despatched before the 21st of April and 1,500 maunds of wheat products to have been received in April and May and 5,150 maunds of wheat products and no rice to have been sent in June 1951.

B—What the District Authorities did to meet the food situation.

(i) D. C. tries to convince Food Department that the District was deficit.

32. It is now necessary to see what the District Authorities did to meet the situation. H. N. Ray from his personal knowledge of local conditions pointed out as early as the 27th of March 1951, to the Director of Agriculture that the figures of the Indian Statistical Institute, which showed an increase of over 50 per cent. on the 1949-50 figures, appeared to him to be absurd and that it was not prudent to assume that the 1949-50 figures of the Superintendent of Agriculture were completely incorrect and he concluded by saying that it would be most unwise and unsafe to place too much reliance on the figures of the Indian Statistical Institute. In Ex. 10(S), dated the 29th of March 1951, he also tells K. C. Basak that unlike last year there has been a poor crop this year due to the very late transplantation and much land abandoned by the Muslims along the border lay uncultivated because the incoming refugees either did not or could not bring it under cultivation. Thus H. N. Ray tried towards the end of March last to bring it home to the Food Department that there was a shortage of rice production in the district.

(ii) D. helps procurement.

33. H. N. Ray, although he was not in direct charge of procurement and although the A.R.C.P. was not directly subordinate to him, did whatever he could to help procurement. He inspected the A.R.C.P's. office in November 1950, pointed out certain glaring defects obviously in the hope of seeing them rectified at the instance of the Directorate of Procurement, but evidently the Directorate of Procurement did not come up to his expectations. He held conferences with the local leaders from time to time, issued an order under the Security Act calling for returns from people having at least 30 bighas under paddy cultivation and had a joint appeal for popular co-operation issued under the signatures of some of the local leaders.

(iii) Steps taken to meet the rise in the price of rice.

34. The most important question, however, is what the District Authorities did to tackle the situation created by the rise in the price of rice.

(a) Marketing operations.

35 After the price of rice shot up in the beginning of January 1951, one of the steps taken by the District Authorities to relieve distress was to undertake marketing operations. There were such operations even in 1950, from the 27th of October to the 10th of November when these operations started with four shops and ended with seven. H. N. Ray's letter to K. C. Basak [Ex. 4(S)], dated the 23rd January 1951, says that he was continuing as a purely temporary measure to sell 100 maunds per day in the open market till the normal trade channels began to function again. How long this temporary measure continued there is no evidence. On the 19th of April 1951, when there was the first hunger march to the D.C's. office, marketing operations were started in the local bazar at Cooch Behar through 10 shops and although there was a hartal in the town, out of 200 maunds of rice released for sale 192 maunds 1 seer 8 chattaks were actually sold and on the 20th again another 200 maunds were released for sale through 10 shops but only 108 maunds 17 seers out of it were sold [Ex. 9(R)]. The reason why a little more than a half only of the actual stock offered for sale was disposed on the 20th is that there was a hartal in the town. Mr. B. C. Sen on behalf of the State has argued from this fact that if the people were genuinely hungry they would have certainly purchased the entire stock relased on the 20th in spite of the hartal. That most of the residents of Cooch Behar town must have found it pretty difficult to purchase rice at such a high price admits of little doubt and if even then they were dissuaded by the calling of a hartal from purchasing the rice that was offered at a lower price for sale by way of marketing operations, its only possible explanation is that most people dared not go against the decision of the local leaders and others to have a hartal observed and this can hardly be construed as a piece of evidence to show that there was no distress. For the 21st also marketing operations were ordered with another 200 maunds, but as a result of the unfortunate firing incident all the shops remained closed so that in fact there was no sale of rice by way of such operations. It is thus clear that before the firing there were marketing operations for some days in the latter part of January 1951, and again on the 19th and 20th of April 1951.

(b) Reintroduction of modified rationing for A class at Cooch Behar on 7-1-51.

36. Modified rationing to A Class was re-introduced in the town of Cooch Behar by an order, dated the 7th of January 1951 and although by Ex. 2(S) or 15/3/R, dated the 13th January 1951 the Government mentioned only Dinhata and not Cooch Behar where A Class rationing was to be introduced, H. N. Ray protested against the omission of the town of Cooch Behar from the Government Order and did not discontinue the issue of modified rationing to A Class people in the town of Cooch Behar in spite of the Government Order, dated the 13th of January 1951, restricting it only to the town of Dinhata in the district of Cooch Behar, and on the 2nd of February 1951, by Ex. 5(S) or 15/7-R, which was in the continuation of the Order, dated the 13th of January 1951, the Government gave the district authorities the discretion of starting modified rationing or marketing operations with the stocks procured within the district, wherever the retail price of rice exceeded Rs. 25 per maund and this, of course, covered the town of Cooch Behar. Thus with effect from the 7th of January, 1951, the A Class people consisting of those whose monthly income did not exceed Rs. 50 had the relief they needed against the rising price of rice.

(c) Modified rationing for B class at Cooch Behar felt to be an urgent necessity by the D. C. and the local people, but not introduced till after the firing.

37. The next class that was most affected by the rising price of rice in the town consisted of those whose monthly income did not exceed Rs. 200 or Rs. 250 per month, that is, B Class people. With effect from the 7th January there was a public agitation vide Ex. 4(CA), dated 7th January 1951 and 29(CA), dated 12th February 1951. The first meeting called upon the Government amongst other things, to declare Cooch Behar a deficit area and to introduce full-scale rationing of rice. In the next meeting, dated 12th February 1951, Ex. 29(CA), a copy of the proceedings of which was not like the copy of the proceedings of the earlier meeting sent to the D. C. although copies of it were sent to the Hon'ble Chief Minister, the Hon'ble Food Minister and others, the Government was again called upon amongst other things, to introduce full-scale rationing of rice in the district of Cooch Behar immediately. Though they demanded full-scale rationing in respect of rice throughout the district of Cooch Behar, it is not now disputed that what was immediately necessary was the extension of modified rationing in respect of rice to B Class people in the town of Cooch Behar. The first letter of H. N. Ray to K. C. Basak in which he asked the Government for stocks of rice to be sent to Cooch Behar from outside is Ex. 3(S) or 15/5(R), dated the 20th of January 1951. In this he does not speak specifically of the extension of modified rationing to B Class and confines himself to the extension of modified rationing to A Class at Cooch Behar which he had already ordered although the Government Order, dated 13th January 1951, was against it. The next letter of importance is Ext. 4(S) or 15/6-R, dated the 23rd of January. In this he for the first time mentions that both in Dinhata and Cooch Behar towns there should be modified rationing in respect of foodgrains not merely to A Class but also to B Class persons. He then points out that of the total stock at his disposal in the district, only 3,000 maunds sufficient for eight days were available for A Class and B Class rationing in these two towns, the monthly requirements being in the neighbourhood of 10,000 maunds of rice. He accordingly asked the Government for 7,000 maunds of foodgrains to be sent to Cooch Behar. Ex. 5(S) or 15/7(R)—a Government Order, dated 2nd February 1951, about the starting of modified rationing to which I have already referred gives the District Magistrate discretion to introduce modified rationing or marketing operations with the stocks at his disposal for a limited period, wherever the retail price of rice exceeded Rs. 25 per maund. This does not specifically mention whether modified rationing to B Class should be extended or not. H. N. Ray in his letter Ex. 4(S), dated the 23rd January 1951, made out a case for external supplies being sent to him to enable him to introduce modified rationing to B Class in the towns of Cooch Behar and Dinhata. Exhibit 5(S) does not really constitute an adequate reply from the side of the Food Department to the question whether if he started modified rationing in the town of Cooch Behar to B Class people with the stocks at his own disposal, the Government would be in a position to come to his rescue whenever he ran short of stocks. By Ex. 15/9(R), dated the 5th of March 1951, H. N. Ray again asks for an immediate ad hoc allotment of 2,000 maunds of wheat products from the Government godown at Siliguri as his own stocks thereof had been reduced to only 156 maunds. Ex. 6(S) or 15/10(R), a letter from H. N. Ray to K. C. Basak, dated the 8th of March 1951, asks for an allocation of 30,000 maunds of rice to be supplied to Cooch Behar out of the 24,000 tons of rice likely to be available from Eastern Pakistan under the terms of the Indo-Pakistan Trade Pact up to the 30th of June 1951, so as to enable him to extend modified rationing to B Class persons in the deficit towns of Dinhata and Cooch Behar. In this letter he particularly points out that this measure is necessary for bringing down the price of rice to a reasonable level so as to ensure satisfactory procurement, for the large gap between the prevailing market price and the procurement price was bound to tell adversely upon the progress of procurement in the district. Ex. 15/12(R), dated the 10th of March 1951—a letter from the Assistant Director, Distribution of Rationing to the D. C., Cooch Behar—tells the D. C. clearly that no wheat products beyond the usual quota could be sent for modified rationing for Cooch Behar. By Ex. 15/15(R), dated 21st March 1951, H. N. Ray suggested to the Chief Secretary a joint discussion of the Cooch Behar food situation in Calcutta amongst the Chief Secretary, the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, the Food Commissioner and H. N. Ray himself for the purpose of deciding on measures to be adopted in Cooch Behar for lowering the food prices and for meeting the scarcity likely to be encountered in the months ahead. In this letter he points out that the Government ordered fresh procurement in the district to be stopped, without itself undertaking to supply the quantity which could be procured and that the situation calls for vigorous and timely action. He strikes here a shrewd prophetic note when he says that it is only too easy to find fault with local officers when things go wrong. At about this time H. N. Ray also tried to obtain permission from the Food Commissioner for the United Enterprisers to purchase Nepal paddy and move the same to Cooch Behar, but partly in view of a ban imposed by the Nepal Government on export of rice and partly under the apprehension, as stated by K. C. Basak in his evidence at pages 1040-41, that it a road permit was issued, rice actually purchased in the district of Jalpaiguri would be sent to Cooch Behar and passed off as Nepal rice, the permission for a road permit was refused, so that this attempt also of H. N. Ray to get rice from outside the district failed. The next letter of H. N. Ray to K. C. Basak is Ex. 10(S) or 15/16(R) or 71/24(S), dated the 29th of March 1951. It gives a complete food budget for the district of Cooch Behar up to the 2nd of December-1951, and asks for an external supply of 73,000 maunds of rice in view of the Government's order stopping procurement. In this he repeats that he considers it most essential to issue modified rations not only to A Class persons but also to B Class persons in the district and subdivisional towns and also in the important trading centres of Haldibari with effect from the 15th of April 1951, and he also refers to the fact that this year for the rural areas, 80,000 maunds of paddy, i.e., the same quantity distributed during 1950, would be needed. In paragraph 6 of the letter he clearly asks for orders approving of the introduction of modified rationing to B Class persons in the urban areas from 16th April 1951 and for the Government to agree to supply the necessary quantities of foodgrains in order to enable him to maintain modified rationing. The conference suggested by H. N. Ray was held on the 3rd of April 1951 in Calcutta. The minutes of this conference, as recorded by the Chief Secretary on the 4th of April 1951, and as confirmed by K. C. Basak on the 6th of April 1951, are Exs. 11(S) or 15/20(R). H. N. Ray himself after his return from Calcutta also recorded the minutes, Ex. 15/19(R), on 6th April 1951. The only difference between the two minutes is that while Ex. 15/19(R) mentions clearly that Cooch Behar was pointed out to be highly deficit, that the question of Nepal rice was raised and that the Food Commissioner agreed that whatever quantities of wheat or wheat products were available would be sent to Cooch Behar without limiting such supplies to 200 or 300 maunds, Ex. 11(S) or 15/20(R) does not do so. In this conference it was made clear that the present position and the stock position in the near future would not enable the Food Department to send any stocks to Cooch Behar, which would have to rely on its own resources, that the commitments for modified rationing would have to be kept strictly under control, as only local procurement stocks could be utilised for distribution and as pressure would be much greater in July-August and that the Food Commissioner would re-examine the requirements of Cooch Behar for additional foodstuffs. On the 4th of April, H. N. Ray submitted a note, Ex. 15/18(R), to the Hon'ble Chief Minister, West Bengal, emphasising all the relevant points of the food position.

(1) Public agitation for full-scale rationing of rice at Cooch Behar and correspondence between Cooch Behar and Calcutta over modified rationing and external supplies before Shri Nishapati Majhi's visit on 7th April 1951.

(2) Shri Nishapati Majhi's note after his visit to Cooch Behar and the Food Minister's endorsement on it result in 7,000 mds. being sent to Cooch Behar and certain instructions about modified rationing being issued.

38. On the 7th April 1951 Shri Nishapati Majhi, Parliamentary Secretary, Food Department, visited Cooch Behar and was there up to the 9th of April 1951 and discussed the food position with about 140 persons including Government servants and non-officials, as appears from his own note Ex. 12(S). Exhibit 25(CA), his tour notes and diary, appears to have been placed before the Hon'ble Food Minister who made an endorsement thereon, asking the Food Commissioner whether persons from other districts could be transferred to Cooch Behar, evidently because Shri Nishapati Majhi had mentioned there that most of the local officers were Jotedars. Exhibit 12(S) embodies what Shri Nishapati Majhi is pleased to call his 'settled convictions', namely, that modified rationing should be immediately extended to B Class persons, if only to prevent the exploitation of the already complicated food situation for the sake of propaganda in a district in which about 90 per cent. of the people were loyal to the Durbar, and secondly, that it was necessary to send 25,000 maunds of rice at the rate of 8,000 maunds per month to satisfy the requirements of the district up to the harvesting of aus rice. It is the evidence of Shri Naresh Chandra Bose that Shri Nishapati Majhi promised to introduce modified rationing for B Class at Cooch Behar by the middle of April next before he left Cooch Behar but he actually left it without introducing modified rationing. It is the evidence of Shri Suren Lahiri that Shri Nishapati Majhi promised in a meeting at Cooch Behar that he would try his utmost to send supplies to Cooch Behar from outside, and further that modified rationing for B Class would be introduced in the towns of Cooch Behar. It is the evidence of H. N. Ray also that he learnt from press reports as well as from other sources that Shri Nishapati Majhi made a statement in the Bar Library to the effect that modified rationing for B Category at Cooch Behar and Dinhata would be introduced from the 15th or 16th of April and that the necessary foodgrains would be supplied by the Government of West Bengal. But Shri Nishapati Majhi did not tell him anything about any such assurances being given by him. From the notes submitted by Shri Nishapati Majhi, to which I have already referred, this evidence receives ample confirmation. The assurance given by Shri Nishapati Majhi, though perfectly well-intentioned, were unfortunate in their likely reactions on the psychology of the local people. The D.C. had previously told some of the leaders, as far as he could do so without disclosing confidential matters that supplies could not be had from outside. The assurances of Shri Nishapati Majhi might well have produced on the local people the impression that though supplies from outside could be had, the D.C. was not sufficiently keen about securing such supplies. Nothing could be more misleading than any such impression and yet it is more than probable that such a misleading impression was responsible to some extent for the attitude of the local people to the D.C. On the 10th of April 1951, the Hon'ble Food Minister in Ex. 12/1 (S) said to the Food Commissioner that for the present 5,000 maunds of rice to Cooch Behar might be despatched from Balurghat for B category people of Cooch Behar and Dinhata towns. This note of the Hon'ble Food Minister to the Food Commissioner is specially important because it shows beyond doubt that the Hon'ble Minister accepted the position that for the introduction of B Class rationing in the towns of Cooch Behar and Dinhata, external supplies were necessary and secondly, that it was necessary that modified rationing to B Class should be extended in these towns There was a discussion between the Food Commissioner K. C. Basak, and the Hon'ble Food Minister over this note and the results are embodied in Ex. 12/2(S), dated 16th April 1951. In the first paragraph of this note, K. C. Basak notes that he asked the Deputy Commissioner to consider seriously whether if procurement was stopped altogether in the district of Cooch Behar, prices were likely to fall appreciably and the whole of the next paragraph, which is very important, runs as folliws: "5.000 maunds of rice is going to Cooch Behar from Calcutta in tomorrow's food special. It was take about three weeks for the consignment to reach Cooch Behar. In the meantime, another 2,000 maunds of rice should be immdiately allotted to Cooch Behar from Siliguri G.F.D. for starting M.R. or hat operation at the discretion of D.C. in the pockets where prices have shot up to Rs 40 per maund and above". In this, there is no mention of the category for which modified rationing was to be introduced, although, as I have already pointed out, in the Hon'ble Food Minister's note there is a clear mention of this. Evidently, on the basis of this note a radiogram, Ex. 13(S), was sent to the Deputy Commissioner on the same day. This runs as follows: "5,000 maunds of rice have been despatched from Calcutta by tomorrow's food special in addition to 2,000 maunds of rice allotted to Cooch Behar from Siliguri Food Depot for starting modified rationing or hat operation at your discretion in the pockets where prices have shot up to Rs. 40 per maund and above". This message appears to have reached the Deputy Commissioner, Cooch Behar, at 10-20 that very night, vide Ex. 14(S). At about the same time another radiogram, Ex. 15(S), was sent almost to the same effect to the Food Stores, Siliguri, and a copy of this was sent to the Deputy Commissioner On the 16th of April 1951 evidently before H. N. Ray received the radiogram, Ex. 13(S) or 15/24(R) and on seeing the press reports that 5,000 maunds of rice had been despatched to Cooch Behar and that B Class would receive modified ration at Cooch Behar and Dinhata from the 16th instant, he sent a message to the Food Commissioner saying that no orders had been received yet, that he considered the introduction of modified rationing to B Class persons at Cooch Behar and Dinhata essential and that orders were solicited before the 18th when he would have to face the Dinhata public. On the 17th of April 1951 the Secretary, Bar Association, sent a telegram, Ex. 33/1(CA), to the Hon'ble Food Minister and the Congress, Cooch Behar, sent another telegram to the Hon'ble Chief Minister, Ex. 2(P). Both asked for the introduction of immediate rationing and the Congress particularly mentioned that rationing had not been introduced as assured by Shri Nishapati Majhi.

39. On the 18th April, H. N. Ray sent another radiogram to K. C. Basak [Ex. 18(S) or Ex. 15/26(R)] in which he mentioned that prices of rice were varying between Rs. 55 and Rs. 65 per maund and he was releasing stocks by way of market operation and considered it essential to introduce modified rationing for B Class at Dinhata and Cooch Behar for which he requested an allotment of 10,000 maunds of rice per month and referred to his letter, dated 28th March [Ex. 10(S)].

40. On the 20th April last the D.C. sent to K. C. Basak and also to the Chief Secretary a radiogram [Ex. 15/28(R)] speaking of the hunger march procession of the 19th, of the continuance of the hunger strike, of a serious public agitation for full rationing and of the price still varying between Rs. 47-8 and Rs. 50 per maund in spite of marketing operations and requesting permission to extend modified rationing to B Class in Cooch Behar and Dinhata towns and also for an external supply of 70,000 maunds of rice in all or 10,000 maunds per month for the rest of the year.

41. On the same day at 6-38 p.m. another radiogram viz., 15/30(R) was sent to the Food Commissioner telling him of another large hunger march the same day, of the continuance of the hunger strike, of the determination of the leaders to continue processions till full rationing was introduced, of the crowd having been definitely unruly that day and the leaders having incited the mob to violence. It further informed him that orders under section 144, Cr.P.C., were eing passed banning processions in the office area, that the order would be firmly enforced and that marketing operations were still continuing. He repeated his request for the introduction of B Class modified rationing with immediate effect and the movement of 10,000 maunds of foodgrains per month. A reply was solicited by return.

42. Then there was the radiogram, Ex. 19(S) or 15/31(R), from K. C. Basak to H. N. Ray on the 20th April 1951. This runs as follows: "Your radiogram No. 658C and D.O. No. 659C of the 18th April and radiogram No. 667C of the 20th April. Two thousand maunds of rice have been already allotted to you from Siliguri Depot and another five thousand maunds of rice have been sent to you by the special train which started from Calcutta on the 17th April. It is not possible to promise any further allotment from outside at present. Please take effective steps for lifting outstanding directive paddy with the least possible delay. You may start that operations and extend modified rationing as you like with your own procurement and what has been already allotted to you from outside......" There is also something about agricultural loans with which we are not concerned.

(3) Was H. N. Ray given discretion by Ex.13(S) of 16th April 1951 and Ex. 19(S) of 20th April 1951 for extending modified rationing to B Class at Cooch Behar?

43. This message reached the D.C., Cooch Behar, at 10-5 p.m.—vide Ex. 20(S), although according to the D.C. himself (at page 1167) it did not actually reach him personally till the morning of the 21st. It is thus clear from the series of correspondence and radiogram exchanged between H N. Ray on the one hand and the Food Commissioner on the other that the point in controversy between them was all along whether modified rationing should be extended to B Class in the towns of Cooch Behar and Dinhata and whether for this purpose supplies from outside could be sent to Cooch Behar. H. N. Ray's contention all along being that without such external supplies no such extension was feasible while the stand of Basak was that no such supplies could be sent in view of the stock position of the Government of West Bengal. After Shri Nishapati Majhi's visit, K. C. Basak at the instance of the Hon'ble Food Minister relaxed to some extent and despatched 7,000 maunds of rice from outside. H. N. Ray was asking for orders regarding the introduction of modified rationing for B Class in the towns of Cooch Behar and Dinhata and it is K. C. Basak's evidence (vide pages 1054, 1055, 1075 and 1076) that his radiogram [Ex. 13(S)] of 16th April and his radiogram[Ex. 19(S) or Ex. 15/31(R)] of the 20th April gave the Deputy Commissioner complete discretion for the introduction of modified rationing to whichever class he liked, so long as he could carry on this modified rationing with his own resources and with whatever had been already allotted to him from outside and that if he did not expressly speak of B Class there it was simply because they were concentrating on the question of supply. H. N. Ray's contention on the other hand is (pages 1168 and 1169) that as there was no specific mention of B Class in any of these radiogram and as in spite of his repeated radiograms asking for an explicit permission to extend modified rationing to B Class there was an omission to mention this class, the intention was that modified rationing to B Class should not be extended and the only explanation of the radiograms in question which he could think of was that he was given the discretion to extend modified rationing to A Class in other rural areas. In answer to a question from me as to whether he made any concrete proposal for extending A Class rationing to other areas and if so when, he at first stated that he had all along been saying that modified rationing in rural areas would have to be undertaken and in fact it had already been started at Sitai and Bertha, but he did not make any concrete proposal that A Class rationing should be extended to such other areas, and later on he referred (page 1183) to two letters. Exts. 16/18(R) and 16/17(R), both dated the 14th March 1951, one to the Chief Secretary and the other to K. C. Basak. In the letter to K. C. Basak what he says on the point is simply this that his estimated total requirements of foodgrains for the district in terms of paddy are for modified rationing in the rural areas 80,000 maunds, but there is no proposal for the extension of such rationing to any particular rural area. In the letter to the Chief Secretary, it is stated that procurement could and should be pressed forward in the district as modified rationing in the months ahead in the town and in the rural areas would have to be started. This is all. There is no concrete proposal by H. N. Ray before the 20th April 1951 that modified rationing for A Class should be extended to rural areas other than those in which it had been already introduced. In H. N. Ray's radiogram No. 658C [Ex. 15/26(R)], his D.O. leter No. 659C of the 18th April [Ex. 16/31 (R)] and his radiogram No. 667C of the 20th April [Ex. 15/28(R)] to which the radiogram [Ex. 19(S)] of K. C. Basak refers there is not even a hint of the extension of modified rationing for A Class to other rural areas. In Ex. 15/26(R), he speaks of modified rationing for B Class in Dinhata and Cooch Behar towns. His D.O. letter [Ex. 16/31(R)] dated the 18th April which confines itself to the question whether procurement should continue in Cooch Behar or not does not speak of the introduction of modified rationing for either A or B Class. In the third, viz., Ex. 15/28(R) also, he sought permission for the extension of modified rationing to B Class. Thus by the 20th, H N. Ray was not merely told that 7,000 maunds were being sent to Cooch Behar from outside but also that he could extend modified rationing as he liked, provided he could do so with his own stocks and the stocks allotted so far. In the radiograms and the D.O. letter to which Ex. 19(S) clearly refers, H. N. Ray only speaks of modified rationing to B Class and there is not even a hint of any further extension just then of modified rationing for A Class to other rural areas. In the face of these facts there is hardly any scope for interpreting this radiogram [Ex. 19(S)] at any rate in the way in which H. N. Ray sought to interpret it. He should certainly have read this radiogram along with the radiograms and the D.O. letter to which it refers and if one reads them together there is hardly any room for misunderstanding it. It seems to me clear, when read along with the radiograms and the D.O. letter it refers to, that he was given complete discretion to extend modified rationing as he liked so long as he could carry on with the stocks procured within the district and with what had been already allotted to him from outside. Though the only possible meaning of Ex. 19(S) in its special context was the extension of modified rationing to B Class, K. C. Basak as an experienced officer could and should have, as a safeguard against a possible misconstruction, added the words 'B Class'. That he did not do so is really unfortunate, particularly when, as already pointed out, the Hon'ble Food Minister's note to K. C. Basak, Ex. 12/1(S), dated 10th April 1951, clearly accepts what H. N. Ray had been pressing for, namely, the extension of modified rationing to B Class and the despatch of foodgrains from outside to make such an extension possible. For the omission of these words, I find no excuse whatever In a sense, for what happened at Cooch Behar, this sad omission is indirectly responsible to some extent, as it left some room for misunderstanding the purport of the radiograms, Ex. 13(S) and 19(S). In his evidence, however, K. C. Basak says (p. 172) that sometime in the beginning of April he told H. N. Ray over the telephone that he should introduce modified rationing for B Class at Cooch Behar. This is denied by H. N .Ray. The conference I have referred to was held on 3rd April 1951 and in view of the clear decision in that conference that commitments for rationing should be kept strictly under control, it seems to me to be most unlikely that shortly before or after this conference K. C. Basak should have given any such clear instructions. Then again, if it had struck K. C. Basak that he should expressly mention 'B Class' in connection with the extension of modified rationing, as it must have if he did really use these words in his telephonic conversation with H. N. Ray, one would certainly have expected him to use these words in his radiograms also, so that the absence of these words from the radiograms, Ex. 13(S) and Ex. 19(S) entitles one to conclude that this statement of K. C. Basak is not true.

(4) More supplies to Cooch Behar after the firing; K. C. Basak's incomplete appreciation of the acuteness of the situation not fully explained by his own statement and the figures of the I.S.I.

44. Of course, after the firing on the 21st April 1951, supplies from outside were despatched much more liberally than before. For this the explanation of K. C. Basak is that their stock position was very often precarious, and it sometimes so happened that they had at their disposal not more than two or three days' stock so that it was impossible for them to assure H. N. Ray that they would be in a position to send any supplies from outside and it was only when on the conclusion of the Chinese and the Russian Deals in the last week of April, the Central Government promised him a supply of 20,000 tons that he could allot some supplies to Cooch Behar out of the promised grant from the Central Government. There is hardly any reason why this evidence of K. C. Basak should be disbelieved.

45 While K. C. Basak's statement offers a partial explanation of this earlier attitude of niggardliness to Cooch Behar and his later liberality and while the figures of the Indian Statistical Institute to some extent explain his lukewarm attitude to H. N. Ray's persistent demands for external supplies to my mind they are by no means a full explanation. The first-hand knowledge of a responsible officer on the spot when this was in conflict with a set of figures collected by a type of men in whom none but its employers could repose such implicit faith, certainly deserved a much better consideration than it received, even before Shri Nishapati Majhi's note with the endorsement of the Hon'ble Food Minister made K. C. Basak wake up to the acuteness of the situation in Cooch Behar. If nothing could be sent from outside before this note of Shri Nishapati Majhi, why could not H. N. Ray be told unmistakably that he should go ahead with his scheme of modified rationing for B Class at Cooch Behar with the stocks he had and these would be supplemented if and when his own stock position improved? K. C. Basak's sources of supply were more elastic than H. N. Ray's and partly on this ground and partly also as a senior officer in charge of the State's Food administration, he could legitimately have been expected by H. N. Ray to give him clear instructions in the matter. Does not this omission suggest a somewhat inadequate grasp on K. C. Basak's part of the realities of the situation in Cooch Behar?

(5) Did H. N. Ray deliberately put a wrong construction on ex. 19(S) or was it a bona fide mistake?

46. In this connection has to be considered another question raised on behalf of the Council of Action, namely, whether H. N. Ray deliberately misconstrued the radiogram [Ex. 19(S)] or whether it was just a bona fide mistake on his part. It was the contention of Mr. Gupta Bhaya on behalf of the Council of Action that H. N. Ray correctly understood the drift of exhibit 19(S), but even then with the deliberate object of teaching the people of Cooch Behar a lesson he suppressed it from them so as to give rise to a situation where firing was ordered and as many as five persons were killed. This accusation of mala fides levelled against H. N. Ray is, part of a more general allegation of a conspiracy hatched between himself and the S.P. made in para. 32 of the written statement of the Council of Action. It is said that in pursuance of this conspiracy an ambulance was kept ready close to the scene of operations and hospital beds also were kept free. Now the only evidence which the Council of Action could lead to substantiate this very grave allegation against not merely the D.C. and the S.P. but also the Civil Surgeon, for without his collusion hospital beds and the ambulance could not be kept ready, was the statement of Shri Naresh Chandra Bose who says (p. 657) that at about 11 a.m. on 21st April 1951, he found an ambulance standing on the kutcha road at the corner of Mustafi House just to the east of the Bar Library. It transpires from the evidence of Dr. S K. Ghosh, S.W. 42 (pp. 424-5) that he went with a B.C.G. inoculation team at about 10 a.m. to Sunity Academy in a jeep and from Sunity Academy which they could not get into, they went in an ambulance to Maharani Asram. The doctor and the team left the ambulance on the road and entered the Asram. S.W. 34 Lal Behari Ram, the driver of the ambulance says that a nurse from the hospital bicycled to Maharani Asram which, as Dr. Guha Mazumder, the Civil Surgeon, S.W. 43 says was not on the phone, and asked him to take the ambulance to Sagardighi. The driver was examined and cross-examined on the 9th July last and Shri N. C. Bose was first examined on the 24th July. Mr. Gupta Bhaya's cross-examination of the driver consists of barely 3 lines and there is not even a hint there that the ambulance was at any time between 10 a.m. and the firing near Mustafi House. Shri N. C. Bose says he was not in court during the cross-examination of the driver. Even if that were so, in view of the importance of this piece of evidence on which really the allegation of the Council of Action in para. 32 rests, Mr. Gupta Bhaya is likely to have been fully briefed about it, if it were true and the fact that he was not does suggest that it is in all probability untrue. The relevant hospital registers were scrutinised by Mr. Gupta Bhaya with the object of finding out if there was anything there to lend support to this allegation. He has not been able to discover anything beyond what has transpired in his cross-examination of Dr. Guha Mazumder, the Civil Surgeon (p. 459) and in Mr. Ghatak's cross-examination of the same witness (p. 462), namely that out of ten persons discharged from the hospital that day, only 3 were discharged at noon after his rounds and the other 7 who were either convalescent or awaiting operations were discharged in the afternoon to make room for those injured during the occurrence and that for the same purpose 4 more cases were transferred to the J. D. Hospital in the evening. The allegation of conspiracy, therefore, finds little support from the Hospital Registers. Then Dr. Guha Mazumder was asked if he told the Chairman of the Municipality, that there might be firing that day (p. 459) and he denied it. To the Chairman of the Municipality, Shri S. M. Baksi, C.A.W. 4 this was not even put. The only other piece of evidence to support this story is the statement of P.A.W. No. 3 that Anil Das Gupta, S.I., told him at about 9 a.m. on 21st April 1951, as he was passing by Sagardighi that something unpleasant would happen that day. Even if this could be taken at its face value, it might be nothing more than an anticipation on the part of Anil Das Gupta but when this was not put to Anil Das Gupta in cross-examination, it is difficult to believe it. Shri N. C. Bose admits that when he saw the ambulance there before the firing, that itself did not strike him as unnatural but after the firing he came to attach some importance to it (p. 761). He further admits (p. 762) that he personally knows nothing which can substantiate this allegation of conspiracy and does not know if the Council of Action's counsel has any materials at his disposal to substantiate it. Yet this was the gentleman who on his own showing gave instructions to the lawyers for the Council of Action at Cooch Behar and also examined the draft statement of the Council of Action in Calcutta. That such a serious allegation can be made on such slender foundation seems incredible. Yet this is precisely what has happened. It will not be out of place to mention here that an equally deplorable lack of a sense of responsibility was betrayed by this gentleman when, evidently on his instructions, because no one else speaks of it, an allegation was made against the A.R.C.P. in para. 21 of the written statement of the Council of Action, an allegation which his own evidence, (pp. 757-756) shows to be totally unfounded.

(6) This charge of mala-fides part of a general charge of conspiracy as per para. 32 of the written statement of the council of Action. That general charge unfounded.

(ii) The special charge of mala-fides against H. N. Ray unfounded.

47. To take now the allegation of mala fides against H. N. Ray. In support of this contention Mr. Gupta Bhaya referred to the evidence of S. Sen, S.W. 48 at page 531 that on the 21st of April at about 11-30 a.m. he received from the D.C. an order that he should calculate the requirements of Cooch Behar town per week, if B Class modified rationing were introduced at the scale of one seer per adult and half a seer per child up to eight years per week, and that while he was actually making these calculations in his office he heard the sound of firing. This evidence makes it clear that what this witness was asked to calculate was the requirements of Cooch Behar town per week if a restricted form of B Class modified rationing were introduced at the scale of one seer per adult and half a seer per child up to eight years per week, a proposal H. N. Ray had made to the leaders two days earlier and the leaders rejected. Mr. Gupta Bhaya argues that after the rejection of this proposal of H. N. Ray there was no occasion for him to revive it, and if he still revived it, it was because he understood Ex. 19(S) as conveying a sanction of the extension of modified rationing to B Class but he on his own wanted to restrict this modified rationing for B Class to one seer per adult and half a seer per child per week. The evidence, however, of Shri Suren Lahiri seems to offer a complete answer to this contention. Shri Suren Lahiri at page 1004 says that on the 21st in the morning immediately on his return to Cooch Behar from Alipur Dooars at about 9 a.m. he went to see the D.C. who informed him that he was prepared to give to the B. Class people one seer per adult and half a seer per child, but when Shri Suren Lahiri asked him to give this proposal publicity, the D.C. said that as many people were not prepared to accept it, he would not broadcast it through publicity vans in the town. From the fact that H. N. Ray asked S.W. 48 to make these calculations shortly after his interview with Shri Suren Lahiri, it is more than probable that this suggestion of Shri Suren Lahiri which did not appeal to H. N. Ray just then actually led him later on at about 11-30 a.m. to ask Shri Santosh Sen to calculate the requirements of the town per week, if this form of restricted modified rationing for B Class were introduced. The only other thing on which Mr. Gupta Bhaya lays stress in this connection is the evidence of Shri Chunilal Mukherjee, confirmed by Shri Sibnath Banerjee, that when they met the D.C. in the afternoon of the 21st. H. N. Ray said he had received that morning a radiogram permitting the extension of modified rationing to B Class and showed him a piece of paper (p. 694,) when Shri Chunilal Mukherjee replied that had that piece of paper been shown to them earlier in the morning, the tragic incidents would not have happened. This statement was challenged on behalf of H. N. Ray and yet when Mr. Gupta Bhaya put these question to H. N.. Ray all that he could say (pp. 1303-4) is that he does not remember. Shri Sibnath Banerjee (p. 928) speaks of the D.C. having shown them a radiogram about modified rationing and of Chuni Babu having told him that had he shown that earlier, people would not have been killed. That there was a discussion of this radiogram in this meeting there is no reason to doubt, in view of H. N. Ray's somewhat evasive answer, but while Shri Chunilal Mukherjee says H. N. Ray spoke of permission for extension of modified rationing to B Class, Shri Sibnath Banerjee does not mention the class. It is after all, quite probable that Shri Chunilal Mukherjee speaks of H. N. Ray having mentioned the class, though in fact he might not have done so, under the mistaken impression that as that was the point at issue at the time, the class must have been mentioned. In any event Shri Sibnath Banerjee's evidence which does not speak of H. N. Ray having specifically mentioned the class, makes it more than probable that H. N. Ray did not mention it. The thing may now be looked at from another point of view. H. N. Ray was trying his hardest to secure external supplies so as to be able to extend modified rationing to B Class at Cooch Behar. If therefore, he could understand the radiogram, Ex. 19(S) correctly, there is no reason whatever why he should deliberately put a wrong construction on it in a perverse attempt to undo his own scheme, unless of course, there was some truth in the general charge of conspiracy, as alleged in the written statement of the Council of Action. As already found, the evidence led to substantiate it does not seem to me to raise even a suspicion of the existence of such a conspiracy and once that is eliminated, as it must be, it becomes really impossible to hold that H. N. Ray understood the radiogram correctly and in order to teach the people of Cooch Behar a lesson, deliberately misinterpreted it. What seems to me more probable is that he did not, when Ex. 19(S) reached him in the morning of the 21st, as he says or on the preceding night, as appears from Ex. 20(S), study it carefully enough side by side with the references given in it and rested content with the idea that because it did not expressly mention B Class, it could not have given him the permission he sought, but when in an introspective mood, induced by the sad loss of as many as five lives, he reviewed the whole chain of events leading up to it, he must have been suddenly seized with the doubt whether after all, the radiogram did not give him the desired permission and he was in this doubtful frame of mind about its real meaning when he met the leaders in the afternoon. Thus, while on the evidence it is not possible to go as far as Mr. Gupta Bhaya, it is at the same time impossible to acquit H. N. Ray of gross carelessness in not giving the radiogram, Ex. 19(S) the attention it deserved and in misreading its meaning.

(v) Should H.N. Ray have introduced modified rationing for B class at Cooch Behar without any assurance of external supplies from the Food Department?

48. A further question arises in this connection namely, whether H. N. Ray could and should have introduced modified rationing for B Class even without any express permission from the Food Department on the stocks already at his disposal and with what he had already received from outside. To a layman it certainly appears that to lay by stores for lean months when the prices were likely to rise even higher and when the stocks available in the market were likely to go down further still is to make the people face hunger in an acute form, if not starvation, in the immediate present in the hope of not being compelled to face death from starvation during the more difficult months ahead. It was probably this layman's attitude which drove Shri Chunilal Mukherjee when H. N. Ray asked if there was any starvation death to enquire of H. N. Ray whether he wanted to see burning pyres. K. C. Basak also at pages 1053 and 1054 echoed this attitude when he put the Cooch Behar situation thus: "Here was an emergent condition. I have four months' stock with me. Shall I hang on to it anticipating what would happen or what would not happen in the rainy months or shall I use it for meeting the immediate emergency ?" and when he put the Food Department's point of view as follows: "Our point of view was this : that at a time when the Provincial Government did not have so much stock for the entire Province, did not have the stock for two months' consumption in their hands to meet the entire provincial needs, was anybody justified in hanging on with four months' stock" and say "I lay it by to meet the monsoon months?". As regards the Deputy Commissioner's attitude K. C. Basak further says at page 1054 that it was not that the Deputy Commission had any misgivings about the Government wanting or not wanting B Class rationing, but the whole thing was that he could not introduce B Class rationing unless Government definitely committed itself to supplementing supplies from outside, because what he had he would not utilise. In other words, it is now K. C. Basak's evidence that H. N. Ray should have gone ahead with modified rationing for B Class at Cooch Behar with whatever stocks he had and with what had been already allotted to him from outside without caring so much for the future. This attitude of K. C. Basak seems to me to justify H. N. Ray's apprehensions that if anything went wrong, the easiest thing for the authorities is to make a scape-goat of the local officer in charge. But K. C. Basak when he made these statements evidently forgot the clear instructions given in the joint conference on the 3rd of April last that the commitments for modified rationing must be kept strictly under control as only local procurement stocks could be utilised and as the pressure would be much greater in July-August than so shortly after the harvesting. This fully endorses H. N. Ray's view that he should lay by stocks for the more difficult months ahead. Would not H. N. Ray be going against the express policy laid down in the conference by the Chief Secretary, the Food Commissioner and the Commissioner of the Presidency Division if he proceeded to extend modified rationing to B Class at Cooch Behar without any permission from above? The clear answer must be in the affirmative, so that in the face of the instructions H. N. Ray received in that conference, it was not open to him to go ahead with the scheme of extending modified rationing to B Class at Cooch Behar without orders to do so from the Food Department. But, of course, when outside help did come, although not as liberally as after the firing and when the radiogram, exhibit 19(S) properly construed gave him the discretion to extend modified rationing to B Class at Cooch Behar, there is no doubt that he should have spoken to the leaders of this on the morning of the 21st when the procession came up to the banned area, if not earlier, and had he done so, as observed by Shri Chunilal Mukherjee, the tragedy of the 21st of April last would certainly have been averted. This hasty and inexcusable mistake on his part had, of course, far-reaching consequences, but apart from this, H. N. Ray's tackling of the food situation does not appear to me to be open to any serious criticism as inefficient or unsatisfactory.

(vi) What the autorities did between 22nd April 1951 and 11th June 1951.

49. It appears from Ex. 97(S) that in April and May external supplies to the extent of 52,000 mds. of rice and 1,500 mds. of wheat products were received. Presumably this includes 7,000 mds., of rice, of the despatch of which advice had been received before the firing. In June 5,150 mds. of wheat products were received. According to H. N. Ray (p. 1178) he introduced modified rationing for B Class at Cooch Behar and at Dinhata even before the formal orders from the Food Department were received on the 25th April 1951 [vide Ex. 15/39 (R)] on receipt of a telephonic direction from the Hon'ble Chief Minister that he should go ahead with modified rationing. It appears from Ex. 15/34(R), an order of H. N. Ray, dated 22nd April 1951, that modified rationing was to be extended to B Class at Cooch Behar for 14 days, to start with, with effect from Monday or Wednesday at the latest, that is, with effect from the 23rd or 25th of April 1951, and at Dinhata within about a week of the order. L. M. Baksi (p. 85) says the hunger strike was called off in the mouring of the 22nd April last when the D. C. announced the extension of modified rationing to B Class in the town, but there is no clear evidence exactly when it was given effect to. The earliest date may be the 23rd April last. In any event, this much is obvious that it was introduced shortly after the firing and even before the formal sanction of the Food Department was received on the 25th April last.

V.—The general situation in the town of Cooch Behar on the 18th, 19th and 20th of April which led the Deputy Commissioner to promulgate orders under section 144, Cr.P.C.

50. In the first two weeks of April 1951, the price of rice at Cooch Behar appears from exhibit 15/1(R) to have been Rs. 37/8 per maund but with effect from the 16th it appears to have shot up to as much as Rs. 48/10 per md. On the 17th of April as I have already stated, the local Congress sent a telegram Ex. 2(PA) to the Chief Minister complaining about the high price of rice and soliciting immediate rationing and also reporting that hunger march was apprehended, and the Secretary, Bar Association, sent another telegram Ex. 33/1(CA), to the Food Minister asking for relief in the acute distress caused by the high price of rice and pointing out that no rationing was introduced, as assured by Shri Majhi.

(i) On the 18th :

51. On the 18th of April 1951, at 9 a.m. there was a conference in the D.C.'s bungalow amongst certain officials, viz., the Addl. D.C., S.D.O.'s. of Dinhata and Mathabhanga, the A.R.C.P. and the Subdivisional Food Controller and three non-officials, viz., Shri S. C. Roy Singh Sarkar, Shri Umesh Chandra Mandal and Shri Suren Lahiri. L. M. Bakshi, the A.D.C. of course says he does not remember having attended any such meeting but Ex. 6(R) shows that he was present and he was one of the persons consulted. This conference appears to have discussed only K. C. Basak's suggestion that procurement should be stopped in the district altogether in an endeavour to arrest the upward tendency of the price of rice and its answer was in the negative.

(ii) On the 19th :

(a) A fracas in the bazar over the sale of rice :

52. The 19th of April began with a fracas in the local Chawk Bazar between a number of Bengalees and a number of Biharis. A Bengalee was was offering for sale about 4 or 5 maunds of rice he had smuggled from outside. Another Bengalee wanted to purchase a small quantity from him and a price was agreed upon. Meanwhile an up-country dealer butted in and purchased the entire stock at that price. The Bengalee customer wanted to purchase from the up-country dealer what he needed at the price agreed upon and the Bengalee dealer also asked the up-country dealer to sell it to him at that price. The up-country dealer demanded a higher price and this led to the fracas, as a result of which the up-country dealer ran away leaving behind the rice purchased which was seized by the police and sold through the Subdivisional Controller (pp. 162-168).

(b) A procession from the bazar to the D.C.'s office and the beginning of a hunger-strike by 5 men in the D.C.'s office.

53. Within half an hour of this, i.e., at about 10 a.m., a small procession formed at Chawk Bazar and dispersed in about 10 or 15 minutes without any interference on the part of the police. Another procession also formed a little later at Chawk Bazar and proceeded towards the D.C.'s office. On receipt of this information D. Lahiri, D.S.P. proceeded with a Head Constable and 6 constables armed only with lathis to the D.C.'s office. This procession was about 200 strong. It was shouting the usual slogans, such as

পূর্ণ রেশন দিতে হবে, আমাদের দাবী মানতে হবে ; ভাত, কাপড়, শিক্ষা দাও, নইলে গদী ছেড়ে দাও—

When the procession arrived up to the southern gate of the D.C.'s office compound, the S. P. who was there requested the leaders to send six of their representatives to the D.C. when the processionists said that they would go and see the D.C. These representatives saw the D.C. and handed over to him a prepared note that some of them would go on hunger strike in a part of his office. Five persons actually began a hunger strike at the foot of the staircase on the southern ground-floor verandah. A hartal also was observed in the town on that day.

(iii) On the 20th:

(a) A procession to the D.C.'s office. D.C. roughly handled near his office, and heckled over the alleged trampling by him on a hunger-striker on the 19th, S.P.'s indignation.

54. On the 20th at about 10.30 a.m., a procession about 200 strong started again from Chawk Bazar and when it reached the Sagardighi area it was about 1,000 strong. D. Lahiri, D.S.P., followed this procession with his men. The head of the procession stopped in front of the southern gate of the compound of the D.C.'s office when some of them stood, the rest of the processionists squatting on either side of the road. Among the leaders there were Shri Chunilal Mukherj , Jadab Acharji and Jagadish Choudhury. The processionists said that they had come to see the hunger-strikers. This was reported to the D.C. over the phone and he said that they could see the hunger-strikers in batches of 25. D. Lahiri, D.S.P., informed Shri Chunilal Mukherjee of this and he tried to organise batches of 25 each. This led to an uproar and the processionists cried out that they did not want to see the hunger-strikers but they wanted to see the D.C., when they were told that the D.C. who was not yet in the office was expected there shortly. About half an hour later the D.C. arrived in his car and within about 12 feet to the south of the southern gate, the road was blocked by the processionists and some even got on to the footboards and the bumpers of his car, so that he had to get down. A discussion started between the D.C. on the one hand and some of the processionists on the other hand and the processionists were shouting and saying to the D.C. in Bengali that unless he could give them food, he had better resign and go away. The D.C. said that not a single starvation death had been reported. Then Shri Chunilal Mukherjee asked the D.C. whether he wanted to see the burning pyres of the people and there were cries of 'shame, shame'. Meanwhile, Niranjan Sen Gupta and L. M. Bakshi came up. They, P. C. Nath, D.S.P. and Shri Chunilal Mukherjee formed a sort of cordon round him. As the D.C. started going towards the office, some of the processionists cried out "you must see the women folk". Some of the processionists said that they won't allow the fellow to go to the office and there was jostling and pushing and one of the processionists caught hold of the D.C. by the hand and tried to take him towards the north where the women processionists were sitting. D. Lahiri, D.S.P., claims to have seen him being taken by the hand towards the north and while some of the processionists tried to drag him towards the north, N. Sen Gupta and P. C. Nath dragged him towards the office. There was also an attempt on the part of some of the processionists to push forward in front of the D.C. some youngmen so that they might fall down on the road and block his path But the youngmen who had been pushed down did not like the way in which they were being used and partly because of their reluctance and partly because of the efforts of Niranjan Sen Gupta and the Police officers, the D.C. could get in. This is the version given by H. N. Ray, D. Lahiri and P. C. Nath. The only points on which the other versions, such as those of L. M. Baksi, Niranjan Sen Gupta and Shri Chunilal Mukherji disagree, are first, that a cordon was formed round the D.C. for his safety; secondly that a youngmen gripped him by the hand and tried to drag him towards the ladies and thirdly, a number of youngmen was being pushed forward to block his path. Admittedly the D.C. was surrounded by a large crowd, admittedly there was a heated discussion between some of the processionists and the D.C. and admittedly the crowd was pressing forward round the D.C., so much so that Shri Chunilal Mukherji had to extend both his arms so as to form a sort of barrier between the D.C. and the pressure of the crowd, though he denies that L. M. Baksi, Sen Gupta and others formed a cordon round the D.C. (p. 728). N. C. Sen Gupta and L. M. Baksi both admit they stood round the D.C. so as to form a cordon but curiously enough, both also say that they just stood round him but did not deliberately form a ring round him for his safety. Whether or not one of the processionists seized the D.C. by one of his hands and tried to drag him towards the ladies and whether or not some boys were being deliberately pushed forward before the D.C. so as to block his passage, the facts which are admitted on all hands make out a sufficiently strong case for the loyal subordinates of the D.C. to see that he does not come to any harm. L. M. Baksi and Sen Gupta evidently did whatever they could to save the D.C. from molestation and L. M. Baksi was also good enough to take the D.C.'s car out of harm's way. Why then do they say that they did not form a cordon round the D.C. for his safety? L. M. Baksi did not see the D.C. being dragged by the hand. N. Sen Gupta admits there was a certain amount of jostling and pushing from the southern side with the result that they were all pushed northward for 3 or 4 feet and then he forcibly dragged the D.C. inside the office compound by one of his hands, for he did not want him to be dragged northwards. It is quite possible that in the large crowd, everyone present did not see every little detail of what actually happened. But that is hardly any explanation of both L. M. Baksi and Sen Gupta now saying that their standing round the D.C. was just not a deliberate step taken by them to ensure his safety. The only reasonable explanation I can think of is probably an anxiety on their part to show that the processionists were not unruly that day, as even on the evidence of L. M. Baksi they were on the day following. On the evidence therefore, there is little room for doubt that N. Sen Gupta, L. M. Baksi and Shri Chunilal Mukherji did form a cordon round the D.C. and they must have done so for his safety. L. M. Baksi, N. Sen Gupta and Shri Chunilal Mukherji did not see the D.C. being dragged towards the ladies and as I have said, there is nothing unnatural in this. N. Sen Gupta admits that four or five of the processionists asked the D.C. to go northward and to address the ladies, without suggesting any reason why the D.C. should go there. Then there was the pushing and jostling from behind the D.C., so that they were all pushed northward for a few feet and it was at this time that N. Sen Gupta dragged the D.C. by one of his hands into the office compound because he did not want him to be dragged northward. Evidently N. Sen Gupta must have felt that there was a possibility of the D.C. being dragged northward. This, together with the demand of some of the processionists that the D.C. should go northward and speak to the women, inclines me to accept the evidence of H. N. Ray, D. Lahiri and P. C. Nath on this point and to hold that the D.C. was actually dragged northward by one of the processionists. That there was a certain amount of indiscipline amongst the processionists Shri Chunilal Mukherji is constrained to admit but he says the only signs of it he noticed were that they were pressing on the person of the D.C. and that they were all speaking at the same time (p. 728). It is admitted by him (p. 726) that he formed a barrier with his hands to save the D.C. from the pressure of the crowd. He admits further that having regard to the D. C.'s position it was unseemly on the part of the crowd to press upon his body. The crowd then, on Shri Chunilal Mukherji's own admission, was guilty of this unseemliness. He further admits that when the D.C. just entered the compound the processionists made such a rush in that direction that he himself fell down and in the chamber of the D.C., he said to the D.C. that he had himself fallen down in his endeavour to save him. If the crowd could go so far as to rush into the gate in such a way that even Shri Chunilal Mukherjee, their respected leader, fell down, though of course, according to Shri Chunilal Mukherjee, it was not an intentional push, there is hardly anything surprising in their trying to push forward some others in front of the D.C. so as to block his path. There is thus hardly any reason why on this point also the evidence of H. N. Ray, P. C. Nath and D. Lahiri should not be accepted. On their evidence it must be found that there were in the crowd certain unruly elements which, apart from pressing on the person of H. N. Ray, pushed forward some of the other processionists in front of H. N. Ray so that they might block his passage into the office compound.

55. Admittedly, after getting into the chamber of the D.C., there was a discussion about the introduction of modified rationing for B class people, in course of which, according to Shri Chunilal Mukherjee, H. N. Ray once told him "Why do you trouble me? Why don't you go with your problem to Prof. Mahalanobis? Don't you understand that he is at the root of all this trouble? I admit that Cooch Behar is deficit and badly deficit but Prof. Mahalanobis has taken the trouble of proving Cooch Behar to be a surplus area". Shri Chunilal Mukherjee then told him that although he appreciated his difficulties, letters and telegrams were not substitutes for food for hungry people and as they wanted food immediately, he was not in a position to convince the people about the difficulties of the D.C. and asked him to go downstairs and speak a few words to the processionists. The S.P. arrived at about this time and they all went downstairs and the D.C. repeated to the processionists what he had already said to the leaders who had discussed the matter with him in his chamber while the processionists clamoured for full-scale rationing. Then one of the processionists said that on the previous afternoon they had heard a rumour about the D.C. having trampled on the body of one of the hunger-strikers. When the D.C. was going to say something, he was interrupted by one of the processionists who said that they wanted to hear the hunger-striker himself and then one of the hunger-strikers said that he had been trampled upon by the D.C. on the preceding afternoon when the D.C. was leaving the office. The D.C. said that that was not correct and what actually happened was that he was in a hurry to leave the office on account of some urgent business and he skipped over the body of one of the hunger-strikers. According to Shri Chunilal Mukherji and L. M. Baksi, the S.P. at this time indignantly remarked that the D.C. was not there to answer charges before the crowd. According to Shri Chunilal Mukherjee, by extending his arms in front of the D.C. the S.O. practically forced the D.C. upstairs. It is admitted that the D.C. was heckled by the processionists over the trampling incident. D. Lahiri, D.S.P., speaks of having heard from the S.P. on the 19th evening that a rumour was being spread that the D.C. had trampled on one of the hunger-strikers and when one of the processionists on the 20th mentioned this, this was taken up by the crowd and they wanted to hear the hunger-striker concerned himself. According to L. M. Baksi and H. N. Ray, Shri Chunilal Mukherjee also repeated this, but Shri Chunilal Mukherjee himself denies this. Even if Shri Chunilal Mukherjee be taken at his word on this point, the fact remains that such an accusation was being levelled at the D.C. in his presence, by one of the hunger-strikers who had deliberately placed himself across the D.C.'s path and thus wrongfully obstructed his movements. Even if the D.C.'s feet unconsciously touched this man's body he had no right whatever to complain because he had only himself to thank for it. Yet when the accusation was made, Shri Chunilal Mukherjee did not raise his voice in protest. What is still worse is that even when on hearing the D.C.'s vehement denial he came to believe the charge to be unfounded he had not the courage to snub this hunger-striker into a realisation of his own mistake. Shri Chunilal Mukherjee, when questioned about this had the frankness to admit that he should have done so. This incident seems to me to make three things crystal clear. The first is that false rumours were being taken advantage of for insulting the D.C. The second is that the leaders including Shri Chunilal Mukherjee had really no control over the unruly elements which, whatever their proportion, dominated the whole show. The third is that the leaders of the procession did not learn what the day's incidents should have taught them, namely that a mob unlike any of its individual members, does not discriminate between right and wrong and propriety and impropriety and mostly behaves in a manner which any of its members, left to himself will probably be ashamed of. To me the incidents seem to carry another lesson and it is this that when a leader who feels that what is being done in his presence is wrong, does not raise his voice against it, he naturally produces on his following the impression that what they did was right, or in other words, that when he was not against it, he was for it.

56. About the allegation that the S.P. indignantly remarked that the D.C. was not there to answer charges and practically forced him upstairs, the evidence of L. M. Baksi and Shri Chunilal Mukherji differs from that of Niranjan Sen Gupta and H. N. Ray himself. L. M. Baksi in his examination-in-chief (p. 40) merely says that the S. P. expressed resentment over this and took the D.C. upstairs. In his cross-examination (p. 70) he says that when the D.C. said he had not trampled upon any one and the S.P. said he was not there to answer charges, both of them walked upstairs and while going upstairs the S.P. made the first move. Shri Chunilal Mukherjee however, by dramatic gestures very vividly showed how the S.P. intervened and took the D.C. upstairs (p. 676). Niranjan Sen Gupta, however, who also was there does not mention this at all. In his examination-in-chief (p. 122) he says that after the D.C. protested vehemently against the allegations, the D.C., he himself, the S.P. and the A.D.C. went back to the foot of the staircase while the crowd was shouting slogans. In his cross-examination (p. 129) he says that he does not remember to have heard the S.P. saying on the 20th of April 1951, when the D.C. was accused by one of the hunger-strikers of having trampled upon them and when the D.C. denied the charge vehemently, that the D.C. was not there to answer charges and that he does not remember to have seen the S.P. taking the D.C. upstairs. The incident itself is of a trivial nature and does not really affect the case of any of the parties before me either for the better or for the worse. It seems to me quite unlikely that such a story should have been fabricated deliberately by L. M. Baksi or Shri Chunilal Mukherjee. As a matter of fact, L. M. Baksi's version does not go as far as Shri Chunilal Mukherji's and it is just possible that while Niranjan Sen Gupta actually missed the words of the S.P., Shri Chunilal Mukherji construed the movement of the S.P., a big man compared to H. N. Ray, as an attempt to force him upstairs against his will. It seems to me to be more than probable that when the S.P. saw the D.C. being heckled in that manner, in a fit of perfectly intelligible natural indignation he remarked that the D.C. was not there to answer charges, though he should have had the good sense to know first that the D.C. was quite capable of looking after himself in such a situation, and secondly that by giving expression to his feelings in the presence of a crowd, he was really making the D.C. look very small. This incident was followed by two more men joining the hunger-strike started on the 19th by five.

(b) Conference in D.C.s chamber in the afternoon on 20th.

57. Later on the 20th from about 3 p.m. there was a conference in the D.C.'s chamber attended by the Chairman of the Municipality, the President, Subdivisional Congress Committee, Shri Chunilal Mukherjee, Shri Naresh Chandra Bose and some of the officials including the S.D.O., A.R.C.P., and the S.P. The discussions at this conference also proved abortive, for while the non-officials demanded the introduction of modified rationing for B. class, the D.C. expressed his inability to extend modified ration to B. Class in the absence of an assurance of supplies from outside.

(c) A brief recapitulation of the situation on the 18th, 19th and 20th and the issue of an order under section 144, Cr. P. C. and another order under the Security Act.

58. Thus the price of rice at Cooch Behar rose very high during the third week of April and there were demonstrations on the 19th and 20th by processions moving up to the D. C.'s office. With effect from the 19th, a batch of five men began a hunger-strike at the foot of the staircase on the southern ground floor verandah. A hartal was observed in the town on the 19th and 20th. The five hunger-strikers were joined by two more with effect from the 20th after the procession of the 20th April had dispersed. There was a certain amount of unruly conduct on the part of some of the processionists on the 20th when the D.C. was roughly handled and later on on the 20th the D. C. was heckled over an allegation that he had trampled down one of the hunger-strikers, this rumour according to the evidence of D. Lahiri, D.S.P., having been started sometime in the evening of the 19th of April 1951. The discussions which the D. C. had with the local leaders on the 19th and the 20th were abortive. An order under section 144, Cr. P. C., exhibit 45(S) which the D. C. contemplated after the behaviour of the processionists that day was actually passed after the afternoon conference on the 20th. The area to which it was made applicable is bounded by the streets to the north, south, east and west of Sagardighi, and included the area bounded on the north by Debi Bari Road, on the south by Preonath Babu Road and on the east by Sagardighi. It was to have effect for a fortnight from the 20th of April 1951. Along with this order was also issued another order under section 23 of the West Bengal Security Act prohibiting the use of loud-speakers in public places or public thoroughfares [Ex. 46(S)]. These orders, however, were not given publicity in the town till the next morning.

(d) Did the situation in the town really call for an order under section 144, Cr. P. C.

59. The first question that obtrudes itself here is whether the situation in the town on the 20th really called for an order under section 144, Cr. P. C., prohibiting processions in the office area. That some of the processionists behaved in a most unseemly manner and that there were glaring instances of indiscipline which the leaders did little or nothing to discourage, I feel thoroughly convinced. At p. 1207 H. N. Ray says that one of the processionists on the 20th said that if he could not give then rice, they would take it and that this he took to be an indirect threat of their looting the Government and private godowns. At p. 1209, he says he was apprehensive about the safety of Government property, for a crowd, as excitable as he found it on the 20th might very easily be incited to violence and sometimes they would be violent even without incitement. That there could be no reasonable apprehension of such disorders from the incident of the 20th, it is difficult to say. One may also readily concede that the situation at Cooch Behar was being fully exploited by certain elements with certain ulterior objects, political or otherwise. At the same time, one must not lose sight of the cardinal fact that the real driving force behind these symptoms of unrest was the extremely high price of food which must have been beyond the reach of most of the people of Cooch Behar. It has been argued there were no starvation deaths and tobacco and jute must have placed in the hands of certain sections of the people of the district enough money to enable them to purchase rice even at such a high price. These arguments, not infrequently heard in quarters likely to know better, appear to me to ignore certain elementary things. The first is that what are called starvation deaths are in reality deaths from diseases, brought on and helped by systematic mal-nutrition and lack of nutrition for some time, so that it is not very difficult to pass these deaths off as deaths from diseases, just as it is far from difficult to describe deaths from natural causes as starvation deaths. The second is that those who make money from tobacco and jute and those into whose pockets a part of this money finds its way in normal channels form a very small part of the whole population and the suffering of the rest who constitute by far the majority from the soaring price of rice must have been very acute indeed. It is thus clear that whatever ulterior motives, political or otherwise, might have been at work behind the actual demonstrations, the demonstrations on such a scale became possible only because there was so much real suffering. The marketing operations with 200 maunds per day did not bring down the prices and could not possibly have given the relief needed. The D. C. himself was trying his very best to ensure external supplies so as to be able to introduce modified rationing for B Class and he must have felt that till that was intorduced, the suffering of the people would continue. When, therefore, he decided on the promulgation of an order under section 144, Cr. P.C., banning processions in the office area, he decided on getting rid of the symptoms without being able to cure the disease. He also failed to appreciate the psychology of a people who were just having a taste of independence and who had just passed from a more or less autocratic rule under which for a variety of reasons, easier conditions of life prevailed. It was this more than anything else that prevented him from foreseeing, as every capable administrator with any experience of our people, a clear analytic mind and an unclouded vision would have done, that what really followed the promulgation of the order was bound to follow it. If on the other hand, he had not passed the order, demonstrations accompanied by a certain amount of rowdyism would have gone on for sometime, and office work might have suffered to some extent. If, as he apprehended, there was any attempted looting of Government or private godowns, force could always have been used. The processionists on the 19th and 20th were all unarmed and the type of violence that was actually seen was as yet far removed from the type of violence used in looting and there was in my opinion, no immediate likelihood of any such violence. H. N. Ray says that even on the 20th he asked the S. P. to come to his office with an armed force. Although, as I have already said, the conduct of the processionists was unruly that day and although the D. C. was improperly heckled, those things in themselves should not have alarmed the D. C. to such an extent as to make him think of even the possibility of the use of the armed police. After all, our officers have got to realise today the enormous difference between the present relation of the administrator with the people and those that existed before the attainment of independence. The ultimate sanction behind Government then was force and force alone and if at times, public opinion used to be consulted it was done out of consideration of expediency so as to minimise the necessity of the use of force. Today, however, the ultimate sanction behind the Government is public opinion and that opinion has got to be shaped according to the needs of the hour as much by those who claim to be leaders as by those who are in-charge of the administration. It is, therefore, to my mind, a very serious mistake to think in terms of force whenever there is an exhibition of indiscipline on the part of a crowd. If and when such indiscipline or unruly conduct goes beyond limits and threatens the maintenance of public order and tranquillity force can always be used as a last resort and a last resort only. I am afraid the district authorities in Cooch Behar did not take all these aspects of the matter into consideration when they passed the order under section 144, Cr. P. C. It is my considered opinion that the circumstances as yet were not such as made it imperative to issue an order under section 144, Cr. P.C., and that the promulgation of this order was a mistake.

(o) Did L. M. Baksi suggest the promulgation of the order under section 144, Cr. P. C.

60 Another matter which calls for an examination in view of the general insinuation against the old State employees of Cooch Behar, particularly L. M. Baksi, by Messrs. Sen, Mukherjee and Ghatak is whether it was really L. M. Baksi who suggested the promulgation of this order. H. N. Ray as the D. C. has very rightly taken the full responsibility on himself. L. M. Baksi denies having been consulted by him as to the propriety of the order and says that when he was asked to draft the order, he said merely that it should be confined to the Sagardighi area, though the S. P. suggested its application to the whole town. H. N. Ray's evidence is that he thought of the order under section 144, Cr. P. C., after the procession had left on the 20th and asked the A. D. C., the S. P. and the Senior Deputy Collector what should be done in that situation and one of them, he does not make it clear who, suggested an order under section 144, Cr. P. C. (p. 1275). At p. 1277, he says that actually he does not think the S. P. wanted an order under section 144, Cr. P.C., though his view was that if it were issued at all, it should be extended to the whole town, for that would make its enforcement easier. N. Sen Gupta, the senior Deputy Collector does not say that he was present when the D. C. asked for suggestions. He was the A. D. C. in his room with D. Lahiri, D. S. P., when the A. D. C. told him the D. C. had asked him to draft an order under section 144, Cr. P. C P. C. Nath, D. S. P., at p. 142 however, says that on going to the D. C.'s chamber after the processionists had left, he found the D. C., the A. D. C. and the S. P. and after some discussion, it was the A. D. C. who, as far as he could remember, said that something should be done to stop the golmal that was going on, for no work could be done in the office and then either the D. C. or the A. D. C. suggested an order under section 144, Cr. P. C., to be issued. P. C. Nath is definite that the S. P. was not the first to suggest it. H. N. Ray however, says that he was calling for suggestions from others but did not himself suggest it, though he had it under contemplation. Thus the D. C. excludes himself and according to his evidence read with that of P. C. Nath it was the A. D. C. who first suggested it. But the A.D.C., as I have already said, says he was not consulted about the propriety of the order and it was not suggested to him on behalf of H. N. Ray or J. Mukherjee that the issue of such an order was his own idea. In this state of the evidence, I think I shall be amply justified in placing on the A. D. C.'s straight forward denial much greater reliance than on the somewhat hesitating affirmation of the D. C. and P. C. Nath and in holding that whoever else might have been responsible for first suggesting the promulgation of such an order, it was not the A. D. C. The A. D. C. of course, admits he did not advise H. N. Ray against this step, as H. N. Ray was already aware of his views on the matter. This, together with the fact that on the 21st when the A. D. C. thought a clash between the police and the procession imminent, he preferred watching the situation from an office window along with the D. C. to actually being on the spot so as to be able to avert the apprehended clash, suggests, as I have already said that the relations between the D. C. and the A. D. C. were not what they should have been and it is more than probable that those were typical of the relations between the two sets of public servants in Cooch Behar. The old State employees, whatever their emoluments, enjoyed in the Durbar days a monopoly of administrative power and some of these officers, namely L. M. Baksi and N. Sen Gupta, held very high posts. With the merger, they found themselves for no fault of theirs suddenly reduced to a position of inferiority, though their emoluments might have increased to some extent. The new comers to the district were in some cases placed in a position of superiority to them. The first, therefore, are very likely to have been labouring under a sense of unmerited lack of consideration. In the written statement of the Cooch Behar People's Association, the posting of H. N. Ray as D. C. in disregard of the claims of L. M. Baksi who had experiences of most of the branches of the administration in Cooch Behar has been commented on and there was a resolution in a public meeting held on the 7th January 1951, about the old employees not having been absorbed according to the assurances held out to them and about their having been deprived of a higher scale of pay as enjoyed by the other employees of the State of West Bengal. All that these tend to show is that these old State employees of Cooch Behar were in closer touch with the local public than the new comers could be as yet. They do not by any means suggest that these employees were directly or indirectly behind the demonstrations, though their sympathies might quite naturally have been with them in their suffering. Now in the situation created by the merger, it was up to the new comers who were in a position of vantage as compared to the old State employees, to handle them in such a way that instead of their natural sensitiveness being wounded, they could feel they were as much a part and parcel of the administration as the new comers themselves. It may be that somehow or other this human touch was not there in the new comers' dealings with them and that that really was responsible for the sense of estrangement between the two sets of public servants. To my mind, this was extremely unfortunate and it must have reacted most unfavourably on the local people. The old State employees, particularly those amongst them whose experience of the local administration like L. M. Baksi's was long and varied and who must have been personally familiar with most, if not all, of the local leaders, provided for the new set of administrators of Cooch Behar, ready-made bridges between themselves and the local people, if only they knew how to use them in order to reach the heart of the people. The unfortunate sense of estrangement between the two sections of public servants made any such use of the old State employees impossible. To be able to adjust one's treatment of the human material at one's disposal, one must first of all size up this material correctly, and try to appreciate the main lines of its inner working. H. N. Ray sent the S. D. O., D. C. Sen, alone amongst the Magistrates to be on the spot when the procession arrived on the 21st. He left the S. P. to tackle the situation near Sagardighi, at least to start with. L. M. Baksi who gave me the impression of being a much more level-headed officer than either of these two would probably have appeared to any one else but H. N. Ray an obvious choice and yet he was not called upon to go to Sagardighi when the procession arrived and without distinct orders from the D. C., the A. D. C. could hardly be expected to take upon himself the responsibility of going there and dealing with the situation in his own way. It seems to me nothing less than tragic as much for H. N. Ray who tried his level best to secure external supplies for Cooch Behar as for the people of Cooch Behar that H. N. Ray not merely failed to carry a substantial section of the people with him, including some of his own subordinates, but that they instead of trying to strengthen each others' hands should have gone on working at cross-purposes. As far as I can judge on the materials before me, H. N. Ray's handling of files really does him credit but his handling of men leaves much to be desired and it is here, more than anywhere else, that one must look for the ultimate causes of his failure in Cooch Behar in spite of his transparent good intentions.

(f) The carelessness of Lahiri, D. S. P., in not asking for the Gas Squad being sent in a motor vehicle.

61. There is only one other thing which I should like to add and it is this, that although when the order under section 144, Cr. P. C. was decided on a radiogram was sent from the S. P.'s office to the D. I. G., Jaipaiguri, for sending a Gas Squad it was not clerely stated that the Gas Squad should be sent in a motor vehicle positively so as to reach Cooch Behar by the morning of the 21st at the latest. D. Lahiri, D. S. P., who speaks of this, says he thought that when at least five or six men would be sent they were bound to be sent in a motor vehicle, but actually they were not sent in a motor vehicle and the Gas Squad did not arrive at Cooch Behar till the 22nd April. During the enquiry an attempt was made to show that in view of the prevailing wind a Gas Squad might not have been really effective. If that was so, why was an attempt made to get hold of a Gas Squad ? Whether a Gas Squad would have been effective or not, it was one of the precautions which the authorities wanted to take and it was the clear duty of D. Lahiri, D. S. P., who sent the radiogram to say in the message that the Squad should be sent in a motor vehicle so as to reach Cooch Behar by the morning of the 21st April at the latest, and that he did not do so, amounts in my opinion, to an inexcusable piece of carelessness.

VI—The circumstances under which the police firing took place on the 21st of April and to what extent was this firing justified.

62. The 21st of April 1951, opened for the town of Cooch Behar with the promulgation of an order under section 144, Cr. P. C. and an order under section 23 of the West Bengal Security Act. On the south-eastern side of Sagardighi with which we are concerned in this enquiry, the order under section 144, Cr. P. C., was limited to the area included within the streets to the south and the east of Sagardighi, i.e., on this side the prohibited area began from the junction between the two roads--one passing by the southern bank of Sagardighi, that is a continuation of Maharaja Jitendra Narayan Road westwards and the road passing by the eastern side of Sagardighi. It is an admitted fact that Shri Sibnath Banerji, a well-known socialist leader arrived that morning from Alipur Duars by train to Cooch Behar and that he met under the Belfry Tower at about 9 a.m. a number of men, estimated according to the police evidence at about 200 and according to the other witnesses at about 50 or 60. Amongst these, there were about half a dozen men with red caps, who had accompanied Shri Sibnath Banerji to Cooch Behar, red caps being the unofficial badge of the Socialist party. The three main features of the Cooch Behar situation which Shri Sibnath Banerji collected in course of his conversations with the local people were that the price of rice was very high, that there were an order under section 144, Cr. P. C. and another order prohibiting the use of loud speakers and finally that there were seven men on hunger-strike in the D. C.'s office. Then Shri Sibnath Banerji addressed the men for about 5 minutes. He does not tell us what actually he said during these five minutes but the evidence of D. Lahiri, D. S. P. (p. 182) is that Shri Banerji was telling those men amongst other things that they should reach their goal by force, if necessary, and without being afraid of lathis and the guns of the police who had no orders to fire and what Lahiri understood by the "goal" used by Shri Banerji was something like full-scale rationing. This address of Shri Banerji was followed by some discussions amongst the leaders which the D. S. P. did not hear.

(i) Discussions between Shri Sibnath Banerji and others under the Belfry Tower—the order under section 144, Cr. P. C. described as improper and provocative by Shri Sibnath Banerji.

Shri Sibnath Banerji was questioned whether he said here that the order under section 144, Cr. P. C., was not a reasonable one. He says that he might have said so but he does not remember and he feels that he would have been justified in saying so. He further says he does not remember anybody suggesting that the police cordon should be broken through but at the same time he admits that he suggested that the order under section 144, Cr. P. C., should not be defied and that two of the men should come with him to the Chief Minister, but again he says that he has no recollection whether he actually advised anyone not to defy the order under section 144, Cr. P. C., and not to make any attempt to proceed towards the D. C.'s office.

Shri Chunilal Mukherji denies at page 710 that it was decided amongst himself, Sibnath Babu and others that the order under section 144, Cr. P. C., should be violated.

As against this there is the evidence of D. Lahiri, D. S. P., who made almost the same statement to Mr. Talukdar during the Executive Enquiry. Even so, having regard to the fact that in the first place his evidence on the point is not corroborated by anyone else and in the second that he is not totally disinterested, I do not think I shall be justified in accepting his evidence on the point in preference to what Sibnath Banerji and Shri Chunilal Mukherji have said. It appears, however, from Shri Sibnath Banerji's own evidence at page 888 and page 923 that he told the men he met under the Belfry Tower that the order under section 144, Cr. P C., was not merely improper but it was also provocative. Then at page 928, where Shri Sibnath Banerji speaks of the meeting in the D. C.'s chamber after firing that day, he said to the D. C. that they had provoked the incident. This also seems to suggest that Shri Sibnath Banerji did really consider the order under section 144, Cr. P. C., provocative. Mr. Ghatak, on behalf of Mr. J. Mukherji, argues that what Shri Sibnath Banerji meant to say here was really this that if the people tried to violate the order under section 144, Cr. P. C. that attitude on the part of the processionists was actually provoked by the promulgation of the order under section 144, Cr. P. C., itself. Mr. Ghatak is probably right in reading this meaning into Shri Sibnath Banerji's version of the discussions under the Belfry Tower, for if it was provocative, it must have provoked the people to do something. That something could not possibly be the mere organisation of a procession to go up to the D. C.'s office, for a procession did go there on the 19th when there was no such order and even on the 19th, the processionists threatened to take out processions daily till their demands were met.

(ii) The strength of the police force armed and unarmed on the spot and the officers present.

63. The next admitted fact is that a procession of about 200 or 250 started from Chawk Bazar at about a quarter to 10 a.m. in the morning and reached Sagardighi area at about 11 a.m. gathering strength on the way, so that when it reached the Sagardighi area, it was about 2,000 strong, page 183 of Lahiri's evidence. Police pickets had been posted already at the four corners of Sagardighi and with the arrival of the procession, according to previous instructions, all the pickets were concentrated on the south-eastern corner. The police force consisted now of 22 constables armed only with lathis and of 17 constables, 3 head constables and one Naik, each armed with a rifle and S. I., A. B. Gurung, armed with a revolver. There were also two D. S. P's, viz., P. C. Nath and D. Lahiri, 3 A. S. I's., 3 Sub-Inspectors and one Inspector. P. C. Nath and the S. P. himself, each carried a cane stick and the rest of the police officers were absolutely unarmed. The S. D. O. also arrived at the south-eastern corner of Sagardighi almost with the arrival of the procession there.

64. According to H. N. Ray, he had asked the S. D. O. over the phone to be on the spot when the procession arrived. According to D. C. Sen, however, he went there on his own and the D. C. gave him no instructions to be there. It does not make much difference whether D. C. Sen went there of his own accord or under instructions from the D. C. He was there as a magistrate all the same with all his powers and duties unfettered by any instructions from the D. C.

65. According to D. C. Sen, and the police witnesses, the unarmed policemen stood along the road passing by the eastern bank of Sagardighi facing eastward in a line extending northward from the south-east corner of Sagardighi up to the southern end of the major portion of the road. The armed force stood facing the east on the municipal ground in a line from north to south, the northern end of the line being a few yards to the south of the northern boundary of the municipal ground. According to D. C. Sen, the S. P. suggested to him that if the procession tried to break through the police cordon, it should be declared an unlawful assembly. D. C. Sen further says here that at the same time he told the S. P. not to use armed force, but in view of the facts that D. C. Sen did not state this to Mr. Talukdar on the first day and that he said so only on the second when Mr. Talukdar appears to have subjected him to a searching examination, and that D. C. Sen left the place at a critical moment when it was his bounden duty to be on the spot and to take charge of the whole situation, it is difficult to believe this statement of D. C. Sen.

(iii) Points of agreement and disagreement between the three different versions.

66. According to the police officers and the S. D. O., the head of the procession reached within 5 or 6 yards to the east of the line of unarmed policemen and then it came to a halt and after it came to a halt, a number of boys from amongst the processionists came up in front and sat down 3 or 4 yards to the east of the line of unarmed policemen, that is about half the way between the head of the procession and the line of the unarmed policemen. Admittedly the head of the procession and this line of boys were at this time outside the eastern limit of the prohibited area. The version of the local people, however, as embodied in paragraphs 33 and 34 of the statement of the Council of Action is that the processionists were asked by Shri Chunilal Mukherji to stop at the junction of Victor N. N. Road and Maharaja J. N. Road and the line of unarmed policemen was standing across Jitendra Narayan Road about 15 cubits outside the prohibited area, and the armed police were about 15 cubits behind the prohibited line to the west. Thus the first point of divergence between the two versions is about the exact position of the head of the procession when it came to a halt and the exact position of the lines of unarmed policemen at that time.

67. According to both the versions, there were consultations for about half-an-hour amongst 40 or 50 of the processionists including Shri Sibnath Banerji, Shri Naresh Chandra Bose and Shri Chunilal Mukherji, under a tree at the southern fringe of the compound of the office of the School Inspector. Suddenly, there were shouts amongst the processionists "Bando Mataram", "Amrao Jabo", Sabai Jabo" (We will go, we will all go), "Amra Hukum Manba Na" (We shall not obey orders), and with these shouts the whole of the procession surged forward in one solid mass and bore down upon the police cordon. The S. D. O. now declared the assembly to be unlawful and called upon the processionists to disperse and said that if they did not disperse, there would be a lathi charge ; the police officers also repeated this to the processionists. This produced no effect. It is further the evidence of police witnesses that some of the processionists tried to snatch away the lathis from the hands of some of the unarmed constables and Haripada Mukherji (alias Haru Mukherji) who was carrying a megaphone broke through the cordon of unarmed policemen and tried to hit D. Lahiri, D. S. P. with it, when Lahiri caught hold of the megaphone, arrested him and made him over to S.-I. Anil Das Gupta, for custody. Anil Das Gupta, however, does not say anything about Haru Mukherji being handed over to him but he speaks of having arrested Jadab Acharji who broke through the police line along with certain other processionists. According to the version of the S. D. O. and the police witnesses, when the processionists did not disperse and when some of the processionists had already broken through the police cordon and some others were trying to do so, the S. D. O. asked the S. P. to do what he could and the S. P. ordered a lathi charge and there was a lathi charge. The version of the local people, however, is that a line of boys was standing arm in arm in front of the processionists facing eastward so as to put up a sort of barrier between the main body of the processionists and the line of the unarmed policemen who were standing near the line of patchwork repairs across Maharaja Jitendra Narayan Road. Suddenly the purring sound of an approaching car was heard and a cry was raised that the D. C. was coming and some of these squatters in front stood up to see if that was so and two of them moved a few steps forward to see if the D. C.'s car was in sight, when curiously enough, the police came forward, caught hold of some of them, took them behind their own line and assaulted them and then followed a merciless lathi charge. The second and third points of divergence between the two versions then are first, whether a number of boys standing arm in arm between the first line of the processionists and the unarmed policemen formed a cordon and secondly, whether before the lathi charge was ordered, the processionists actually surged forward with the shouts that they would all go without obeying orders or whether they just got up on hearing the sound of an approaching car and then some of them were caught hold of by the police, dragged behind the police line and beaten.

68. The unarmed policemen making the lathi charge pursued the processionists, as they dispersed, up to the eastern end of the compound of the School Inspector's office when some of the processionists began to hurl brickbats on them from the two brick stacks near about the telephone post marked on the map, Exhibit 47/2(S), at a place where 2 or 3 new buildings were to be constructed This throwing of brickbats started in a small way at the beginning but gradually grew in intensity so as to injure some of the unarmed policemen, D. S. P. Debabrata Lahiri and others, and made them fall back Debabrata Lahiri having received a brickbat on the left arm and another near the left elbow joint. As the crowd was still surging forward and the volley of brickbats was still going on furiously, the S. P. ordered the armed party to advance to the brick stacks and take possession of them. The armed policemen drove the crowd up to a distance of about 25 yards to the east of the prohibited area but they could not actually reach the brick stacks on account of the intensive shower of brickbats They withdrew in south-westernly direction under the orders of the S. P. and as they were withdrawing, the S. P. was warning the mob against throwing brickbats saying that fire would be opened if they did not stop throwing brickbats. At the same time, the S. P. was calling loudly for the D. C. The S. D. O., when he saw that the lathi charge had proved a failure and the S. P. was shouting for the D C., throught it necessary to inform the D. C. of the situation and to take his instructions about the course of action to be followed and proceeded personally to the D. C.'s office. The D. C. and the A. D. C. were watching the situation from a window upstairs in the D. C.'s office. The D. C. received the S. P.'s message through someone else that his presence was necessary. Just at that moment, the A. D. C. was not in the D. C.'s chamber but when he found the D. C. going downstairs, he joined him although the D. C. asked him to stay behind. They found a jeep of the procurement department at the northern gate of the D. C.'s office compound and both got into it picking up on the way the S. D. O. who was going to the D. C. They got down from the jeep at the crossing of Maharaja Harendra Narayan Road and the road facing the southern bank of Sagardighi and proceeded eastward on foot. The reason why the jeep had to be left here is, according to L. M. Bakshi, that brickbats were still being showered intensely and according to H. N. Ray, that there was already a crowd on the road and quite a lot of brickbats were being thrown. H. N. Ray proceeded further dodging the brickbats and contacted the S. P. near the letter box. The armed constables were also at this time near the letter box drawn up more or less in a north-south line. As stated by D. Lahiri, D. S. P. (p. 192), the S. P. had been hit by a brickbat on the abdomen and when H. N. Ray contacted him, he was in distress. Just at that moment, one of the women processionists caught hold of H. N. Ray by the hand and protested against the lathi charge According to H. N. Ray, there was a forward surge by some people along the road and he was pushed back a few steps. The shower of brickbats at this time, according to him, was really very severe. One of these brickbats struck D. Lahiri, D. S. P., on the face and broke a part of one of his teeth. According to D. Lahiri the crowd surged further westward, entered the banned area in large numbers and carried the unarmed policemen with them towards the police office and he received some more brickbats. The armed policemen had by then receded up to the path leading to the municipal office building, one end of the line of armed policemen being near this path and the other end to the south-east of it. The S. P. asked the police party to form double lines as they were receding and here they formed into irregular double lines with 14 men in the first and 7 in the second, the officer-in-charge, A. B. Gurung, standing behind the second line. One of the armed constables, Harendra Nath Roy (S. W. 22), who was standing behind the armed Naik Abinash Dhar who again was standing on the left flank in the first row, says that a glass bulb struck his rifle and broke and some liquid fell on his arms and legs. In his cross-examination in answer to Mr. Ghatak, he says that the liquid fell upon his neck, left forearm, right knee and right thigh and he showed certain black spots on his throat and left forearm. Abinash Dhar who was standing in front of Harendra Chandra Roy also says that a watery substance fell upon him and also upon parts of his khaki shirts and khaki hose-top. Another armed constable Nanigopal Mukherji who could not be examined before me, is also stated to have received acid burns in course of this occurrence.

69. According to D. Lahiri, D. S. P., at this stage the throwing of brickbats commenced also from the men who had squatted on Harendra Narayan Road and most members of the armed party were injured by brickbats and there was an apprehension in the mind of the police party that the entire force would be over-powered and killed, their rifles snatched away and used against them and that properties would be looted. The S. P. again asked the crowd that firing would be resorted to if they did not stop their attack but the brickbats still went on being showered. He gave two warnings to the rioters at intervals of about 3 or 4 minutes and he gave the processionists a couple of minutes' time, saying that he was giving them two minutes' time to disperse. At the end of these two minutes, he asked Naik Abinash Dhar, who was on the left flank, to fire one round at a man who was throwing brickbats and whom the S. P. pointed out with his cane stick. But as that man had meanwhile pushed farther forward than any one else among those who took part in hurling brickbats, the Naik's bullet missed him and did not hit anyone else eigher. Far from this having any effect on the throwing of brickbats, it was really intensified and the crowd advanced further. Then the S. P. ordered this men in front row to fire one round each at the men engaged in hurling brickbats and he pointed out these men with his cane stick. According to D. Lahiri, D. S. P., this also proved ineffective as nobody was hit and the rioters grew still more furious and some of them cried out that the police were using blank fire and asked the crowd to snatch their rifles. The shower of brickbats also intensified according to him after this. Then the S. P. ordered two rounds of rapid fire by the men in the front row. Several persons were injured as a result of this rapid fire. D. Lahiri speaks of having seen a women falling down a little to the west of the letter box. He saw another falling on the grassy slope of Sagardighi opposite to the letter box and a third one on the northen edge of the westward extension of Maharaja Jitendra Narayan Road and also opposite the letter box. At this stage the S. P. ordered cease-fire and blew his whistle. Then under the orders of the S. P., S.-I. A. B. Gurung picked up 20 fired cartridge cases and checked up the ammunition used in the course of the firing and while this was being done one round went off accidentally in the air. It is the evidence of S.-I. A. B Gurung that the two round of rapid fire were not completed when the S. P. ordered cease-fire and that in all 35 rounds were fired including one which went off accidentally during the checking up of the ammunition. In other words, according to the police, out of the 34 rounds, the first 15 rounds, the one by Abinash Dhar and the other 14 rounds one by each of the 14 men in the front row, proved ineffective and that whatever injuries were caused were caused by the rapid fire of 19 rounds.

70. The version of the local people, as stated in paragraph 38 of the written statement of the Council of Action, is that the S. P. followed the police force towards the east during the second lathi charge right up to Victor N. N. Road and as the police retraced their steps the S. P. was seen approaching three or four of the female processionists who happened to be standing near the lamp post at the crossing of Maharaja J. N. Road and Victor N. N. Road. Shri Naresh Chandra Bose went up to the place under the apprehension that the girls might be roughly handled and stood behind the S. P. who immediately turned round, caught hold of him and marched him off westward and made him over to two constables who assaulted Shri Naresh Chandra Bose and dragged him inside the prohibited area. Kabita Bose and two or three other girls followed the Superintendent of Police up to the prohibited line. When the S. P. was about to return after handing over Shri Naresh Chandra Bose to two constables Kabita Bose remonstrated with him that it was a disgrace that inhuman lathi charges should be made on innocent hungry people and that while he could arrest them he had no right to assault them. During these remonstrations by her, the S. P. was seen waving his hands in the direction of the hunger marchers standing at some distance to the east and this gesture was interpreted by them as an invitation to proceed westward to meet the D. C. Some of the female processionists who were near about the School Inspector's office stood near the Canna grove at the south-eastern corner of Sagardighi. When Kabita Bose was remonstrating with the S. P., the S. P. receded a few steps westwards and Kabita Bose also followed within a cubit of him so that she was within the prohibited area and near the letter box. Suddenly the S. P. caught hold of her and he was seen pointing his revolver towards her and remonstrances followed. The S. P. then shot her with his revolver and Kabita Bose fell down as a result. It was after this that regular firing by the armed police was ordered. It is further the evidence on the side of the Council of Action and the Congress that there was almost a complete stoppage of brickbatting before fire was opened, though there is no mention of this in the written statement of the Council of Action which, of course nowhere made it clear that there was any throwing of brickbats from the side of the processionists, all that was stated there being that "some brickbats were seen flying".

(a) Points of disaggreement between the different versions summarised.

71. Thus the main points of difference between the police version and the version of the local people are, first, where exactly the unarmed policemen stood at the moment the procession arrived and where the head of the procession halted; secondly, whether a number of boys stood arm in arm between the first line of the processionists and the unarmed policemen; thirdly, whether the first lathi charge was ordered when a number of processionists surged forward into the prohibited area with the cries that they all wanted to go and some of the men actually broke into the police cordon; fourthly, whether Kabita Bose was shot by the S. P. himself with a revolver; and fifthly, whether the S. P. ordered firing immediately after he had shot Kabita Bose down or when the volley of brickbats from amongst the processionists was very intense and one or more acid bulbs were thrown on the armed constables by some of the processionists and when the processionists were still pressing forward into the prohibited area so as to cause in the mind of the police an apprehension that unless they fired they would be overpowered.

(iv) The object of the procession taken out on the 21st April.

72. Before I proceed to a discussion of the evidence on these disputed points, it is first necessary to ascertain the real objective of the procession on the 21st of April 1951, for once the objective of the procession is fairly clearly ascertained it will be easier to choose between the two conflicting sets of witnesses from the point of view of probabilities, judged with reference to this ascertained objective of the procession. Was the procession intended merely as a demonstration against the inability of the authorities to solve the food crisis in the town or was there any ulterior motive behind it? It has here to be remembered first that the processions of the 19th and the 20th both went up to the office of the D. C. and with effect from the 19th a hunger strike began at the foot of the staircase on the southern ground floor verandah of the D. C.'s office; and secondly that on the 20th the first demand of the processionists was to see the hunger-strikers and it was only when they were asked to see them in batches of 25, that they said they wanted to see the D. C. Thirdly, it has to be remembered that during the Durbar days, as stated by Shri Chunilal Mukherji (p. 669), whenever people were in difficulties or had any serious grievances, they used to approach the Maharaja for succour. When therefore an order under section 144, Cr. P. C., was passed prohibiting them from entering the office of the D. C. it is reasonable to hold that most of the people of Cooch Behar must have felt that the direct personal approach to the seat of power at critical times which was open to them even during the Durbar days was now being denied to them though Cooch Behar was at the time a part of a democratic Republic. Would such a feeling provide an incentive to the people just to go up to the prohibited area without crossing the limits or would it be an incitement to them to violate the order under section 144, Cr. P. C., and try not merely to enter the banned area but proceed to the D.C.'s office for further demonstrations ? It has finally to be remembered that on the 21st at about 9 a.m. in the presence of about 50 or 60 men, a leader of the stature of Shri Sibnath Banerji described the order under section 144, Cr. P. C., as provocative.

73. Now, as regards the actual objective of the procession, there is the evidence of Jadab Acharji, Jagadish Choudhury, Latika Ghosh and Pratima Banerji. At page 825, the first says that even on the 20th April 1951, when they left the D.C.'s office compound, the processionists said that till their demands were met they would come again and again in procession and that the procession would start everyday from the local bazar and that when they left the D.C.'s office compound on the 20th of April last he took had made up his mind to join the procession to be taken out the day following, i.e., on the 21st of April. At that time of course, there was no order under section 144, Cr. P. C. At page 826 the witness makes it clear that before he joined the procession on the 21st he had heard of the promulgation of an order under section 144, Cr. P. C, in respect of the banks of Sagardighi, but he had no information that the procession would proceed towards the South-east corner of Sagardighi. At page 827 he says that the information at his disposal at the time was simply this that the processionists would see the D. C. but he had no information where they would see the D.C. At the same page in answer to questions from me he says that it had been decided on the 19th when the procession left the D.C.'s office compound that the procession to be taken out daily thereafter would come to the D.C.'s office and from that he knew that the processionists would come to the D.C.'s office. In the next sentence however he says that from the fact that an order under section 144, Cr. P. C., had been promulgated in respect of the banks of Sagardighi he was under the impression on the 21st that the procession that day would not come up the D. C. but would come up to the south-eastern corner of Sagardighi. He finally admits however that if any one says that the object of the procession on the 21st was actually to come up to the D.C.'s office compound he was not in a position either to deny or to admit it. Then Jagadish Choudhury at page 943 says that the procession that was taken out on the 21st April 1951 was to go to the D.C.'s chamber and that he too intended as one of the processionists to walk to the chamber of the D.C. A little later he makes the further statement that even after seeing the first lathi charge he did not abandon the intention of going to the D.C.'s office and that was why he did not leave the place altoghether. At page 863 Latika Ghosh says that all that she knew at the time when she joined the procession was that the procession would proceed up to the office of the D.C. Pratima Banerji at page 873 says that she knew that the procession would leave Chawk Bazar at 10 a.m. and had heard that the procession would go up to the D.C.'s office by the bank of Sagradighi, It is, therefore, abundantly clear from this evidence alone that the object of the procession was to proceed to the D.C.'s office. There is hardly anything unnatural or improbable in this regard being had to the attitude of the processions on the 19th and the 20th and to the likely reactions of the order under section 144, Cr. P.C. as contrasted with the privilege of a direct personal approach to the Maharaja open to them in his regime. The procession could not possibly have proceeded to the D.C.'s office without violating the order under section 144, Cr. P. C. The evidence, therefore, on the side of some of the witnesses for the Council of Action itself goes to justify the view taken by some of the local officials namely, D. C. Sen and H. N. Ray regarding the objective of the procession, namely, that the processionists wanted to violate the order under section 144, Cr. P. C. though of course, it is quite possible that all the members of the procession might not have been fully aware of either this or the risks it involved.

(v) The position of the line of unarmed policemen and that of the front line of the processionists, when the procession arrived.

74. The first disputed fact namely, the position of the unarmed policemen when the procession arrived near the south-eastern corner of Sagardighi and the position of the head of the procession when it halted, has now to be considered. L. M. Baksi at pp. 45-46 says that watching the procession through a window in the D.C.'s chamber he saw the procession proceeding west-wards towards Sagardighi and some of the processionists, about 400 or 500, squatted at the south-eastern corner of Sagardighi which was a part of the banned area and there were men behind the squatters forming almost a compact body along Maharaja Jitendra Narayan Road and partly also along Prince Victor N. N. Road. He also saw a police force of about 20 men armed only with lathis standing along the road passing by the eastern side of Sagardighi and this unarmed force was very near the squatters. According to P. C. Sen (p. 233) a number of unarmed policemen were standing in a line along the road crossing the eastern bank of Sagardighi and facing eastward and the procession stopped within 5 or 6 yards to the east of the line of the unarmed policemen. At page 244 he denies the suggestion of Mr. Gupta Bhaya that the unarmed policemen were standing on the white patch on the road a few paces to the east of the eastern boundary of the prohibited area. The evidence of the police witnesses also is to the effect that the line of unarmed policemen was standing just on the south-eastern edge of the prohibited area which is the road passing by the eastern bank of Sagardighi. The next group of witnesses to speak of the position of the unarmed policemen and the head of the procession consists of S. W.s 7—10 and 17, all of whom belong to the office of the School Inspector. Anadi Ballav Biswas (S. W. 7), a Sub-Inspector of Schools, says that when the head of the procession was about two feet to the east of the southern most mango tree in the compound of his office, the major part of the procession squatted on the road. The processionists were shouting slogans such as পূর্ণ রেশন দিতে হবে, আমাদের দাবী মানতে হবে । and he noticed at the time that the unarmed policemen were being arranged either a foot to the east or a foot to the west of the line of patchwork repairs as shown in the plan, exhibit 47/2(S), and the first line of squatters was about five yards to the east of the line of patchwork repairs on the road. S W. 8, another Sub-Inspector of Schools also place the line of unarmed policemen about half a cubit to the west of the line of patchwork repairs and the head of the procession, after it had come to a halt, about 15 or 16 cubits to the east of the patchwork repairs. The next witness (S. W. 9), Jogesh Chandra Dhar, the Physical Instructor of Schools, Cooch Behar, also speaks of the procession having halted a little to the east of the mango tree just on the fringe of the northern side of Jitendra Narayan Road and the southern fringe of the compound of the office of the District Inspector of Schools, and of the police men standing just near the line of patchwork repairs on the road and the space between the policemen and the first line of the processionists being about ten yards in which also there were about 30 or 40 processionists. The next witness S. W. 10, a clerk of the office of the District Inspector of Schools was tendered for cross-examination and in answer to questions from Mr. Gupta Bhaya he says he saw the line unarmed of policemen near the line of patchwork repairs on the road. The only other witness of this group (S. W. 17), the District Inspector of Schools, says very frankly that he did not notice very well where exactly the westernmost line of the crowd was, but speaking from general impressions he says the westernmost end of the processionists was about 8 or 10 yards to the east of the paved road passing by the southern side of Sagardighi and he saw a line of policemen armed only with lathis facing the crowd and about 3 or 4 yards to the west of the westernmost line of the crowd. In his cross-examination at page 324 he makes it clearer that although he had a general impression of the place where the westernmost end of the procession was at the time when he arrived at his office, that also is not very accurate. Thus, while all the witnesses of this group are almost definite that the first line of the processionists was a little to the east of the line of patchwork repairs across Maharaja J. N. Road and the line of unarmed policemen a little to the west of this line of patchwork repairs, this witness frankly admits that he may not have been very accurate when he said from a general impression that the westernmost end of the processionists was about 8 or 10 yards to the east of the paved road passing by the southern side of Sagardighi. Exhibit 47/2(S) shows that the mango tree at the southern fringe of the compound of the School Inspector's office is just a little to the north-east of the line of patchwork repairs. This mango tree is only 47 feet from the south-eastern corner of Sagardighi, as appears from Ex. 47/1/1(S), a chart of the distances prepared by the Kanango attached to the D.C.'s office at my instance. The line of patchwork repairs, therefore, would be a little less than 16 yards from the south-eastern corner of Sagardighi. When, therefore, S. W. 17 speaks from a general impression that the westernmost end of the processionists was about 8 or 10 yards to the east of the paved road passing by the southern side of Sagardighi, although he frankly admits that he might not have been very accurate, this much is clear that they were at some distance from the south-eastern corner of Sagardighi. It is admitted even by police witnesses that they were at that time well outside the prohibited area. It is the evidence of S. W. 17 also that the line of unarmed policemen was only about 3 or 4 yards to the west of the westernmost line of the crowd. This witness seems to me to be absolutely impartial because, in the first place, he has nothing to do either with the Police or the Magistracy nor does he belong to that group of official witnesses who were born and brought up in Cooch Behar and who were in the employ of the Maharaja before they were absorbed in the West Bengal Government service so as to be open to the suspicion that he might be trying to depose falsely in his attempt to support the cause of the local people. In the second place, he has been quite frank that after all he was speaking from general impressions and might not be quite accurate, whereas the rest of the witnesses are very definite about the respective positions of the unarmed policemen and the first row of the processionists. When a procession of that size was face to face with the police and when discussions were going on amongst a group of about 40 or 50 under the mango tree, the witnesses who are definite about the respective positions of the policemen and the processionists were hardly likely to have noticed things closely enough to be able to say a few months later what the respective positions of the unarmed policemen and the first line of the processionists were. A check on the statements of this group of witnesses who are now so definite is furnished by their own statements before Mr. Talukdar shortly after the firing. There, P. C. Sen, S. I. of Schools said that he saw some constables and some police officers standing near the south-eastern corner of Sagardighi and the processionists sat down before the police. A Biswas, another S. I. of Schools, stated that when he came to office at about 10 a.m. he saw a party of constables and a Sub-Inspector, under the mango tree near their office and the procession was stopped by some of its members when it reached the south of the mango tree. He does not say where exactly the unarmed policemen were when this procession arrived although from his statement that the procession was stopped by some of its own members when it reached the south of the mango tree, it seems to follow that the head of the procession stopped to the south of the mango tree, that is a little to the east of the line of patchwork repairs. J. C. Dhar, the Physical Instructor, said to Mr. Talukdar, that the procession stopped on the road a little to the east of the mango tree, that Haru Mukherji and another Hindu Mahasabha leader, Jadab Acharji, and some boys came near the police barriers and stopped the procession, Haru having a loudspeaker with him, and that the police were standing in a line extending from the tapsi tree to the road on the south. This tapsi tree is a little to the northwest of the line of patchwork repairs, so that if a perpendicular be drawn to Maharaja J. N. Road from the tapsi tree, it would be a little to the west of the line of patchwork repairs. The next witness, B. Das, a District Social Education Officer, also speaks of the procession being stopped near the mango tree where they sat down and the police were lined up 8 or 10 cubits to the west. S. C. Mukherji, District Inspector of Schools, merely said that he saw the processionists sitting on the road and nothing about the respective positions of the first line of the processionists and the unarmed policemen. It is thus clear that while some of the witnesses of this group said to Mr. Talukdar that the processionsists stopped to the south of the mango tree, that is, a little to the east of the line of patchwork repairs, some did not say anything about it at all, and some again did not say how far the unarmed policemen were from the first line of the processionists. On the side of the people of Cooch Behar Shri N. C. Bose says at page 658 that when Chuni Babu asked him about the prohibited area he told him that the area was bounded by the corners of Sagardighi and the prohibited area was much behind the police line which was about 8 or 10 cubits to the east of the eastern limits of the prohibited area. Shri Chunilal Mukherji (p. 688) says that the processionists stopped near the mango tree just close to the road in the southern part of the compound of the office of the School Inspectors and the line of unarmed policemen when he first saw it was about 15 cubits to the west of the head of the procession and about a foot or two feet to the west of the line of patchwork repairs across Maharaja J. N. Road. He further says (p. 719) that after he had talked with Naresh Babu he did not think that the line of unarmed policemen was beyond the eastern limit of the prohibited line, because Naresh Babu described the boundaries to him merely as the corners of Sagardighi without indicating the precise limits of the banned area. This is also the evidence of Shri Jadab Acharji, C. A W 4 Shri Sibnath Banerji (p. 885) also indicates the position of the first line of the processionists by saying that where the processionists squatted there is a mango tree. He does not, however, indicate the position of the unarmed policemen. It is needless for me to refer to the evidence on this point of the other witnesses on the side of the people of Cooch Behar. From the evidence of the District Inspector of Schools who, as I have already said, has been frank enough to state that after all he was speaking from general impressions and might not be very accurate and that the processionists were about 8 or 10 yards to the west of the paved road passing by the southern side of Sagardighi and the unarmed policemen facing the crowd at a distance of about 3 or 4 yards to the west of the westernmost line of the crowd, I am inclined to think that the unarmed policemen were drawn up not exactly on the eastern edge of the road passing by the eastern side of Sagardighi but somewhat to the east of that and that the processionists who were admittedly well outside the prohibited area were further to the east, whether or not they were to the east or the west of the line of patchwork repairs. This seems to me to be more than likely because the main object of the police force must have been to see that the processionists did not cross into the prohibited area and for this purpose they might well have thought that a few feet or a few yards beyond the prohibited area on the east would be a more strategic position for them than just the eastern edge of the prohibited area, and if they tried to push the line of unarmed policemen to the eastern edge of the banned area and if the witnesses on the side of the local people and also some of the State's witnesses belonging to the School Inspector's office tried to push it eastward within a few yards of the line of patchwork repairs on Maharaja J. N. Road, it may well have been because the object of each set was to put the other in the wrong as far as possible.

(vi) Cordon of boys.

75. As regards the cordon formed by a number of boys from among the processionists the evidence is as sharply divided as on any of the other points. No question was put to L. M. Baksi on behalf of the Council of Action whether he saw a cordon of boys drawn up just in front of the processionists but it was put to N. Sen Gupta and he says at page 131 that he does not remember to have seen a number of boys standing arm in arm in front of the squatters and facing eastward making a line and holding each other's hand, but he says it is just possible that he might have missed it because he was seeing the procession from an office window. Without going into further details, I may at once say that when D. C. Sen at page 233 speaks of a number of boys from amongst the processionists coming up and sitting in between the first line of the processionists and the unarmed policemen, though he denies that they were standing arm in arm, forming a sort of barrier between the policemen and the processionists, I do not see why I should disbelieve Shri Chunilal Mukherji and Shri Naresh Chandra Bose on the point. The difference between the two versions is not very serious, the evident object of these boys, whether they were standing or sitting, being to guard against the processionists crossing into the banned area immediately after the procession arrived there.

(vii) Where there two lathi charges or one only ?

76. Before going into the cause of the first lathi charge, I should like to dispose of another minor point in dispute in this connection, namely, whether there was only one lathi charge or two lathi charges. According to the witnesses on the side of the people of Cooch Behar, some of the witnesses attached to the School Inspector's office and even H. N. Roy and L. M. Baksi, there were two lathi charges. Even according to the police witnesses, after the unarmed policemen had to retreat, as a result of a severe throwing of brickbats, from their pursuit of the processionists during the first lathi charge, the S. P. ordered the armed policemen to go forward to the brickstacks and to take possession of them, and they did go forward. It is just possible that this forward movement of the armed policemen towards the brickstacks with which some of the policemen armed with lathis only, might well have got mixed up was construed by some of the witnesses as a second lathi charge. That this was so appears from the evidence of H. N. Ray that in the second lathi charge some armed policemen took part and this is also the evidence of some of the witnesses on the side of the people of Cooch Behar.

(viii) The first lathi charge and its cause.

77. As regards the cause of the first lathi charge the evidence of D. C. Sen, S.D.O., is that with a shout that they would all go, the processionists got up and surged forward into the police cordon, some of the processionists breaking through it when he declared the procession an unlawful assembly, called upon it to disperse warning them at the same time that unless they did so there would be a lathi charge. The police witnesses also say this. The evidence on the other side, however, is that the sound of an approaching car gave rise to a shout that the D.C. was coming, when some of the processionists got up to see if that was so and one or two of them moved forward a few steps when they were caught hold of by some policemen, dragged behind the line of unarmed policemen and beaten and then there was a lathi charge. The evidence of the group of witnesses attached to the School Inspector's office is not at all helpful on this point. All of them heard an uproar before the lathi charge but what it was about they cannot say. S.W. 9 speaks of the arrest of Haru Mukherji and Jadab Acharji having caused a certain amount of excitement amongst the processionists, as a result of which the first line of the processionists attempted to break through the police line. S.W. 10 also speaks of some of the processionists standing at the south-eastern corner of the compound of their office trying to break through the police line after the lathi charge, evidently forgetful of the undisputed flight of the unarmed policemen under the intensive showers of brickbats which followed the lathi charge.

78. When the evidence regarding the circumstances leading up to the lathi charge is so sharply divided, the only course open to me for arriving at the truth is to judge each version from the standpoint of probabilities. About the story that there was the sound of an approaching motor vehicle when the processionists cried out "D.C. coming, D.C. coming", there is something strangely mysterious. None of the witnesses who speak of this sound claims to have seen this mysterious vehicle and Shri Chunilal Mukherji (pp. 718-19) also like the rest did not see it but heard later on that it was either a police van, military van or an ordinary lorry seen by some one but he could not say who that someone was who saw it or where he saw it. There is thus an air of mystery not merely about the vehicle but also about the man who saw it or the place where he saw it. This alone would justify one in looking askance at this story. But this is not all. If the version of the Council of Action is to be believed, it is this mysterious vehicle which really precipitated the lathi charge. Yet there is no mention of it in the report of the occurrence received by Shri Nanu Ghosh, Secretary to the Bengal Provincial Forward Bloc from Durgesh Neogi, Secretary to the Cooch Behar Forward Bloc and published in the Hindusthan Standard on the 23rd April last. Neither Shri Nanu Ghosh nor Shri Durgesh Neogi was examined before me and it is not unlikely that this statement published in the Hindusthan Standard made it somewhat awkward for Shri Durgesh Neogi to step into the witness box only to be confronted with this statement, which in at a least one material particular, as will be seen later, runs counter to the case for the Council of Action. That statement together with the facts that none of the witnesses saw the vehicle and that no one knows who saw it and when and where, seems to me to demolish this story altogether, for had it been a fact one could legitimately expect its mention in that statement, specially because according to the version of the Council of Action, that mysterious vehicle was really responsible for the sudden curiosity of the crowd for a glimpse of this vehicle which again was responsible for the lathi charge.

79. Shri Chunilal Mukherjee says (p. 688) that when he first met the procession, after it came to a halt near the mango tree, he asked the processionists to wait peacefully till his return, without trying to proceed forward and to be at a safe distance from the police line because he did not know the exact limits of the banned area. This seems to suggest that he also apprehended that the processionists might try to break through the police line. It further appears from his evidence that when he met Shri Naresh Chandra Bose and came to learn from him the limits of the prohibited area, they discussed the possibility of holding a meeting on the municipal ground but had to abandon the idea at the sight of the armed policemen standing there. At page 715 Shri Chunilal Mukherjee speaks of the various matters that were discussed during the conference amongst some of the processionists and some of the leaders under the mango tree. One of these matters was how long the processionists would be squatting there waiting for the D.C.'s arrival and whether the meeting should be held before the procession dispersed or in the afternoon after the procession had dispersed, but no decision could be arrived at. Yet in the very next sentence he says (p. 715) that those of the processionists who were in the front line knew by then how long they would have to wait for the D.C.'s arrival or when the meeting would be held. It is difficult to understand the meaning of this statement of his specially in the face of his earlier statement that no decision was actually arrived at even as regards the period of waiting for the D.C.'s arrival. Any way, it is quite clear from this part of his evidence that the leaders did not know what to do, and it was when they were in this state of indecision that a mysterious vehicle is seen by a mysterious person whose identity is still unknown at a place and at a time which also are still unascertained, the crowd stands up shouting that the D.C. was coming and the policemen take advantage of this, drag some of the processionists behind the line of unarmed policemen and begin a lathi charge. I have already said that this story of the mysterious motor vehicle is hardly credible. If this is discarded, as it must be, the bottom is knocked out of the case for the Council of Action that the police made a lathi charge without any occasion for it. That the procession would be thinking of waiting there idefinitely for the D.C.'s arrival seems to me quite improbable. On the other hand, the avowed objective of the procession being to proceed to the D.C.'s office and on the 19th and the 20th, they having threatened similar demonstrations in the D.C.'s office till their demands were met, it is far more likely, particularly when the leaders could not arrive at any decision, that some at least of the processionists should have precipitated matters by trying to break through the police cordon. That the object of the procession was to proceed, although peacefully, towards the D.C.'s office and that the processionists managed to break through the police cordon is also evident from the statement published in the Hindusthan Standard on the 23rd April 1951, which I have already referred to. This statement is the information received by Shri Nanu Ghosh, Secretary to the Bengal Provincial Bloc from Shri Durgesh Neogi, Secretary to the Cooch Behar Forward Bloc, one of the local leaders. The relevant part of this statement runs as follows: "The police unnecessarily interfered and stopped the procession which was proceeding peacefully towards the sanctum sanctorum of the Cooch Behar Government. When the processionists could manage to break the police cordon with the purpose of submitting their say the Government Olympiads could not tolerate it and lathi-charged and at last opened fire, killing five innocent persons including two ladies and one child". In this issue there is a statement of Shri Sibnath Banerji also who says the lathi charge was resorted to by the police when the processionists were about 50 yards from the prohibited area. Shri Sibnath Banerji did not say before me that actually the lathi charge was made when the processionists were about 50 yards away from the prohibited area. The distance, as I have already said, between the south-eastern corner of Sagardighi and mango tree No. 1, which is the mango tree on the northern edge of the road is only 47 ft., that is, a little less than 16 yards. The distance between the eastern limits of the prohibited area and the first line of the processionists could not therefore have exceeded at any time 16 yards. Evidently then Shri Sibnath Banerji's statement, as issued in the Hindusthan Standard, dated the 23rd April was a misstatement. Anyway, I feel fully satisfied on the materials before me that the processionists, or at least some of them, actually tried to break through the police cordon, and this, together with the incredible nature of the story of the Council of Action about the crowd standing up with shouts that D.C. was coming when they heard the sound of a motor vehicle, naturally makes the other version acceptable, namely, that the processionists rose up with souts of 'Bande Mataram', 'We shall go, we shall all go' and surged forward against the cordon of unarmed policemen.

(ix) The police was legally entitled to disperse the processionists by force when they made a consented attempt to break through the police cordon though that cordon was to the eat of eastern limits of the prohibited area.

80. A question arises here whether if the line of unarmed policemen had actually been drawn up a little to the east of the eastern limits of the prohibited area, the processionists were justified in law in trying to break through it. The answer must be emphatically in the negative. The processionists must have known that there was an order under section 144, Cr.P.C., prohibiting the entry of more than five at a time into the area to the west of the eastern edge of the road passing by the eastern bank of Sagardighi. If the police line had been drawn up a little to the east of these eastern limits in an endeavour to stop the procession getting into that area, that itself did not give the processionists the right to break through the police line. After all there was no right of private defence against the action of public servants in the discharge of their duties, whatever other remedies they might have had under the law. When, therefore, the S.D.O. declared the assembly unlawful, as he is likely to have done when a situation of that character did arise, although some of the processionists might not have heard his voice in the din and confusion caused, the police were fully justified in making a lathi charge, so long as the force actually used did not exceed the minimum necessary for dispersing the unlawful assembly. Even if the procession had not been declared as unlawful assembly by the S.D.O., as alleged on behalf of the Council of Action, under the provisions of section 128, Cr.P.C., it was open to the S.D.O. to have it dispersed by force, for there could be no room for doubt at that time when they made a concerted rush at the police cordon about their determination not only not to disperse but to force their way to the D.C.'s office in contravention of the order under section 144, Cr.P.C., the legality of which, whatever one may say about its propriety in the circumstances in which it was promulgated, is beyond question.

(x) Was the force used during the lathi charge excessive?

81. An indication of the extent of the force used during the lathi charge is available from the injury reports of the last 19 persons mentioned in ex. 48(S), the first 17 being cases of bullet injuries. The actual injury reports of the persons other than those who received bullet injuries are exhibits 62(S), 63(S), 65(S), and 66(S). Serial No. 1 of 62(S) is serial No. 36 of 48(S), namely, Indu Prava De Sarkar. She had two injuries, one a lacerated wound semi-lunar in shape 1¼"×⅛" bone deep on the left parietal region and transverse fracture of the parietal bone on the left side beneath injury No. 1. The first of these injuries, according to Dr. K. C. Majumdar (S.W. 39) (pp. 445-46) might be caused by any hard substance such as a brickbat of that shape, rather than by a lathi which would have caused a linear injury and not an injury of this shape. The second injury, of course, of Indu Prava De Sarkar which is far more serious than the first might have been caused either by a brickbat or by a lathi blow.

82. Serial Nos. 18 to 23 of exhibit 48(S) correspond to serial Nos. 6, 5, 4, 3, 2 and 1 respectively of ex. 63(S). All these persons appear to have had slight injuries, and Haripada Mukherji had no external injury whatever but merely complained of severe pain all over the body. Then serial Nos. 24 to 26 of ex. 48(S) correspond to serial Nos. 4, 2 and 3 respectivly of ex. 66(S). The first two, namely, Sasthi Kumar Roy and Naresh Chandra Ghosh, had only slight injuries, the last, namely, Shri Jagadish Chandra Choudhury, had two slight injuries in addition to a third which, though at first treated as slight, was later on found to be a grievous one after Dr. Panchanan Chatterjee of Calcutta examined on the 1st of May last, the X-ray report of the 23rd April last and said that it was a fracture of the floating rib on the right side (p. 461).

83. Serial Nos. 27 to 35 of ex. 48(S) correspond to serial Nos. 9, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 respectively of ex. 65(S). The injuries on serial Nos. 1, 3, 4, 6, 8 and 9 of ex. 65(S) were all slight whereas in the case of serial Nos. 2, 5 and 7 no external injury could be detected and the patients were under shock. Serial No. 2, Sulen Kumar Sarkar, was also unconscious. It is thus clear that with the exception of Shri Jagdish Choudhuri who had a floating rib on the right side fractured and Indu Prava De Sarkar who also had the left parietal bone fractured, all the other persons who received lathi blows were injured only slightly. That to Indu Prava De Sarkar who might or might not have received any lathi blow at all and to Jagadish Choudhuri grievous hurt was caused during the lathi charge, is unfortunate, but it cannot be justly said that in a lathi charge in the circumstances already dealt with, the force used exceeded reasonable limits when such hurt was caused to them. D. Lahiri, D.S.P., characterises at p. 212 as false the allegation that he himself or an armed constable with the butt-end of his rifle struck Jagadish Choudhuri when he had fallen down but says he saw an unarmed constable hitting him while he was still standing and grippint the lathi of another constable. At page 331, Biresh Chandra Roy (S.W.15), a clerk in the office of the Inspector of Schools, says he saw an armed policeman hitting Jagadish Choudhuri somewhere near the waist with the butt-end of his rifle. This he says in his cross-examination by Mr. Gupta Bhaya. At page 312, however, in answer to Mr. Ghatak he says he saw Jagadish Choudhuri being first struck with the barrel of a gun and not with the butt-end of a rifle. This gentleman also says that G Jagadish Choudhuri was assaulted by two constables and one police officer, one of the constable being armed. Curiously enough this gentleman did not mention before Mr. Talukdar anything about the assault on Jagadish Babu at all. Jagadish Babu's own evidence is that during the second lathi charge he ws standing a little to the south of the office of the School Inspector and three or four policemen charged him from the south and probably also from the north and he was given about two blows as a result of which the fell down and became unconscious (p. 934). At page 944 he says that during the second lathi charge two constables first assaulted him and he found D. Lahiri, D.S.P., running towards him but he did not see this D.S.P. beating him, all that he saw being that two constables first assaulted him and D. Lahiri, D.S.P., was running towards him. He, of course, denies having tried during the first lathi charge to snatch away a lathi from a constable but in view of his own frank admission that even after the first lathi charge he did not abandon his intention of going to the D.C.'s office and that that was why he did not leave the place altogether, it is impossible to brush away as unlikely the allegation that he tried to snatch away a constable's lathi. Whether he did so or not, it can hardly be said with jutice on the evidence before me that the force used even as against him was more that what was necesary. It is thus reasonably clear that had the police confined itself merely to one or more lathi charges it could not have been said generally that they used more force than was strictly speaking necessary in the circumstances.

(vi) What were the circumstances in which firing was ordered and was the firing justified?

84. I have already said that as the unarmed police was retreating after chasing the processionists for some distance eastward, some of the processionists began to hurl brickbats on them from near the two brick stacks in a compound at the crossing of Maharaja J. N. Road and an unmetalled road passing by the eastern side of the compound of the School Inspector's office where two buildings were to be constructed. The Council of Action in paragraph 36 of its written statement states that as the police force retraced their steps to reform their line they started hurling sandals and shoes left by the processionists and "some brickbats were seen flying about". This statement leaves it beautifull vague whether brickbats were being hurled by the processionists on the police or by the police on the processionists. As the police force was accused of having thrown sandals and shoes left by the processionists, obviously what was meant here by the statement that "some brickbats were seen flying about" was that it was the processionists who threw brickbats on the police. It is no longer disputed that the processionists did throw brickbats on the police, and exhibits I(CA), II(CA), IV(CA) and VII, (CA) show some boys throwing brickbats on the police. Of course, these photographs do not indicate how heavy the showers of brickbats were. It is most unlikely that when these showers were at their heaviest, if at any time they were very intense at all, the photographer would have dared take photographs.

85. The evidence on the throwing of brickbats has now to be examined. According to the two D.S.P.'s, P. C. Nath and D. Lahiri (S.Ws. 4 and 5) and S.I. A.B. Gurung (S.W.19), the volleys of brickbats not merely continued even after the S.P. had warned the processionists that unless these stopped they would be fired on, but it began from the north-east and also from the south so much so that they thought they were in immediate danger of being killed by brickbats. The evidence of D.C. Sen, S.D.O., is that as the constables were receding after the first lathi charge, the hurling of brickbats was very intense and the processionists were pressing forward and then realising that the lathi charge was almost a failure he proceeded to inform the D.C. and to take his instructions. The evidence of L. M. Baksi is that while he was still watching the scene from the D.C.'s chamber he saw about a hundred men breaking bricks into pieces and then from amongst the processionists some began to hurl brickbats on the policemen and the crowd which had fallen back began to advance towards the banned area. When they got down from the jeep at the crossing of Maharaja Harendra Narayan Road and the road passing by the southern bank of Sagardighi they did not take the jeep further eastward because still an exchange of brickbats was going on. Then the unarmed policemen were falling back and they were not returning the brickbats and brickbats were being hurled on the policemen by the processionists. He also saw D. Lahiri, D.S.P., being struck by a brickbat on the lip. At about this time he heard shots ring out. He heard first a single shot and then a quick succession of shots (pp. 49-50). At pages 71 and 72, in his cross-examination by Mr. Gupta Bhaya, L. M. Baksi says that the first lathi charge did not continue for more than five minutes and the interval between the first lathi charge and the second was about 10 or 15 minutes and the second lathi charge was made after the processionists began to throw brickbat but that lathi charge was more or less a halfhearted affair and of shorter duration than the first. The second lathi charge continued for about three or four minutes though it was not in an orderly manner like the first and it was after the second lathi charge that the D.C. and he himself left the office and proceeded towards the spot. He also says (p. 73) that he saw the bricks being broken by a number of processionists after the first lathi charge and not before, and that when the constables were retreating just before the firing some of the processionists followed them into the banned area and there was before his eyes at the moment practically a human wall which had crossed into the banned area. At page 94, in his cross-examination by Mr. Ghatak, L. M. Baksi says that as he was proceeding the throwing of brickbats was still going on and he did not see anything but brickbats being thrown, that a part of the crowd had by then got mixed up with the retreating police force and a brickbats grazed past him. According to him, brickbats were coming mainly from the direction of the mango tree to the south of the School Inspector's office and they might have come from other directions also but of that he was not certain. He further says that as he was proceeding towards the crowd, he found the entire unarmed police force flying in a disorganised manner and althoguh the tried to rally them, they went away. The evidence of H. N. Ray (p. 1216) is also to the effect that when he went up towards the south-eastern corner of Sagardighi, brickbats were still being showered and it was really very severe. He saw an armed constable standing next to him being hit on the head and falling down unconscious. He also saw D. Lahiri, D.S.P., profusely bleeding from an injury. The Armed constables appeared to him to be the actual target of attack and they were dancing about trying to dodge the brickbats and quite a number of constables drawn in the line were bleeding from the injuries they had received. Thus the evidence of the police officers and men and that of the magistrates examined is that the throwing of brickbats went on more or less continously from the commencement of the first lathi charge till firing was resorted to. The evidence of A. B Biswas, S. W. 7. (pp. 278-79), is that when the throwing of brickbats was very intense the armed policemen were compelled to retreat westward and the throwing of brickbats was not completely stopped. Then he speaks of the arrest of Shri N. C. Bose by the S. P. and of the S. P. being followed by some girls, one of whom standing near the lamp post began waving her hand in such a manner that he took it to be an indication of her asking the people to move forward to the west and then the men and the women who were near the lamp post began moving westward. He also speaks of the men and the woman talking to the police officers for some time and then of passing westward beyond the police officers. At page 285 in his cross-examination by Mr. Gupta Bhaya he says that the hurling of brickbats stopped completely at one stage, having continued altogether for about 7 or 8 minutes and there was no more throwing of brickbats after this, and he heard the sound of firing about 10 or 12 minutes after its complete stoppage. Before Mr. Talukdar also he stated that the throwing of brickbats seemed to stop after a time. J. C. Dhar, S. W. 9, Physical Instructor of Schools, does not speak of this stoppage of brickbats and says that the throwing of brickbats continued for about a couple of minutes from the time he began to see it The next witness, S W 10, another clerk attached to the same office, says that the hurling of brickbats stopped almost completely with the exception of a very few stray cases about a minute before the firing. Curiously enough this witness told Mr. Talukdar that the throwing of brickbats continued till the firing. Thus there is a distinct attempt by this witness at any rate to improve upon his own evidence before Mr. Talukdar S. W. 14, another clerk of the same office, merely says that when the processionists were throwing brickbats, some gentlemen asked them not to do so and he did not see anything more. S. W. 17, Sudhir Chandra Mukherji, District Inspector of Schools, who struck me as the most reliable witness of this group, says at page 318 that at the time when the armed policemen were retreating, he noticed two gentlemen, viz., Surendra Nath Lahiri and Bhasan Bhattacharji standing to the contiguous south of their office-building, waving their hands and asking those throwing brickbats not to do so, and even before this the intensity of the showers of brickbats had somewhat decreased, and as these gentlemen advanced towards the man throwing brickbats, the volleys almost ceased and only two or three brickbats were being thrown at that time. He further says that everything seemed to be quiet thereafter, but as the policemen were moving eastward, about 15 or 20 persons were moving westward slowly in an organised manner and then he went back to his chamber under the impression that the trouble was over. But within about a couple of minutes, he heard the first shot and then 2 or 3 seconds thereafter, a quick succession of shots. At page 237, in his cross-examination by Mr. Ghatak, he says that about two minutes or two minutes and a half after he entered the southern room, he caught sight of the armed policemen drawn up in a line and at that time, the throwing of brickbats was going on heavily and brickbats were falling on the line of the unarmed policemen and the officers who were there. He further says that this was going on even before he caught sight of the armed policemen. Thus, he did not notice a complete stoppage of brickbats even after Suren Lahiri and another gentleman had asked those throwing brickbats to stop doing so. All that happened was that there was a lull only, about two or three brickbats being thrown at that time. In his statement to Mr. Talukdar also, this officer stated that when Shri Suren Lahiri and Shri Bhasan Bhattacharji went towards the crowd asking them to stop the hurling of brickbats it produced some results as brickbats began to grow fewer. The witnesses on the side of the people who speak of this stoppage of brickbats are Sailendra Nath Sarkar (CA. W. 5), Latika Ghosh (CA. W. 7), according to whom the throwing of brickbats went on only for about a minute or a couple of minutes and Shri Naresh Chandra Bose (CA.W.1), according to whom this commenced shortly after the police during the first lathi charge began to beat the processionists like cats and dogs and continued for some two or three minutes or a little more than that and it did not altogether stop before the second lathi charge, althrough it diminished in intensity to such an extent that it could have been altogether ignored, there being only stray cases. During the commencement, the shower of brickbats was heavy according to this witness. Of course, this gentleman does not say anything as to whether the volley of brickbats had completely stopped before the firing was ordered Bijan Ganguly, one of the processionists who on his own showing was one of those who threw brickbats on the police says that the reason why the processionists took to this is that the police had beaten the processionists like cattle and they wanted to take revenge for that. At the same time he says he himself threw only 3 or 4 brickbats and they hurled brickbats for only about 2 or 3 minutes. But if they wanted really to avenge themselves for the beating to which some of the processionists had been subjected, it hardly stands to reason that the spirit of revenge which led so many to take to throwing brickbats should get satisfied in such a short time. It is admitted on all hands that the armed police when they were ordered to capture the brick stacks moved forward eastward and I have already said, this was taken not merely by the processionists but also by some of the official witnesses as a second lathi charge, because some of the unarmed constables might have been mixed up with armed constables and it is also possible that during this forward movement of the armed police and the unarmed police, some of the processionists were actualy hit. It is also admitted on all hands that the armed police and those of the unarmed police who were with them had to retreat westward without capturing the brick stacks. If their objective was to capture the brick stacks, as even Shri N. C. Bose admits at page 660 when he says that the object of the second lathi charge might have been to take possession of the brick stacks, and if they returned without capturing the brick stacks, there must have been some explanation of their retreat. If the throwing of brickbats had completely stopped, no such explanation is possible beyond their own unwillingness to discharge their duties properly. The evidence of the police officers and the magistrates examined, however, furnishes a very good explanation and that is the intensity of the showers of brickbats. When the armed policemen had actually made a rush towards the brick stacks, it is hardly likely that they would retreat without capturing the brick stacks, if in fact they had not been prevented from doing so by the intensity of these showers. The evidence, therefore, of the police officers and the magistrates fully accords with that probability and I have no hesitation in saying that when the armed policemen retreated westward there must have been an intense showe ing of brickbats so as to prevent them from proceeding further eastward to take possession of the brick stacks.

(b) A large number of processionists crossed into the prohibited area.

86. I have already said that according to L. M. Baksi and H. N. Ray as well as the police witnesses, a large crowd had already crossed into the banned area. According to police witnesses, a large number of the processionists had crossed into the banned area under cover of the showers of brickbats. Whether that is so or not the fact remains that just before the firing when L. M. Baksi and H. N. Ray appeared on the scene, the crowd westward of the eastern limit of the banned area was such that H. N. Ray was pushed backward and L. M. Bakshi also could not proceed very far. According to L. M. Baksi there was before him practically a human wall. That this was so can hardly be seriously disputed when some of those who received bullet injuries admittedly fell down west of the eastern limits of the prohibited area. Two explanations of such a large number of men having crossed into the banned area are possible. The first is the version of the police witnesses and the other official witnesses except those belonging to the office of the District Inspector of Schools, namely that the processionists advanced into this area under cover of brickbats. The second is, as the witnesses for the Council of Action sought to make out, that when Kabita Bose and a few other girls followed the S. P. to the letter box, the S. P. waved his hands and this was construed by the processionists as a signal for them to go westward to the D. C.'s office. A. B. Biswas, S.W. 7 (p. 218), speaks of having seen a girl standing near the lamp post waving her hands in such a manner that he took it to be an indication of her asking the persons to the east to move forward westward and of the men and the women near the lamp post then moving westward. He further speaks of these men and women then having gone westward after having talked to the police officers. In this evidence before Mr. Talukdar he said that a girl waved her hands to this group and led a procession with them towards the corner of Sagardighi. He does not speak of having seen the S.P. waving his hands. The witnesses who speak of the S.P. having waved his hands are Sailendra Nath Sarkar (CA. W. 5), Latika Ghosh (CA. W. 7) and Pratima Banerji (CA. W. 8)—three of the four witnesses who claim to have witnessed the shooting down of Kabita Bose by the S.P. It is difficult for me to accept this part of their statements first because although they all mention this in their evidence, none of them mentioned it in the gist of their statements, handed over to Mr. Ghatak by Mr. Gupta Bhaya. In the second place, if the S.P. had actually waved towards them, that is likely to have been noticed by at least some other persons. The Chairman of the municipality, Shri S. M. Baksi (CA.W. 14) and the Vice-Chairman, Shri Ajit Kumar Roy (CA.W. 15), who were watching the scene from the verandah of the municipal office and who saw the S.P. arresting Shri N. C. Bose and then handing him over to a few constables, could hardly have both missed it, particularly when it is alleged that a number of the processionists moved westward as a result of this signal. The explanation, therefore, offered on the side of the Council of Action for a large number of the processionists being actually in the banned area is hardly acceptable.

87. I have already said that the object of the processionists was to go to the D. C.'s office where there were seven men on hunger strike and that they made a determined rush at the police cordon when there was a lathi charge on the processionists. Then the policemen had to retreat as a result of intensive volleys of brickbats. The S P. ordered the armed policemen at this stage to go forward to capture the brick stacks. The armed policemen did move forward but had to retreat without being able to capture the brick stacks as a result of heavy showers of brickbats. By then, the unarmed policemen had retreated as far as the police office and it is more than probable that a large number of the processionists crossed into the banned area at this stage, some having entered it by breaking through the police cordon earlier when the unarmed policemen were still there. If A. B. Biswas, S. W. 7, spoke of a girl having waved her hands towards some of her follow-processionists as a signal to them to move westward beyond the banned area, Sailen Sarker, Latika Ghosh and Pratima Banerji speak of the S. P. having done so. This evidence of their seems to insinuate that the S. P. lured the unsuspecting processionists into the banned area just as an excuse for opening fire on them. At an earlier stage there was the distinct allegation that some of the processionists, namely Jadab Acharji and Haru Mukherji, were dragged behind the line of unarmed policemen just as a pretext for a lathi charge. In other words, these two parts of the Council of Action's case reveal a remarkable uniformity of pattern, of which the key-note is the calculated devilry of the police. One might also mention here the allegation of the Council of Action that on the 20th after a conference between the S. P., the D. C. and others, the ambulance was kept ready close by, hospital beds were made free by a premature discharge of patients, an allegation which, as already pointed out, has very slender foundation in fact and I can only repeat what I have said once already that though it seems incredible that such allegations could be made by responsible men on little or no evidence, that is what has happened here.

(c) The story of the throwing of brickbats from behind or from near the municipal ground doubtful.

88. Though brickbats were hurled on the police mainly from near the brick stacks to the east of that part of the prohibited area round the south-eastern corner of Sagardighi, there is a certain amount of evidence that bricks were thrown on the police from near Harendra Narayan Road also, so much so that there was a likelihood of the police force being overpowered and killed. The only person to speak of this throwing of brickbats from behind, i.e., from men who had collected on Maharaja Harendra Narayan Road is D. Lahiri, D. S. P. (p. 193). Before Mr. Talukdar, however, his evidence was different. There he speaks of two other crowds, one on their right and above 15 yards away from them and the other behind them and near the police office. He speaks of the crowd to their right throwing brickbats and not the crowd behind, i.e., the crowd on Maharaja Harendra Narayan Road. The map, Ex. 47/2(S) and the chart, Ex. 47/1/1(S) show Maharaja H. N. Road to be 200 ft. away from the letter box, so that there could hardly be any occasion for D. Lahiri, D. S. P., to confuse between these two crowds. When, therefore, he spoke to Mr. Talukdar of a crowd on their right and not a crowd behind them having thrown brickbats on them and when he speaks here of a crowd from Maharaja H. N. Road having thrown brickbats, one may legitimately doubt the truth of either of these statements. Even if this story could be taken to be true, that it was not taken any serious notice of by the S. P. is obvious from the fact that he did not direct fire to be opened in that direction at all.

(xii) Injuries to police personnel.

(a) Three cases of acid burns. Not caused during the incidents preceding the firing.

89. Apart from the injuries caused by brickbats, three of the armed constables namely, Abinash Dhar, Harendra Roy and Nanigopal Mukherji, of whom only two were examined before me are alleged to have received acid burns. Abinash Dhar (S. W. 20) says (p 350) that before the firing he received certain injuries on both knees and also on his left elbow from a watery substance falling upon him. The evidence of Harendra Roy (S. W. 22, p. 358) is that when he was about three or four cubits to the west of the letter box facing eastward a glass bulb struck his rifle, broken and liquid fell on his arms and legs. In answer to Mr. Ghatak he says that the liquid fell upon his neck, his left forearm, right knee and right thigh and he showed some black spots on his throat and left forearm and some marks on his right thumb and right ring finger. He further says that when the acid bulb struck his rifle, brickbats were also coming upon them.

90. All the police officers and men who received injuries during the occurrence were examined by Dr. P. C. Ghosh of the Police Hospital from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. on the 21st of April 1951. The relevant entries are from 912 to 951. Entries Nos. 916, 917 and 944 are the acid burn cases. Although the doctor tampered with his original writings in these entries presumably with the object of bringing his opinion in line with that of the Civil Surgeon who was present at the time of the examination of these injuries by the Assistant Surgeon Dr. Chatterji on the 25th of April 1951 this much is clear that what he noticed on these three men were certain corrosive marks which appeared to him to have been caused by some chemicals. Whatever the reasons for this tampering might be, it is difficult to say that he did not actually notice the injuries which he claims to have seen. As far as I could judge from the relevant entries in Ex. 61 (S), only Nanigopal Mukherji who was not examined before me had 12 small marks of acid injuries in certain vital parts,viz., over the left half of the forehead,left side of the nose, left zygomatic process and lobe of the left ear together with charring on the forehead, left jaw, Adam's apple, etc., and all the other injuries on him as well as all the injuries on Abinash Dhar and Harendra Chandra Roy were on parts of the body which can hardly be described as vital.

91. Dr. Kabir Hossain examined these constables on 14th June 1951 after this enquiry had commenced. He also saw the reports of Drs. R. Chatterji, R. N.Guha Mazumdar and P. C. Ghosh as well as a copy of the Chemical Examiner's report on chemical analysis of their clothings. Dr. Kabir Hossain says that from the nature of the marks which he found on the constables he is of opinion that if nitric acid was used at all, it was moderately concentrated nitric acid and concentrated diluted nitric acid may have some effect on wood ; concentrated nitric acid will corrode it and diluted nitric acid will leave a stain. He further says that reasonably diluted nitric acid will leave marks of a stain and slight marks of corrosion on wood. From the distribution of the stains on the bodies of the constables and also from the fact that if they were caused by the constables themselves or by friendly hands it would have taken a long time, he is of opinion that these were caused when the chemical came upon these constables hurriedly. It is the evidence of Harendra Chandra Roy that the bulb struck his rifle which is rifle No. 105. As far as I remember, this rifle was produced in court and all that could be pointed out to me is a very faint mark which could be found on careful examination on the butt-end of almost any rifle which has been in use for some time. Now the only reason assigned by Dr. Kabir Hossain for the opinion that such marks could not have been caused by friendly hands is that the fabrication of such marks, particularly those in some vital parts of Nanigopal Mukherji would have taken a long time. Nanigopal Mukherji is serial No. 944 whereas the first entry is 912. Against 912 there is a note as follows :"Received at 14 hours 21st April 1951" and against 944 there is a remark : "Received about 3.30 p.m." I have gone through a large number of entries in this register. Against no entry other than those from Nos. 912 to 951 could I find any note of the time of examination or production of the patients. Why then in these cases and these cases alone is the time of examination of the patients noted in the register ? This in itself strikes me as extremely suspicious Then again the internal evidence of the entries shows that the hours noted could not possibly have been correct. Against Abinash Chandra Dhar and Harendra Roy, i.e., serial Nos. 916 and 917, the time when they were received is 3 p.m. whereas against Shankar Mitra, serial No. 919, the time of receipt is 2.30 p.m. Again, although the last policemen to be examined that day,i.e., serial No.951, appears to have been examined at 6 p.m., there is hardly any explanation how Nanigopal Mukherji whose serial number is 944 could be examined at 3.30 p.m. These things alone seem to me to suggest that there is something very suspicious about the hours noted in the register when these men are said to have gone to the Police Hospital for examination. At page 1222 H. N. Ray says that when he was drafting his report of the incidents of the 21st to the Government at about midnight or even later than that, there had been no actual medical examination of the constables when this information was being given by the police officers. According to the Hospital Register and also Dr. P. C Ghosh, as many as 40 persons were examined by this doctor between 3 and 6 p.m. that very day. This statement of H. N. Ray then brings this examination by Dr. P. C. Ghosh or at least the time of this examination into even more serious doubt. The suspicious character of these entries naturally makes one suspicious of the time when these men actually went to the Hospital and the time when they were examined. One of the grounds on which Dr. Kabir Hossain says that these injuries could not have been caused by friendly hands thus disappears. As regards the other grounds, namely the distribution of the stains, I have already said that only in case of Nanigopal who could not be produced before me some of the stains were on certain vital parts, viz., the left half of the forehead, the left side of the nose and the left zygomatic process and the lobe of the left ear. But even in his case,the left eye which was even more vital than the parts mentioned escaped unhurt. Was this an accident pure and simple ? If there was nothing suspicious about their injuries, one might have with some show of reason explained this as an accident but the exceptional precautions taken by the doctor to enter in the Register the hour when each of these men was examined make it more than likely that if the eye escaped unhurt, it was because of similar precautions taken in the fabrication of the injuries and that in all probability it was not accidental. In any event, this is another factor suggestive of the real cause of the injuries. There is yet another thing make one seriously doubt the genuineness of these injuries. H. N. Ray submitted a report about the occurrence of the day to the Government and his annexure No. II to the written statement submitted on behalf of the State. He deals with the firing and the incidents which preceded it in paragraph 5 and the end of which he mentions that the number of police officers and constables injured is 24 as a result of brickbats thrown on them. In paragraph 6 he speaks of what happened after the firing, namely, the setting fire to a police vehicle in the police office, the throwing of brickbats into the Deputy Commissioner's office and the burning of the Deputy Commissioner's car and the entry of a number of processionists into the first floor of the Deputy Commissioner's office where they heckled him and his officers in most insulting terms. The last sentence in this paragraph is that an acid bulb was thrown and a constable was injured. H.N.Ray's evidence is to the effect that as he drafted this letter very late at night he might not have mentioned the acid bulb injuries to the constables in its proper sequence. An examination of the letter itself shows that he has described all the incidents in their absolutely correct sequence. Towards the end of paragraph 5 where he deals with the firing and what preceded it he distinctly states that the number of police officers and constables injured is 24 caused by brickbats and equally clearly he omits to state here that any constable received any acid burns during the occurrence, but in paragraph 6 where he describes the incidents which followed the firing in the police office and the D.C.'s office he mentions that a constable was injured as a result of an acid bulb having been thrown on him. The obvious meaning of the letter, read as a whole, is that he had no information late that night when he drafted the letter that any constable had received any acid burns during the incidents preceding the firing, though he knew by then that one constable had received some acid burns during the incidents in the Police office and the D.C.'s office which followed the firing. Yet H. N. Ray would have one believe (p.1288) that when he was drafting his report and speaking to the S.P. he had all this information at his disposal. If, as a matter of fact, in the draft he had put the acid burns on one constable out of its proper sequence it is hardly likely that he would not have corrected it before the fair copy was made. It is still more unlikely that if he was speaking to the S.P. at the time, the S.P. should not have corrected this by placing it in its proper sequence. Then again, between this statement here and the evidence in court there is another important discrepancy, namely, in the number of the constables injured by acid bulbs. Of this discrepancy the only explanation attempted by H.N.Ray, as already stated, is that there had been no medical examination of these constables by the time when the report was being drafted. The explanation, therefore, given by H. N. Ray seems to me to be absolutely unconvincing, and I have no doubt on a careful reading of his report to the Government that he did not mention in it the fact of three constables having received acid burns during the incidents that preceded the firing. If, as a matter of fact, these acid burns were genuine and if these had been examined by Dr. P.C. Ghosh between 2 and 6 p.m. that day as he claims to have done, it is most unlikely that the D.C. should have known nothing of this and that he should not have reported this to the Government. If this was not mentioned in his report in connection with the incidents preceding the firing, the conclusion is inescapable that by the time when he was drafting his report, he had no knowledge of it and that if, as he says, the S.P. was speaking to him at the time, the S.P. also had no knowledge of it. It is also curious that if it actually struck any of the processionists that acid bulbs should be used against the police, the only one acid bulb and not more should be actually thrown on them. It is equally curious that the acid that was used for this purpose was moderately concentrated only so as to cause the minimum damage. No pieces of broken glass could be found on the spot and the explanation given is that these could not be found in the midst of the brickbats with which the whole place was thickly strewn over. Mr. Ghatak attempted a second explanation by saying that by 7 a.m. on the 22nd , when S.W.36, Officer-in-charge, Kotwali P.S., visited the spot, many members of the public had visited it and from the suggestion of Mr. Gupta Bhaya to S.I. Anil Das Gupta that some people of Cooch Behar picked up there some fired catridge cases, it is at least probable that the pieces of broken glass which were there were actually removed by some one or other of the persons who visited the place after the firing. Even if the absence of the pieces of broken glass can be explained away in either of these ways, the other things I have referred to hardly admit of any satisfactory explanation. In all these circumstances I find it impossible to believe the story that actually one acid bulb was thrown on the constables and feel convinced that these injuries were really manufactured just for the purpose of creating evidence in justification of the firing.

(b) Injuries from brickbats all slight except the broken tooth of Lahiri, D.S.P., which was severe.

92. Apart from the three constables who are said to have been injured by acid bulbs it appears from exhibit 61(S) and also the relevant entries in the Outpatients' Register of the Police Hospital that D. Lahari, D.S.P., had as many as 12 injuries of which only one was severe, namely, a partially broken tooth and the rest slight; P.C.Nath, D.S.P., had three injuries all of which were slight; and Inspector Satish Chandra Roy, one Sub-Inspector Anil Das Gupta had two injuries each, all slight; and Assistant Sub-Inspector had four slight injuries; the armed S.I., A.B.Gurung, had also a slight injury; the S.P., J.Mukherjee, had two slight injuries and 32 constables also received some slight injuries each. All the slight injuries as well as the severe injury on D. Lahiri, D.S.P., were according to medical evidence caused by blunt objects. Obviously all these injuries must have been caused by brickbats. In this connection it is pertinent to point out that while according to this register, as many as 40 members of the police force, officers and men, including the three cases of acid burns, were injured, according to H.N.Ray's report to the Government late that night, only 24 officers and men received injuries from brickbats. H.N.Ray, therefore, mentioned 13 less than the number injured according to this register. This, to my mind, seems to suggest that an attempt has been made to exaggerate even the number of persons injured during the occurrence. Even if, however, it assumed that there was no exaggeration in this, the damage actually done to the police personnel is not of a very serious character, the only severe injury being the broken tooth of D. Lahiri, D.S.P.

93. To sum up the situation, as found by me, just before the firing. There was a heavy shower of brickbats from the east and it continued up to the moment of firing, its intensity varying in degrees from time to time. A large number of the processionists crossed into the banned area so much so that L. M. Baksi when he was proceeding towards the south-eastern corner found before him practically a human wall and H. N. Ray also after he had just contacted the S.P. was separated from him by the pressure of the crowd. The unarmed constables had already retreated as far as the police office and the armed force stood on the municipal ground. The brickbats caused a large number of slight injuries to the police personnel and only one severe injury to D. Lahiri, D.S.P. That the crowd which had collected on Harendra Narayan Road was also engaged in throwing brickbats I could not believe, just as I could not believe the throwing of acid bulbs by some of the processionists. No one, except the S.P. before Mr Talukdar, has stated that the crowds that had collected on Maharaja Harendra Narayan Road and to the right of the police line, i.e., probably on the municipal ground were making any attempt to close in on the armed police. It is more than likely that the crowds that had collected on Maharaja Harendra Narayan Road and on the municipal ground consisted mostly of those who wanted to see what was going on. The processionists who had actually crossed into the banned area from the east and some of whom were really engaged in throwing brickbats on the police were unarmed. Haru Mukherji who carried a loudspeaker had been already disposed of. Can this situation be described as one so critical that unless fire was opened the police force was most likely to be overpowered?

94. This question really resolves itself into three. There was this order under section 144, Cr.P.C. which evidently was violated by a large number or the processionists who had already entered the prohibited area. Admittedly the S.P. was asked by the D.C. to enforce it "firmly", though according to the S.P. he was ordered to enforce it "at any cost". Whether the words used by the D.C. to the S.P. were that the order should be enforced "at any cost" or "firmly", the question first arises whether this constitutes a sufficient justification for the S.P. to order his men to open fire. When a large number of the processionists had already in contravention of the order under section 144, Cr.P.C., entered the prohibited area, there was hardly any question of enforcing that order and the only problem then was how to clear the prohibited area and how to prevent the entry of more. The problem that arose then was, therefore, something different from what was envisaged by the D.C. when he asked the S.P. to enforce the order under section 144, Cr.P.C., firmly. The D.C. was on the spot and the S.P. knew that. It was, therefore, his clear duty to seek his instructions in the altered circumstances and there was, in my opinion, no justification for him to open fire without the instructions of the D.C.

95. The second question that requires examination here is whether, though the situation might not in fact have been so dangerous as to justify the police in opening fire, it was so serious as to give rise in the mind of the S.P. and the other police officers to a reasonable apprehension that unless fire was opened they were likely to be overpowered. The S.P. in his evidence before Mr. Talukdar mentions in addition to the throwing of brickbats and the surging forward of the crowd from the east, the movement of the crowd on the municipal ground towards the police force, that he heard some of his men crying out that they were feeling a burning sensation and that the crowd kept on advancing and throwing brickbats in spite of his warnings that fire would be opened if they did not stop advancing or throwing brickbats and then he says he ordered the constable on the left blank of the front line to fire one round at those throwing brickbats. This proved ineffective and the shower of brickbats intensified and the S.P. and some other members were hit. Then, he ordered the front line to fire one round each. That also proved ineffective. The shower of brickbats still went on and the crowd moved closer to them and it is at this stage for the first time that he mentions that they were in imminent danger of being overpowered. Then he ordered the front line to fire two rounds rapidly. According to him and to D. Lahiri, D.S.P., it was these rounds of rapid fire which killed five and injured many others. His evidence seems to suggest that he came to apprehend that the police force would be overpowered only before he ordered two rounds of rapid fire by the fourteen constables in the front row. Even if any such unspoken apprehension were in his mind when he ordered the Naik on the left flank of the front line to fire one round, it is hardly possible to say that it was a reasonable apprehension in the circumstances, as found by me. I fully realise that it is much easier for one to criticise in the tranquil atmosphere of the court room the conduct of those who are charged with the responsibility of tackling difficult situations of this nature, but then, in order to be able to appreciate the real difficulties of a situation, and to find out how an officer should have dealt with that situation, it is always necessary to view it objectively as far as possible, in a calm atmosphere. When the situation with which the S.P. was confronted is thus examined, I am afraid it cannot possibly be held with any show of reason that it could give rise to a legitimate apprehension in the mind of the S.P. that without firing, the police force would be overpowered.

96. The third question that arises is whether in dispersing the unlawful assembly which, as I have already found, had entered the prohibited area, the S.P. was justified in ordering his men to open fire. The alternatives before the S.P. at that moment were first, to try to rally the unarmed constables for a second lathi charge from a point farther to the west of where the armed police were, after directing the armed police to fall back farther west; secondly, to rest content with the arresting of a number of the ring-leaders and then to withdraw into the compound either of the police office or of the D.C.'s office whence more arrests could be attempted, and thirdly to open fire. The unarmed constables had retreated into the police office without orders and even before their retreat, S.I. Anil Das Gupta had done so, equally without orders. No attempt appears to have been made to rally this force at any stage. As a matter of fact, none of the police officers on the spot appear to have taken any serious notice of this instance of indiscipline on the part of the unarmed police. If the officers could stand their ground in spite of the injuries received, why could not the unarmed constables do so? In any event, the first alternative before the S.P., namely to attempt to rally the unarmed policemen for a second lathi charge from a point farther to the west of where the armed policemen were does not appear to have been even thought of H. N. Ray, though at first he said that the firing was justified, was constrained to admit that he would have attempted to rally the unarmed police for a second lathi charge before ordering the armed police to open fire. That H. N. Ray, if he were consulted would not have approved of firing becomes abundantly clear from his immediate reaction when he heard shots ring out, namely his shouting out orders for a cease-fire. That is more eloquent than his statement before me that firing was justified. If this alternative were tried and failed, the next thing for the police would have been to withdraw, as already suggested, into the compound of either the police office or the D.C.'s office after securing the arrest of as many as possible of the ring leaders. The third and last alternative only was to open fire.

After all, when faced with a difficult situation, a public servant is very often called upon to balance the various alternatives open to him and to choose the one which is likely to cause the least damage. This balancing of alternatives requires first of all a coolness of judgment which refuses to be perturbed. I know it is by no means easy to keep a cool head in circumstances such as faced the S.P. But difficult situations are the acid test of a man's real efficiency, of which the main ingredient is a cool head. That the S.P. ordered firing without trying to contact the D.C. who he knew was somewhere on the spot shows beyond doubt that he lost his head completely. That no attempt was made to rally the unarmed policemen who had run away, for a second lathi charge which H.N. Ray did not consider impracticable shows equally clearly that the S.P. did not even think of the alternatives to firing. The worst that could have happened, if firing had not been resorted to, was what actually happened after the firing and I am inclined to think that but for the firing, the crowd would not have gone as far as that, that in all probability, the processionists would have gone to the D.C.'s office, shouted slogans and jeered the officers in insulting language. Provocative as such demonstrations might have been, they would not have been half so bad as what actually happened. The firing thus not only failed to disperse the crowd or to prevent its members from going to the D.C.'s office but it actually gave rise to such a moral indignation in them that they did things which they would not have dreamt of doing, if firing had not been resorted to and some lives lost. Judged, therefore, by its results, the firing was an absolute failure and if only the S.P. could think at the moment, he would have easily foreseen the failure of such a step. My answer, therefore, to the third question is that there was no justification for the S.P. to open fire for dispersing the crowd that had already entered the prohibited area.

97. In my opinion then, the circumstances before the firing was ordered were not such as could reasonably be said to have justified the opening of the fire at all, far less the firing of as many as 34 rounds, one round having gone off in the air during the checking of the ammunition after the firing. In this connection, I may add that though it might be possible for the S.P. and Lahiri, D.S.P., to see those of the persons injured by bullets who were not far off from them, it is hardly possible that they were able to see that no one was actually hit by the first fifteen rounds and so I find it difficult to accept their statements that the first fifteen rounds were wholly ineffective.

VII. Did the S.P. shoot Kabita Bose with a revolver ?

(i) Strange things about story.

98. The only other point in controversy between the Council of Action, and the local Congress on the one hand and the State, J. Mukherjee and H. N. Ray on the other is whether the S.P. shot down Kabita Bose with a revolver. The Cooch Behar People's Association does not make any such case. In the written statement of the Congress, the girl's name is not given and even on the 14th June last, i.e., 3 days after the commencement of the inquiry, the lawyer for the Congress was not in a position to give out the name of the girl, and it was only when Mr. Gupta Bhaya disclosed that name to be Kabita Bose that the learned lawyer for the Congress said that was really the name of the girl (vide Order No. 4, dated 14th June 1951). This is certainly strange. There are about this story certain other things stranger still. L. M. Baksi (p. 22) says that on the 23rd April in the morning he heard that Lahiri, D.S.P., had shot a girl with his revolver and in the afternoon for the first time he heard of the S.P. having shot down a girl with his revolver. That more than one girl died of a revolver shot is no party's case, so that according to Baksi, D. Lahiri, D.S.P., was first rumoured as having killed a girl with his revolver and then the same afternoon it was shifted to the S.P. In the Hindusthan Standard, dated the 23rd April last, Bandana Talukdar is said to have been killed with a revolver and all the rest including Kabita are stated to have died from bullets by which obviously are meant rifle bullets. Then, if Shri Benode Behari Dutta, the seniormost laywer of Cooch Behar, be taken at his word, though as I shall have occasion to show later, this old and venerable gentleman did not hesitate to perjure himself on a vital matter, some one posing as Suresh Chandra Talukdar, Bandana's uncle saw him on the 22nd April last in the afternoon and instructed him to take up a case for the prosecution of the S.P. for having murdered Bandana and on the 26th he on behalf of this Suresh Chandra Talukdar filed an application to H.E. the Governor for sanctioning the prosecution of the S.P. under section 270 of the Government of India Act and also under section 197, Cr.P.C. That Shri B. B. Dutta asked for sanction under section 270 of the Government of India Act which stood repealed when the new Constitution came into force only shows the standard of legal erudition at Cooch Behar and does not call for any further comment. The Committee of Lawyers was formed on the 25th, as stated by Shri Naresh Chandra Bose (p. 763) and Shri Benode Behari Dutta was made its President. He claims to have attended only 2 of its meetings and though he cannot give the date of any of these meetings and though no record of the proceedings was kept, Shri B. B. Dutta is good enough to admit that these two meetings were held in April last. If these were held even on two consecutive days and immediately after the formation of the Committee on the 25th, the second could hardly have been held earlier than the 27th. Shri B. B. Dutta admits that so long as he attended the meetings of this Committee, he did not even hear a whisper of the S.P. having shot down Kabita Bose. The four eye-witnesses to this alleged murder of Kabita Bose by the S.P. did not on their own showing disclose this incident to Shri Aswini Bhattacharyya, a member of the Lawyers' Committee, for about 7 or 8 days of the occurrence, though some claim to have spoken of it to others who have not been examined, so that it is impossible to find out if they did really speak to them. Apart, therefore, from the story of Shri Chunilal Mukherjee and Bijan Ganguly that Bijan between about 2 p.m. and 2-30 p.m. on the 21st April revealed to Shri Chunilal Mukherjee in the hospital the atrocious act of the S.P. in shooting Kabita Bose in cold blood, no one at Cooch Behar appears to have heard of this story. From this it is fairly clear that the story of Bandana Talukdar having been killed by the S.P. still held the field up to very nearly the end of April, having originated most probably for the first time on the 22nd April last and having first received wide-spread publicity in the Hindusthan Standard of the 23rd April last.

(ii) Did this story of Kabita Bose having been shot by the S.P. come into being on the 21st April or much later ?

99. When then did this story of Kabita Bose having been shot by the S.P. come into existence? For the present, I leave out of consideration the evidence of the eye-witnesses and of Shri Chunilal Mukherjee who has lent to it the weight of his years and his status as a respected citizen. During the executive inquiry by Mr. Talukdar, A. B. Biswas, Sub-Inspector of Schools, was examined on the 30th April last. In the Hindusthan Standard of the 2nd of May last was published a summary of the evidence of a number of official witnesses, including A. B. Biswas. The following is the relevant extract from the published summary of the statement of A. B. Biswas before Mr. Talukdar: "He saw some persons including women standing near a light post near the junction of Victor Road and Jitendra Narayan Road. The total number would be about 70 or 80. There were also some persons scattered over the place. A girl waved to this group and led a procession with them to the corner of Sagardighi. Some policemen were standing near the corner and they had some words with them. This girl passed the police with some persons along the Sagardighi Road. He did not see what happened to them. After 10 or 15 minutes he heard the sound of firing in quick succession as in a wave. He looked through the shutters and saw persons running away. He did not see any police. He saw a girl aged about 15 or 16 years come running and drop down near his office. She was bleeding profusely from the left side of her chest. He came to know later that this girl was Bandana". The revealation made by this gentleman on the 30th April and given publicity in the Hindusthan Standard of the 2nd May last must have reached the people of Cooch Behar by the 4th May last at the latest. The question arises how it affects the story so far current, namely that it was Bandana Talukdar whom the S.P. had shot. The place where the S.P. is alleged to have shot a girl, whether it was Bandana or Kabita, becomes important in this connection. The evidence before me is that this took place about 10 or 12 cubits to the west of the letter box, i.e., somewhere near the site of the Sahid-bedi which was raised after the firing as a memorial to those killed. It is also the evidence before me that Kabita Bose with 3 or 4 other girls followed the S.P. The summary of the evidence of A. B. Biswas before Mr. Talukdar, as published in the Hindusthan Standard of the 2nd May last, speaks of a girl having led a procession of about 70 or 80 eastward beyond the south-eastern corner of Sagardighi. Who this girl is he does not say. Presumably it was Kabita Bose. Even if she was not, the erection of a memorial a few cubits to the west of the letter-box itself suggests that was where the girl was shot down by the S.P., whether it is Kabita or Bandana, described in the Council of Action's written statement as "the first victim to the cause of thousands of starving populace of Cooch Behar" (para. 38). Of course, it does not appear from the evidence when exactly the Sahid-bedi was constructed. When I inspected the place on the 12th June last, it was there and the keen interest of the Cooch Behar people in the inquiry, as evidenced by the large attendance during my sittings at Cooch Behar for over a month and a halt justifies the inference that it probably came into existence not long after the firing. The distance between the letter box and mango tree No. 1, as appears from the chart, Ex. 47/1(1)S, is 123 ft., i e., 41 yards. The distance between the north-eastern corner of the Sahid-bedi and the south-western corner of the compound of the office of the School Inspector which are the two points of the Sahid-bedi and the compound of the School Inspector's office which are nearest to each other would not be less than this. If the S P. had shot down Bandana near the site of the Sahid-bedi and if, as A. B. Biswas says, she fell down near his office, the question arises whether after having been shot through the left arm and through her chest region, she could have covered that distance before falling down The obvious answer is in the negative. Would not the self-same question agitate the mind of the Cooch Behar people when this report of the Hindusthan Standard of the 2nd of May last reached at least some of their leading men, as it must have? Shri Chunilal Mukherjee says (p. 723) he ordinarily reads the Amrita Bazar Patrika and the Hindusthan Standard. Is it at all likely that after such a tragic incident he would stop reading one of the papers which he was normally in the habit of reading? On the other hand, what seems far more likely is that he would not only read these papers but read them, particularly the Cooch Behar news, more closely than ever before. The reaction of the summary of the evidence of A. B. Biswas before Mr. Talukdar on those people of Cooch Behar who read it would be an increasing disbelief in the story of Bandana having been shot by the S.P., and to my mind, that evidence is likely to have given a quietus to this story. In other words, then, from about the 3rd or 4th of May last when this revealation of the Hindustan Standard of the 2nd of May last reached the people of Cooch Behar, the story current so far died. In this connection, the evidence of the four eye-witnesses that they made their statements to Shri Aswini Bhattacharya, a member of the Committee of Lawyers about a week after the occurrence may be recalled. Shri Aswini Bhattacharya has not been examined, there is no record of the proceedings of this Committee and there is no indication available anywhere when exactly these four witnesses made their statements to him When, therefore, they say that they made their statements to him about a week after the occurrence, they might have done so even two weeks after, there being no available check on their testimony on this point and there being every reason to suspect the accuracy of this statement, when a body of lawyers charged with the collection of materials to be placed before the inquiring tribunal, official or non-official does not keep any record of its proceedings and when the notes of instruction embodying the statements of the witnesses are also not available, whatever the reason might be for their not being available. Shri Binode Behari Dutta (p. 798) volunteered that about 4, 5 or 6 days after he received from the man who introduced himself as Suresh Chandra Talukdar instructions which he claims to have received on the 22nd, he heard from certain persons whose names he cannot give, that there were persons who had seen with their own eyes Kabita Bose being shot by the S P. with a revolver. Yet in the sentence preceding he admitted he did not ever hear a whisper of the S P. having shot Kabita Bose during any of the two meetings of the Committee of Lawyers he attended. How far even this old gentleman, held in high esteem all over the town testified to the truth, will have to be examined later on. Here it will suffice to say that as he is not in a position to give the exact date when he first heard of this story of Kabita Bose having been shot by the S.P. and says it might be 4, 5 or 6 days after the 22nd, it may be that he really heard of it well after the end of April last. At pages 791-92, he says he was informed of the formation of the Committee of Lawyers 3 or 4 days after the firing and he continued to be the President of that Committee for about 4 or 5 days after the communication of this information to him. From this, it is clear that his connection with the Committee losted up to end of April. It is now said that Shri Binode Behari Dutta was made the Chairman of the Committee of Lawyers out of respect for his age but he did not take any real interest in the work of the Committee and he himself says he attended only two meetings of that Committee both of which were held in the last part of April last. Yet, as admitted by Shri Chunilal Mukherjee (p. 723), in a public meeting held on the 29th April last, a resolution was passed demanding a non-official inquiry by Dr. Radha Benode Pal, Mr. P. R. Das, Mr. Atul Chandra Gupta, Dr. Meghnad Saha and Shri Binode Behari Dutta. The first four are some of the most illustrious and most respected sons of Bengal and evidently when Shri B. B. Dutta was mentioned as the fifth member of a Tribunal which included four such names, the conclusion is inescapable that Shri B. B. Dutta was the only person in Cooch Behar who could be thought of as the nearest approximation to these four names in respectability and further that it was no mere courtesy extended to him out of respect for his age. It seems to be quite unlikely that he was mentioned as a member of this non-official tribunal, even though he could not be expected to be able to take an active interest in the inquiry which has been, as far as I can say from personal experience, far from easy. The fact that Shri B. B. Dutta was suggested on the 29th April last as the fifth member of this non-official inquiry committee affords further confirmation of Shri B. B. Dutta having still retained his connection with the Committee of Lawyers on the 29th April last. Admittedly also Shri B. B Dutta attended my very first day's sitting at Cooch Behar and then for reasons unknown, he ceased altogether to attend it even occasionally. All these facts seem to me to indicate that somehow or other Shri B. B. Dutta either of his own accord or under pressure offered himself as a scape-goat when he made a number of statements which, contrary to what one might expect from him, bear on them the unmistacable stamp of untruth. When such is the general character of his testimony, there is every reason to suspect that he might not after all have heard of the S.P. having shot Kabita Bose towards the end of April last, as he claims to have done and that he might have heard of it after the evidence of A. B. Biswas before Mr. Talukdar reached the people of Cooch Behar on the 3rd or 4th of May last. Thus, as far as the four eye-witnesses and Shri B. B. Dutta are concerned, the probabilities are that the first four disclosed what they claim to have seen about the S.P. shooting Kabita Bose and the last heard of it, sometime after the 3rd or 4th May last.

(iii) Did Shri Chunilal Mukherjee hear of this story from Bijan on the 21st April between 2 and 2-30 p.m.?

100. The only other thing to be considered in connection with the genesis of the story of the murder of Kabita Bose by the S.P. is whether Shri Chunilal Mukherjee really heard of it from Bijan Ganguly, as he claims to have done on the 21st April last between 2 and 2-30 p.m. It is Shri Chunilal Mukherjee's evidence that he first went to the Hospital in Dr. Basak's jeep, made inquiries about the number of persons, injured and killed, stayed there for about half-an-hour, went to the Telegraph office, sent a telegram to the Hon'ble Chief Minister, came back to the Hospital on hearing on his way home that two more persons had died in the Hospital and after having visited the Telegraph office again and corrected his telegram, came to know that only one, namely, Badal Biswas died, and he saw Bijan and heard from him of Kabita Bose having been shot by the S.P., stayed in all in the Hospital for about 10 minutes on this occasion and then went back home at about 2-30 p.m. (pp. 693 and 702). From this, one can reasonably put the time of this alleged interview between Bijan and Shri Chunilal Mukherjee between 2 and 2-30 p.m. The history-sheets or bedhead tickets, the injury reports and the books containing such reports in respect of all the persons injured during the lathi charge and the firing and admitted in the Hospital were called for on behalf of the Council of Action on the 18th June last and these were sent to me in a sealed cover on the 19th. On the 16th of June last, Mr. Gupta Bhaya promised to supply Mr. Ghatak with the gist of the statements of persons who claimed to have seen the S.P. shooting Kabita Bose by Monday following, i.e., the 18th June last and though there is no note in the order sheet when this was actually supplied, it may be presumed that it was supplied on the 18th June last, as promised. In the gist of Bijan's statement supplied, there is no indication at all that he stated anything of what he had seen to Shri Chunilal Mukherjee or any one else. Shri Chunilal Mukherjee was not examined till the 25th July last. Thus, on the 19th June last when these hospital papers reached me in a sealed cover no one on the side of the State, H. N. Ray or J. Mukherjee could possibly have had an inkling of what Bijan or Shri Chunilal Mukherjee was going to say. There could not thus have been on the part of any one of them or any one else any intelligible motive for tampering with these Hospital papers before the 19th June last. Now, the bedhead ticket of Bijan shows that he was given a morphia injection at 1 p.m. on the 21st April last, so that the alleged interview between Bijan and Shri Chunilal Mukherjee must have taken place at least an hour after this injection. Bijan's own statement (p. 852) is that he met Shri Chunilal Mukherjee after the first injection, that the second was given to him about 2 or 2½ hours after the first and that he fell asleep about half-an-hour after the second. Mr. Gupta Bhaya argued that the time '1 p.m.' noted against the morphia injection is the time when the prescription for such an injection was made and not when the injection was given. The time of the prescription is hardly of any use to the doctors, but the time of the morphia injection is of very great use to them. Even if this morphia injection did not induce sleep in this boy when he is said to have met Shri Chunilal Mukherjee and volunteered the information that he had seen Kabita being shot by the S.P. in a way that seems to suggest that he was not merely in full possession of his senses but perfectly normal, he could not possibly have been in as conscious a state as his own evidence and that of Shri Chunilal Mukherjee would make him out to have been. The very fact of a morphia injection, together with the nature of the punctured injury with 3 opaque foreign bodies lodged in the acetabular notch, as found in X-ray examination, indicates that he must have been in extreme agony. A boy in that extreme state of agony is hardly likely to have volunteered to Shri Chunilal Mukherjee the information that he saw Kabita being shot by S.P. in the way in which he is said to have done, specially when Bijan on his own showing did not disclose this to any of the doctors or nurses of the Hospital though he knew that Kabita had acted there as a nurse before. If the entry referred to in the bedhead ticket of Bijan makes one suspect the truthfulness of the evidence of both Bijan and Shri Chunilal Mukherji as regards the interview between them, Shri Chunilal Mukherji's own conduct convinces me beyond doubt that it is untrue. He asks Bijan to keep this information a close secret and he himself keeps it a close secret, except from Shri Naresh Chandra Bose to whom he disclosed it the same day (p. 721). Yet Shri Naresh Chandra Bose does not even mentioned it. He further says (p. 721) that he spoke of this to Suresh De at about 7 p.m. that very day when he met him at the Hospital and to Shri Aswini Bhattacharyya about a week later. But neither of these two has been examined. Questioned as to his motive for this secrecy, Shri Chunilal Mukherji (p. 720) says that the only reason why he asked Bijan not to speak of it to others was that in the state of excitement then prevailing, the dissemination of that bit of information might result in some harm being done to the S.P. and his sole consideration then was the safety of the S.P. Yet in the afternoon conference on the 21st he called the S.P. a cold-blooded murderer. He explains (p 721) that when he said this, what were uppermost in his mind were the S.P's. shooting down of Kabita Bose and the killing of others as a result of the firing. He further says that when he mentioned this in the conference he was himself excited but he was not expected to take part in excesses. He again admits he did not tell the D.C., A.D.C. or the S.D.O. who were in the conference that the S.P had shot Kabita. If he could in this conference charge the S.P. with having been a cold-blooded murderer, as both he and Shri Sibnath Banerji say, though H. N. Ray does not remember it, I do not see how the personal safety of the S.P. could have been endangered to a greater extent by his making explicit what was already implicit in this charge. The thing may be looked at from another point of view. If the S.P. had used his revolver, Shri Chunilal Mukherji as an experienced man of the world and as a retired professor of the local college could hardly have failed to think of the vital importance of an immediate examination of the S.P.'s revolver and this could hardly have been done without the co-operation of the D.C. and the A.D.C., so that he could have at least called them aside, disclosed this to them and asked for an immediate seizure of the S.P.'s revolver, its safe custody till it could be examined by an expert. Not merely does Shri Chunilal Mukherji refrain from doing this, he refrains from speaking of it to Mr. Talukdar when he arrived on the 22nd, nor does he speak of this to the D.I.G. This, however, is not all, He does not speak of it even to Shri Sibnath Banerji who was authorised by the Council of Action in a resolution to give publicity to the firing incident and to move the Hon'ble Chief Minister and Shri Sibnath Banerji's statement published in the Hindusthan Standard of the 23rd April last does not even hint at this. If he could speak of what he had learnt from Bijan to Shri Naresh Chandra Bose and one Suresh De on the 21st April last, the fact that he did not breathe a word of it to Shri Sibnath Banerjee seems mysterious indeed. The professed anxiety for the S.P.'s personal safety can hardly account for this self-imposed vow of silence, which is only comparable to Shri B. B. Dutta's silence, regarding the instructions he received from one who introduced himself as Suresh Chandra Talukdar, Bandana's uncle. In these circumstances, I feel convinced that both Shri Chunilal Mukherji and Bijan Ganguly lied when they introduced this alleged interview in their evidence.

(iv) Did Shri B. B. Dutta and Shri Suresh Chandra Talukdar tell the truth when they stated that the second did not instruct the first for filling an application for prosecuting the S.P.?

101. Before I pass on to a consideration of the evidence of the four eye-witnesses it will be convenient to dispose of the evidence of Shri B. B. Dutta and Shri Suresh Chandra Nath Talukdar about the application, Ex. 91(S) to His Excellency the Governir for sanctioning the prosecution of the S.P. The facts now admitted are that Bandana Talukdar died as a result of the police firing, that Shri Surseh Talukdar is her uncle and that he is one of the two secretaries to the local branch of the Hindu Mahasabha, in which his position is next only to that of Shri Chunilal Mukherjee, its president. Yet in the first published news of the incident, Bandana is alleged to have died from a revolver shot and Kabita Bose from a bullet like the others. As I have already pointed out, the story of Bandana having been shot by the S.P. maintained its currency till the evidence of A. B. Biswas before Mr. Talukdar on the 30th April, as published in the Hindusthan Standard of the 2nd May reached Cooch Behar on the 3rd or the 4th May last and killed it. I have further found that Shri Chunilal Mukherjee's story of having heard of the murder of Kabita Bose by the S.P. from Bijan Ganguly between 2 and 2.30 p.m. on the 21st April last is false. From these two findings put together, it follows that in all probability the story of Kabita having been shot by the S.P. was born shortly after the story of Bandana having been shot by him died. In other words, while the framework of the story remained in tact, the identity of the victim changed and as far as it is possible on the materials before me to judge, this change dates from the 3rd or 4th May last at the earliest. Why this story was not abandoned altogether on the publication of the evidence of A. B. Biswas before Mr. Talukdar one can only guess. Whoever might have been responsible for this refashioning of a story which somehow or other, in one form or another, received currency from the very beginning evidently expected the earlier version as embodied in Ex. 91(S) to receive a burial somewhere in the huge dump of files at headquarters, but found later to his or their dismay, its exhumation when the inquiry had already made some progress. It was this exhumation which made it necessary for me to summon Shri B. B. Dutta as a court witness after I had ascertained that he would not be examined on behalf of the Council of Action, though Suresh Nath Talukdar would.

102. Shortly put, Shri B. B. Dutta's evidence is that on the 21st April last in the evening for the first time he came to hear of Shri Suresh Nath Talukdar as a man from Eastern Pakistan and having a sweetmeat shop in the local bazar and also of his wife, his nephew and his niece having been injured in the firing, and of two of them having already died, that on the 22nd at about 7-30 p.m. a gentleman came along, introduced himself as Suresh Chandra Talukdar and instructed him to apply for sanction for the prosecution of the S.P. for having murdered his niece Bandana Talukdar, that in view of his bereavements he did not insist on any written instructions from him, that the loose sheet of paper on which he noted the name, and the age of this gentleman's niece and the circumstances in which she was killed he did not care to preserve and that C.A.W. 3, Shri Suresh Nath Talukdar was not the man who approached him that day and gave him the instructions. In his cross-examination Shri B. B. Dutta admits that on the 22nd April last at about 10 p.m. the dead bodies were made over to their relations at the Hospital gate for cremation and it is also in evidence that this was preceded by long discussions between the Commissioner on the one hand and the local officials including L. M. Baksi and the local leaders on the other (p. 75). Admittedly also the dead bodies were taken out in a procession much bigger than the one fired upon. Shri B. B. Dutta admits that in view of these facts it was an unusual hour for the uncle of a deceased girl and a deceased boy to approach him with a request to take up as a lawyer on his behalf the prosecution of the S.P. for the murder of Bandana. This, however, did not occur to him at the time. Or could it be that the date and the hour of this strange impostor's visit, for he could be nothing less if Shri B. B. Dutta and Shri Suresh Nath Talukdar are to be believed, have been deliberately fixed in a manner likely to convince one that it was really an impostor who approached Shri B. B. Dutta? That an old and experienced lawyer like him, whatever the extent and the depth of his legal erudition, did not in the situation in the town that evening, a situation of which he as a prominent citizen of Cooch Behar must have been aware, sense a mystery in the visit to his house, of the uncle of a boy and a girl killed in the firing at a time when the bodies were still to be cremated and their bodies were being demanded by the people for being led in a procession, does seem surprising even in one so old. If a charitable view of this is possible, there are certain other things which to my mind, do not admit of any such explanation. Shri B. B. Dutta admits he did not think it necessary to ask the man his address or to note down the address, even though he knew that he might have to communicate with him later. Yet he repels the suggestion that he did not think it necessary because the man was wellknown to him as the Secretary to the local Hindu Mahasabha. Nor did Shri B. B. Dutta consider it necessary to ask the man to see him again, because whenever necessary, he could always be sent for from the bazar. He further admits he received on the 18th June last a communication, Ex. 3(M) rejecting his application for sanction and yet he did not communicate this to his client, partly because the application was rejected and partly also because the judicial inquiry had already commenced. One has to pause here for a moment and to ask oneself if one was really hearing an experienced lawyer of 71 with an established position in Cooch Behar or just some one to whom any story is good enough for a Court of law. He had never heard of this Suresh Chandra Talukdar till the evening of the 21st and it was then that he heard that he had a sweetmeat shop at the bazar. Would he not care to verify it? If the idea of verifying this struck him, as it must have, would he not care to note down the address, or the exact location of the shop, even if the information he had received on the preceding evening, was found to be correct? Would he not care again to inform his client of the rejection of his application for sanction? The commencement of the judicial inquiry, instead of being an excuse for him, made it all the more necessary for him to send for his client and explain to him what he should or should not do. That the application stood rejected made it equally imperative that he should be sent for and advised as to the next step to be taken. It is not that Shri B. B. Dutt's advanced years have made him forgetful of his duties as a lawyer to his client. He finds these very duties extremely handy as an explanation of his conduct in keeping his lips sealed not merely against the instructions he received from his client but also against the report he had, that it was Bandana who had been killed by the S.P. Even when he heard that it was Kabita whom the S.P. had killed, and on his own evidence (pp. 791-92) he probably heard of this for the first time after the end of April, he did not care to send for his client and to ask him what actually the facts were. This at any rate would not have involved any breach of faith with his client. Thus, on his own evidence he is on certain occasions negligent in the discharge of his professional duties to his client and on other occasions he is so very careful that even though the bare duty of trying to ascertain the truth when another version of the matter reached his ears demanded that he should contact his client and after speaking to him about it, should speak of it to others, he simply sits tight and does nothing. But this is not all. He now professes a complete indifference to the acts of the Committee of lawyers and says that since he ceased to be the President of that body he has not taken any interest in the Council of Action. This professed indifference of his is also spoken of by Shri Chunilal Mukherjee. Yet when Mr. Gupta Bhaya and Mr. Lahiri, two Calcutta lawyers visited Chuni Babu's house in connection with the preparation of the case for the Council of Action to be presented before the Tribunal to hold the inquiry, Shri B. B. Dutta went there on hearing of their arival, saw them busy receiving instructions from others and so thinking it unnecessary to interfere he left (p. 799). Does this admitted visit of his to Shri Mukherjee's house show his indifference to the Council of Action or just the reverse? In vain does one look for an answer in his evidence. That evidence from what has so far been discussed is clearly such as no one can accept, reluctant and sorry indeed as one is bound to be to have to discard as false the testimony of one whose age and respectability certainly entitle him to the best possible consideration. It is clearly the falsity of his evidence which has landed him in absurdities and inconsistencies for which no explanation is available in his evidence.

103. I shall now turn to Shri Suresh Nath Talukdar who says he never even saw Shri B. B. Dutta and never instructed him to apply for sanction for the prosecution of the S.P. for Bandana's murder and if Shri Dutta filed such an application, it was without his instructions. This gentleman is a graduate of the Calcutta University. Admittedly his full name is Suresh Chandra Nath Talukdar, Nath being his family name and Chandra being a part of what may be called his Christian name. Admittedly also in his Matriculation and Intermediate certificates and in his B.A. diploma his full name is entered. But he says that since his school days he has dropped 'Chandra' from his name. That sounds unlikely for if he had really dropped it, the name in the certificates and the diploma could hardly have been his full name. Admittedly he was addressed as Suresh Chandra Talukdar on the 6th June last, as Ex. 1(M), produced by Mr. Ghatak shows. Admittedly also when on the 25th April last he presided in a public meeting at Cooch Behar the staff reporter of the Hindusthan Standard in a report published in the issue of the 26th April named him Suresh Chandra Talukdar. That Ex. 1(M) relates to him is admitted by him, for there is no Secretary of the local Hindu Mahasabha bearing that name. That he used sometimes to be called Suresh Nath Talukdar is also clear from his ration card and Ex. 2(M), another envelope produced by himself. On the evidence, therefore, it is abundantly clear that his full name was really Suresh Chandra Nath Talukdar and he used to be called sometimes Suresh Chandra and sometimes Suresh Nath, Talukdar, sometimes 'Chandra' and sometimes 'Nath' being dropped. Besides if a man introduces himself or is known as Suresh Nath Talukdar, he may well be mistakenly named Suresh Chandra Talukdar, particularly if no note of the name be kept, as none was kept by Shri B. B. Dutta for he admits he only made a note of Bandana's name, her age and the circumstances of her death. The co-existence, therefore, of 'Chandra' and 'Nath' as parts of his name would hardly permit this gentleman by itself to repudiate with success his connection with Ex. 91(S) which Shri B B. Dutta admits having filed for a man bearing the name Suresh Chandra Talukdar. Now, if the evidence of both Shri B. B. Dutta and Shri Suresh Nath Talukdar be assumed to be true, it necessarily follows that an impostor approached the first on the 22nd April in the evening and duped him to file an application on behalf of the second to Her Excellency the Governor for according sanction to the prosecution of the S.P. for the murder of Bandana, his niece. Whose interest could it be on that date to dupe Shri B. B Dutta in this manner? Obviously it was not to the interest of the S.P. to have the first move made for his own prosecution, specially when on the 22nd with the whole town clamouring for the delivery of the dead bodies in order that they might be taken out in a procession he must have had his hands more than full. If the possibility of the S.P. having arranged this fraud on an old gentleman is ruled out, as it must be, the impostor must have been some one sincerely anxious to secure the prosecution of the S.P. Who could be more anxious for such a prosecution than the aggrieved relations of the persons killed? If any of the relations of Banada were responsible, what was the necessity of this fraud when the easiest possible thing for the relation was to approach a lawyer himself and to instruct him to proceed against the S P. Thus a process of reductio ad absurdum drives one to the inescapable conclusion that it was Shri Suresh Nath Talukdar himself and no one else who really approached Shri B. B. Dutta and gave him instructions. At the time when this happened, the story still current was that it was Bandana who had died from a revolver shot of the S.P. Nothing, therefore, could be more natural than that this gentleman should approach Shri B. B. Dutta, not of course on the 22nd but sometime between that date and the 26th April last, the date which Ex. 91(S) bears. That Suresh Nath Talukdar is a clever man is obvious from the fact that though the family came to Cooch Behar from East Pakistan presumably after its creation in August 1947 he had already been the Secretary to the local Hindu Mahasabha for about a year and a half on the 30th July when he deposed, being next in rank only to its president Shri Chunilal Mukherjee. That such a man should be a perfect stranger to Shri B. B. Dutta, another wellknown personage of Cooch Behar seems unlikely and if all the features of his evidence I have already referred to and the probabilities are taken into account, the conclusion becomes irresistible that both of them perjured themselves when they said that Ex. 91(S) was not drawn up on the basis of the instructions given by Shri Suresh Nath Talukdar and that Shri Suresh Nath Talukdar not merely instructed Shri B. B. Dutta but he also knew of the fate of his application. The question arises here why a man of Shri B. B. Dutta's position should stoop so low. That he did stoop so low, the circumstances leave no room for doubt and the only charitable explanation of this moral lapse on his part which I can think of is that he chose to make a scapegoat of himself rather than see the case for the Council of Action shipwrecked on his evidence, either under pressure or from a mistaken sense of loyalty to the cause of the people of Cooch Behar, totally oblivious of the utter futility of falsehood as a means of serving any good cause.

(v) The four eye-witnesses.

104. I shall now run through the evidence of the four eye-witnesses, Sailen Sarkar, Bijan Ganguly, Latika Ghosh and Purnima Banerjee, C.A.W.'s 5-8. Briefly stated, their evidence is that when the S.P. was taking Shri N. C. Bose westward under arrest, Kabita followed him with a few other girls and after the S.P. had made over Shri N. C. Bose to some constables, near the letter box she started remonstrating with him, he caught hold of her left hand with his own left hand, turned her round in such a way that he was placed sideways at the back of her right arm so as to be able to shoot her with his revolver through her right arm and he did shoot her and this was followed by a succession of shots from the armed police. Even according to the police version, there was one shot to start with, namely the shot fired by naik Abinash Dhar under the S.P.'s orders. According to these witnesses it was the shot fired by the S.P. himself to kill Kabita Bose.

105. All these four witnesses are very young, three of them being school students and the other, a matriculate, Sailen Sarkar and Pratima Banerjee are about 18 each, Bijan about 15 Latika about 20. When an incident of this nature happens in the presence of a large number of persons, exceeding 2,000 and when evidently a large number of sightseers had collected on the north and the west also, it may be legitimately expected that it will not fail to attract the attention of many more, some at least of whom must be older men with a greater sense of responsibility than these youngsters who alone were produced before me as eye-witnesses Shri S. M. Baksi, Chairman of the Municipality and Shri Ajit Kumar Roy, the Vice-Chairman were watching the scene from the verandah of the Municipal building. But they do not see this incident. Nor is it seen by any one else. This by itself exposes the evidence of these witnesses to very serious suspicion.

106. Secondly, all of them claim to have seen the somewhat involved movements by which the S.P. standing face to face with Kabita and catching hold of her left arm with his left hand, placed himself in such a position in relation to her that he was able to shoot with his right hand through her right arm. It is incomprehensible why the S.P. when facing her should catch hold of her left arm with his left hand when the more natural thing for him would be to catch hold of her right arm with his left hand. It is equally incomprehensible why he should take the trouble of jerking her round in that manner so as to be able to shoot her through the right arm. If a man wants to shoot another and kill him, any arm or any vital part of the body would be good enough to aim at. The S.P. could not possibly have had any fascination for the right arm of Kabita. There is not even a hint of this involved movement on the part of the S.P. in the gist of the statements of these witnesses supplied to Mr. Ghatak by Mr. Gupta Bhaya. This at least throws it open to the suspicion that this involved movement was a later invention and the reason for this invention is not far to seek. Bandana was shot through the left arm and Kabita through her right. When Bandana had to be replaced by Kabita as the victim of the S.P. as a result of the published evidence of A. B. Biswas before Mr. Talukdar it had probably to be done without anything like serious reflection. Besides, when this had to be done, the postmortem report on Kabita's body was not open to inspection by any one on the side of the people. It reached me in a sealed cover and it was allowed to be inspected only after the gist of the statements of these eyewitnesses had been supplied. Nothing is further from my mind here than to suggest for a moment that any of the lawyers who inspected that report could possibly have had anything to do with any such invention, but it is reasonable to expect them to have communicated the results of their inspection of the report to their clients or their client's advisers other than lawyers. The natural sequel is an invention of this type. This invention, I confess, called for a certain amount of ingenuity, though that ingenuity itself together with the unusual accuracy of observation which enabled all these witnesses to see and reproduce months later what they claim to have seen in circumstances hardly conducive to careful and accurate observation appears to me to be one of the surest signs of concoction.

107. Thirdly, the medical evidence is totally inconsistent with the evidence of these witnesses that Kabita died from a revolver shot. Item No. 10 of Ex. 65(S) shows she had 2 punctured wounds, each ¼ inch in diameter, one on the outer side and the other on the medial side of the upper third of the right arm, one penetrating wound on the upper and outer quadrant of the right breast, margins charred, ¼ inch in diameter and one lacerated oblique injury 4″ × 2″ on the back of the left scapula, exposing muscles and ribs with effusion of flood. The margins of the wound on the outer side of the upper third of the right arm were found charred. In the post-mortem report, Ex. 67(S) the wounds are described as 2 punctured wounds, entrance being on the outer side, exit on the medial side, of the upper third of the right arm, a gunshot wound on the upper and outer quadrant of the right breast and a lacerated injury 4″ × 2″ from 1½ inch above the lower border of the left scapula. Charring was noticed in the injured part of the lungs. The report further states that the gunshot entered the outer aspect of the right arm, made an exit through the medial side, penetrated the upper and outter quadrant of right breast, perforating the chest wall, the middle lobe of the right lung, lacerated the pericardial sac, injured the descending aorta and oesophagus, lacerated the lower lobe of the left lung and fractured the 7th, 8th and 9th ribs with laceration of the scapular muscles. It is the opinion of Dr. Kabir Hossain, Professor of Forensic and State Medicine, Calcutta Medical College, on the basis of the post-mortem and injury reports and also that Dr. Guha Mazumdar that the injuries could have been caused by high velocity weapon like a .303 service rifle. Dr. Kabir Hussain assigns the following reasons for his opinion: The wounds on the right arm and the entrance wound on the right breast are of equal measurements, namely, ¼ inch in diameter; the would of exit in the trunk is a lacerated injury with laceration of the scapular and other muscles and thirdly, the track of the shot was almost a straight line with slight deflection towards the second wound of exit, a high velocity projectile having a greater tendency to follow the same course. He explained the slight deflection by the fact that the projectile met with a resistance at the ribs which were fractured. Dr. Hussain (p. 486) rules out the possibility of such injuries having been caused by a low velocity projectile like a revolver bullet on the grounds first, that such a bullet could not, after passing through the arm and the chest and so many organs, have followed the same course and would have got deflected and deformed so as to be likely to be lodged inside the tissues; secondly, that if fired from a point-blank range it might traverse the whole body but would be deflected here and there and the final wound of exit would be generally 1 inch or 1½ inch or thereabouts and could not have been as big as 4″ × 2″; thirdly, that if a revolver is fired from a pointblank range, it would cause a larger wound with laceration of the tissues in a cross-shaped manner at the first wound of entrance and also in addition to burning marks, blackening or tattooing implanted in the tissues will be noticed; and fourthly, that if it encountered bony resistance at a later stage of its journey, it can still fracture the bone or bones but not on such an extensive scale as in Ex. 67(S). Mr. Gupta Bhaya made much of the fact that the margins of the first wound of entrance were described as charred. That the doctors in this case at first took the denudation of the epithelium to be charring is evident from their own statements. One of them found charring even in the lung tissues. At p. 431, Vol. 1 of Talyor's Principles and Practice of Medical Jurisprudence it is stated that all entrance wounds, if examined, will be found to have a zone of denuded epithelium, immediately surrounding the orifice, which is caused by the spin of the bullet and the invagination of the skin by the bullet and which tends to dry and become discoloured shortly after death but this should not be confused with the marks due to powder, for it gives no indication of range. At page 430, it is said that the edges of the wound show a narrow ring of discoloration due to the removal of a layer of epithelium by the passage of the bullet and the surrounding skin may be scorched or not and there may be a zone of blackening or peppering with grains of powder, according to the distance from which the weapon was fired. From this it is quite clear that it is not unusual for doctors without much experience of gunshot injuries to mistake the discoloration caused by the denudation of the epithelium for charring. There is hardly any reason why the medical evidence should be doubted and this clearly shows that the injuries on Kabita Bose were caused not by a revolver bullet, as now alleged but by a rifle bullet as reported in the Hindusthan Standard on the 23rd April last. The thing may be looked at from another point of view also. The S.P. J. Mukherjee is a tall man, about 6′ in height. The hight of Kabita is not known. She was about 19. Even if she was taller than the average Bengali girl she would not possibly have been anywhere near 6′ in height. Admittedly both the S.P. and Kabita were standing. If therefore, the S.P. actually shot her through the right arm from pointblank range, the direction of the wound even in the arm would have been from above downwards. But according to Dr. S. K. Ghosh who held her post-mortem examination (p. 465) the direction of the injuries was horizontal through the arm and oblique backwards and downwards through the trunk. Thus from whichever angle it is viewed, the medical evidence completely belies the evidence of these four witnesses.

108. Fourthly, Bijan, as I have already found, lied together with Shri Chunilal Mukherjee, about the interview between them. The interview had to be invented just to strengthen his evidence regarding the alleged murder of Kabita by the S.P. If a false story has to be got up to support another story, the falsity of the first would to some extent at any rate reflect the real character of the second, for normally for the establishment of what is true, one does not resort to falsehood in that way.

109. Fifthly, there is another ground for disbelieving Bijan's evidence. Bijan on his own showing took part in throwing brickbats on the police from near the School Inspector's office and then he says he walked up to the canna grove whence he saw the incident and where also he received a bullet injury. Bijan is item No. 7 of Ex. 62(S). His injuries are a punctured wound on the right buttock measuring ¼″ × ½″ and an abrasion on the middle of the left scapula ¼″ × ½″. The first was caused by a gunshot and the second by a blunt weapon. This exhibit further shows that on X-ray examination 3 pieces of opaque foreign bodies were found at the upper margin of the right acetabular notch. From this Mr. Ghatak argued that the boy could not possibly have been near the canna grove, for near the canna grove there is no big tree or building against which the bullet could have first got broken into pieces before striking him. It is certainly true that near the canna grove there is no big tree or building. It is also true that if after a gunshot injury three pieces of foreign bodies are found lodged in the body, the inference is irresistible that those pieces must be parts of a bullet. The X-ray plate itself was not called for on behalf of the Council of Action as it should have been nor was any of the doctors cross-examined on the results of the X-ray examination or as to whether the bullet could have got broken by striking the thighbone or whether the X-ray plate really shows any injury to the thighbone. There is however, one fact which suggests to me the untenable nature of Mr. Ghatak's contention, namely that the bullet must have first struck a hard surface such as that of a big tree or building, got broken under that impact and then the pieces must have entered Bijan's body. This fact is that Bijan had only once entrance wound. If he had been struck by three separate pieces of the bullet, as one may reasonably expect on the assumption that the bullet got broken under its impact with a hard surface before striking Bijan, there would certainly have been 3 different entrance wounds. That there was only one seems to indicate that somehow or other the bullet got broken after its entry into his body. There is however, the fact that the depth of the injury is only ½″ and in a fleshy part too. To my mind it suggests that the force of the bullet had been almost spent before it struck Bijan and that again suggests that he must have been farther off than the canna grove which is quite close to the place whence the armed constables opened fire. As on his own showing he was near the School Inspector's office at one stage, it is more than probable that it was there that he was hit by a bullet and that would also be consistent with the nature of the injury caused to him by a gunshot. Thus, the depth of the gunshot injury on Bijan militates against his being near the canna grove so as to be able to see the S.P. shooting Kabita.

110. Sixthly, the evidence on the record does not furnish any clue whatever to the S.P.'s motive for murdering Kabita. She was only remonstrating with him. That would hardly provide anything like an adequate motive for murdering her in cold blood. The Council of Action seems to have insinuated without saying so explicity, that fire had to be opened by the constables under the S.P's orders just as a cover for this murder. In other words, according to the Council of Action the S.P. first shoots a girl in cold blood, although no clue is available to any motive for his doing so and then to cover it up, he orders the police to open fire so that more persons might be killed. Unless the S.P. is a monster in human form, he could hardly have done that. However much he might have erred in ordering his men to open fire in circumstances which called above everything else for coolness of judgment, one cannot take him to be such a monster without the strongest possible evidence.

111. Lastly, no one except these four witnesses actually saw the S.P. armed with a revolver. H. N. Ray when he caught sight of him before the firing did not see any revolver with him. Even Sailen Sarkar saw only a baton in his hand when he was taking Shri Naresh Chandra Bose under arrest. When and how then could the S.P. have armed himself with a revolver?

112. From the facts and circumstances discussed above, it became abundantly clear that these four witnesses came to court with a story, got up after the publication of the evidence of A. B. Biswas before Mr. Talukdar and given the finishing touches some time later. That the story finally presented before me gradually evolved from certain floating items of gossip or rumour seems to me to be obvious. Shri B. B. Dutta heard on the 21st April in the evening that the S.P. shot a girl. L. M. Baksi heard next morning that the D.S.P. had shot a girl and he heard on the evening of the 22nd that it was the S.P. who had shot a girl. In the first published report of the occurrence, the Hindusthan Standard mentioned only Bandana as having died from a revolver shot. On the 26th Shri B. B. Dutta submits to Her Excellency the Governor on instructions from Bandana's uncle an application for sanctioning the prosecution of the S.P. for Bandana's murder. Finally, however, this story undergoes a transformation in which Kabita takes the place of Bandana. It is probably inevitable that a firing incident of this nature should prove a fertile breeding ground for all manner of gossip but it is far from inevitable that a particular item of gossip should be seized upon by responsible men without much of an attempt to examine the foundations on which it might rest and deliberately dressed up so as to look like truth. The four youngsters, two boys and two girls, might quite conceivably have come forward on their own initiative with a story they must have known to be false, just for the sake of becoming heroes in the eyes of their countrymen. The prevalent atmosphere of the town and the conduct of some of their elders who, although they took a prominent part in the procession before the lathi charge and the firing, somehow or other found themselves at a safe distance from both the lathis of the police and their rifles, leaving others to face the lathis and the bullets, must have been an encouragement to these youngsters in what, I hope, was their first and last essay in falsehood. That their story, false as it is, was sought to be bolstered up by the false evidence of some of their seniors must have been a still greater encouragement to them in this adventure of theirs. The situation, brought about by the firing did certainly call for heroism in the people of Cooch Behar but that is heroism of a different brand, namely the heroism to steer one's course in the light of the truth without allowing oneself to be deflected from it either by one's own rebellious emotions, however deeply stirred they may be or by the pressure of others. Unfortunately, however, I am constrained to say that far from that type of heroism being discernible amongst those who figured before me as witnesses, a tendency to drift with the tide of popular emotions and prejudices was much in evidence.

(viii) Summary of the findings.

113. To sum up the findings arrived at by me on the various issues involved in the terms of reference:

(1) The District Authorities did everything that was possible for them to do, to meet the difficult food situation up to the 20th April last and the only unfavourable criticism which can be justly made of H. N. Ray's handling of that situation is that on receipt of the radiogram, Ex. 19(S), dated the 20th April last, he should have found out that the permission he sought for introducing modified rationing to B Class at Cooch Behar was given and he should have given publicity to this fact, together with an assurance that it was going to be given effect to very shortly.

(2) The general situation at Cooch Behar on the 18th, 19th and the 20th April last was not such as really called for the promulgation of an order under section 144, Cr.P.C., on the 20th and H. N. Ray should have foreseen that it was more likely to strengthen the agitation than to put a stop to it, as in fact it did strengthen the agitation.

(3) Although on the 21st April last, some of the processionists took to hurling brickbats on the police intensively after the first lathi charge and although a large number of them crossed into the prohibited area in all probability with the object of pressing forward to the D.C's office where there were seven men on hungerstrike, the situation was not such as might have reasonably given rise in the mind of the S.P. to an apprehension that the police force would be overpowered unless fire was opened nor could it be said to be such that for the purpose of dispersing the unlawful assembly which had, in contravention of the order under section 144, Cr.P.C., entered the prohibited area, less drastic steps, such as attempting a second lathi charge by rallying the unarmed constables from a point farther westward, the arrest of the ringleaders from amongst those who were in the banned area and finally the withdrawal after all these measures had been tried, of the armed and the unarmed police into the compound of either the police office or the D.C's office, just for watching the behaviour of the crowd and deciding whether it justified more drastic measures, had not become impracticable. In short, it is my considered opinion that the firing was not justified, far less the firing of as many as 34 rounds and the orders of J. Mukherjee to open fire at all and then to fire so many rounds were ill-considered and hasty particularly when he did not make any attempt to consult the D.C. who he knew was somewhere near and to obtain his clear orders as to how to deal with the situation.

(ix) Responsibility for what happened.

114. The terms of reference do not expressly call upon me to try to apportion the responsibility for what happend. Nor did these terms require me to go into the Council of Action's allegation against J. Mukherjee that he had shot Kabita Bose in cold blood. If I went into that question, it was because the allegation made was so serious and was so closely connected with the firing, that I could hardly leave it out of consideration without being justly accused of having tried to ascertain the truth about the firing, without investigating all the material facts connected therewith. Similarly, if the apportionment of the responsibility, direct or indirect for what happened be left unattempted, an inquiry of this nature will, in my opinion, be hardly complete. Another reason is that during my discussions of the various matters involved I have already indicated to some extent in different places what I think of the various acts of certain officials and non-officials so that all that remains for me now to do is to sum up what I have already said, adding a few more comments only where necessary.

(1) J Mukherjee.

115. The direct responsibility for the firing is, of course, that of J. Mukherjee, the S.P., who appears to me to have completely lost his head when he ordered the firing. A situation which demanded from him sober thinking and coolness of judgment, evidently found him wanting. What, however, is most reprehensible in his conduct is what when he knew, that the D.C. was somewhere close by, he should have ordered the firing without making any attempt whatever to contact him, though the situation, somewhat different difficult as it might have been, was not certainly such as would not brook delay. How far an officer of this type is an asset or a liability for the State he serves and can be safely left in his present responsible position is a question for the authorities to decide.

(2) H. N. Ray.

116. The responsibility of H. N. Ray for what happened, though indirect, is by no means negligible. With all his good intentions, he bungled and bungled miserably. In the first place, if he had read the radiogram, Ex. 19(S), as carefully as he should have, side by side with the references given in it, he would have discovered that what he had been pressing for, namely the extension of modified rationing to B Class at Cooch Behar, was sanctioned, that his contention that Cooch Behar required external help in foodgrains had been accepted in principle and that the despatch of a certain quantity already had been advised. A communication of this to the leaders, at least when the procession arrived near Sagardighi on the 21st April in the morning would have put an end to the agitation and so many lives would not have been lost. Secondly, he should have had the imagination to foresee that the likely consequences of the promulgation of an order under section 144, Cr.P.C., prohibiting demonstration in that area without removing the real cause of such demonstrations would be to strengthen the agitation rather than to weaken it. Thirdly, when he told the S.P. that the order under section 144, Cr.P.C. should be enforced firmly and when an armed police force was posted within sight of the crowd with his knowledge and approval, he should have distinctly told him that without his specific orders or without the specific orders of a magistrate deputed by him, he should not resort to firing. H. N. Ray's explanation that he did not think it proper to fetter the discretion of a responsible officer by giving him detailed instructions, specially when he was readily available for consultation whenever necessary and when he did go to the spot on receipt of a telephonic message that his presence was urgently required, seems to me not merely unconvincing but an afterthought, for admittedly what he first did on hearing shots ring out was to shout out orders to stop it and to find out who had ordered the firing, acts which are more eloquently suggestive of his immediate reactions to the firing than what he says now, and if his immediate reactions were such as indicate that he was not in a position to approve of the firing which had just taken place in spite of the fact that he was personally present there without being able to stop it, it becomes impossible to accept as genuine his statement that he did not want to fetter the discretion of the S.P. He found out immediately after the firing that the discretion he had given to the S.P. was injudiciously exercised and he could not possibly have been happy about it. After all, one of the elements of a person's real efficiency is his ability to size up his subordinates and those other officers whom, though they might not be directly subordinate to him, he has to use for specific purposes. If H. N. Ray did not give any specific instructions to J. Mukherjee, it indicates to my mind that he was not able to size him up properly so as to feel the necessity of giving him clear directions in the matter. Fourthly, if from his personal experiences of the crowd on the 20th he thought, as he says he did, that the very sight of him would provoke the processionists and that he should personally keep away at least at the beginning, he should have deputed either L. M. Buxi or N. Sen Gupta, two senior magistrates with long and varied experience of the administration of Cooch Behar to be on the spot when the procession arrived, with full powers to deal with the situation according to their own discretion and he should have distinctly told the S.P. to act under the directions of the magistrate so deputed. D. C. Sen, the S.D.O., whom he claims to have deputed, should not have been chosen in preference to either of these two first because he has not the length and variety of experience of either of them and secondly because H. N. Ray from what he saw of these officers during his stay of about 8 months at Cooch Behar should have been able to judge the comparative efficiency of these three officers. Even D. C. Sen was not instructed to take full charge of the situation or to see that firing was not resorted to without his orders. H. N. Ray's own explanation that he thought of going there himself whenever his presence was necessary does not really explain his omission to depute a dependable magistrate, for he should have foreseen that when a crowd about 2,000 strong, determined to force its way to the D.C's office compound, stood face to face with an armed force the situation might take a turn for the worse much too suddenly to permit him to go there early enough to be able to take effective charge of the situation. Finally, there must have been something wrong in his handling of the human material at his disposal, so as to give rise to an unuttered feeling of estrangement between the two sections of public servants in Cooch Behar, namely those who were there already from the Durbar days and the new arrivals after the merger. That he could not carry with him some of his own subordinates and at least substantial section of the people of Cooch Behar in his efforts to improve the food situation—efforts for which he really deserves the gratitude of the people of Cooch Behar seems to me to justify this conclusion. I must say in all fairness to him, that it may not be entirely his fault but as the local head of the administration he must necessarily bear a large part of the responsibility for this two-fold tension, namely between the old State servants and the new arrivals in the first place and between the local people and the new arrivals in the second.

(3) D. C. Sen, S. D. O.

117. D. C. Sen, the S.D.O, practically ran away from the scene of the troubles on the 21st April last on the pretext of taking the D.C's intructions, when the situation demanded not merely his presence there but also the assumption of complete control by him as a magistrate, it being his duty as such to give the S.P. the necessary directions. If he thought that the D.C's instructions were necessary he could easily have sent some one else instead of going to him personally, and so leaving the S.P. alone to face an unpleasant situation. Assuming he went there on his own without any directions from the D.C., as he says he did, that does not alter the fact that he was there as the Subdivisional Magistrate with certain statutory duties in the matter of the maintenance of law and order, independently of any orders he might or might not have received from his superiors. Obviously then he shirked his plain duties. That he asked the S.P. not to open fire I cannot persuade myself to believe, for the simple reason that he did not state this to Mr. Talukdar on the first day of his examination but stated this to him on the second day and even then probably only when he was heckled by Mr. Talukdar. That his unjustified departure from the place of the occurrence makes him indirectly responsible for the firing is thus abundantly clear.

(4) D. Lahiri, D. S. P.

118. The carelessness of D Lahiri, D.S.P., is not asking the S.P., Jalpaiguri, to despatch the gas-squad to Cooch Behar in a motor vehicle so as to enable it to arrive there by the morning of the 21st April at the latest is also to my mind, indirectly responsible to some extent for the firing, for the presence of a gas squad might have made it possible for J. Mukherjee to disperse the unlawful assembly without having to open fire.

(5) K. C. Basak, Food Commissioner.

119. Even if it be assumed that K. C. Basak, the Food Commissioner, in view of his own stock position, could not hold out any assurances of external supplies to H. N. Ray in the near future, there are two matters connected with the food situation in Cooch Behar in which he cannot be held to have done all he could have done and to that extent, he must also share with the rest an indirect responsibility for what happened there. The first is his omission to use the words "For B Class" in Ex. 12/2(S), dated the 16th April last and in Ex. 19(S), dated the 20th April last. The Hon'ble Minister for Food in his endorsement, Ex. 12/1(S) dated 10-4-51 on Shri Nishapati Majhi's note, Ex. 12(S), said that 5,000 maunds of rice should be despatched to Cooch Behar for B category people. K. C. Basak's note, Ex. 12/2(S) uses the words "modified rationing" but not the words "for B Class" and so the radiogram, Ex. 13(S), despatched on the basis of this note also omits these words. The same thing happens in Ex. 19(S). It is quite true that Ex. 19(S), read in its context, should have conveyed to H. N. Ray the sanction of the Food Department for the extension of modified rationing to B Class at Cooch Behar. Yet when the Hon'ble Minister for Food distinctly mentioned the class for which the consignment of 5,000 maunds was meant, there is really no justification for its omission from K. C. Basak's note. The most charitable view that one can take of this omission is that it was not deliberate and was probably due to oversight. Even then, K. C. Basak can hardly be exonerated from a certain amount of carelessness when for the sake of clearness at least he should not have omitted in his note the use of the words "For B Class" which the Hon'ble Minister for Food used. This omission on the part of K. C. Basak made it possible for H. N. Ray to misread its meaning and at the same, not to speak of it to the local leaders on the morning of the 21st. What followed H. N. Ray's silence about this radiogram is thus to a certain extent traceable indirectly to K. C. Basak's omission. Secondly, K. C. Basak's sources of supply were more elastic than H. N. Ray's and he could have easily advised H. N. Ray to go ahead with his scheme of modified rationing for B Class if he felt that to be essential for Cooch Behar, with his own stocks which he would supplement if and when the stock position of the whole State permitted it. As a matter of fact, on a perusal of the long series of correspondence between H. N. Ray on the one hand and K. C. Basak and other Food Department officials on the other, one can hardly help feeling that K. C. Basak did not take as realistic and as sympathetic a view of the Cooch Behar situation as he could and should have. It may be that the fact that the district was normally surplus and the provisional figures of the Indian Statistical Institute which were even higher than their final figures misled K. C. Basak at the initial stages. But the persistent representations of the man on the spot should have at least made him examine the position afresh and if necessary, consult dependable local opinion. Had he done that he would have found out the correct position early enough to be able to give Cooch Behar more attention than he did. The political and administrative changes in Cooch Behar were facts of prime significance. Whatever the other defects of a personal rule, it at least makes people feel the human touch which is not infrequently lacking in a system somewhat impersonal in the sense that it has somehow or other come to be a mere matter of files. Besides, for a variety of reasons, in the Darbar days the conditions of living were far easier than at present. It is, therefore, inevitable that the people of Cooch Behar should be looking back to their very recent part with an almost nostalgic regret and contrast it with the present. This broad human aspect of the problem of Cooch Behar, none of our administrators at different levels should have been so unimaginative as to lose sight of. Does not K. C. Basak's attitude to Cooch Behar till the Hon'ble Food Minister's endorsement on Shri Nishapati Majhi's note made him wake up, suggest that he was totally unmindful of this aspect of the problem? Besides, H. N. Ray as a junior officer trying to tackle the difficult food situation of the district to the best of his ability had a right to expect from a senior officer like K. C. Basak entrusted with the Food administration of the whole State, detailed and effective guidance on difficult matters but one looks vainly in the correspondence that passed between him and H. N. Ray for such guidance. If H. N. Ray had received anything like the guidance he needed and deserved from him, one may say that the tragedy might have been averted.

(6) The Leaders. 120. If the officials mentioned were directly or indirectly responsible in varying degrees for the firing, I am painfully constrained to say that some of the leaders cannot escape a certain share of moral responsibility at least for it. That they and H. N. Ray were working at cross-purposes, though the interests of the people of Cooch Behar made it imperative that they should try to strengthen H. N. Ray's hands first in making internal procurement more satisfactory and then in securing supplies from outside, is abundantly clear. If this can be partly explained away by the defective approach of the local officers, there is one thing for which I find no explanation whatever, beyond just a thoughtless disregard of consequences on their part. They knew that a procession had been banned in the Sagardighi area and when they arrived near that area found not merely a line of unarmed constables but also a line of armed constables posted there. Shri Sibnath Banerjee (p. 925) has the frankness to admit that he realised there was a grave danger of a breach of the peace and yet if he did not ask the crowd to go back, it was because he thought that to be the worst thing in the circumstances. If that is Shri Sibnath Banerjee's experience of crowds he should have been the last person to criticise as improper and provocative the order under section 144, Cr.P.C., openly in the presence of a number of men and also to encourage at least by his omission to discourage it, the formation of a procession with the avowed object of proceeding to the D.C.'s office. Shri Chuni Lal Mukherjee should have learnt, from what he saw of the behaviour of the crowd on the 20th, that it is far easier to inflame a crowd, specially when it is composed largely of young men and women, than to control it. Yet neither of the two when the procession arrived near Sagardighi tried to keep it at a sufficiently safe distance from the eastern limits of the prohibited area. Had they tried and failed and then refused to have anything to do with the crowd, no responsibility could have attached to them, but when they did nothing of the kind, I am afraid, it is impossible to acquit them altogether of a certain measure of moral responsibility for what happened.

Conclusion 121. In conclusion I should like to refer to a matter which both Mr. B. C. Sen on behalf of the State and Mr. G. Ghatak on behalf of J. Mukherjee, mentioned towards the end of their arguments. It is this that at a proper time they will move me for sanctioning the prosecution of Shri Chuni Lal Mukherjee who, according to them, was one of the persons behind the conspiracy to make the false allegation that J. Mukherjee had shot Kabita

Bose with a revolver. It is undoubtedly true that I have found that story to be false. It is equally true that I have found to be false the testimony of Shri Chuni Lal Mukherjee on his having heard of this from Bijan Ganguly their evidence, the other parties also can hardly plead complete innocence on the 21st April last between 2 and 2-30 p.m. But if the Council of Action has been guilty of introducing falsehoods in their written statement and in their evidence, the other parties also can hardly plead complete innocence in that direction. The acid burns on three constables, which I feel convinced, were manufactured by friendly hands offer a glaring instance. Thus if a prosecution of Shri Chuni Lal Mukherjee has to be sanctioned, the prosecution of some others also has to be sanctioned. Secondly, what after all, are the materials on which one can say that it was Shri Chuni Lal Mukherjee who instigated the so-called eye-witnesses to come forward with their false story? It is my confirmed belief that in making some of their more serious allegations in their written statement, the Council of Action tried to pass off as facts what evidently reached their ears as floating items of gossip for which no one in particular took any responsibility. That an incident of this character would set tongues wagging and all sorts of rumours would be flying about is almost inevitable. If during the process of transformation of mere items of gossip into full-blooded facts, two boys and two girls actually came forward with the stories they gave out before me, it does not necessarily follow that they were instigated to do so by any one in particular. As I have had occasion to observe already, they might have done so out of a perfactly intelligible desire to become heroes. Nevertheless, it is unfortunate that men like Shri Chuni Lal Mukherjee and Shri Binode Behari Dutta who from their age and position could be legitimately expected to give me the truth and nothing but the truth as they knew it, did not come up to these expectations. But then, if they perjured themselves on certain matters, they cannot be said to have perjured themselves for serving any petty self-interest of theirs. They may have felt that here was a case in which even at the cost of truth they should try to bring to justice a man who was responsible for so many deaths. That was certainly a wrong approch. But then, when people's feelings are stirred to their depths as they must have been by such an event, they hardly pause to reason as they would normally do. That seems to me to be a partial explanation at least of what Shri Chuni Lal Mukherjee and Shri Binode Behari Dutta did, though there cannot possibly be any justification for any part of it. I further feel that in what they did, they had behind them a substantial measure of local support and what they did they did in consultation with others, so that if Shri Chuni Lal Mukherjee is now prosecuted, that local support is likely to come to his rescue. This is likely to widen further the mental distance which seems to me to have separated the ruler and the ruled, specially in Cooch Behar at the time of the occurrence. When the S.P. ordered his men to fire on a crowd, he could hardly have felt that the men and the women in that crowd were his very kith and kin and that it was only the direst of necessity which would justify such an extreme step. Similarly, when the processionists threw brickbats on the police force trying to do their unpleasant duties and when the S.P. was falsely accused, the people concerned could not possibly have felt that even the members of that force were their own countrymen. This lack of a sense of oneness between the ruler and the ruled, the administrator and the citizen which for perfectly natural reasons marked our recent past is still there. Neither the administrators nor the people have been able to adjust themselves mentally to the entirely new set of conditions created by our independence, with the result that the gulf is still as wide as in the past. This has got to be bridged effectively and that as quickly as possible, in order that we may make the best possible use of our independence for the general good of the country. This calls for the healing of old wounds and not for their reopening. This also calls for profound self-searching and not mutual recriminations. If the tragic incident of the 21st April last at Cooch Behar to which officials and non-officials contributed in varying degrees by their miscalculations, has so far led only to a spate of mutual fault-finding in the first place amongst the officials themselves and in the second, amongst the officials and the non-officials concerned, it is not yet too late for the blood spilt and the lives lost to speak to their conscience and to make each of them realise in a mood of humility and penitence his own contribution to it. Whatever is likely to retard this process of self-searching and self-criticism amongst all of us, the first essential pre-requisite to a narrowing down of the mental distance between the ruler and the ruled who are in a sense also the masters of the ruler today, is, in my opinion, inexpedient. From all these considerations, I am inclined to think that it would be far better to have the curtain finally rung down on this deplorable episode to which many contributed, except for any action which the authorities might consider it proper to take against the individual officers or men concerned.

122. It has been, I must say, difficult inquiry. In the first place, when I went to Cooch Behar, the atmosphere was still tense with memories of the killed and the wounded and when popular emotions are deeply stirred, reason does not always find full play. Secondly, truth has not always guided the steps of some of those from whom I could reasonably expect a much higher standard of personal integrity, so that in my earnest endeavour to find out the truth without allowing myself to be trammelled in any way by the rules of exclusion of evidence prescribed by the Evidence Act, I have had to pick my way as cautiously as I could, through a maze of truths, half-truths and untruths. Even then, I am glad to say that I received throughout the whole-hearted co-operation of those gentlemen of the Bar who appeared before me for the different parties, from the local officials of Cooch Behar and the local people who attended the sittings at Cooch Behar in large numbers and listened to the evidence with a calmness that does them real credit. Difficult as the inquiry has been, their co-operation has made it possible for me to complete it without any hitch at any time over any matter and I must place on record my profound sense of gratitude to all of them. Lastly, I must also thank the stenographers and the Bench clerk who were of so much assistance to me.

NOTIFICATIONS

No. 2019-I.R./IR/11L-325/66.—17th May 1967.—Whereas the Fourth Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its order, dated the 27th April 1967 (hereinafter referred to as the said Order), correcting, under rule 27 of the West Bengal Industrial Disputes Rules, 1958, a clerical mistake in its award showed in the annexure to the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 598-I.R./IR/11L-325/66, dated the 15th February 1967;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of sertion 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (Act 14 of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said order of the Fourth Industrial Tribunal as shown in the annexure below.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Krishna Supply Agency, 6 Monohar Das Street, 1st Floor, Calcutta-7, and their workmen represented by the Shop Assistants Association of Bengal, B/73 College Street Market, Calcuutta-12 (G.O. No. 3636-IR, dated 5th September 1966) (VIII 345/65).

Order

The Shop Assistants Association of Bengal, B/73 College Street Market, Calcutta-12, has filed the present application for rectifying the clerical and accidental mistake appearing in the award passed in the reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act arising out of the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 3636/I.R./IR/11L-325/66, dated 5th September 1966, over a dispute between Messrs. Krishna Supply Agency, 6 Monohar Das Street, 1st floor, Calcutta-7, and its workmen. The award was passed on 6th February 1967. According to the award, the dismissed workman Braja Kishore Dey was to be reinstated and paid all his due wages during the period of non-employment. The grievance of the Shop Assistants Association of Bengal is that there has been a type mistake in the award relating to the date of dismissal of the concerned workmen. In the award the date of the dismissal has been mentioned as 27th July 1966 whereas the prayer of the Association is that in its place should be inserted 27th December 1965. I have perused the records of the case and I find that there has been an accidental type mistake regarding this date. In place of 27th July 1966 it should be 27th December 1965. I am satisfied that there has been a typographical mistake.

For ends of just decision the mistake should be corrected. Hence, I rectify the mistake. In the penultimate paragraph of the award in place of "27th July 1965" substitute "27th December 1965". This shall be treated as part of the original award.

Judge,
